BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

We learn from Algona's Kossuth County Advance that a recent visit to Algona to view its far-famed creche had the elements of a "homecoming" for an unnamed farm worker of this vicinity. Says the Advance item: "A farm laborer near Belmond is a former prisoner of war who was stationed at the local camp during the war. He came to this country from Germany about four years ago and since that time has often wanted to come to Algona and view again the Nativity Scene which was built while he was a prisoner here. A week ago last Sunday he was a guest at the Scene."

—M-S—

From a rural friend who identifies herself as "just a faithful reader of your paper" we received a clipping from a farm journal which our unknown correspondent recommended to our attention for two items "certainly having a ring of truth of them."

One of the items, a poem entitled "Evolution," is something of a newspaper classic and was printed in The Independent a couple of years ago. It concerns three monkeys in a cocoanut tree, indignantly rejecting the theory that the ornery likes of humankind could possibly have descended from such a self-respecting creature as a monkey.

The other is a quotation from Henry Willard Austin: "Genius, that power which dazzles mortal eyes, is oft but perseverance in disguise." We agree with Faithful Reader that Mr. Austin unquestionably "has something" there.

—M-S—

Mona McLaughlin (Mrs. Joe) informs us that she now has a new phone number. It's on a private line, which she says will considerably simplify her job of news-gathering for The Independent, being always accessible for her use. The new number is 480. We suggest that persons whom she has been calling in the last few weeks make a note of it; then when they have items for her they can give her a ring. (She and Mrs. Zella Russell divide the phone book, each being responsible for half the listings in the course of calling for personal items each week.)

—M-S—

Seems that once in a while when Ye Ed turns his hand to society news, he ends up dropping the ball. He's even had trouble getting the right people married to each other in headlines or cutlines a couple of times lately; and in view of the significance of the wedding vows, such a bobble humiliates and disturbs him a lot more than might be visible through his protective armor.

Consequently, it is some psychological balm for his wounded self-respect who he reads of other editors having their troubles, too, in the somewhat foreign field of the society section. Duane Dewel of the Algona Advance stepped into the breech just at the opportune moment last week with a confession in his "Old Goat" column.

He was reporting how he had to learn about "pink and blue" showers the hard way. He unfortunately identified the honoree at one of these functions as "a recent bride." Needless to say, he was advised in no uncertain terms that a "pink and blue" shower is a courtesy not customarily accorded recent brides; moreover, that the honored guest in this instances was the mother of three—and ALMOST four!

50 Scholarships For Nurses Again Offered in 1954

Mrs. Florence Aldinger of Rowan, chairman of the Wright county chapter of the American Cancer Society, offers a reminder that in 1954, for the sixth consecutive year, the Iowa Division of the ACS will again award nursing scholarships to 50 young women of the state.

Iowa was the first state in the nation to set up such a program and now has 136 nurse trainees attending 23 schools in the state. In addition, 79 nurses granted scholarships in 1949 and 1950 have been graduated and are now practicing their profession in Iowa.

Aimed at relieving the critical shortage of nurses in Iowa, the scholarships are part of a long-range program to expand the ACS's service for needy cancer patients. Applications for 1954 scholarships must be received by her or the Iowa Division ACS office at Mason City by April 1, says Mrs. Aldinger.

Complete information regarding the scholarships can be received from Mrs. Aldinger or the Mason City office. Pre-nursing tests must be taken by all applicants so that results will be available to the scholarship committee prior to the April 1 deadline or soon after, Mrs. Aldinger warns, so girls interested should act promptly.

Scholarship winners from this area include: Mary Negrete of Belmond, 1951; Ruth Thompson and Margaret [illegible], both of Clarion, [illegible]; Bette Lowenberg of Goodell, [illegible]; Cheryl Schultz of Clarion, 1953; and Betty Dempsey, at the time from Goodell, but whose parents now live in Belmond, 1952.

Covered by the awards are tuition, fees, books and uniforms (not to exceed [illegible] annually) for three full years of training, beginning in the fall of 1954, at any accredited Iowa nursing school.

Broncs Overwhelm Britt 94-53 To Cement Lead in Title Chase

In the space of 32 minutes' playing time Tuesday night, Belmond's Broncos moved from next-to-last position right to the top of the heap in regard to team scoring average in the North Iowa conference. Ken Loats was primarily responsible for this sudden transition by tallying 35 points to lead Belmond to a 94-53 victory over last-place Britt. The Eagles, oddly enough, had held the best scoring average prior to the Bronco deluge.

Belmond's performance is thought to set an all-time record for conference play, though confirmation of this belief was not possible before this issue of The Independent went to press. Without much question, Loats' achievement of scoring 21 points in the first half of the game was one never matched in NI annals.

Apparently determined to prove that the set-back at the hands of Manning last week was all a mistake, the Broncos committed mayhem against the Eagles virtually from the outset of the game. Belmond led at the close of the first quarter 26-13. By halftime the margin had been boosted to 49-24 and it looked probable that only free use of substitutes would prevent Coach Jim Crimmings' crew from hitting the century mark.

But as reserves got in their licks during the final half, the point production dropped off slightly. The third quarter found Belmond in front 71-36 and Crimmings' use of subs in the final stages made it clear that he had no wish of adding a 100-plus beating to Britt's humiliation.

After Loats' big total of 35 came Keith Madsen with 13, Don Hoppel with 12, LeRoy Smith with 11, Ron Hansen with 9, Gene Mehl with 8, Larry Larson with 4 and Ron Steenblock with 2. John Shaw accounted for 12 of Britt's points and Merle Garman for 11.

Forest City remained the chief threat to the Broncos' title aspirations with a 47-38 decision over Northwood on the Vikings' home floor Tuesday night. Garner drew even with Lake Mills in a tie for third place by upsetting the Bulldays at Lake Mills, 51 to 41.

L.R. Swenson, 45, Dies From Burns

Tragic death came Monday of last week to Leslie R. Swenson, 45, of Detroit, Mich., former resident of Belmond. He suffered severe burns about 3:00 p. m. of that day and passed away four and a half hours later at Mt. Carmel Mercy hospital at Detroit.

Mr. Swenson was a service station manager, employed by his brother, Holm Swenson. He had been burning rubbish in a steel barrel at the rear of the station when he thought to move a nearby drum holding some radiator alchohol to a distance of greater safety. As he was moving the container, the alchohol exploded, inflicting burns over 95 per cent of the victim's body.

Born May 10, 1908, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Swenson, Leslie lived in Belmond or vicinity the greater part of his life. He was graduated from Belmond High school in 1926 and continued to make his home here until 1935, when he went to Michigan to work for his brother. After working at other jobs during an intervening period, he had for the past four years and three months again been an employee of Holm's, who has a Gulf Oil company distributorship.

Funeral services for Mr. Swenson were held Thursday of last week at St. Margaret's Episcopal church at Detroit, followed by interment in White Chapel Memorial Park. Relatives attending the funeral included his mother, now Mrs. Emma Sandeno, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Swenson, all of Belmond, and Clifford Swenson of Des Moines.

Surviving are the widow of the deceased, Myra Swenson, and their son Gordon, age five; his mother, Mrs. Sandeno; four brothers — Holm of Detroit, Clifford of Des Moines, Percy and Earl of Belmond; and two sisters — Mrs. Gladys Tendall of Belmond and Mrs. Esther Polmateer of McCredie, Mo.

M. Price Declares For Auditor's Post

Myron "Mike" Price, proprietor of the Clarion Laundromat, this week announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for county auditor in this spring's primary.

This will be his first fling in politics, although he has previously held a government job. From 1945 through 1951 he was a feed inspector for the state department of agriculture.

A native of Arnold's Park, Mr. Price is a graduate of the high school there and took three years of liberal arts study at Buena Vista college, Storm Lake. He is 47 years old. Mrs. Price passed away about a month ago. They had no children.

For a time, Mr. Price was in the restaurant business in Thor and later in Goldfield. He moved to the Wright county community in 1941 and made his home there until starting his present business in Clarion early last year. Mr. Price is a member of the Methodist church at Clarion.

John Albers' Face Badly Lacerated In Auto Accident

John Albers suffered severe facial lacerations early last Friday morning as the car he was driving went out of control and crashed into a roadside ditch. His head apparently shattered the right half of the windshield in his '39 Chevrolet sedan.

He was driving east towards his home along the Immanuel Reformed church road when the mishap occurred about 1:30 a. m. The car rammed into the bank of the ditch on the north and Albers was knocked unconscious.

Albers was found by John Cullinan of Clarion, an employee of the state highway commission, who brought him in to the Belmond Community hospital. The extensiveness of the gashes on his face and neck will require that he remain in the hospital for several days yet.

Another New Year's Day crash caused serious injury to James Toftee, 22, of Clarion, just lately released from military service. He was riding in a car driven by Derald A. Morse, 22, of Woodward. Another companion was Leo Allen, 23, of Rock Island, Ill. They were riding east along a county gravel road 3½ mils north and and a half mile east of Clarion about 7:55 a. m. when Morse's '42 Buick hit loose gravel and went out of control.

Toftee was thrown from the car and when it came to a stop in the north ditch, some 120 feet from where the vehicle started to spin, the left front when came to rest on Toftee's shoulder. His injuries included a dislocated shoulder, compound fracture of the thigh bone and a gash over one eye.

FHA Supervisor Calls Attention To Loan Service

Harry L. Ladman, Wright county Farmers Home Administration supervisor, calls attention to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's recent reminder of the types of loans made available by the FHA. These loans, Mr. Benson pointed out, are particularly adapted to helping farmers and stockmen meet their credit needs for feed, seed, livestock, equipment and other operating necessities.

Mr. Benson listed the regular farm operating loan program, the special livestock loans and, in designated disaster areas, the disaster loan program. He said the agency also has other types of credit and services for farmers whose needs cannot be adequately met by other local lenders.

Through the operating loan program, farmers may borrow to buy feed of all kinds and to meet other types of operating and capital expenses. Loans are made through local county Farmers Home Administration offices to farmers and stockmen whose proposed operations are on a sound basis. The funds supplement, but do not compete with other local credit, the county FHA supervisor notes.

Mr. Ladman maintains office hours between 8:00 a. m. and noon on each Friday at his office in Clarion. Besides farm operating loans the county FHA supervisor can arrange credit for buying and improving efficient farms and farm buildings, he says.

$210 NEXT!

Next week the Chamber of Commerce 3:00 p. m. prize on Cash Gift Day—Tuesday—will reach the all-time high of $210. Biggest previous "plum" awarded was $180. That amount would have been won this week by No. 2,116; but no one presented it. Neither was the $20 prize at 2:00 p. m. claimed by the holder of No. 2,295. Streets were so jammed downtown Tuesday afternoon that one impressed, traveling salesman remarked he had to drive nine blocks to find a place to park. . . . You should have a look next week, Mister!

Registration for Adult Education Totals Only 77 on Opening Night

Registration for night school classes under the 1954 Adult Education program last Monday evening totaled only 77, according to Don Bunnell, president of the Adult Education Council. This response was disappointing to members of the council, but they are hopeful that quite a number of additional persons will be registering when the second class sessions are held next Monday evening at 7:30.

Enrollment on opening night a year ago came to 91, with later registrations bringing the final enrollment to more than 130. Mr. Bunnell says that all classes but one can accomodate more members. The knitting class, taught by Mrs. Ruthe Whitford, has 20 members and this is about the maximum number that one teacher can instruct.

"Ag" Attracts Only 8

Ten adults signed up for typing; but Instructor Margartjean Butterworth says that enough machines are available to accomodate 14 more. Eight are enrolled for sewing, and Carol Richards would like to see at least a half dozen more in that class.

Turn-out for agriculture, usually one of the most popular courses offered, was only eight. Don Collinson says the advisory committee has mapped out a course that should prove most informative and interesting and he keenly hopes that an additional 10 or 12 men will be on hand for the second session next week.

Physical Training Added

Just six enrolled for the sportsman's course—including only one member of the Belmond Sportsman's club. This response was very disappointing, also, and Mr. Bunnell says at least 10 more should be in the class to make it worthwhile. Game Warden Bill Ayers is the instructor. He will be assisted by specialists in some particular fields.

Nine enrolled for men's physical training, a late addition to the list of courses, and more will still be accepted in the class. Only five signed up for L. T. "Bud" Trafford's course in ceramics and that many more could be accomodated very nicely. Those attending the first night's class were convinced the course promises to be very interesting.

Four was the enrollment for the beginners' course in bridge, and the instructors—Mrs. George Hansen and Mrs. A. W. Loats—feel another dozen could be handled easily. One class nearly "filled" is that in driver's training, taught by Ed Bruner. A half dozen registered, which is about the maximum for a subject of this nature. Arrangements could possibly be made to admit one more.

It will be easy for late registrants joining the various classes next week to catch up, Mr. Bunnell assures. The other members of the Adult Education Council join him in urging a larger turn-out for the night school program next week.

I-H Family Party Scheduled Tonight

Annual "Family Party" sponsored by Helland and Long Implement company, local International Harvester dealer, will be held this evening at the high school auditorium starting at 8:00 p. m. As usual, this entertainment event will include a high class stage show and interesting, colored movies of an educational nature.

Admission to the show is free, and L. M. Helland and L. C. Long confidently expect it will attract a standing-room-only crowd, just as it has in past years.

Jimmy Murphy, a songster and comedian, will serve as master of ceremonies and introduce the stage acts. "Variety" will be the keynote of the vaudeville performance.

Mary Jane Truax will be presented as an acrobat and contortionist, with a unique "Baton Ballet" as the major feature of her turn on the boards. Magician Joe Tershay will perplex and mystify with a number of illusions.

"Colors in Rhythm" is the title of a feature starring Paul Burke, lightning sketch-artist, who will entertain with drawings on an oversized easel. The Duotones will appear in a musical comedy stint of their own and also furnish background music for the other acts.

THOMPSONS ENTERTAIN

Tuesday evening dinner guests at the T. A. Thompson home were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tone and son of Owatonna, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Whitaker and family of Spencer and Dr. and Mrs. Earl Sizemore and family of Clarion. The Tones were en route to their new home in Richmond, Va.

City Fathers Also Up Some Salaries Starting New Year

Mayor Henry Hokel and Councilmen A. W. Johnson, D. J. Nolan, Dr. H. J. Classick, Carl Robbins and L. C. Long wound up their business as the retiring city administration last Saturday morning, officially took office as the new administration at noon; then on Monday evening met in the first regular session of their new term. And a busy one it was.

Committees for 1954-55 were appointed by Mayor Hokel, some revamping of city appointive positions was done, several salaries were raised, and for the first time arrangements were officially made to provide regular, annual vacations for full-time municipal employees.

Committees Remain Same

All committee appointments were the same as made by Mayor Hokel at the start of his first term. Don Nolan will be chairman of finance and purchasing, Doctor Classick of streets and alleys, L. C. Long heads the sewer committee, A. W. Johnson is in charge of water, light and fire and Carl Robbins was assigned to buildings and grounds.

Roy Henderson continues as city attorney, Carrie Courtney as city clerk and Dr.G.J. Hruska as health physician. Glen Eccles is water superintendent and sewer inspector. Alfred Stadtlander becomes street commissioner and assistant to the water superintendent, Ed Bailey continues as installation superintendent, Albert Luick takes the position of assistant street commissioner, Art Awe and Harold Smith are day and night marshal, respectively, A.C. Lieuwen remains cemetery superintendent and Doctor Classick is again to serve as mayor pro tem.

Attorney's Salary Raised

Salary of the city attorney was raised from $400 to $600 annually; that of Al Stadtlander, who up to the present has been working on a daily wage basis, was set at $200 monthly; and a raise from $300 to $600 annually granted Mr. Lieuwen last fall was made a matter of official record.

The post of assistant water commissioner, held by Gaylen Johnson prior to his resignation from the city staff last summer, was abandoned. The new position held by Mr. Stadtlander was especially created to describe the responsibilities which he shoulders.

Probably the most important step taken by the council, from the viewpoint of the full-time city employees, was that of fixing by resolution the vacation time that they can hereafter expect. Heretofore, vacations have been granted more or less on a "catch as catch can" basis and were not legally guaranteed.

Veterans Get Two Weeks

Now any employee with from one to two full years of consecutive service to his credit is assured a week of vacation with pay. Three or more full years guarantees two weeks of paid vacation. Mayor Hokel says that he and the council felt that this step would help greatly to assure longer tenure on city jobs and that also it is only a fair reward for faithful service.

Complete proceedings of the council as the outgoing and incoming administration and in the course of its first regular session of 1954 are to be found on Page 7 of this issue.

FARMS LATELY CORN-LESS MUST REQUEST ALLOTMENT

A producer who intends to plant corn this year on a farm where no corn was planted in any of the last three years, 1951-53, must follow a set procedure if the '54 corn is to be eligible for price supports.

O. J. Hanson, office manager for the Wright county ASC (Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation—formerly the PMA), says that such producers must apply in writing for a 1954 corn acreage allotment by Jan. 15.

Blank applications and acreage report forms are available at the county ASC office. These forms are to be used in filing request for allotment.

Greenlander, Hill Again Seated As Wright County Supervisors

Sessions were held by the county board of supervisors on Thursday and Saturday of last week and Monday of this week as the old year's business was wound up and that of the new year was launched. John Greenlander of Belmond and Harland E. Hill of Clarion were again seated as members of the board after unopposed election to new terms in November of '52. Mr. Greenlander was named to continue as chairman of the board, also.

As a matter of business last Thursday, the supervisors approved Arline Rink and Alice Elrick as clerks in the treasurer's office at monthly salaries of $200. Both have worked as extra help in that office since last September.

At last Saturday's meeting, the incumbent members of the county board of social welfare were reappointed for 1954. They are Mrs. Mary Hildebrand of Belmond, Mr. Hill and Albert W. Christopher of Eagle Grove.

Depositories for county funds were designated, all being the same as a year ago and the maximum deposit figure remaining the same, with one exception. Maximum amount that can be deposited in the Belmond First State bank was raised from $225,000 to $250,000.

Business disposed of at Monday's meeting included the naming of the Belmond Independent, Eagle Grove Eagle and the Wright County Monitor of Clarion as Wright county's official newspapers.

A motion was carried, by a split vote, to the effect that all extra help working in the courthouse hereafter be paid at the rate of $1.00 per hour. According to Auditor Roger Charlson, pay has varied from office to office with the hourly wage exceeding the specified figure in some instances. Supervisors Christopher, Hill and George Trowbridge voted in favor of the motion and Carl Kelling opposed it.

Population of Wright County Was Only 693 in Iowa Handbook of 1865

Some 12,000 acres of Wright county land were vacant and purchasable through the U. S. Land Office at Fort Dodge at the attractive price of $1.25 to $2.50 per acre in 1865. So states "A Description of Iowa and Its Resources; Being a Valuable Guide to the Immigrant," a book which recently came into the possession of Mrs. L. C. Long. It was originally the property of her great grandfather, Henry Temple, who at the time the book was published in '65 was recorder of Cass county.

The prospectus for Wright county which the book carries is not as detailed as those relating to many of the other counties. Part of the reason no doubt lay in the fact that Wright county boasted only 693 souls, by the latest census; and only 3,690 acres of its land were "under fence."

Its future as an outstanding agricultural county was foreseen, though. Wrote its unidentified spokesman: "Its soil is a rich black loam, with a strata of clay at various depths from the surface. Almost the entire county is good for hay or cultivation. The facilities for raising stock of all kinds are not excelled by any place in this latitude, from which the most profit is to be derived.

"Commencing four years since, a pair of oxen could be raised for 25 dollars. Sheep have been introduced into the county, which have thus far succeeded admirably. Horses are raised with great facility and profit. All we need is more hardy, enterprising tillers of the soil, which is all ready for the plow, and which will yield to them a rich reward.

"Improved farms are worth from 6 to 15 dollars per acre, and unimproved lands from 1.50 to 5 dollars per acre; timber land from 15 to 25 dollars per acre. Yearly wages of farm labor about 300 dollars, and daily wages of mechanics 2 dollars.

"Price of wood for fuel per cord, $1.75, and of coal 30 cents per bushel. Price of breaking land three dollars and a half per acre, and of good fencing timber 20 dollars per 1000 feet.

"The distance to the nearest market is 60 miles at Nevada. When the railroad is completed to Iowa Falls in Black Hawk county, it will be from the southeast corner of the county to the railroad about 15 miles, and from the county seat 45 miles.

"There are three Methodist churches, one United Brethren and one Presbyterian.

"Goldfield is the county seat. (In another place, the county seat is listed as "Grant," with Goldfield as the post office serving said county seat.)

"One of the best features of the lands is the large growth of good native grasses for hay. Among these grasses are the 'bl[illegible]nt,' and two species of 'red to[illegible]—one species is ripe in the latter part of July, and should be cut early; the other is ripe in September, and should be cut in August."

Belmond is not shown on a map of Iowa, which is included in the book; neither is Clarion nor Eagle Grove. However, Goodell is there—identified as "Upper Grove;" and "Ellington," apparently the forerunner of Garner, is the Hancock county seat. One J. M. Elder of Upper Grove was the current Hancock clerk.

Wright county officials of the day were: G. A. McKay, clerk; R. K. Eastman, treasurer AND recorder (that man must have been quite a politician!); and H. Luick, one of Belmond's co-founders, county judge.

Note is made of the fact that in the 1864 presidential election, Abraham Lincoln carried Wright county with 86 votes to McClellan's 42. A light vote—but solidly Republican!

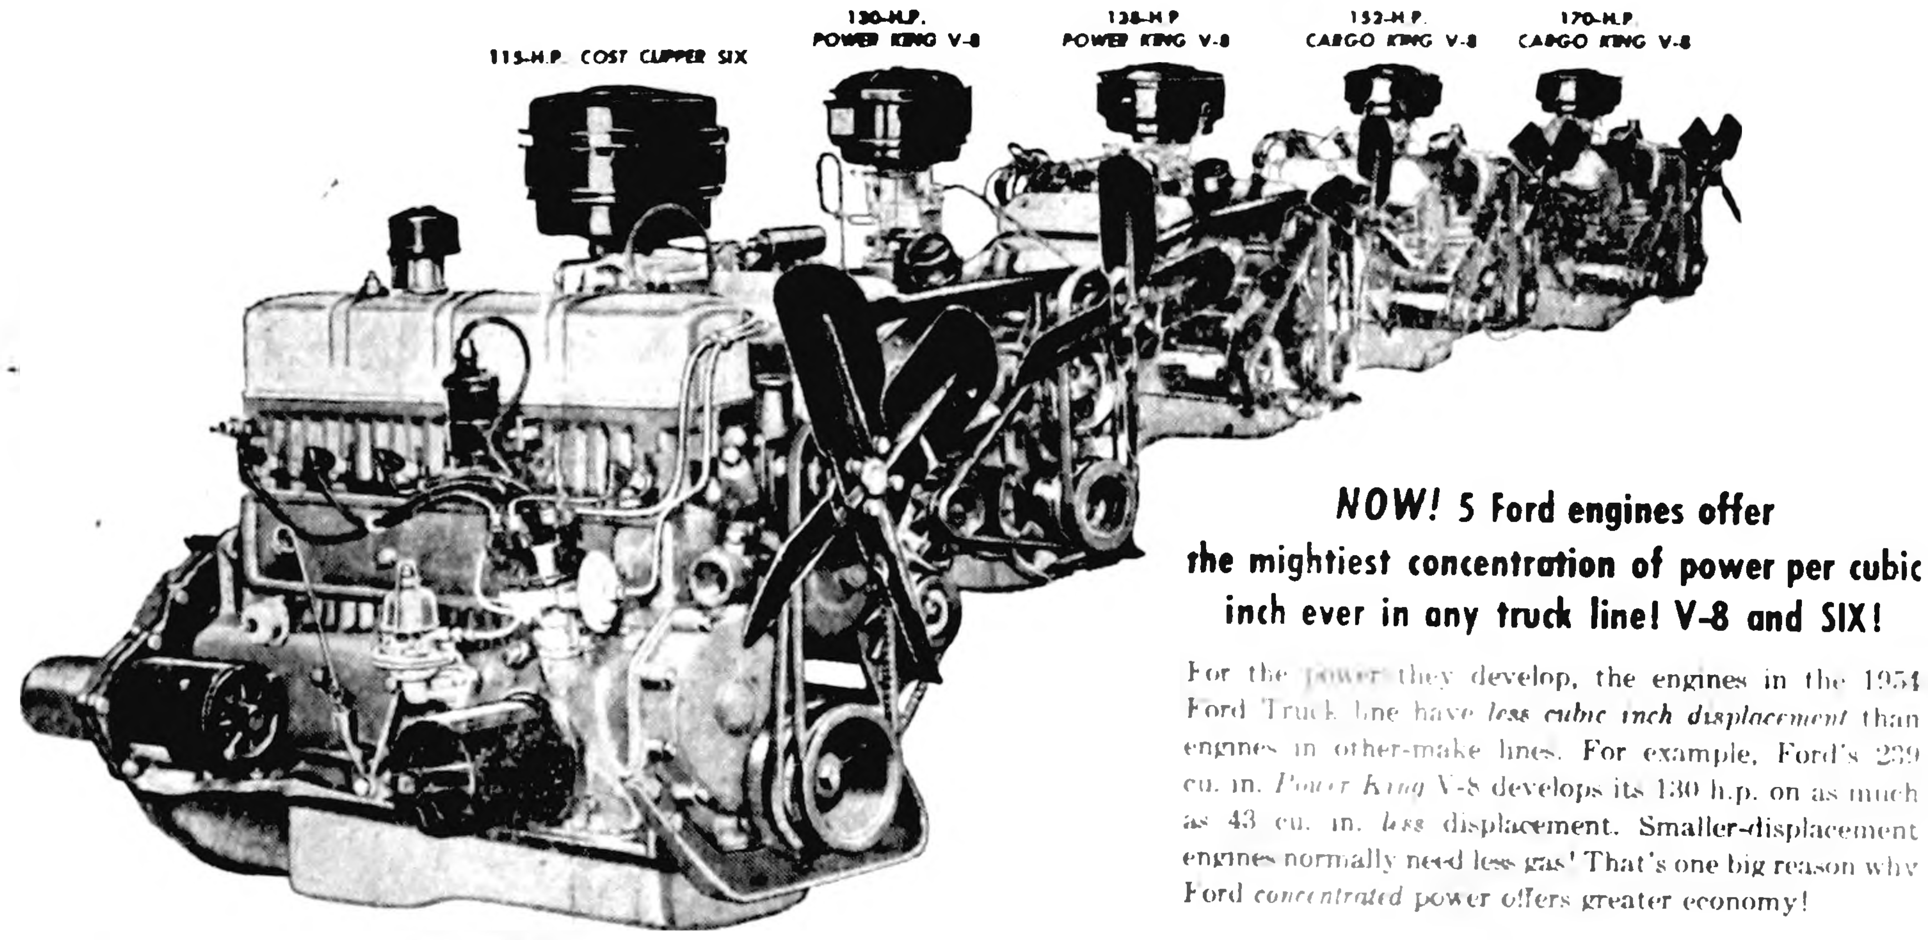
NEW FORD TRUCKS
with TRIPLE ECONOMY!



NOW! 5 Ford engines offer the mightiest concentration of power per cubic inch ever in any truck line! V-8 and SIX!

For the power they develop, the engines in the 1954 Ford Truck line have less cubic inch displacement than engines in other-make lines. For example, Ford's 239 cu. in. Power King V-8 develops its 130 h.p. on as much as 43 cu. in. less displacement. Smaller-displacement engines normally need less gas! That's one big reason why Ford concentrated power offers greater economy!

Ford takes the lead in ALL 3 vital factors that make for lower-cost trucking!

1. Now, only in Ford Trucks—gas-saving, LOW-FRICTION, high-compression, overhead-valve, deep-block engines in all truck models! 115- to 170-h.p.!
2. New Driverized Cabs, Master-Guide Power Steering, Power Brakes, Fordomatic Drive for faster control!

FORD CRESTLINE Fordor sedan (pictured above) is one of the new models for '54 that Ford Motor company placed on public view for the first time this week. Its new grille has the characteristic Ford center spinner, recessed parking lights and jet-type air scoop. Like all '54 Ford passenger models, it has new ball-joint front suspension for easier handling and offers a choice of either the completely new 130-hp Y-block V-8 engine or the new 115-hp I-block Mileage Maker Six. The Crestline is now on display at Belmond Auto company.

Belmond Rally Falls Short; Manning Wins 51 to 48

Belmond's Broncs saw their winning streak come to an end Wednesday night of last week as Manning took their measure on the neutral Glidden court 51 to 48. The score, in this case, was really not a true measure of the difference between the two teams. With a couple of Bulldog reserves in the game, the Broncs cut loose with a blazing rally in the closing moments of the game that reduced a 14-point deficit to those final three points — but Manning already had the victory stowed away and the Belmond outburst served only to make the outcome look more respectable.

Without question, the Broncos were up against the best team they have met this season; and in Forward Lyle Frahm, they were facing the finest player they've been up against during the current campaign. These facts, coupled with mediocre play on the part of most of the Broncs during much of the game, made the ultimate winner pretty apparent from the outset. Manning went into an early lead and not once during the fray did Belmond manage to catch up.

Decisions Hurt Broncs

Several questionable decisions by the officials in the early stages of the contest very definitely hurt the Broncos' chances. Ken Loats was the major victim picking up his fourth foul with three minutes left in the second quarter. He rode the bench for well over a fourth of the game and his absence from the Belmond line-up was a severe handicap to the Broncos.

On the other hand, the Belmond crew was both outplayed and outsmarted by the rangy Bulldogs and was clearly the second-best team on the evening in question. Manning built up an 11-3 lead by the time the first quarter was half gone and never was too seriously pushed thereafter. At the end of the opening period, Belmond was trailing by an 18-11 count.

Gap Closed to 18-14

As the second stanza got underway, the Bronco defense was highly effective and the Bulldogs were held without a point for five minutes. But the Manning boys weren't giving up many points either, and Belmond was able to close the gap only three points — 18-14 — during the Bulldog scoring drouth. It was at this time that Loats was tabbed with his fourth foul and when he took to the bench, the Manning offense picked up again.

Halftime found the Broncos trailing 24 to 16. The third quarter was Manning's by a wide margin and by the close of the period Belmond was almost hopelessly out of the ball game. Bill Richards, the Bulldog center, and Guard Lowell Stribe connected for seven and eight points respectively as Manning expanded its margin to 44-27. The winners' shooting percentage during the surge must have been something sensational, for shot after shot found its mark and the Broncos seemed helpless to do anything about it.

Loats' Return Helps

With Loats back in action as the final quarter began, Belmond began to look more like a ball team again. Ron Hansen and Loats each hit a fielder and the start of a rally seemed in the making. Then Lyle Frahm, for the third time during the evening, intercepted a pass and raced in for an easy lay-up. That seemed to take some drive out of the Belmond boys and with three minutes of playing time left, Manning was still safely in front 49 to 37. Richards popped in another two-pointer — and then the Broncs took off on their final, desperate splurge.

Belmond clamped a full-court press on Manning and in slightly over two minutes' time the Broncos slashed 11 points off of their foe's lead. Seven of the counters came on free throws as the bothered Bulldogs — including a pair of substitutes — found the defensive technique highly troublesome. But a final field goal by Hoppel, just as the buzzer sounded, left Belmond still trailing by those crucial three points.

Richards and L. Frahm poured in 16 and 17 points, respectively, to lead the winners in scoring; Stribe and Ronnie Frahm contributed nine and eight points, in order. Ron Hansen topped the Belmond scorers with 13, followed by Loats and Hoppel with 10 each. Gene Mehl netted eight—six of them during the rally. LeRoy Smith hit for four and Keith Madsen for three.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS

Bowling activity was at low ebb last week, due to the holiday season, but produced its share of fireworks, nevertheless. Fred Gordon produced high scores for the league season, both for single game and series. Rolling with Thompsen's Clothiers during a Tuesday night make-up round, the pipe-smoking florist spilled the maples for a 266 and 650. He preceded the "big one" with a 178 and 206.

—PSS—

Jack Crosby, Bowl-Mor manager, the aSturday before had a performance a bit better than Fred's in open bowling; he knocked off a 268. Had a 5-pin duck him in the second frame. . . . For consistency, Gary "Jake" Brothers has been leading the way in league play. He's had a series of better than 600 for three weeks straight.

—PSS—

Bowl-Mor has a doubles tournament coming up that will run on Fridays, Saturday and Sundays until some duo hits a 1,350. Twenty-five bucks is guaranteed for first place—or 40 per cent of the prize fund, whichever is more. Handicap's based on 30 per cent of difference between league average and 200 pins, with 25 the maximum. There'll be one cash prize for every five entries, Crosby says.

—PSS—

Prior to the Broncos' game with Manning last week, Coach Jim Crimmings did a bit of investigating to determine who were the Bulldogs' hot scorers. He was warned that Forward Lyle Frahm and Guard Lowell Stribe would have to be watched carefully.

But Manning's 6-4½ center, Bill Richards, had not represented much of a threat in earlier games, and Jim was assured he shouldn't be dangerous to the Belmond cause. So what happens?

Richards has two scorching quarters during which he misses hardly a try and racks up 14 points; in the other two quarters, together, he hit for only two points. Anyway, we can assure Bronco fans who saw the game that the big red-head is NOT always the marksman he appeared to be at times against the BHS boys.

—PSS—

Roger "Joe" Smith was elevated to the varsity cage squad for the holiday trip to Glidden. He's been showing steady development and has the makings of a first-class guard. We suspect that Coach Crimmings is thinking he might be able to use a little more, experienced "height" on the squad, come tournament time.

—PSS—

No doubt those Bronco followers who saw last week's game with Manning will speculate for some time regarding what MIGHT have happened if the tilt had lasted a minute longer. The Bulldogs' morale was really ripping at the seams as the Belmond crew poured in 10 straight points in approximately two minutes' time. It was remarkable to note that, with the chips down, it was the Manning bunch that showed signs of cracking up. During some of the earlier stages of the game, though, the Broncs didn't do themselves so proud.

Vikings Play Host To Broncs Friday; Bulldogs vs. Cards

Friday night will see the second half of the North Iowa conference basketball season getting underway, with Belmond's Broncos well out in front and plainly marked as "the team to beat" during the remainder of the campaign. The Broncos will see action tomorrow at Northwood, but on Tuesday will fill an open date—so far as league play is concerned—by tangling with Hampton in a return game.

Top contest in the conference tomorrow will see Lake Mills taking on the Cardinals at Garner. In the other NI tilt, Britt will travel to Buffalo Center for a tussle that will have no bearing on the title chase.

Feature attraction of next Tuesday night's bill will be the Northwood-Lake Mills joust on the Bulldog court. The Vikings upset Lake Mills 41-39 in their first meeting, at Northwood, and the Bulldogs will unquestionably go all out in their effort to square accounts.

Forest City will take its turn in the Britt "cracker box" gym, where no adversary can afford to take the Eagles too lightly; and Buffalo Center will play at Garner. The Cards trimmed the Bison 63-53 in their first meeting.

Even Scoring, Tight Defense Hold Secret of Bronco Success to Date

An analysis of scoring performances turned in by the Belmond High basketeers in the first half of their 1953-54 season gives a good indication of why only one of their first nine foes have succeeded in stopping the Broncos. Balanced offense, plus a rugged defense, holds the answer.

All but one of the six "regulars" has at one time or another been high-point man for a game. On the basis of average, three players are virtually tied for the top spot. Don Hoppel has contributed 9 2/3 points per tilt; Keith Madsen has accounted for nine and a small fraction; and Ken Loats' average has been just a shade under nine points. He played only a quarter against Forest City, on account of a cold, or he'd undoubtedly be on a par with his two team mates.

Foes' Average—38 Points

By coincidence, the other three first-stringers are also practically tied in scoring. Gene Mehl has an average of 6 1/3 per game. Ronnie Hansen's average is almost exactly 6 (he missed one game, entirely), and LeRoy Smith's is just a fraction of a point under 6.

From the team-defense standpoint, the Broncos have held their foes to an average of 38 points per game while scoring a bit over 47 themselves. Manning, the only outfit to down Belmond, is the only team that has tallied as many as 50 points against the Broncs. Even in this game, the Purple and White cagers held the Bulldogs well below their customary scoring pace.

Free Throws Have Helped

Free throwing accuracy has played an important part in the success of Belmond's campaign to date. The Broncos have split the net on 125 out of 180 tries from the charity line while their opponents have converted 108 out of 177 chanes. That gives Belmond a 70 per cent average compared to their adversaries' 60.

Buffalo Center is the only team that has bettered Belmond's performance on gift tossess. The Bison in losing here 48-41, connected on 11 out of 15 chances. The Broncos missed 11—but they had 33 opportunities and made good on 22. Free throws played a key part in Belmond's conquest of Forest City. The Indians made good on only eight out of 20 tries, while the Broncs missed only two out of 16.

Hoppel Most Accurate

Hoppel leads the team in free throw accuracy with 79 per cent, trailed closely by Hansen with 77 and Loats with 75. Mehl has made good on better than two out of three for slightly over 67 per cent, Smith's percentage is a shade under 62 and Madsen—who's had the most chances, with a total of 45—has hit exactly 60 per cent of the time.

Individual scoring through Dec. 30, showing—in order—field goals, free throws made, free throws missed, personal fouls and total points:

Hoppel	36	15	4	20	87
Madsen	29	27	18	24	85
Loats	27	25	8	23	79
Mehl	17	23	11	29	57
Smith	19	13	7	29	51
Hansen	16	17	5	17	49
Larson	1	2	1	4	4
Steenblock	1	2	0	2	4

DO YOU CROWD CHICKENS?

We've been doing some thinking about crowded chicken houses lately. I mean too many birds in the house. Y 'know, most of the experts recommend 3 square feet per hen. I used to think that was right. It still is, according to me. But its' not right all of the time.

I've seen nice tight, well ventilated houses with three square feet per bird and where the litter was wetter than a mad hen. The house wasn't very warm and the chickens werent very happy.

Personally, I think they'd be happier if there were more birds in there. If there were more, the house would be warmer. And, I think it would be drier.

Of course, this won't work all the time, I know. But it does mean that floor space—square feet per hen—isn't the only factor in determining whether a chicken house is crowded. I think that there are the right number of chickens in the house if:

1. There's one bird per 4 to 6 inches of feeder space.
2. Not more than four birds per nest.
3. Not more than 100 birds per continuously supplied water
4. The litter is dry.

If your laying house meets those four conditions, it isn't crowded. And I don't care how many brids there are in it. The first three conditions make sure that the birds get what they need to lay eggs and a place to lay them. The litter is the key to disease prevention. Dry litter doesn't harbor disease germs and other organisms.

Dry litter means that there are not too many birds in the house. It also means that the ventilation is good. That nice cold dry air moves in, warms up and absorbs moisture like a dry sponge. The litter stays dry.

Take a look at the hen-house litter before you get your chicks. If it's wet, you may need more birds (and more feeders, etc., too). Or it may be that the house is overcrowded or that the ventilation is inadequate. Check with your service man before you get your chicks. He'll be able to help you.

J. Olson Winner Of Skelly Award

Jens Olson of Dows will receive the weekly W. G. Skelly Agricultural Achievement Award this coming Saturday, it was announced today. Mr. Olson, who operates 240 acres in Wright county, is being recognized for his successful farm program and record of community service. The Skelly Award, which consists of a $100 U. S. Savings Bond, a gold lapel pin and a handsome scroll, will be presented by personal representatives of Mr. W. G. Skelly at a breakfast celebration of neighbors and friends.

Largest cash enterprise on the Olson farm is beef. About 100 steers, purchased in the fall at around 400 pounds, are sold a year later at 1,000 pounds. Fifteen to 20 litters of spring pigs, 130 to 150 head, and 60 to 80 fall pigs are raised. Annual sales include 60,000 pounds of beef, 44,000 pounds of pork and 5,000 dozen eggs. Other annual crop totals are 6,400 bushels of corn, 4,300 bushels of oats and 200 tons of hay.

In addition to his successful farm work, Mr. Olson serves as secretary of the Dows Vocational Agriculture Advisory Council and is a member of the Franklin County Farm Bureau.

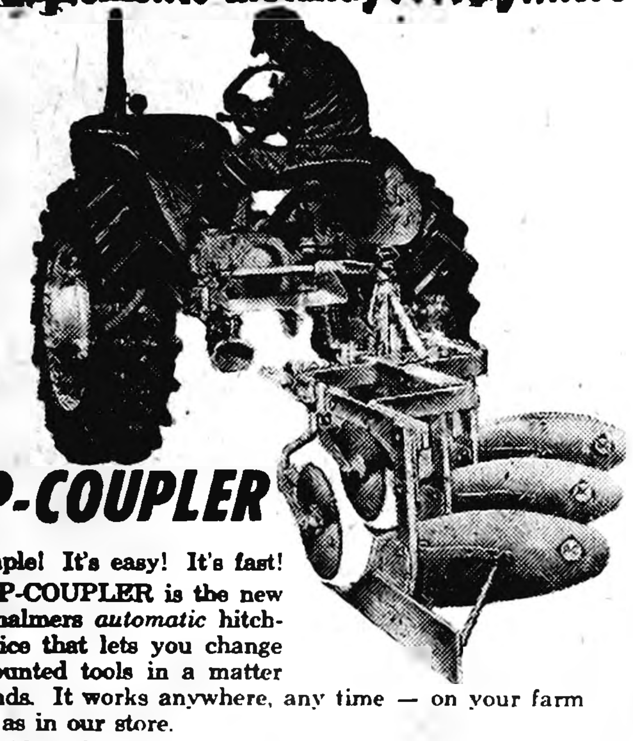
Change Implements Instantly . . . Anywhere



SNAP-COUPLER

It's simple! It's easy! It's fast!

SNAP-COUPLER is the new Allis-Chalmers automatic hitching device that lets you change rear-mounted tools in a matter of seconds. It works anywhere, any time — on your farm as well as in our store.

The SNAP-COUPLER is set in a wide funnel located at the tractor's single hitchpoint. As the tractor is backed to the implement, the funnel guides the tongue of the implement into the coupling where it automatically snaps into working position. The two implement lift-links are then quickly snapped to the tractor's lift-arm latches.

Unhitching is equally simple.

SNAP-COUPLER is standard equipment on new Allis-Chalmers WD-45 Tractors; available for tractors now in use.

Let us demonstrate. Call or stop in.

RECENT CLAMP-DOWN ON VA BENEFITS WAS A MOVE THAT'S BEEN LONG DUE

It's becoming very apparent that a one-time sacred calf of all politicians with an eye to the future — the Veterans' Administration — is figuring quite prominently in President Eisenhower's economy plans. Ike has cut corners in a number of ways that have raised eyebrows, but probably no economy measures that have been introduced thus far came as more of a surprise that the determined efforts to make VA benefits add up to better sense than they have in the past.

Although the writer of this piece emerged from World War II with a double handful of teeth blighted with flaws that the VA generously designated as "service-connected," honesty would prompt him to confess that he never really felt he'd truly "earned" the free dental work this later provided him. Like many another veteran, endowed with such VA benefits, he felt that since he was being taxed to provide them he'd just as well recover what the law said he was entitled to get.

Now all dental benefits are "out the window" unless an applicant has a dental disability so serious as to be compensible in the form of a pension. Most of the millions of dollars worth of dental work Uncle Sam had paid for up to last Oct. 15 would have been necessary had those receiving it never been in uniform at all. It was strictly a government give-away and not in accord with the spirit that should lie behind VA benefits.

A clamp down on providing free hospital care for veterans with non-service disabilities has also been ordered by the VA — unquestionably prompted by higher authority. It is a well known fact that for a good many years Veterans' hospitals have provided free hospitalization and treatment to ANY veteran who made application and was willing to sign an oath that he couldn't afford to pay for treatment elsewhere. This was supposed to constitute a "pauper's oath" and limit hospital service to such veterans as would otherwise find the expense a genuine hardship.

Actually, NO regard was paid to the intended purpose of the oath and a veteran with a $25,000 a year income — or even greater — could as readily obtain free hospitalization and treatment as a man to whom the civilian cost for such service would be grievously burdensome. As a result, some veterans legitimately entitled to help have had to be put off until bed space was available, when their case was not of a strictly emergency nature. And, of course, more millions of dollars worth of expense was underwritten by the government for persons adequately fixed to handle the financial obligation for themselves.

Now applicants for VA hospitalization must provide detailed information regarding their financial circumstances. This information cannot be used to deny hospital care to a veteran, but if it is later determined that he actually was capable of paying for treatment elsewhere, he can be held liable for prosecution. This should have a definitely restraining affect on many veterans who would very blithely have signed the "pauper's oath" when the policy was to provide free care for any and all who asked it.

Veterans with a service-connected disability who need hospital treatment, whether for that disability or some other, will not be required to file the financial information.

REDS COULD GIVE US ACES AND SPADES AND STILL OUT-LIE US — HANDS DOWN

We're frankly ashamed of the declining ability of the average American to tell a good lie. It has impressed us that the quality of the falsehoods that have lately been winning the Burlington, Wis., annual liars contest is becoming poorer year by year. When the cream of American prevaricators can do no better than they've done in the past couple of years in this truth-twisting derby, we'd say the time has come to open the contest to all-comers — including the Russians — or let the whole thing drop.

This year's feeble, prize-winning effort concerning an iron wash kettle that was blown out of the country wouldn't have done credit to an imaginative child. And the 1952 winner, which had to do with gigantic mosquitoes, was actually a hoary old gag that's been going the rounds for decades. There hasn't been a really good winner in the contest since the one that concerned the grandfather's clock that was so old, the pendulum's shadow had worn a hole in the back of the case.

Shucks, day in and day out those Russians cut loose with better free-style whoppers, without trying, than the best of our American-born liars can concoct with a year to think it over. Frankly, we suspect we could win next year's leather medal by sending in a typical Commie-launched lulu with the simple declaration, "What's more — I believe it!"

THINGS HAVE REACHED A PRETTY PASS IF A MAN CAN'T RUN DOWN HIS OWN BOSS

It gratified us to note that a great American principle has been preserved by the stand taken by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfeld toward that Iowa postmaster who reportedly remarked, in effect: "I don't see how he can do a good job as postmaster general because all he knows is how to sell cars."

Now if there is any American prerogative that should be defended against all threats, it's the privilege of "knocking the boss." This country has grown great in no small part due to the right of the hired help to claim they know more than boss — and proving it. Not that the postmaster in question is apt to crowd Summerfeld out of the postmaster general's chair, but he should have a right to his own opinions.

We'd guess that if the day ever comes that all American employees who ever spoke disrespectfully of their employers should get the heave-ho all at once, there'd be a powerful lot of scrambling for jobs going on the day following.

VOL. 33 NO. 14 — OFFICIAL CITY PAPER — BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1954 — OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER — THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Mrs. Bill Stadtlander has heard it defined that "when a man bites a dog, THAT'S news." If that's the case, she informed us in a phone call the other day, then her four-year-old daughter Sheila had produced a news story for us. Seems that Sheila and the Stadtlanders' canine pet were playing together the other morning when the pup forgot the rules so far as to give the little girl a nip on the arm.

He had done it before, but this time—without a moment's hesitation—Sheila up and bit 'im back.

Mrs. Stadtlander says she doubts that the incident will ever be repeated. The dog seems to view his playmate with new-born respect; and if the tussling gets a bit rough, he gives Sheila a warning growl. But the inclination to bite seems to have been cured.

Wonder how cold it DID get Monday night? Downtown on Tuesday morning, we heard of unofficial thermometer readers ranging from 12 to 16 below. One thing's certain. The weather was something less than balmy. Guess that when we've reached nearly mid-January with only one snowfall—and that of little consequence—we shouldn't complain if Old Man Winter chooses to remind us now and then of his presence by stinging our noses and toes.

—M-S—

Joe Skarr dropped in at the Independent office recently, smoke figuratively curling up from his collar—he was so angry over a narrow squeeze he'd been forced into on Highway 69 by a careless driver. He was returning to Belmond with his family in the car when the incident happened.

A woman at the wheel of a Franklin county car approached the highway from the east, on the Alexander road, as Joe's party came over the hill from the south. Although she looked deliberately in his direction, Joe says, she made no pretense at stopping. A vehicle coming from the north prevented the Belmond driver from swinging into the left lane—so there was nothing to do but slam on the brakes and offer quick prayer.

Fortunately, Joe didn't lose control of his car—AND succeeded in braking short of the offending auto. He spotted the woman's car on Main street later and sent the license number to Sheriff Bob Blecker. He's hoping Bob sent the lady (?) a letter hot enough to scorch the edges of the stationery. . . . That's how fatality statistics are born!

—M-S—

Al Mueller, who works at the General Mills plant, found last week's item about a German expatriate from this vicinity visiting the Nativity Scene at Algona of more than casual interest. Like the man in question, he is a former German war prisoner and spent some time at the prison camp. On the chance that he and other emigre from the Fatherland might have been acquainted during the time spent at Algona, Al would appreciate it if someone would inform him of the other ex-soldier's name and exact whereabouts.

—M-S—

Hancock county's board of education had the Belmond school reorganizers scratching their heads last week when the board placed in the proposed Klemme Community School district a section and a half of land that is already in the new Belmond district. Oddly enough, there seems to be nothing in the school reorganization law to prohibit the step.

An inquiry addressed to the state department of public instruction by County Supt. C.W. Sankey brought the following reply from John G. Schultz, reorganization consultant for the department: "Relative to the Klemme proposal to take 1½ sections approximately from the new Belmond area, I see nothing legally to prevent them from doing so. I am frankly disappointed that the Hancock County Board would feel it necessary to do this but apparently it is within their jurisdiction."

One half section of the disputed land lies within the Goodell Independent School district and two other half sections adjoin it in Avery township. It is becoming increasingly apparent that the state reorganization law has more holes in it than a colander.

—M-S—

Kid Cupid's batting average in Wright county last year was much higher than for the previous year, as the number of divorces granted dropped to the lowest total in quite a period of time. Only 13 "unlucky" marriages were dissolved by the Wright county district court, while 121 couples acquired marriage licenses—and presumably were wed.

In 1952, divorces numbered 21 and marriages 115. Whereas there was one divorce for every 5½ marriages two years ago (it was probably some of these "half marriages" that were bustin' up), last year the ratio was 9 to 1 in favor of wedded bliss.

In 1953, the number of marriage licenses obtained from Clerk of Court Bessie Johnson was the highest since the rush to the altar that ensued during the years immediately following World War II. From 1948 through '50 marriages averaged 148 per year, with the "high tied" record coming in 1940—a total of 160.

ELEVEN WINS in 12 starts has earned Belmond's Broncos a fourth place rating among the high school basketball teams in northwest Iowa, the highest a Belmond team has been accorded since the Associated Press started weekly ranking of cage teams several years ago. Above are shown the varsity basketeers whose eight, consecutive wins in the North Iowa conference have placed them solidly in first place in the NI standings: front row (left to right)—Larry Larson, Gene Mehl, LeRoy Smith, Ronnie Hansen, Ken Loats, Don Hoppel, Keith Madsen; back row—Pat Smith, Terry Johnson, Bob Barry, Ron Steenblock, and Jerry Dorr. Through last weekend (Tuesday's game over at Hampton excluded), the Broncos had totaled 574 points in 11 games for an average of better than 52 points, compared to the 439 points they had allowed their opponents, for an average of slightly under 40.

Sheriff and County Attorney Order Illegal Pinball Devices Out of Use

CHARLSON NOT TO RUN

Just at press time, The Independent received word from Roger Charlson, incumbent county auditor, that he does not intend to be a candidate for reelection to that office.

Pinball machines of types that are illegal under Iowa state law are in use in several Wright county communities, according to Sheriff Bob Blecker and County Attorney Ben Birdsall. In hope that the unlawful devices may be withdrawn without the necessiy of legal action, the two county officials last week directed letters to all mayors in the county requesting they warn holders of such machines that they must be removed.

Specifically mentioned as machines which will not be tolerated were: (1) bowling machines; (2) machines with a device that increases odds in favor of a player in proportion to the money deposited to play the machine; and (3) machines having different forms of pay-off, automatic or otherwise—including free games.

In their joint statement to the mayors, the sheriff and county attorney declared they shared the opinion that "these machines are gambling devices and consequently illegal under the laws of the State of Iowa. We believe it is unlawful to possess any of these machines, regardless of whether in use or not within the state."

Test of whether a machine is a gambling device or not rests not on whether it is capable of being used merely for amusement or non-gambling purposes, but whether its reasonably intended use is for gambling, a recent state supreme court decision set forth. Attorney General Leo Hoegh has requested immediate steps towards clearing the state of the suspect machines, due to this ruling.

"Perhaps the greatest complaint about these machines," states the letter directed to Wright county's mayors," is that in many instances minors are playing them and in so doing spend a considerable amount of their money which, in many cases, deprives them of certain necessities and of wholesome amusement."

Blecker and Birdsall asked that police officials be directed to warn proprietors of offending establishments to dispose of the illegal machines at once. In the near future, county authorities will check with the city officials to see that the directive has been obeyed. In cases of non-compliance, the county authorities will cooperate in seeing that the law is enforced.

Hamilton County Legislator Will Seek Senatorship

John A. Walker of Williams, now serving his fourth term in the Iowa legislature as state representative from Hamilton county, this week announced his intention to seek the Republican nomination for state senator from the 37th senatorial district.

Rex R. Bateson of Eldora, who is in his fourth term as senator from the 37th, has made no public announcement in regard to seeking reelection. Wright, Hamilton and Hardin counties are included in this senatorial district.

Mr. Walker is 41 years old and is a native of Hamilton county. After completing his public school education at Williams, he attended Ellsworth Junior college at Iowa Falls, Grinnell college and the American Institute of Business at Des Moines. He was employed by the J. C. Penny company in several states after completing his schooling, but for the past 14 years has operated his own farm near Williams.

The senatorial candidate is married and has three children. He is a member of the Lutheran church and belongs to the Masonic lodge and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Hancock County's School Directors File Appeal

Members of the Wright county board of education and County Supt. C. W. Sankey have been notified that they are to appear for a hearing at Des Moines on Wednesday of next week involving an appeal that has been filed by the Hancock county board of education and Supt. C. S. Whitney.

Specifically what grievance the appeal was inspired by is not known. It was filed with the state department of public instruction and is summarized as an "Appeal from the decision of the joint county boards of education (of Wright and Hancock counties) in the matter of determining boundaries of school districts."

J. P. Street, deputy state superintendent of public instruction, has notified Mr. Sankey that the hearing will be held at the department of public instruction offices at Des Moines at 10:30 a. m. on the day specified.

Hancock Protested Tie Vote

Boards of the two counties have sat jointly in taking action on the reorganization proposals of Belmond, Kanawha and Corwith. Since other county boards were involved in the Corwith hearing, it is doubted by Mr. Sankey that the complaint has to do with that proposal.

Insofar as the Wright board has been able to obtain interpretation of the reorganization law, the filing date of the appeal would be too late for it to pertain to the Belmond proposal. However, the Belmond petition was approved on the strength of a four-four tie vote of the joint board—all Wright members approving and all Hancock members opposing; and though this action was in accord with the law, it was vigorously protested by the Hancock school directors.

Just Wait and See

It is regarded most likely that the appeal pertains to the Kanawha proposal. The boundaries of the proposed Kanawha district were set and the petition approved by a five-four vote—Hancock county having one director ineligible to set on the joint board, but the other four opposing the action. This set up a district of more than 88 sections for the Kanawha Community School district, but proponents of the Kanawha reorganization were dissatisfied with the amount of Norway township territory in Wright county that was included.

In view of the vague phraseology of the appeal, Mr. Sankey conceded this week that he and the Wright board members appeared very unlikely to find out what it was all about until the hearing is held at Des Moines next week.

ORVILLE BOUCHER DIES

Stores Will Close Earlier Saturday Night Till April

Bob Garms, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announces that a majority of Belmond's merchants have joined in an agreement to close their stores at 9:00 o'clock on Saturday nights for a period extending through March 27. The new closing time goes into effect this weekend.

A Chamber committee appointed to conduct a poll of the stores found most of the proprietors in favor of the plan. Trade volume is so scant after 9:00 p. m. that there is no apparent demand on the part of the public for later shopping hours during the winter.

As the weather enables farmers to get back at field work, later shopping becomes the rule; and in their wish to give all their customers the best of service, the merchants will lengthen their Saturday hours when that time arrives.

AT TURKEY CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Helge Eide and Mrs. Alice Hedges drove to Milwaukee, Wis., Tuesday to attend the convention of the National Turkey Federation being held there Wednesday through Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Smith are attending the convention, too. Mr Smith is assisting at the Nutrena display booth.

'54 Grand Jurors Sustain View of Predecessors That Wright County Very Badly Needs New Jail

Dwight Tyrrell of Belmond was appointed foreman of the grand jury that was impanelled Monday to serve Wright county district court during the current year. Others chosen for the jury were: John Rietema, Norway township; Mary Tallman, Clarion; Kermit Johnson, Belmond township; Lynn Thompson, Grant; Pearl Martin, Boone; and John O. Chapman, Eagle Grove.

As its first official act after being drawn, the jury made an inspection of the county jail at Clarion and submitted a report sustaining the viewpoint of the 1953 grand jurors that the county is critically in need of a new jail.

New Jail Recommended

The report urges the board of supervisors to follow up on a resolution it passed last year ordering investigation of legal procedures and necessary planning preliminary to submitting to the voters of Wright county the question of building a new jail.

It is suggested by the new grand jury that razing the present jail and erecting a new one on the same site appears to be the most practical solution. The jurors acknowledged that jail repairs recommended last May by State Fire Marshal Zack Cook are unquestionably well justified; but they deem it would be unwise to expend money on them in view of the jail's condition.

Describing the jail as "a fire hazard, particularly to prisoners," the jury pointed out that the building has deteriorated to the point that it is virtually unrepairable, that it is poorly arranged and that the existing kitchen facilities are most inadequate.

Suggest "Hospital" Room

It is recommended by the jury, on the suggestion of Sheriff Bob Blecker, that the new jail—or the old one, if it must remain in use—should be equipped with some type of hospital room where alchoholic prisoners can receive treatment.

Sheriff and Mrs. Blecker were praised for the clean and satisfactory condition in which they have kept the jail, in view of its condition, and were commended for the spirit of cooperation they have shown at all times.

48 Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds Earn Right to Attend Candy Party

Carole Chinberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Severin Chinberg, for the third year in a row proved herself No. 1 salesman among the Belmond Camp Fire Girls participating in the annual pre-Christmas candy sale of the Camp Fire organization. As a result, she will once more head the local contingent attending the Candy Party of the Heart of the Hawkeye Area as Belmond's Candy Queen. In addition, she will serve as attendant to the area Candy Queen at the yearly fun-fest in Des Moines.

Forty-eight Belmond Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds earned the right to attend the party by selling 10 or more boxes of candy. Miss Chinberg sold 100 to top the list. Altogether, the local girls disposed of 823 boxes. The Belmond Camp Fire committee is permitted to retain seven cents per box for the local treasury, which this year came to the amount of $57.61.

Party This Saturday

This year's Candy Party is to be held Saturday from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m. at North High school in Des Moines. Crowning of the Candy Queen is one of the highlights and special recognition is also given each of the other 28 community sales leaders who will serve as her attendants.

A full week's expenses at Camp Hantesa next summer will be another award to Carole for selling 100 boxes. Mary Ann Brady, for selling 50, will receive one-half of a week's expenses. Each girl who sold 25 or more boxes is to get a special award in the form of a leather symbol to wear on her ceremonial jacket; and all who sold 10 or more will be presented with "Order of the Bon Bon" certificates.

Other Local Leaders

Following the two local leaders in sales were Dian Crimmings 35, Connie O'Connor 31, and 25 each—Mary Carlin, Diane Kessler, Nadyne Johnson, Bonnie Nolan, and Catherine Bonte.

Ten boxes—Vicki Musselman, Karen Chapman, Helen Luick, Judy Larson, Sondra Stoltenberg, Bette Harty, Mary Ennen, Sharon Steenhard, Diane Fetrow, Lynne Boller, Faye Pals, Shirley Davis, Marcia Stoltenberg, Barbara Beenken, Diane Haugland, Judy Gordon, Kathryn Dorr, Colleen Jones, Ruth Larson, Jane Stadtlander, Carnita Trager, Sharyl Campbell, Roberta Hiddleston, Barbara Musselman and Betty Just; 5—Audrey Killius; 2—Carol Ann Waddington.

H. Nelson to Africa Mission Soon; Consecration Service This Sunday

Belmond will add another to its list of native sons and daughters active in the missionary field when Rev. Herbert Nelson and his family leave on Feb. 10 for Zululand, South Africa, to work in the American Lutheran Mission there.

The Rev. Mr. Nelson was ordained as a Lutheran minister in June of 1951. Since then he has served as pastor of a parish at Elroy, Wis.

A consecration service will be held this Sunday at the new missionary's home church, the St. Olaf Lutheran, west of town. Dr. Rolf Syrdal, executive secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Evangelical Lutheran church, will join with Rev. O. M. Severseike, the church pastor, in conducting the service.

This will be an open service and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Rev. and Mrs. Nelson and their children — Julene, Bruce and Brenda—after sailing next month will spend about a week in England before proceeding on to Durban, South Africa. After arriving in the field, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will study the Zulu language at one of the Lutheran mission schools.

There are 46 missionaries in this particular field, the Rev. Mr. Nelson reports. They serve three hospitals, a number of elementary schools, high schools and normal schools; also a college and a seminary.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Nelson, Herbert was a 1937 graduate of Belmond High school. He took advanced study at Wartburg, the Lutheran Bible Institution at Minneapolis, St. Olaf college, the University of Minnesota, and completed his training at Luther Theological Seminary at St. Paul, Minn.

His training was intetrrupted by a stint as Naval pharmacist during World War II, when he served in the South Pacific. He has had some previous experience in his new field. During his period of college study, he spent one summer in an Alaskan mission.

REV. HERBERT NELSON AND FAMILY

Final Rites Held For Mrs. T. Mehus

Funeral services were held Monafternoon at St. Olaf Lutheran church for Mrs. Torkel Mehus, age 58, followed by interment in the St. Olaf cemetery. Rev. O. M. Severseike conducted the rites and Boone Funeral Home was in charge. Pallbearers were Herbert, Norris and Everett Nelson, Jon Rokke, Joseph and Duane Mehus.

Mrs. Mehus passed away in her sleep on Thursday of last week. She had not been in the best of health for some time, but her death was both sudden and unexpected.

Oline Nelson Mehus was born March 4, 1896, Skatvol, Trondheim, Norway, the daughter of Nils and Hanna Rokke Nelson. She came to Belmond in 1924 with her brother, Nickolie Nelson, who was returning here after a visit to Norway.

On Jan. 14, 1926, she was wed to Torkel Mehus. They farmed for several years near Cornelia, then moved to the Lud Simerson farm west of Belmond, which they have tenanted for the past 25 years.

Survivors, besides her husband, include seven children: Mrs. Roger (Mildred) Lonnevik of North Dakota; twin daughters, Mrs. Roger (Nettie) Kimball of Clear Lake and Mrs. Jake (Nellie) Just of Belmond, and Mrs. Arlie (Joan) Olson of Forest City; Donald, who farms near Belmond; and a daughter and son still at home—Pearl, a Belmond High school senior, and Jon, a student in eighth grade.

Other survivors include four grandchildren; two brothers — Nickolie of Belmond and Henry of Kanawha; a sister, Nickoline, in Norway; a foster brother, Einar Rokke, of Chicago; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Preceding her in death were a brother Paul, in Norway; a sister, Christine Mehus; and two grandsons, children of Mr. and Mrs. Olson.

$210 Prize Goes; It Was Last One

Belmond's Cash Gift Days wound up in a blaze of glory Tuesday afternoon when Ben Daniels picked off the largest prize to date—the comfortingly round sum of $210—and a decision was reached that the weekly drawings would be discontinued as of this week. No. 284 was the number that brought Ben the boodle at 3:00 p. m. The 2:00 o'clock prize of $20 went unclaimed when No. 385 was not presented. J. D. Saunders, chairman of the Cash Gift Day committee, says that an insufficient number of business places have offered support of the weekly event to enable its continuation. Consequently, for the time being at least, the drawings will be abandoned.

Rockettes Victors In Pair of Games

Meservey's girls won a pair of basketball victories last week, while the boys went down to defeat twice. The Rockettes edged Plymouth on Tuesday night, 48 to 42, with Marlene Kaduce tallying 24 points. On Friday, the MHS sextet walloped Ventura 53-31. In this game, Marlene hit for 31.

Plymouth trounced the Rockets 79 to 35. Morgan Greer was high point man for the losers, but he managed only a total of eight. Greer came through with 22 against Ventura, however. The boys lost this one 56-46, after trailing 22-19 at the half.

Open Meeting Set On Fertilizer Use

Results of two experiments in the use of commercial fertilizers will be reported on tonight at a countywide meeting to be held at the Clarion Odd Fellows hall, starting at 8:00 o'clock. This report will be given by John Resek of the Iowa State college experiment station. He will also tell the results of other tests of commercial fertilizers that have been conducted in the state.

E. R. Duncan, extension agronomist, will discuss other phases of the use of commercial fertilizers, including rate, time and method of application. Extension Director Aaron Bowman will summarize the results of analyses made of Wright county soils.

Arranged by the county extension service, the meeting is open to anyone interested in attending. Mr. Bowman believes it will be of very general interest to farmers.

The two experiments that will be given particular attention were conducted on the Toresdahl farm in Eagle Grove township and on the Floyd Robie farm a short distance south of Clarion.

At Toresdahl's, the experiment involved use of various amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, individually and in various combinations, applied on corn. The Robie test had to do with use of nitrogen on corn, with the chemical being used in varied amounts and on stands varying from 12,000 to 24,000 plants per acre.

...before it TALKS

... is the way our doctors put it—"Our chances of curing cancer are so much better when we have an opportunity to detect it before it talks."

That's why we keep urging you to make a habit of having periodic health check-ups, no matter how well you may feel . . . check-ups that always include a thorough examination of the skin, mouth, lungs and rectum and, if you are a woman, the breasts and generative tract. Very often doctors can detect cancer in these areas long before the patient has noticed any symptoms in himself.

The point to remember is that most cancers are curable if properly treated before they begin to spread, or "colonize" in other parts of the body... For other lifesaving facts about cancer, phone the American Cancer Society office nearest you or write to "Cancer"—in care of your local Post Office.

Q. Can you put medicine for "colds" in drinking water?

A. Yes, Dr. Salsbury's Ar-Sulfa is a drinking water medicine that helps check sneezing, sniffling symptoms of poultry. Ar-Sulfa saves losses in egg profits caused by infectious coryza (often called a "cold"). Treat for 3 to 5 days. It is effective and economical. "Cold" symptoms usually disappear within 2 days. DEMOS WILL HAVE TO SNIPE AT DETAILS IN 1954; BUT THEY'LL DO A JOB OF IT!

As the political pot begins to simmer (from the increased volume of hot air that election year lets loose), it is interesting to note that the number of Democratic targets is not nearly so great as a year ago. Of course, the donkey still finds plenty to bray about; but he's discovering it necessary to be especially loud on the subjects still left to him, because the Eisenhower administration has done a remarkable job of improving many of the situations it inherited.

When Ike took over, he was faced with two major responsibilities. One was taking initiative away from the Kremlin on the international front. The other was maintaining a reasonable level of prosperity on the home front to prove to a watchful world that democracy is a match for its problems.

While there were brags on the part of some Republicans over the end brought to "Truman's war" in Korea, most thinking members of the party are willing to concede this was an accomplishment above and beyond the realm of partisan politics. On the other hand, Russia seems clearly to have lost the upper hand it so long enjoyed diplomatically; and the United States more and more often is calling the turn. That's a highly meaningful change in trend, and credit for it must go to the new party in power.

At home, Ike has made an important start towards eliminating the governmental waste and extravagance that were blithely accepted as "necessary evils" under the New Deal. He has taken effective steps towards rooting out the graft and corruption that had become all too commonplace under the Tammany-style politics that for two decades predominated in Washington. Democratic critics would have us think that the national economy is in grave danger; but year-end figures from industry certainly don't bear it out. True, agricultural income has skidded a bit; but any harm done to the farmers has largely been relative. Most are still well off; while they don't have it so good as they did for a time, still they're not "hurting".

But the farmer's situation points the path that Democratic campaigning will undoubtedly pursue as the year progresses. The donkey can't afford to look at the general picture. He'll have to concentrate on details. THIS still hasn't been done (after a WHOLE year under the GOP regime) and THAT hasn't been corrected. The immediate Democratic future rests upon the success with which they can induce the voters to concentrate on the trees and disregard the forest. It may prove more difficult than seems reasonable, for the GOP to make sufficinet capital of the fact that the forest IS thriving, and that a down tree here and there is not of major importance.

NO USE FOR A YOUNG FELLOW TO GET COLD FEET; THINGS COULD BE WORSE

If you folks will kindly excuse it, Ye Ed would like to address a few lines to the young sprout who made his appearance on the family tree Tuesday of last week. We intend, in due course of time, to have a heart-to-heart talk with him regarding how come he showed up five days too late to qualify as a '53 tax deduction (particularly since he weighed in at nine pounds, and plainly dallied along the way). But we're putting that off till another time.

● ● ●

Dear Steve:

Just want to assure you, young fellow, that you've arrived in a pretty good day and age—and don't let anyone tell you different. There'll be those who'll try to scare the dide off of you with warnings that the whole, bloomin' world is due to erupt in a mushroom cloud before you ever get around to shaving, but don't you believe it.

Shucks, your old man would be more inclined to bet that these tricks with the atom will eventually mean a fuller, finer, healthier life for you than your Mom and Dad have known—and we certainly have no kicks. As we see it, the way this old world ticks pretty much depends on what people choose to think. And a big switch in thinking's going on.

Sure, some yokels over across the ocean had dreams for a while of making everybody dance to their fiddling, simply by being pushier than anyone else. These Communists (that's just one of the NICER things we call 'em) figured that since MOST folks try to go by the rules, all they had to do was play dirty and they'd have an advantage that would be hard to beat.

Frankly, though, your Dad suspects that the Commies' dreams have been crimped by the way Uncle Sam has been bulging his atomic biceps. Bullies don't like to get into a fight when they stand a good chance to get hurt as bad or worse than the other fellow. For a while, those Commies felt pretty certain the day wasn't far off when, by eye-gouging and biting in the clinches, they could make the rest of the world say "Uncle!" The sad part of it was, some of us weren't so sure as we'd liked to have been but what they might be right.

But things have changed. Now the villiah is beginning to wonder if he hasn't a bear by the tail instead of a whip in his fist. And you'll find when you get old enough for Saturday matinees that when the bad guys lose their swagger, the good guys get the upper hand before long. It always comes out right in the end. And believe me, son, a finer Author is handling the pen for the production you've just gotten a part in than the best script writer that ever turned out a "western."

Actually, your old man believes it's a much simpler matter than all the complicated talk above might suggest. He thinks the good Lord has probably gotten pretty interested in watching mankind try to work out some sort of salvation for itself. We can't imagine Him busting up the scenery and killing off the cast, just when the show's getting good. Maybe His attention was drawn away for a while by other business, and He didn't stage-manage things quite as closely as He'd intended. More likely, though, He's just been standing by to see how badly we'd ham it up before we showed some signs of following the right cues.

At any rate, son, don't let the current reviews bother you. Granted, your Dad hopes his generation can learn their lines a bit better before you and your bunch take over the act. But even if our stage fright balls things up now and then, you'll find the plot makes sense. Just you pay proper mind to the Author's stage directions, and you'll make out OK.

Confidently yours,
Dad

KNOW... the answers to CANCER

By E. D. PLASS, M. D.

Does cancer occur more ferquently among married or unmarried women?

Except for cancer of the sex organs, the marital status of a woman does not significantly alter her chance of developing a malignancy. Breast cancer is more common in unmarried women and in those who are married but have never been pregnant. It seems almost as if the profound physiologic changes which occurr in the mammary glands during pregnancy and lactation make the glands more resistant to uncontrolled growth of the glandular epithelium. The alternate hypothesis advanced by those who believe that chronic irritation usually precedes the appearances of a malignant tumor, that uninterrupted premenstrual physiologic stimulation of the glands is more irritating than the activity incident to lactation, seems hardly tenable. Certainly the physical insults and the hormonal stimulation of even a single lactation are infinitely greater than the changes incident to menstruation. It may be that the mammary gland which has never lactated or even been prepared for lactation does not become fully mature and retaining some of its immature characteristics, is more susceptible to those ill-defined metabolic influences which supposedly initiate cancer. Whatever the final explanation may be, the fact remains that single and childless women have more breast cancer.

On the other hand, cancer of the uterine cervix is more common in women who have borne children. During labor the cervix is almost invariably subject to some laceration and such tears provide a point for bacteria which frequently produce chronic cervicitis. It is then argued that this localized infection produces conditions favoring the later uncontrolled growth of the epithelial cells, cervical cancer. The fact that the torn cervix is more likely to devlop cancer has excellent statistical support. Women who have these minor lesions corrected by small surgical procedures at the conclusion of their child-bearing appear to be considerably protected.

Bronchitis — A Rough Disease

Infectious bronchitis is fast becoming one of the most costly diseases known to poultrymen. In young birds, up to 4 weeks old, bronchitis is often a vicious killer. In laying birds, it knocks production in the head — quite often permanently — although it does not kill laying hens. It might as well though. If a hen doesn't lay, she might as well be dead.

Infectious bronchitis is hard to identify. It looks like a bad cold. It looks a little like Newcastle. It looks like coryza, roup, any number of other respiratory diseases. But it ain't. It's bronchitis — and a lot worse than any other respiratory disease in this country.

Bronchitis is hard to identify. And once you get it, it's hard to treat. When your chickens look like they may have a cold, call your poultry serviceman. He will help you if the birds have a cold. And if he finds it's bronchitis ailing them he might be able to help you get the birds back into production. Let me emphasize again. If your chickens look like they have a cold, CALL YOUR POULTRY SERVICE MAN!

Bronchitis is rough on chickens of all ages. If they are less than 10 days old bronchitis may stunt future egg profits of the surviving birds — if any. It costs you a lot of money and feed in birds between 8 and 20 weeks of age.

And if laying birds contract bronchitis, chances are they never will reach top production again. When the disease hits, they usually go down to about 15% production in five days. After about two months they may be laying 50% — very seldom more than that. And the eggs they lay may have poor shells, watery whites and other irregularities. Although bronchitis doesn't kill the layers, it sure makes'em useless as a rule.

Let me say it again. When your chickens look like they have a cold or other respiratory trouble, CALL YOUR POULTRY SERVICEMAN RIGHT AWAY! Later might be too late.

[illegible]ock School Board Asks 'Writ' [illegible] Force Sankey's 'OK' on New Gym

[illegible] C. W. Sankey stated [illegible] that he would await [illegible] of the Wright county [illegible] before giving "approval" to the construction of a [illegible] school gymnasium at Woolstock. L[illegible] week the board of education [illegible] the Woolstock Independent School district applied to the [illegible] for a "writ of mandamus" forcing Mr. Sankey's approval of the project.

Considerable controversy has [illegible] over the construction of the gymnasium since it was approved by a large majority of the qualified voters of the school district in [illegible] election. Letting of contract for building of the gym was [illegible] for Dec. 29, but on the preceding day 10 voters of the district obtained a temporary injunction blocking the contract letting.

Schaupp Grants Injunction

They contended that the gymnasium would place the district in debt beyond its statutory limit, that it was not actually needed by the school and that, in actuality, its primaary purpose would be to serve as a community center for Woolstock.

Judge John M. Schaupp granted the injunction, and subsequently the approval of Superintendent Sankey was sought for the project. In the belief that the current wave of school reorganizations will before too long find Woolstock with just a grade school, Mr. Sankey expressed the opinion that building of the new gym would be both unnecessary and unwise. He says that the county board of education concurs with him on this opinion.

What Requires Approval?

Since the Iowa law requires a county superintendent must approve the construction of any new school buildings in his county, there is apparently little chance of the injunction being raised as circumstances stand. The Woolstock school directors contend that the superintendent's approval concerns only the physical plans and specifications and that it is not within his jurisdiction to decide on the wisdom of the building project.

Only action since application was filed for the "writ" has involved drafting of a "statement of facts" that summarizes the difference that exists between the Woolstock board and the county superintendent. This has been approved by Mr. Sankey and County Attorney Ben Birdsall and by the Woolstock directors and their attorney.

Until such time as a "writ of mandamus" is granted forcing Mr. Sankey's approval, and the temporary injunction is lifted, bonds to finance the proposed project cannot be sold and contracts cannot be let. It is expected by the principals in the matter that the controversy will be resolved by court action during the current term.

Broncs Bowl Over Hampton, 65-35, For Eleventh Win

Belmond rolled over Hampton on Tuesday evening, 65 to 35, as the Broncos won No. 11 in a dozen starts. It was strictly "no contest" against the inexperienced Bulldogs, who managed only five points in the opening quarter and had accumulated only 13 by halftime.

As Coach Jim Crimmings began to filter reserves into the Bronco line-up, the Hampton five had somewhat better success, but only in the third quarter did the host team manage to hold the victors even.

First Quarter, 20-5

In the opening stanza, Belmond rushed into a 20-5 lead and by halftime the margin was 31-13. Both crews netted 14 points in the third quarter as the count advanced to 45-27, but the Broncs broke loose again in the final period with a 20-point splurge while the Bulldogs were able to gather only eight more.

There was no scoring stand-out for the winners; every member of the starting five hit for 10 or more points. Ken Loats and Ronnie Hansen each contributed 14 to the Belmond total, Don Hoppel gathered 11 and LeRoy Smith and Keith Madsen each donated 10. Larry Larson's four and two points by Gene Mehl brought the final count to 65.

Coach Jacobs' Colts bowed for the second time to the Hampton froshmores. This time the Bullpups got the job done 43 to 36. Jerry Chandler was top point producer for the losers with 10.

Britt Scares Indians

All the North Iowa conference teams except the Broncs were busy against loop foes Tuesday night. Britt, who surprised Buffalo Center last Friday night, threw a king-size scare into Forest City's second-place quintet by forcing the Indians into an overtime before losing 51 to 48.

Lake Mills and Garner protected their 3rd and 4th-place positions with solid victories. The Bulldogs laced Northwood, 60 to 39 at Lake Mills and the Cardinals—also with a home-court advantage—tramped on Buffalo Center, 62-44.

Lonnevik Heads St. Olaf Officers

Farm Sale Today, Week From Today

Two farm sales are listed for this vicinity in the period of the next eight days. No livestock is included in the listings in either case, but both will offer good lines of farm machinery and equipment.

Today at 12:30 p. m., Ed Hall is closing out at the farm eight miles west and a half north of Belmond, as he is retiring from farming. Besides machinery, a quantity of hay and straw and some household goods will be sold.

Next Thursday, at the farm a mile and a half west and a half mile north of Belmond, Sam Michelson will conduct a public auction. He is giving up farming due to ill health. His offerings will include quite a wide variety of machinery and equipment, some of the items not more than a year old.

Most State Cases Continued; Judge Dismisses Jurors

With one exception, criminal cases on the docket for the January term of Wright county district court, which opened Monday at Clarion, were continued and as a result Judge Harvey Uhlenhopp saw fit to dismiss the petit jurors who had been drawn for the term.

Cases of Sam Bell, who must defend against the charage of resisting execution of a process, and Andrew L. Lamb, charged with assault with intent to commit bodily injury, were continued over the January term by written stipulation of the participants. The case of Francis P. Mersch, charged with second offense OMVI, was continued until the March term on the defendant's petition.

Implement Cases Reinstated

Only criminal case acted upon was that of Madel Knutson, operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, first offense. He pleaded guilty before Judge Uhlenhopp on Monday and was fined $300, his driver's license suspended for 60 days and his liquor book was surrendered, on request.

Judge Uhlenhopp reinstated by stipulation 12 cases that had been filed by Wright county implement dealers against the county board of review back in 1951, and they were continued to the May term. These cases had been dismissed without prejudice during the November term due to lack of legal action on them.

Annulments Granted

Two annulments were granted by the judge. The marriage of Emma Christie to Ira L. Christie was annulled and the former was granted sole ownership of the Pleasant township farm that he had previously owned jointly with the defendant.

Samuel H. Bohning's marriage to Beatrice Davenport Bohning also was annulled and he was granted sole ownership of a Pleasant township farm which he had received by inheritance in 1950, and 20 additional acres which the defendant had received as a gift from her mother but on which the plaintiff has erected buildings in value exceeding that of the real estate. Mr. Bohning was given permanent custody of two minor children.

Bronco's Third-Quarter Splurge Racks Northwood

After a slow start, which permitted Northwood to grab the lead on three occasions late in the first half, Belmond's Broncos got into gear last Friday night and subdued the Vikings 54 to 42. It was Don Hoppel who provided the winning spark this time. In fact, Belmond would have been in pretty sad shape at halftime if Don hadn't managed to tally 10 of his points prior to the intermission.

Northwood opened the scoring, and a couple of minutes had gone by before Belmond slipped into a 4-3 lead on a free throw and basket by Keith Madsen and a gift toss by LeRoy Smith. After Ken Loats made it 6-4, Hoppel more or less took over for the Broncs. His three baskets during the balance of the quarter were instrumental in giving Belmond a 14-6 lead entering the second stanza.

Vikings Slump After Half

That second quarter was a bad one for the Broncs. A Viking rally, led by Forward DuWayne Carnes, melted Belmond's margin and midway in the period the host team went in front, 18-17. Three times the lead changed hands before a final flurry—personally directed by the useful Mr. Hoppel—sent the Broncos ahead 25-21 at the half.

In the third quarter, Northwood could manage only three points on one basket and a free throw. Belmond, on the other hand, suddenly found the range. Hoppel snagged three fielders, Ken Loats and Madsen two each, and Smith and Gene Mehl contributed a pair of points apiece to expand the Broncs' advantage to 20 points—44-24—with one quarter to go.

Froshmores Win, 37-23

Carnes hit for six points and Bob Nelson for nine as the Vikings made a fourth-period sprint to catch up, but the Belmond lead was never seriously threatened and Coach Jim Crimming substituted freely in the waning moments.

Hoppel's point production for the evening came to 18. Loats coudn't seem to make 'em go through, after his scoring explosion at Britt, but nevertheless accounted for 11 points. Smith delivered 8, Madsen 7, Mehl 6, Ron Hansen 3 and Larry Larson 1. Carnes was Northwood's high-pointer with 16.

Belmond's froshmore team won with relative ease, 37 to 23. The Colts held a 15-10 halftime lead. Bruce Hall and "Joe" Smith led the winners in scoring with 10 apiece.

NI Quintets Take On Only Non-loop Rivals Next Week

NORTH IOWA CONFERENCE STANDINGS
(Through last Friday)

	W	L	Pts	OP
Belmond	7	0	364	278
Forest City	5	2	345	312
Lake Mills	3	3	287	263
Garner	3	4	350	369
Buffalo Center	2	5	328	336
Britt	2	5	358	449
Northwood	2	5	276	289

Last Friday's round of conference games left Forest City as virtually the only loop rival with an outside chance of interfering with Belmond's pursuit of the 1953-54 championship. The Indians took the measure of Garner, 58-47, to remain in the runner-up spot as the Broncs kept their loop record unblemished with a 54-42 verdict over Northwood. Britt pulled a minor surprise by nosing out Buffalo Center on the Bison court, 50-46.

One more round of North Iowa conference basketball play will be gotten in tomorrow night, before the annual suspension of league warfare as the first semester of the school year ends. All loop teams except Garner will be active against NI adversaries Friday night; but next Tuesday and the following Friday will see all seven teams engaged in non-conference tilts.

Belmond's Broncos will travel to Buffalo Center tomorrow night to take on the always-dangerous Bison. Fans who saw the BC-Belmond game here are well aware that the Bison are capable of being a very tough outfit. It wasn't until the very late stages that the Broncos got safely in front, to win 48-41.

Lake Mills and Forest City will clash on the Indians' home floor, with the host team very much needing a victory to retain any hope of giving Belmond a run for the title. Britt goes to Northwood for the other conference game.

On Tuesday of next week, the Broncos will play at home for the first time since Dec. 18. They will take on the Clarion Cowboys—and have the first opportunity to show off their new uniforms and warm-up suits for the benefit of their stay-at-home fans. Clarion has turned in several surprises this season, including a win over the moderately good Clear Lake team.

Welfare Payments Drop In December

Welfare payments in Wright county for the closing month of 1953 showed a drop of $315.50, compared to the outlay in October. Responsible for the drop from $15,541.50 to $15,225 was a decrease of five in the number of old age assistance cases. In December, 233 pensioners received $13,021; in October, 238 received $13,332.

Despite addition of two more dependent-children cases, payments in this category went down $5.50. In December, 19 cases—involving 53 recipients—got a total of $1,772. In October, 17 cases were on the rolls, including 49 individual recipients.

Aid to needly blind reamined the same as in October. Eight sightless persons received welfare payments totaling $432.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS

OK, so we never got made out a liar quicker in our life! The writer of this column had no sooner spread publicity far and wide about what a tight, control-ball club the Broncos are this year and how defense was winning 'em their games when what happens? They demolish the Britt Eagles 94 to 53. Some control ball, huh?

And we have the Des Moines and Mason City papers telling the world that Belmond's basketeers have achieved their success without a single man boasting a 10-point per game scoring average, when Ken Loats shovels in a grand total of 35 at Britt and boosts his average to nearly 11.5 per game. Even Don Hoopell and Keith Madsen nearly did it to us; Don boosted his average to 9.9 and Keith's crawled up to 9.8. (The Northwood game "did it" for Don.)

Believe it, though—that's the way we like to be made a liar. Incidentally, Coach Crimmings has felt all along that Loats had a better scoring potential than he'd been demonstrating. Just not shooting enough. So when Ken took off at a gallop, Jim just threw the reins over his back, gave him a whack on the rump, and let him see what he COULD do.

—PSS—

Because North Iowa conference secretaries over the years have regarded that their sole responsibility consisted of taking minutes of the couple or so league meetings held annually, there are no official records against which to check that 94-point total as an all-time high. On the other hand, we'll believe that's "it" until someone proves otherwise.

Insofar as Loats' performance is concerned, we hear guesses that it might have been matched or surpassed by a Bronco cager somewhere along the line. But no one has been prepared to say when and by whom.

It would have to have been in the past 10 years or so, because basketball of earlier days just didn't involve scoring of present-day volume. Just for the record, we'd appreciate hearing from readers who definitely recall any performances in the same class with Ken's. If we're told the season and the game, we can check in the files to see if the recollection is correct.

—PSS—

We say again, as we've said in the past: the indifference of the North Iowa conference school officials toward the NI sports tie-up both hurts the athletic prestige of the teams and handicaps the individual athletes in getting the recognition they deserve. Either the loop secretary should keep proper records for reference purposes AND see that conference publicity is regularly provided to the press—or arrangements should be made to have someone else do it. In a Class A conference like ours, there's no excuse for letting the state forget we even exist.

—PSS—

Last Thursday evening, Eddie Albers momentarily enjoyed that dream of every bowler—rolling of a perfect, 300 game—only to have it turn into a nightmare. Competing in a Mainstreeter league match with Kinseth's Hot Pointers, Ed cut loose with NINE consecutive strikes. But his 10th ball was a mite high and left the 10 pin; and by that time he was in a state so nearly approaching nervous collapse that he was unsuccessful in picking up the pesky, single pin.

That gave him a 267—just one pin shy of the local league record of 268 held jointly by Eddie, Jake Brothers and Rog Kinseth.

However, Ed finished out with a very respectable 195-215 to total 677 for his series—which WAS a league record, we're told. Rog and Jake are on the Hot-Pointers team with Ed, and if all three ever catch fire at the same time you'll see some pretty fancy team game and series marks established. Incidentally, Ed had a 613 Boardsplitter league series last week, with the Texaco team. How do you like that 215 average for the week?

Saving Corn Cobs

Cousin Ed shelled corn last week. Two trucks were loading from the sheller — one for corn, the other for cobs.

Reminded me of when Ed first started saving corncobs — his neighbors thought he was crazy. Then they saw the checks he got. Now they all sell their cobs. In fact, cobs are big business today, used for everything from nylon to plastics.

Sometimes new ideas like that are hard for people to understand. They get prejudiced, or just plain stubborn — like one neighbor who put off using a tractor for eight years.

But in most things, we Iowans are pretty open-minded and proud of it. That goes for everything from our readiness to adopt better farm practices, to our right to choose between a good cup of coffee and a temperate glass of beer.

In a great state like this, there's a place for all kinds of ideas, tastes, opinions, and preferences. That's what makes it such a wonderful place to live. Open-mindedness.

Alexander's boys basketball team got a firm grip on the '53-54 Iowa Westfork championship last Friday night by trimming Geneva in a crucial game, 46 to 39. With only two loop games left on their schedule—a tilt with Hansell here on Tuesday night of this week and one at Popejoy tomorrow (Friday) night—the Alexander five appeared certain of an unmarred record in the first season of play in the new conference. The girls didn't fare so well with Geneva, losing 71-51.

On Tuesday night of last week, the boys swamped Chapin's luckless quintet, 70 to 47. Three Alexander scorers accumulated 20 points or more. Dennis Scott and Dick Showalter exactly hit that total and Elodn Schulte amassed 23. The girls also won their game, Sandra Johnson accumulating 42 points in guiding the way to a 60-47 victory.

Starting Monday night, both the boys and girls teams will hold their conference tournament at Hansell. The Alex' five is an odds-on choice to take honors in this tourney, just as they have in regular season play.

In the local debate next Friday evening on the question, "Resolved, that the protective tariff is no longer desirable," the affirmative will be taken by Leo Rosecrans, Manda Skovlin and Herschel Miller and the negative will be upheld by Harold Luick, Cecilia Richardson and Harry Newgord.

Wallpaper Center Opened at Nolan's

In today's paper, Don Nolan calls attention to the new Wallpaper Decorating Center which has been set up at Nolan Drug. It features the latest in United Wallpaper designs, many of which are new departures from conventional patterns.

"Metalics seen during the past few years in upholstery, draperies and apparel are to be seen in these new wallpapers," Mr. Nolan says. "With their textured effects, rooms can look as though smoothly upholstered in gold or silver-touched decorator fabrics."

Imitation grass cloth also figures prominently in the new United designs, Don adds, but like other of this manufacturer's papers is both washable and fadeproof.

Optical illusion designs of trellises and other third-dimensional devices make possible a vista effect that is a particular boon to small rooms. One wallpaper—especially created for bedrooms—actually looks "tufted," Mr. Nolan notes.

Building TODAY...

for Your Wonderful Electric TOMORROW!

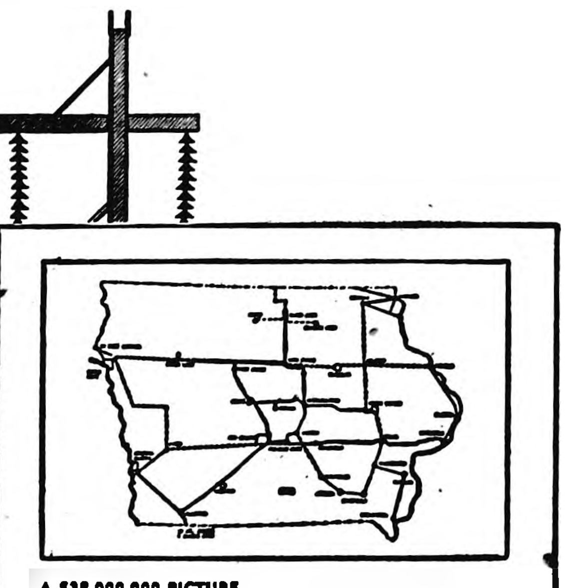
SAYS:
Reddy Kilowatt
Your Electric Servant
Here's MORE POWER to You!



A $38,000,000 PICTURE showing the POWER expressways over which millions of kilowatt hours will flow . . . assuring an ever more dependable supply of "on-the-spot" power to each Iowa community. It will mean you'll never have to worry about enough power for Iowa's "wonderful electric tomorrow."

ELECTRICITY

the family's greatest gift

Electricity enters into almost every phase of living today. It's one of the family's greatest gifts — because it does so many jobs so economically. Electricity is one of the few things that costs a family less today than it did before the war.

"SO LONG as there remains a single task being done by men and women which electricity could do as well, electricity must prepare to do it. Great days are ahead and electricity will have a great part to play."

These were the words of Thomas Edison, founder of the power industry and they are as true today as they were the day he said them.

Electricity does many more jobs today than just provide lighting. Who would have thought in 1900 that we'd cook with electricity? Use it to run washers, dryers, toasters, radios, even electric shavers? And electricity will be called upon to do many more jobs in the future, for who knows what the wonder-science of electronics has in store for us?

Not only will electricity do more jobs for you in your home, office and on the farm in the years to come, but more people, more schools, and more industries everywhere in Iowa will make increased demands on the companies that serve them.

Anticipating these increased demands for power, the eight major power companies of Iowa are cooperating with one another on the installation of a $38,000,000 system of high-voltage transmission lines called the "Iowa Grid" . . . for your electric future.

The Iowa Grid will form a network of power "expressways" for the movement of huge quantities of electric power between companies. It will mean that power can be fed to any section of the state from at least two directions. It will mean that no part of the state will ever be without all the power it needs. It will mean plenty of electric power for your "wonderful electric tomorrow."

VOL. 34 NO. 15 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JANUARY 21, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

The editorial column of "Hoofbeats," the BHS student newspaper, reports that the following bit of of doggeral recently made its appearance on the high school bulletin board:

WITH MALICE TOWARD NONE,
WITH CHARITY FOR ALL;
STOP THROWING GARBAGE
IN THE UPSTAIRS HALL!

Identity of the "bard of the broom" was not divulged, and none of the regular custodians will take credit for the versifying. It seems to us, though, that the idea opens a wide range of possibilities for useful suggestions around home. Can't you imagine finding the following on the medicine cabinet mirror:

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make Mom's life sublime,
If we pick up clothes behind us
And erase the bathtub line.

We invite our housewife-readers to give this a free trial. If it works, we'll be glad to write custom-made reminders to fit particular peeves at a modest fee.

—M-S—

So whaddya know! Leafing through the current month's issue of the General Mills "Modern Millwheel," employee publication of the General's family, we pulled up short when we caught sight of the January "Millwheel Sweetheart." The lass, charmingly attired in an attractive, skating costume, looked definitely familiar. Reading of the lines beneath the picture provided the explanation. . . . "She's Lois Mehl," we were advised, "and for the past three years she's served as cash disbursements clerk at the company's soybean plant in Belmond, Ia. Lois is 21 and single. Obviously, she's a roller skating enthusiast; she also enjoys bowling and badminton."

—M-S—

Although they may groan to hear one perpetrated, the Mainstreeters are secret admirers of the good, ripe pun. Consequently, they groused with unrestrained delight at one that the latest bulletin of the Iowa Development Commission cut loose with last week. It was the heading for an item regarding the predominance of the Hawkeye State over ol' Kaintuk' as a producer of bluegrass seed.

Iowa Foremost in Bluegrass Supply;
With Kentucky Coming Through Awry

Aint that awful? It WAS interesting to learn that Iowa far outstrips the "Bluegrass State" in production of this widely used forage crop. In fact, Iowa farms produce nearly a fourth of the nation's supply of bluegrass seed — and about twice as much as Kentucky. That drought last year put a crimp in the '53 yield, but Iowa nevertheless ranked as second state in the U. S. in producing bluegrass seed. (Don't you just LEARN things in "Main Street," too?)

—M-S—

As is always the case when a new set of license plates is not issued at the start of the year, renewals at the county treasurer's office are lagging quite badly this month. Treasurer Harold Sullivan KNOWS it "pays to advertise;" he says renewals are always much more prompt when brand new plates on parked and passing cars serve as a constant reminder to laggards that their license for the new year is payable and due. Through Tuesday of this week, only 3,200 car-owners had been in to lay their money on the counter and pick up the metal tabs to update their '53 plates. On the same date last year, more than 3,800 licenses had been issued. . . . Let this serve to remind you, you and you, that the renewal deadline is but 10 days away.

SGT. ROSHEIM DISCHARGED RECENTLY FROM U. S. ARMY

Sgt. Irwin D. Rosheim was recently discharged from the U. S. Army after two yearr of service, part of the time spent in Japan. After his release at Camp Carson, Colo., he was met at Colorado Springs by his wife and they visited in the home of his sister, Mrs. R. D. Carnes of Alberquerque, N. M., en route to their home at Forest City.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosheim visited his mother, Mrs. Mamie Rosheim, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Stockseth, upon their return to Iowa.

$10 "RIDE" PLAYS PART IN $15,000 DAMAGE SUIT

An Eagle Grove undertaker was named defendant in a $15,000 damage suit filed this week in Wright county district court by Esther B. Hess, a teacher in the Eagle Grove schools.

According to the plaintiff's petition, she suffered a double fracture of her right leg on Jan. 21 of last year when she fell on some ice that covered the driveway of the Kastler Funeral Home.

She states that she was taken to a hospital by George Kastler, proprietor of the funeral home — and later was charged and paid $10 "for his tender services in using his ambulance to transport (me) to a hospital at the time of (my) injury."

The teacher asserts that she was unable to follow her profession for several weeks following the mishap and incurred considerable expense for hospital, medical and doctor bills. The petition declares that the defendant's negligence was responsible for the pain and suffering the plaintiff suffered at time of injury and subsequently, and that said pain and suffering can be expected to continue into the future.

Veeder Rites Here Monday Afternoon

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at the Methodist church for Mrs. Louise Veeder, 77, a one-time Belmond resident who in late years had made her home at Sioux City. She died on Thursday of last week while en route by airliner from Sioux City to Oklahoma City, Okla., where she was going to make her future home with her daughter, Mrs. Mike Skalosky.

Mrs. Veeder was stricken with a coronary occlusion while the plane was in flight between Kansas City, Mo., and Wichita, Kans. Arrangements had been made for her prompt transferral to a hospital at Wichita, but she passed away about 20 minutes before the airport was reached.

Rev. J. Heber Miller conducted the final rites, which were in the charge of Boone Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Claude Veeder, Dan Veeder, Ted Veeder, Glenn Veeder, Joe Veeder and Robert Coulson. Interment was in Belmond cemetery.

Born at Muscoda, Wis., on Oct. 13, 1876, the daughter of Ernest and Mary Mueller Massmann, Louise Magdalene Massman received her education in the Muscoda public schools and graduated from high school there. On April 13, 1903, at Prairie du Chien, Wis., she was wed to William E. Veeder. After their marriage they moved to a farm south of Belmond, which was their home until her husband's death in 1905. One child, a daughter, Mildred, was born to them.

After Mr. Veeder's passing, Mrs. Veeder and Mildred moved to Belmond and lived here until 1935. Since then, she made her home briefly in Mason City and the remainder of the time in Sioux City.

Survivors are the daughter, Mrs. Mike Skalosky of Oklahoma City, Okla.; three sisters — Anna Massmann and Mrs. Mary Postel of Madison, Wis., and Mrs. Clara Dvorak of Muscoda, Wis.; several nieces and nephews and many friends. Mrs. Veeder was preceded in death by her parents and one sister, in addition to her husband.

Cast of 3 Picked For One-Act Play

Dean Hughes, BHS instructor in speech, announces selection of the cast that will represent Belmond in the annual, state, one-act play contest this year. Parts have been assigned to Elna Jenison, Dwight Beavers and Kyle Mennenga.

"The Good Axe," a drama by Walter Kerr, has been selected as the play. Miss Jenison will take the part of a newspaper feature writer; Beavers will portray "Sergeant Fisch," a policeman; and Mennenga is cast as "Joe Slivak," a Polish farmer.

No announcement has been made as to where the initial play contest will be held, but it is scheduled for the week of Feb. 8.

REV. GEORGE LONG
He's "Uncle George" to Many

Youth Evangelist Coming for 8 Days

An evangelist with a particular attraction for young people, Rev. George V. Long of Elkhart, Ind., will conduct an eight-day series of youth meetings at the Belmond Baptist church starting this Sunday night. The meetings will begin at 7:30 and be over by 8:45 p. m.

Rev. A. T. Rollene, Baptist pastor, says that the guest evangelist is affectionately known as "Uncle George" to thousands of young people in all parts of the country. His meetings consistently have drawn large crowds of boys and girls of high school and junior high age, and the local minister is hopeful that the visitor will be greeted with good attendance during his meetings here.

The Rev. Mr. Long takes pride in the fact that his meetings are distinctly different and have won such a ready response from young people wherever he's appeared. Moving pictures, contests and prizes are among the features of each evening's services. While the meetings are planned especially for their appeal to young folks, the Rev. Mr. Rollene says that adults also will find them interesting and are most welcome to attend.

Reminder: Chest Supporting Polio Fund With $450

Quite a number of inquiries have been made at The Independent office in regard to local plans for conduct of a campaign in behalf of the March of Dimes. So a reminder is here offered that Belmond annually supports the Polio Foundation through a Community Chest appropriation. This year, the Wright county committee of the National Polio Foundation was presented with a check for $450.

An understanding exists between the county committee and the Community Chest Council that if the appropriation is not supplemented by the amount of $75 through coin collections and other incidental sources, the Chest will make up any deficit that exists.

The Veterans' Memorial corporation is holding a March Dimes benefit dance at the Vets' building on Friday of next week, with the Rhythm Kings from Hampton providing the music. All proceeds beyond the amount needed to meet expenses will go to the polio fund.

Manager Ed Gentry says that a "trailer" publicizing the March of Dimes will be shown at New Belmond theatre and movie-goers will be given an opportunity to give free-will contributions if they wish. In addition, John Pardun of Clarion, county chairman for the Polio Foundation, says that coin boxes will be placed in various Belmond business houses to receive any small donations that the public might like to offer.

RALPH TENDALL FUNERAL TOMORROW AT ST. OLAF

Ralph Tendall, a native of this vicinity, passed away Tuesday at Belmond Community hospital and funeral services are to be held on Friday at 2:00 p. m. at St. Olaf church, Rev. O. M. Severseike officiating. Burial will be in St. Olaf cemetery.

Mr. Tendall was an employee of Rath Packing company at Waterloo until ill health forced him to give up his work last spring. He was the son of Thomas and the late Mrs. Thomas Tendall and has a number of immediate relatives living in the Belmond area.

Bethany Church Ends First Year

Bethany Reformed church on Feb. 1 will celebrate its first anniversary as an organized church. Thursday of last week the Bethany members met for their first annual congregational meeting. At the meeting the treasurers of the organizations presented their reports to the congregation. The pastor and congregation were well satisfied with the reports, though acknowledging that there is much more to be done.

New officers were elected to the consistory. Herman Meinders was elected as elder and LeRoy Christie was elected deacon. Andrew Bohning was elected Sunday school superintendent. Rev. Ralph Meyer was asked to direct the choir and Dr. C. J. Neuman to assist in that work. Mrs. Rena Pals consented to continue as the regular pianist and Chris Groen to be janitor for this year.

Subject of a church building as a permanent place of worship was discussed at the meeting. Different possibilities were considered, but nothing definite was decided. It was the feeling of the group that the consistory should definitely look into the possibility of building, moving, or buying a church.

City Rest Rooms Must Get Better Treatment: Mayor

Mayor Henry Hokel issues a warning that the public rest rooms at the city hall will be open only during daytime hours unless there is a prompt stop to vandalism that has been rampant in recent weeks.

"I have never seen such complete disregard for public property or such disgusting evidences of indecency as have been displayed at those rest rooms," the mayor said last weekend.

"Unless a higher degree of responsibility is shown by those using these facilities, we shall have to order the east door of the city hall locked at the end of each afternoon," he declared. "It would be a shame to make the rooms inaccessible to the general public during evening hours, but we'll have no choice if the present situation continues."

Vandalism has not taken just the familiar form of scribbling on the walls, he says. The rooms have been left in filthy condition, plumbing has been deliberately stopped up and other intolerable demonstrations of irresponsibility have been regular in occurrence.

"While transients may be at fault to some extent, there is every reason to believe that local residents—including some juveniles—are largely to blame," the mayor stated, adding, "It's got to stop. Immediately!"

Clarion Cowboys Discover Broncs Much Too Tough

Twenty-one players found a place in the scoring column Tuesday night as the bucking Broncs threw the Clarion Cowboys with unexpected ease, 81 to 47. Eleven men contributed points to Belmond's total and nine notched a point or more for the losers.

With the Broncos ahead 45 to 22 at the half, Mentor Max Carter decided that Coach Crimmings' crew was deliberately trying to "pour it on." He sent three members of the froshmore squad and two tail-end reserves from the varsity out to take up the battle following the intermission. Crimmings mixed reserves with regulars in the third period as the Broncs raced ahead to a 65-31 advantage.

Loats Tallies 18

During the fourth quarter, Carter got over his pout sufficiently to send his first-stringers out to finish the game against the Belmond subs and the Cowboys managed to take up some slack. It was strictly "no contest," though, when both first teams were on the floor.

Ken Loats led the scoring with 18 points, while LeRoy Smith, Ron Hansen and Don Hoppel each snared a dozen. Keith Masen was not in uniform, having suffered a concussion in Friday's battle at Buffalo Center; but Larry Larson filled in very capably and counted nine points. Gene Mehl was good for six. Ron Steenblock, Bob Barry and "Joe" Smith tallied three apiece, Jerry Dorr two and Terry Johnson one. Baker's dozen was tops for Clarion.

Colts Win Easily

The Belmond Colts racked up the Junior Cowboys with complete ease, 47-28, in the curtain-raiser.

Northwood and Britt made up the game that was postponed last Friday due to road conditions, the Vikings taking a 52-37 decision Tuesday evening. Lake Mills Bulldogs demonstrated their steadily increasing power by handing Fertile its second loss of the season by the solid margin of 64-54. Forest City took the measure of Clear Lake, 48 to 42.

CREAMERY MEETING SET

Feb. 10 has been set as the date for the annual meeting of the Belmond Co-operative Creamery. Advance announcement is being made so any persons planning farm close-outs or other types of sales can avoid that date.

JAPAN - BOUND soon will be Mrs. Joan Watson, R.N., (above), who has spent the past three months in the parental S.N. Swenson home and during that time has been a part-time employee of Belmond Community hospital. She left Wednesday of last week for Seattle, Wash., where she will embark later this month for Japan to join her husband, 2nd Lt. Vernon C. Watson, USAF. He expects to be stationed in the Far East for approximately two years.

Sheriff Blecker Again Candidate

Sheriff Bob Blecker this week announced his candidacy for renomination on the Republican ticket in this spring's primary election. A native of Wright county and graduate of Clarion High school, he has served as sheriff for the past three years and for 2½ years before that was deputy.

He was recently honored by election as secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Sheriffs' association. He is a past president of the Wright County Peace Officers association, which he helped to organize.

During his period in office he has been instrumental in organizing the annual "Safety Lane" car checks in Wright county, in setting up the annual pistol shoots for marksmanship training of all peace officers in the county, and in developing the Wright county police radio system.

Clerk of Court Bessie Johnson and Recorder Grace L. Fletcher have also announced they will seek return to their present offices. This will be the first time Mrs. Johnson has run for election. She was appointed to the clerkship last September, upon retirement of R. V. Goslin. She'd been deputy clerk for 14 years.

Mrs. Fletcher will be seeking election to her 11th term as recorder. Harold E. Sullivan, treasurer, has not announced his intentions yet but hints it is entirely possible he may again be a candidate.

Roger Charlson this week expanded somewhat upon the announcement he made last week to the effect that he will not contend for a third term as auditor. He states he plans to enter the teaching profession and will look for a public school position as an instructor in commercial subjects.

Supervisors 'OK' Salary Increase For County Nurse

Members of the Wright county board of supervisors passed a resolution Monday increasing the county's share of the salary of Public Health Nurse Elizabeth Tracy from $150 to $165 per month. Miss Tracy receives an additional $100 monthly from state funds.

Also, the supervisors approved Miss Tracy's use of Inez Bancroft's services for secretarial help on a part-time basis. Miss Bancroft is regular secretary in the county engineer's office. She will receive $25 monthly for the extra work.

An appropriation of $3,927 for support of the public health nursing service was approved by the board for the current year.

As an additional matter of business, the board passed the customary, annual resolutions authorizing Engineer P. T. Struck to execute certificates of completion on farm-to-market road projects finished in the county in '54 and designating the Iowa State Highway Commission to conduct letting of all state or federally aided farm-to-market projects undertaken in the county this year.

THIEF GETS 30 DAYS

William Benson of Emmons, Minn., who was arrested last month after stealing a jacket from Woodward's department store, is at present serving a 30-day sentence in the Wright county jail in lieu of payment of a $100 fine. He appeared before Mayor H. L. Jenkins at Clarion on a petty larceny charge and pleaded guilty.

ZOOK RUSCO DEALER

Ted Zook, local contractor, announces this week that he has recently been appointed Wright county dealer for the Rusco brand of storm windows and storm doors. Mr. Zook also says that his firm will make installations on all jobs sold in this area.

Epidemic of Rural Thefts Prompts Warning to Farmers: 'Watch Out'

An epidemic of rural thefts that has been making life miserable for law enforcement officials for the past three months prompted the sheriff's office this week to issue a warning to Wright county farmers. They are urged to exercise extra precautions against thievery until things quiet down—and to report to Sheriff Bob Blecker promptly if they should be added to the growing list of victims.

Five farmers in the Belmond vicinity have suffered losses. One in Pleasant township had 150 bushels of shelled corn taken and another, also east of town, found two dozen quarts of canned fruit missing.

Cash Taken from Home

Two farmers south of town have also reported thefts. One told of a weed spray attachment for his tractor being removed from a field and the other lost a number of tools and a spare tire. The fifth victim in this immediate area discovered some cash taken from a billfold he had in a desk drawer.

Chickens have been stolen from several farms. A farmer near Rowan lost 200 and another living north of Clarion says his flock has been relieved of an estimated 250 capons. Latest poultry theft was at Nuel, southwest of Eagle Grove, where 150 hens were taken very recently. No clues whatsoever have been uncovered as to where the chickens were sold, though Sheriff Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod have spent many hours on investigation.

Maintainer Broken Into

Other thefts have included two hogs from a farm south of Clarion and removal of a number of tools from the cab of a road maintainer owned by the state highway commission and parked at the intersection of Highway 3 and 69, south of town. The locked cab on the maintainer was broken into while the piece of road equipment was unattended overnight.

Farmers are advised by the sheriff's office to keep a particularly close check on poultry and livestock until the thief or thieves are apprehended. It would also be helpful if any suspicious actions are reported promptly to Sheriff Blecker, who has had very little to go on in investigating the thefts that have occurred up to this time.

RUFUS MORSE DIES

Word was received here this week of the death of Rufus Morse, 58, of Maywood, Ill., former resident of Belmond. He passed away suddenly at his home last Friday, following a heart attack. Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Perry Morse, the deceased grew to manhood in this community. He is survived by his wife and four children and by a brother, Cortland Morse of Los Angeles, Calif.

Sullivan Funeral Held on Saturday

Final rites were conducted Saturday morning at St. Francis Catholic church for Owen Sullivan, for more than 50 years a resident of this community, who passed away Wednesday of last week at the Bishop Drumm Home in Des Moines. Mr. Sullivan would have been 94 years old on Feb. 11.

Rev. V. Walsh officiated at the funeral and Fulton Funeral Home was in charge. Burial was in St. Francis cemetery. Pallbearers were J. W. Barry, Duane Dorr, Donald Dorr, Ben Vierkant, James T. Barry and Martial Holtzbauer.

A railroad man who served for 52 years with the Rock Island and later the Chicago Great Western lines before his retirement in the mid-thirties, Mr. Sullivan moved from Washington state to Belmond with his family about 1900.

Since the death of his wife in 1939 he had lived alone in his small home in the south part of town. He took a keen delight in flowers and his yard was beautiful to see when the large beds of roses and dahlias were in bloom.

Infirmities of old age made it necessary for Mr. Sullivan to take up residence at the Bishop Drumm Home last November. His friendly greetings to friends during his accustomed, daily trips along Main street were sincerely missed by many after his departure.

Immediate survivors are two daughters—Mrs. George Barry of Cedar Falls and Mrs. A. E. Webster of Tacoma, Wash.; and a son, Eugene E. Sullivan of San Bruno, Calif.

A complete obituary will be published next week.

Bateson Will Not Seek Reelection

ELDORA—R. R. Bateson, of Eldora, state senator from the 37th Senatorial District of Iowa, has announced he will not seek reelection for that office in the 1954 Republican primary.

Senator Bateson, an Eldora attorney, will close two four year terms of office Dec. 31, 1954.

In announcing that he will not seek reelection, Bateson said that he was making his decision now in order to give prospective candidates more time to plan their campaigns.

Last week, John A. Walker, state representative from Hamilton county, announced that he will be a candidate for the office of state senator from the 37th district, which includes Hardin, Hamilton and Wright counties.

In a message to the people of the 37th district, Bateson said:

"I have thoroughly enjoyed serving you fine people. It is not a simple task to make a sound decision on legislative matters. It requires much research, study and reflection and, once you are satisfied as to the soundness of your decision, the courage to fight for it.

"It is good to know that so many want me to continue and it is with no little regret that I have decided not to seek reelection. The demands of my legal profession and personal interests make this decision imperitive."

Tyrrell Gives Up Job as Secretary Of Iowa Feeders

W. P. Tyrrell relinquished his position as secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Livestock Feeders association as that organization met last weekend at Burlington. All the other officers were reelected: S. S. Barton of Mediapolis, president; Will Jargo of Miles, 1st vice president; and Erwin Dubbert of Laurens, 2nd vice president.

Mr. Tyrrell, who had been reelected twice after being the association's first secretary-treasurer when it was organized four years ago, was not a candidate this time. His former post was taken by Vernon S. Flake, Keosauqua.

Foremost among the resolutions adopted by the Livestock Feeders this year was one urging a greater representation from the midwest cornbelt in the department of agriculture at advisory and administrative levels. The association went on record as commending the current effort to make some basic changes in the existing government farm program.

SPECIAL SPEAKER MONDAY

Bernard Ebbing of Rath Packing Co., Waterloo, will be guest speaker at next Monday's meeting of the Adult Education class in agriculture. He will speak on "The Meat Type Hog" and illustrate his comments with slides. He will also explain how farmers can obtain premium prices by producing No. 1 and No. 2 hogs and tell how Rath's is currently checking incoming hogs for back fat. This meeting, which will be at the school band room starting at 7:30 p. m., is open to anyone wishing to attend.

SPORTSMAN'S CLUB WILL IMPORT TWO GUEST CHEFS FOR FISH-FRY

Walleyed pike, fried to golden crispness and then served in all-you-can-eat quantities will be piece de resistance at a fish-fry to be held Wednesday of next week by the Belmond Sportsman's club. The event will be conducted at Veterans' Memorial hall, with serving between 6:00 and 8:00 p. m. It's open to the public—ladies included—but ticket sale will be restricted to 200. In view of the success of similar ventures by the Sportman's club in the past, it will behoove fish gourmets to get their bids in early.

Anyone familiar with the personnel of the club well knows that there are plenty of men in the membership who fancy themselves as culinary artists. It bespeaks their determination that this shall be a fish-fry to top all previous fish-fries that they are importing two chefs deluxe to prepare the repast. Game Warden Bill Ayers engaged them and recommends them without qualification. He identifies them as Floyd Morley and Jim Gregory, but neglected to advise where they hail from.

Three, king-size deep-fat fryers are being borrowed for the occasion from the Greene Sportsman's club. Each has a capacity of 75 pounds of hot grease. Considering the potential output of the three fryer units, there should be a steady flow of flavorsome fish from kitchen to dining table, with no waits necessary. Two Greene sportsmen will operate the fryers to be certain that the guest chefs will suffer no distractions that might prevent them from performing at the top level of their ability.

Tickets will be sold strictly on a first-come, first-served basis. Jim Mariga, chairman of the ticket committee, anticipates that they'll go in a hurry and urges anyone wanting to be sure of a ducat or two to contact him, George Hansen or John O. (for oilman) Chapman promptly, to assure against disappointment.

Alexander Takes Westfork Laurels With 10 In Row

Alexander's boys warmed up for their appearance this week in the Iowa Westfork tournament at Hansell by closing out their league season without a loss by tacking defeats on Hansell and Popejoy last week. They are, as a result, reigning favorites to add the tourney laurels to those won during the regular season's play.

With Dennis Scott amassing 31 points and Eldon Schulte hitting for 20, the champs trounced Hansell last Tuesday night 82 to 29. Hansell managed only two field goals in the first half. The going was a bit tougher against Popejoy on Friday night, but the boys produced a 55-46 victory. Schulte led the scoring with 21 points.

Both the Hansell and Popejoy girls won with ease from the Alexander sextet, the former by an 84-57 margin and the latter, 64 to 47. Moore of Hansell banged in 53 points and Allalee Crabtree of Popejoy 47 to top the scorers.

Alexander's boys are in the top bracket for the boys' meet, while their toughest opponet, Geneva, is in the lower. The title-holders draw Hansell in the opening round, the winner to meet Popejoy. Geneva and Chapin were to be the other first-round foes, with Rowan taking on the survivor.

The Alex' girls drew a first-round bye and were scheduled to meet the Geneva-Chapin winner in the semi-finals. Hansell and Popejoy were matched in the lower bracket, the victor to face Rowan in the semi's.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schoenwetter of Klemme viisted Sunday afternoon in the Ray Richards home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Peters were Sunday dinner guests in the Chas. Peters home in Cedar Falls, getting acquainted with their new grandson. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Peters in Waterloo and in the R. Brower home in Aplington.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

LAMBERT BARKEMA

It was a cold, cold day, one of the coldest of the winter, when we called at the Lambert Barkema farm 2 miles east of Goodell and found Lambert and Mrs. Barkema, bundled up and out early doing the chores.

Lambert was watering and feeding 30 head of mixed cattle along with about 240 head of spring pigs, while Mrs Barkema was attending her chores in the chicken house which housed 500 leghorns that were producing 340 eggs per day.

Their 3 children, Donna, 12; Dennis, 10; and Byron 6 had just left by bus for the Goodell school. Dennis, Lambert said, has started in 4-H club work with 2 calves for his project and enjoys it very much.

Lambert has lived on this 160 a since 1937 and has been farming an additional 230 all this time Next year he will take on an added 40 to bring the total up to 430 acres. He reported last year an excellent one for his grain from 180 acres of corn down to 30 of beans.

The Barkema farm is modern in every way with water piped among the buildings, making those chores easier, and we couldn't help but notice how neat and clean the place looked.

Broncos Outlast Battling Bison to Win 54 to 48

Lake Mills came through with a 55-51 victory over Forest City last Friday while Belmond was marking up 54-48 win over Buffalo Center. This left the Broncos in a position to assure themselves of a tie for the North Iowa cage title with one more win and establish undisputed claim to the championship with two verdicts in their last four games. Let it be said, however, that the Broncos are not thinking in terms of an even break in their remaining loop starts. It's a clean slate they're shooting at.

They almost caught a tartar at Buffalo Center and it took as fine a game as they've played all year to subdue the fired-up Bison. More than that, the Broncs are resigned to the fact that every NI rival they meet during the balance of the season will be determinedly aiming at blotching up that unmarred record.

Bison Lead at 34-31

Four times the Buffalo Center crew forged ahead of the Broncos, holding a three-point lead—34-31—with the third quarter well underway and as late as the fourth period they held a 45-44 advantage. Buffalo Center was deadly in its marksmanship until a strictly man-to-man defense in final stanza limited them to no more clear shots than you could count on one hand.

Belmond jumped into an early lead and held command until a pair of quick fielders by Chub Winter at the period's close put the Bison in front, 12 to 11. The Bronc defense tightened up for a time immediately thereafter, and Belmond had gained a 20-15 margin before the Buffalo Center basketeers began to hit again in the latter part of the quarter. But when they started clicking once more, the Bison came with a rush and less than a half-minute before half-time they boasted a 28-26 lead.

Madsen Ties Halftime Score

The clock showed two seconds to go when Keith Madsen arched a desperation shot at the hoop and it settled through the net just as the buzzer sounded, knotting the count at 28-all. When action was resumed, Buffalo Center spurted ahead 32-29 and held the upper hand much of the third quarter. Belmond momentarily sneaked in front at 35-34, only to fall behind once more. A basket by Ron Hansen and a gift toss by LeRoy Smith enabled the Broncs to enter the fourth period with a 42-40 edge.

Hansen hit again as the final stanza started, but a fielder by Larry Schuler, a free throw by Jerry Gerdis and basket by the sharpshooting Winter sent the Bison ahead 45-44 before the Broncs started their winning drive. Don Hoppel collected two points, Smith did likewise, and then Hoppel once more cracked the net to shove Belmond in front 50-45. Just before the three-minute mark was shown on the clock, Winter hit on one of a pair of charity tries; but when two-shot fouls went into effect, the Bison were whipped.

Madsen Knocked Out

They went down fighting, but the Broncos cautiously stalled out the waning minutes and Buffalo Center got only a couple of hurried opportunities to take up the slack. In the closing minute, Madsen was knocked out for a few seconds after being bowled over by a desperate opponent and had to be replaced by Larry Larson. Larry hit one of the two gift shots that Keith had coming, to fix the final score at 54-48.

Hoppel, who had 14 points for the game, kept Belmond's hopes alive in that tough second quarter by hitting five times from the floor. As previously noted, his other two fielders came at a critical stage in the last quarter. Ken Loats kept the Broncos in the thick of the battle with three baskets in the opening period. He, with five more points, and Smith with six were Belmond's key men when the Broncs battled off the Bison rally in the third stanza.

Winter Leads Scoring

Winter was top scorer for the night with 16 points. He received able support from Schuler, Dallas Davids and Gerdis, who chipped in 11, nine and eight, respectively. Hoppel and Smith shared Belmond scoring honors with 14 each, Loats contributed 11, Hansen eight, Madsen five, Larson and Gene Mehl one apiece.

Coach "Jake" Jacobs' Colts suffered their first loop defeat of the season by a 34-32 count. They came back strong after trailing at halftime 23-11, but couldn't quite pull the fat out of the fire. Bruce Hall led the Colt scoring with 10 points. The BHS froshmores played without "Joe" Smith, who was in varsity uniform Friday night.

After a week's interruption in the schedule of North Iowa conference games, NI cage teams will return to loop play next week with a full quota of league tilts on the card for Tuesday and Friday. Tomorrow night, however, will see non-conference foes furnishing all opposition. Belmond will travel to Sheffield. The Claydiggers have been enjoying a fairly successful season but don't figure to push the Broncos too hard if the BHS quintet is up to par.

Next Tuesday night the Broncos return to loop action by playing host to the Forest City Indians. With their last glimmer of hope to remain in the title chase riding on this game, it is a foregone certainty that the Indians will be "up" for this battle. The same evening, Buffalo Center will travel to Lake Mills and Northwood will play at Garner.

Belmond will be up against another tough adversary a week from tomorrow night when the Broncs entertain Garner. Lake Mills will go to Britt—probably wondering just what to expect, after Belmond invaded the Eagle court to administer a 41-point drubbing (94-53) whereas a week later on the same court the Forest City crew barely squeezed out a 51-48 overtime win. Buffalo Center and Northwood tangle at the Viking gym in the other NI game.

We've said it before, and we say it again — if the IMPOSSIBLE can happen anywhere, it can happen on the basketball court. We quote you from the helter-skelter race in the North Central conference. Clarion whips Eagle Grove by 11 points — 54 to 43 — and then is blasted clear off the boards by Humboldt by a margin of 41 points, 69 to 28. That leaves the Eagles 52 points worse than Humboldt. Right? So Eagle Grove nips the Wildcats 47-46 ! ! ! Just goes to show you that anyone who bets on basketball has rocks in his head.

—PSS—

Incidentally, the Broncos realize only too well that they'll be an upset target for every determined foe they meet during the balance of their schedule. When the Bison took the floor up at Buffalo Center last Friday night, it was only too apparent that they were hopped-up to the hilt and grimly resolved to pull the rug out from under Belmond. Coach Jim Crimmings said following the game, without any qualification whatsoever, "The way that Buffalo bunch played tonight, it was by far the best team we've met this year." The remark included the Manning Bulldogs — and Jim MEANT it!

—PSS—

While getting "'Way Back When" items last week, we noted in the paper of 10 years ago a remark to the effect that the Broncos had "Made a season's record in free throws with eight out of 14" against Klemme, in winning 54-30.

Coach Crimmings would really have the present-day Broncs working at the charity line if they ever DROPPED to such a percentage on free throws.

Up at Buffalo Center their free throw performance was by no means up to par — yet they made 16 out of 26. In the last half they clicked on 13 out of 17. Under the two-try rule, they had only four misses in 20 official attempts during the game.

—PSS—

We were speaking of the unexpected happening in basketball. Of course that sport has no monopoly on unexpected developments. It's the constant possibility of an under-dog rising to unprecedented heights that makes athletic pastimes so thrill-packed. A spectacular example was provided at the Bowl-Mor alleys weekend before last. Don Nielsen, who carries a modest 148 average in league bowling, hit a hot streak that probably has never been matched locally. He cut loose with a string of seven games — two of them rolled Saturday afternoon and the remaining five on Sunday — over which he averaged 229 pins! He wound up with a walloping 743 series (277-232-234), second best ever rolled on the Bowl-Mor lanes.

—PSS—

During that Sunday stint of Don's, rolling with "Jake" Brothers, Jack Crosby and Steve Dorenkamp, the four of them had a cluster of 22 lines that averaged 215 over-all. Crosby says it was a rough place to make a nickel. In one game he chalked up a 199 and was low man for the line!

—PSS—

With Crosby contributing a 643 series to the cause, Mello Maid — in the Mainstreeters league — last week turned in what must have been an all-time high team series for local league play, if our memory doesn't play us false. Their total for the route was 2,941 pins. That's exactly 50 pins more that the total that won Kinseth's Hot-Pointers team series honors last season. The Mello-Maiders' top game was a 1,050 — which Crosby believes to be high for the current year, though it was surpassed by several teams during the '52-53 season. Gov's bunch had 2,740 actual pins and a 201 handicap.

Colt Five Shares Top Place in NI Rankings to Date

Belmond High's freshman-sophomore basketball team has been enjoying good success this season—although their loss to Buffalo Center last weekend left them sharing top place in the North Iowa froshmore standings. It was their first NI loss in eight starts. Their luck against non-conference opposition hasn't been so good. They bowed twice to the Hampton Bullpups and were also beaten by Eagle Grove's underclassmen.

Coach "Jake" Jacobs figures his Colts might have avenged the earlier defeat by Hampton if he'd left his team at full strength against the Bullpups on Tuesday of last week. The Belmond boys were ahead by a point entering the final quarter; but at that time, "Joe" Smith was benched to make him eligible for a quarter of play in the varsity game. With the rangy sophomore out of play, the Hampton boys rallied to a 43-36 victory.

Colts Much Improved

Great improvement has been shown by the froshmore outfit since the season got underway. No scorers of a sensational nature have been uncovered, but the boys have been playing well as a team unit and just as on the varsity squad, balanced scoring has been paying off.

If the Colts have shown any noticeable weakness, it is in the free throw department. In the summary below, Coach Jacobs has listed all foul-shot attempts, regardless of whether a player made good on the second of a two-try opportunity. So the boys' "official" conversion percentages may be better than the figures indicate.

Offensive Average, 36

Nevertheless, their marksman-from the charity line has left quite a bit to be desired. A noteworthy exception is Jerry Chandler, who has the best record of any player in either the froshmore or varsity squads with 13 "hits" on 14 attempts.

Thus far through the season, the Colts have an offensive average of 36 points per game (up to, but not including last weekend's encounter with Buffalo Center) and have allowed their opponents an average of 29.

Hitting at 40% Gait

Their own, relatively low scoring record is due to the style of control offense they employ, not to inaccuracy at the hoop. In the seven games immediately preceding their appearance at Buffalo Center, they consistently made good on 40 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Following is the Colt scoring summary for the first 10 games on their card. Shown, in order, are field goals, free throws made, free throws missed, personal fouls and total points:

Bruce Hall	28	22	31	14	78
"Joe" Smith	23	14	18	24	60
Gary Meyer	18	18	26	23	54
Dale Caquelin	20	13	9	19	53
Jerry Chandler	17	13	1	21	47
Larry Schimp	9	9	9	11	27
Arlo Stoltenberg	10	6	5	6	26
Gary Ersland	2	0	0	2	4
M. Cunningham	1	1	5	0	3
Larry Kinseth	1	0	0	0	2

Belmond Auto 2, Greenhouse 1
Thompson's 2, Style Shop 1

High individual game: Phyllis Pals 186; series: Mary Gordon 478.

CHICK CHATS

WATER, GOOD WATER, THAT IS

Considering that most of an egg is water, it stands to reason that chickens need a lot of it to produce eggs. Feed helps some too, but water is just as important.

In the winter, the water in some hen houses has a tendency to freeze. Chickens, who are, at best, of very low intelligence, don't know that ice is merely frozen water. They don't eat their water, they drink it. It is therefore a good idea to keep the water in a liquid state if you expect chickens to use it. One of those little gadgets on the pipes or in the waterer will do the job if it gets too cold in the hen house.

Yes, hens in good production like to drink a lot of water. But if it doesn't taste good, hens won't drink water. No drink, no lay. What can you do to make the water taste good to the chickens?

Well, for one thing, you can keep it fresh. Put fresh water in the fountains every day. If you have automatic waterers, you only have to check to make sure they are running properly.

Another thing you can do is to keep the utensils clean. Scrub out the fountain regularly. Don't let the green scum get started. You wouldn't like to drink water from a dirty glass. It wouldn't taste good. Automatic waterers are not automatically clean. They need scrubbing daily like other waterers.

The more water you can get into the chicken, the better off she'll be. That means you have to have plenty of places around for her to get a drink from. At least one 8 gallon wateres per 100 birds. A lot of times, you can get bigger eggs by putting some extra water buckets (filled with water, of course)a-

Water is very important. Give your hens plenty to drink. A thirsty hen isn't a very profitable one.

Broncos to Third Among NW Teams

Belmond's Broncos climbed two places in the Northwest Iowa baskeball ratings last week, holding solidly to third place on the strength of the second poll conducted by the Associated Press.

Only LeMars, with 69 points, and Paullina with 58 drew more support from the AP sportswriters than the Purple and White quintet. Belmond had a vote total of 41, which was 17 more than accumulated by 4th-place Alta.

Humboldt, after being virtually neck-and-neck with the Broncs a week earlier, dropped clear to a tie for 10th at 14 votes after bowing to Eagle Grove in an upset.

Only North Iowa conference team to win mention, besides Belmond, was Forest City—in 14th place with seven votes. Algona's Bulldogs, leaders in the North Central loop, were clear down in 20th with a total of only four votes.

Kennedy of Clear Lake, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Congregational church at Belmond. Rev. William R. Schorman read the double-ring ceremony before a candle-lit altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli. Jan. 17th was especially selected as the wedding date as it was the 41st wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet gown, the skirt of which extended into a short train. Her finger-tip veil was of bridal illusion. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church dining room. Mrs. Robert Linahon of Clear Lake cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Howard Forriestall of Des Moines poured and Miss Joan Klinkenborg of Clear Lake served the ice cream.

Mrs. Harley Henn was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. DeWitt Sarber of Pickston, S. D., and Mrs. Carroll Anderson of Clear Lake took care of the gifts.

State Tax Revenues Indicate 1953 Was Big Year for Business Activity

Citizens of Iowa paid a record total in special taxes to the state, during 1953, in reflection of a record year in business operations, says the Iowa Development Commission. Most of the special tax revenue is collected from business transactions, and hence, the new peak yield of revenue means record business was done in Iowa, last year.

While the 12 special taxes and liquor profits produced a total 1953 revenue of $188,537,862.39, which is $9,322,129.10 more than the 1952 figure of $179,215,733.29, about 72 per cent of this amount is returned to individual local, city and county government and school districts.

This important increase was helped in the last six months by a rise in the state tax on gasoline from four cents to five cents per gallon, along with an added state tax on cigarettes, from two cents to three cents per package. However, the new revenue record, ninth in succession, would have been set without increase in the two tax rates and despite repeal of the five cents per pound tax on oleomargarine last July.

Local property taxes, as reported by the state tax commission, totalled $227,778,512.15, making a total revenue from all state and local sources of $416,216,374.54, or a per capita tax of $158.

Federal taxes collected in Iowa during the year that ended June 30, totalled a record $535,808,882.16, for an average of about $204 for each of the state's 2,621,073 residents. This total topped the previous high of $522,272,157.66 collected during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, by more than 13½ million dollars.

Federal, state and local taxes, combined constituted a total of $736,587,294.31 paid by Iowans last year, with a total per capita tax payment of $362 during 1953.

State Keeps 12%

Only about 12 per cent of the revenues derived by the state from special taxes are allocated for the general expenses of state departments. In addition, the state has not levied a general property tax for the financing of the state department since 1941, with the exception of a .4-mill levy authorized by vote of the people for the retirement of soldier bonus bonds.

The state aids all local governments by returning to them a major share of its revenues collected from special taxes, or about 72 per cent of the annual revenues.

A total of nine per cent of state revenues are directed to the three state institutions of higher learning, the State University of Iowa, Iowa State college, and Iowa State Teachers college. About five per cent of these special tax funds are allotted to the institutions under the management of the state board

Lowly Corncob Making Bid to Become Important Industrial Raw Material

The humble corncob, once burned or trampled as a waste product, has risen to a new throne of eminence in Iowa, through the efforts of an expanding chemical industry, the Iowa Development Commission reports.

Iowa ranks first in the nation in value and production of corn with a record production in 1952 placing the state first in the nation to produce a billion dollar corn crop. However, until recent years, the lowly corncob was considered valuable only as an ingredient in fertilizer and commercial feed and as a pipe bowl.

The modern miracle of chemurgy, the conversion of both primary and waste products of agriculture to industrial use through chemical processes, has found Iowa's rich and plentiful crops and boundless industrial opportunities ideal advantages in the manufacture of countless practical, usable props in our modern living.

Nylon from Corncobs

Nylon, a synthetic product created through the genius of the late Dr. Wallace Carruthers of Des Moines, can be produced from corncobs, with one bushel providing enough nylon to make 40 pairs of hose.

Furfural, the magic chemical once made largely from oat hulls and cotton seed hulls, can be produced from corncobs, as well, in the manufacture of nylon, synthetic rubber, resins for plastic, drugs, insecticides, weed killers, and in the refining of lubricating oil, diesel fuel, vegetable oils, and wood rosin.

The giant Quaker Oats mill, largest in the world, at Cedar Rapids, consumes 4,000 train carloads of Iowa corncobs each year. It was, at one time, the only plant of its kind in the world to manufacture furfural.

Two New Plants

The processing of corncobs for industrial uses is a vigorous young industry in Iowa, with two new plants established in the state, during the past year.

One at Grundy Center is producing livestock feed and pellets to be mixed with brick for sound proofing. Another, at Sanborn, has been established to process cobs for production of various grades of grit, which is demanded for types of feed, polishing metal, cleaning raw furs, sweeping compound, chicken litter, and construction work.

The Corn Industries Research Foundation reports that while in 1939, only one small plant was engaged in the processing of corncobs with an annual output of about 5,000 tons, 24 plants throughout the north central states are today grinding about 600,000 tons of cobs each year.

Supply Virtually Limitless

Although this record hardly ranks the corncob industry with others based on agricultural commodities, the rapid increase from 1939 is significant, being a boost of several thousand per cent. Moreover, the potential supply of raw materials, in the tonnage of corncobs annually produced by nature, is virtually limitless.

The cob processing industry has progressed a long way from the "barnyard briar" business of the past. According to the Wall Street Journal, the idea of making pipes from corncobs first occurred to a farmer in the year 1869. Ever since, loyal smokers like General MacArthur, General Pershing, Mayor LaGuardia of New York, and critic H. L. Mencken, have clung to the traditional American product.

However, science has taken the corncob from the pipe bowl to the test tube and created a host of other utilitarian creature comforts which have only begun to star in sharing agriculture's throne with industry in Iowa's kingdom of balanced economy.

TWO BELMOND enlistees are among those who have been recruited lately to fill the "Tall Corn" Platoon that is entering Marine Corps training at San Diego, Calif., this month. Shown above are Bill Meints (left) and Max McClure, who left the Mason City recruiting office last week for Des Moines, where they were to be sworn in and then sent on to California. Members of the "Tall Corn" Platoon will remain together throughout the training period.

Sankey Approves Gymnasium Plans

Formal approval of the plans for Woolstock's proposed gymnasium was given by County Supt. C. W. Sankey on Monday of this week, after Judge G. R. Hill informed him in a court hearing that he did not have the right to withhold approval.

Members of the Woolstock Independent School district board of education had sought a "writ of mandus" to force the superintendent's approval when it had at first been withheld.

Mr. Sankey explained that he and the county board of education regarded the Woolstock building proposal as impractical. Judge Hill, however, ruled that the superintendent's responsibility extended only to judging if the plans and specifications for the gym were acceptable — and not whether the proposal was feasible or otherwise.

BUYING COSTLY EQUIPMENT WITHOUT REQUIRING BIDS CAN BE EXPENSIVE

Editor Carl Hamilton of the Iowa Falls Citizen, who recently stirred up a ruckus that resulted in resignation of Hardin county's entire board of supervisors, is a firm believer in public officials scrupulously following the "rule book." He recently had some remarks to make on the wisdom of calling for public bids on county purchases of major importance. We believe his suggestion could well be taken to heart by many boards of supervisors, including our own in Wright county.

Observed the Iowa Falls newspaperman: "Public bidding does two things: (1) Nine times out of 10 it results in a lower price—of the people getting more for their tax dollar. (2) It removes completely any suspicion of favoritism or dealing under the table which may otherwise attach to public officials.

"The importance of accomplishing the first purpose is quite obvious. It is almost equally important that public officials be able to operate in a manner that maintains the confidence of the people in public office. Our whole system of representative government is built on that basic assumption."

Although the Wright county board has bought a good deal of road equipment in recent years, many of the items running well into figures that would justify the purchases being left up to open bidding, calls for bids on such equipment are noticeable only for their absence. We have not even noticed competitive bidding for trucks and similar items that could be purchased through business firms within the county.

After the practice had been abandoned for several years, the supplying of gasoline and diesel oil for county road equipment was contracted for on a bid basis two years ago and again last year. A worthwhile saving to the county has resulted in both years, compared to prices paid when the contract was merely "handed out." This certainly bears out Mr. Hamilton's contention that public bidding inevitably leads to economies.

It's our understanding—and we trust we'll be corrected if we're wrong—that heavy road machinery, rock crushers and similar equipment are customarily purchased by the Wright board on a rental-deposit basis. Rental payments are, in the long run, credited toward purchase.

We would not like to think that this practice is followed deliberately to circumvent the legal requirement of purchasing these expensive items by bid, thereby making possible "favoritism" of the sort Mr. Hamilton condemns. There is no question, though, but what the rental-purchase precedent that seems to be commonly followed in this county has the EFFECT of circumventing statutes covering such purchases. It would certainly serve to eliminate any unjustified suspicions if calls for bids on equipment purchases made their appearance with some regularity in the proceedings of the Wright county board.

IOWA'S HEALTH LEADERS PUT OUT OVER SLIGHT TO STATE'S LEADING HOSPITALS

Very understandably, an indignant response was forthcoming when the current Woman's Home Companion published an article that inferred—if only by omission — that Iowa is so unfortunate as to have no hospitals rating as first-class centers for the treatment of cancer. That such a faux pas should have been committed against this state, of all states, is so ridiculous as to be funny—if it weren't for the harm it might do.

Iowa has every right to be proud of its record in the nationwide Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society. It has ranked as one of the top, if not THE top state in the nation in its alertness to the danger of this disease and in its concentrated efforts to reduce that danger.

The article in question, "How You Can Double Your Chances Aganist Cancer," contains a list of "Four Star Hospitals" which readers would be led to believe are superior to all others in the nation in their qualifications as cancer-treatment centers. How absurdly short the list falls of being honestly comprehensive is made most apparent by the omission of the Mayo Clinic and other institutions of equal, nationwide repute from the list. It seems that the writer of the article made the assumption a hospital couldn't qualify for the top-flight category unless it offers post graduate training in surgery.

Just what bearing this particular training might have on a hospital's competence to treat malignancies effectively is not clear. Dr. Edmund G. Zimmerer, state commissioner of health, flatly declares, "We cannot agree that only a teaching hospital has facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of a malignancy."

The University of Iowa hospital at Iowa City is one of the leading institutions in the nation in the conduct of cancer research. It and eight other hospitals in the state have tumor clinics that have been accorded approval of the American College of Surgeons. Eleven meet the rigorous requirements of the same organization for residencies; and 11 are approved by the American Medical association for interne training.

"Iowa has well distributed hospitals with competent — even superior — professional personnel, with excellent pathological services and adequate facilities for radiology, radium treatment, radioactive isotopes and every modality found useful in cancer therapy," Dr. Zimmerer assures. He adds the sharp criticism, "It is unfortunate that a self-styled science writer can set himself up as a judge of surgical competency and hospital standards. The publishers of such articles should be held accountable for disseminating such inaccurate information."

IOWA DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION SHOULD LEAVE PARTY PROPAGANDA TO OTHERS

We had set in type last weekend a story released by the Iowa Development Commission regarding the extent to which state-collected taxes are channeled back to the counties, municipalities and school districts to meet local expenses. There was information in it which we believe our readers will find of interest when it appears in this or a subsequent issue.

However, we'd like to correct the impression that the article might leave to the effect that the state deserves a diadem of jewels for having served as a collection agency for these funds. One would almost gather that all that dough was gathered out of thin air and is a "gift" from the state to local taxing bodies. Don't you believe it. It all came out of OUR pockets, when all's said and done.

What prompted us to remark on the slightly misleading slant that the story follows was the story's concluding paragraph, which we clipped off in toto and deposited in the waste basket. It read: "State taxes, honestly administered, are being appropriated to their proper departments, with more than seven dollars out of every $10 collected returned or expended in the form of state aids and allocations on a sound, conservative "pay as we go" basis."

That is out-and-out editorializing in what pretends to be a "news" story, and we refuse to stand for it. We don't aim to editorialize in news articles we write ourselves and will thank the Iowa Development Commission also to follow this basic rule of good journalism. If it's going to turn into a propaganda medium for the incumbent party, the commission will soon find its releases treated much less kindly than Iowa editors have been wont to treat them in the past.

Iowans Strike Back

By E. D. PLASS, M.D.

Are the results of cancer studies on animals applicable to human beings?

No, not directly; but they do serve to sort out ideas and theories that may prove useful from those that have no merit or may actually be harmful. It has long been common practice for investigators to test new drugs on animals to get some idea of dosage and possible unpleasant or dangerous side reactions before they are given to human beings. In the present concentrated search for a drug to kill cancer or at least to slow or stop its growth, tumor-bearing animals are essential in screening preparations, the chemical nature of which suggests that they may be useful. Newer operative procedures are also frequently perfected on the larger animals in order to reduce the risk when employed on humans.

In fields such as the inheritance of cancer, most of our valid information has been obtained by selective animal breeding in animals with short life cycles. It has been possible to breed animals practically all of which will develop cancer of a certain organ, and others that are practically immune to the same tumor. While such experiments demonstrate that there is a hereditary factor in cancer development, the results have little or no meaning in human cancer since there are no races so inbred as are those special strains of mice or rats.

Is there any known serum cure for cancer?

No, and it appears improbable that one will ever be developed. It is quite definite that cancer is not caused by a germ although there is still a chance that the disease, or at least some of its forms, may be due to a virus. Should the latter prove correct, the search for a protective or curative serum would stand a good chance of being successful. The "serums" that have been exploited until now have been disappointing, even though some of them have been developed by reputable physicians and scientists. Those advertised by quacks are useless.

MY DAILY PRAYER

Dear Lord, I humbly come to Thee
And ask Thee to bestow on me
Thy love and kindness; make me pure—
Help me my trials to endure.

Lord, teach me how to watch and pray
Lest I should falter by the way.
Then teach me how to love and live
And how to pity and forgive.
Lord, all that's good I would instill,
Within my heart, teach me Thy will
And never let me go astray
But keep me in the narrow way.

Lord, give me strength and courage, too
That I should e'er to others do
Just what I'd have them do to me
Help keep my conscience clear and free.

Then when my earthly toil is o'er
And I near the heavenly shore
Lord, may Thou take me by the hand
And welcome me to spirit land.

Belmond Merchants Plan New Series of Cash Gift Days

Will Extend Over Ten-Week Period; Prizes Increased

Belmond's businessmen on Tuesday of next week will launch a "bigger and better" series of Cash Gift Days to succeed the chain of cash give-aways that came to an end a couple of weeks ago. It will be recalled that Ben Daniels won a final jackpot of $210 as the earlier series was concluded.

This new period of Cash Gift Days will extend over 10 weeks, according to Dick Gowdy. The Independent's advertising manager has been placed in charge of the revived cash give-away and says that some 40 local business firms are joining in its sponsorship.

Drawings will be made at 2:00 and 3:00 p.m. each Tuesday, as in the past. Several innovations are being introduced, however, to make the proposition a bigger attraction than ever.

Bigger Prizes Offered

Instead of the 2:00 o'clock award being $20, it will now be $25; and instead of $30 at 3:00 p.m., the amount will be $50. In addition, the grand total will grow much more rapidly under the revised rules that have been set up. Previously, the same $20 was drawn for at 2:00 o'clock week after week until there was a winner (in nine months time, this prize was won only twice, through some inexplicable defiance of the law of averages). Each week the $30 award at 3:00 p.m. was "missed," it was added onto the 3:00-o'clock drawing for the following week.

Under the new provisions, the $25 prize, as well as the one for $50, goes into the following week's 3:00-o'clock jackpot if there is no claimant. Consequently, Gowdy points out, should there be no winner on the first week, the following week's Cash Gifts would be $25 at 2:00 p. m. and $125 at 3:00 o'clock. Should no winning number be presented for two weeks in a row, the 3:00 p. m. award would go up to $200—both the $25 and $50 from the previous week being added to the prize sum. The 2:00-o'clock award will regularly remain at the $25 level.

Pay-Off at Stores

Participating business concerns can pick up their sealed numbers at the Independent office on the day of the drawing, not earlier than 1:00 p. m. In contrast to the former pay-off provision, which required that a winner pick up his or her money at the First State bank, the prizes will now be presented at the store where the winner hands in the lucky number. Checks for the proper amounts will be held ready at The Independent and can immediately be picked up there for delivery to the proper party.

An example of how much more rapidly the prize amounts will grow under the new rules is drawn by Gowdy from the last winner's award during the previous series of drawings. At that time the prize had gone unclaimed for seven weeks and had advanced to $210. Under the new provisions, at the end of seven weeks there would be at stake an accumulation of seven $50 awards and six of $25 each—or a grand total of $500!

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Last Sunday's "Picture" magazine in the Des Moines Register gave prominent attention to Belmond Explorer Scouts who attended the recent winter camp of Winnebago Council's "Polar Bear club." Five out of nine pictures in the two-page, rotogravure spread included local Scouts. This year's chilly camp-out was, as in the past, at Pilot Knob state park near Forest City.

It probably brought a grin to the face of Scoutmaster "Bud" Packard to see himself identified as one of the "Belmond boys." Well . . . it takes the boyish spirit to indulge in that sort of thing, Bud.

Others from here who appeared in the picture layout were Field Executive Darwin Van Gorp and Explorers Jerry Dorr, Roger Ubben, Ron Steenblock, Marlan Cunningham and Dave Long. We noted that Steenblock was champion axe-wielder of the occasion. Learned the knack chopping 'em down as a Bronco football lineman last fall, perhaps.

We have it on the authority of Clark McNeal, Guy McClenan and Don Collinson (and confirmed by Mainstreet e r Gowdy) that you'll be missing out on one the THE social functions of the season if you don't turn-to tonight to consume pancakes at the Methodist church. The Young Married Couples of the church are flipping the flapjacks to raise money toward the Methodists' building fund. Good cause—good eats. Don't make the mistake of staying home.

Talking to Harold Hoyt, assistant county engineer, at the courthouse Tuesday morning he was telling us that he couldn't recall an "open winter" to match this one in the 22 years he's been in the engineer's office. He commented that, to that date, the county had had to put not a single snowplow into action. . . . It was snowing at the moment. As this is written late Tuesday afternoon, it's still snowing. Could it be, Harold, that our conversation was a little previous?

Dr. Gowdy Fatally Stricken Tuesday; Last Rites Friday

Belmond lost one of its leading citizens Tuesday night when Dr. H. L. Gowdy died a few minutes after suffering a heart attack while attending the basketball double-header at the high school gymnasium. The freshman-sophomore curtain-raiser had just gotten started when he was stricken, and he passed away before an ambulance could arrive to take him to the hospital.

Funeral services have been set for 2:00 p. m. Friday at the Methodist church, Rev. J. Heber Miller officiating. Fulton Funeral home will be in charge and burial will be in the Belmond cemetery.

Although born in Lowville, N. Y., Dec. 23, 1877, Doctor Gowdy moved with his aprents—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gowdy—to Corwith when he was about 12 years old and spent the rest of his life in this vicinity.

Doctor Gowdy had practiced dentistry in Belmond continuously since establishing an office here July 15, 1905. He was graduated from Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., in 1904. At the time of his death he was junior only to H. N. Hill among the business and professional men of the community.

During his long period of residence, Doctor Gowdy was active in civic affairs and he served faithfully and well for long periods of time on the library board and as treasurer of the board of education of the Belmond schools. He became secretary of the library board at the time it was formed in 1916 and held that post until August of 1952. He continued as a member of the board after relinquishing the responsibilities of the secretaryship to Luin Cox. This current year would have been his 20th as treasurer of the school istrict.

He is survived by a son, Richard H. Gowdy, co-publisher of The Indenpendent, and by a daughter, Mrs. C. L. (Harriett) Hecklinger of Waterloo. Mrs. Gowdy preceded him in death in August of 1949 and a son, James G. Gowdy of Clarendon Hills, Ill., died on Sept. 28th of last year.

She asks custody of their four children, $25 monthly support for each child and a property settlement. The petition states the Downs were married at St. Paul on June 22, 1935, and separated the first of the current month.

43 BHS Pupils Make Honor Roll For 2nd Quarter

Eight Belmond High school students maintained grade averages of A-minus or better during the second quarter of the current school year to head a list of 43 who earned places on the honor roll released last week by Principal Clair Hugh. An average of B or better is required to win honor roll mention.

Three of the eight top scholars were seniors — Peggy Finn, Karen Hanson and Janelle Johnson. Both the juniors and freshmen boasted a couple of A students — Ardith Johnson and Margaret Mussell, and Roland Jenison and Mary Alice Studebaker, respectively. Connie Hill was the only sophomore in the select group.

A third of the seniors who made the honor roll (three out of nine) were boys and 40 per cent of the freshman — or four out of 10 — disputed the superiority of feminine minds. But only two out 14 sophomores and only one of 10 juniors were representatives of the male sex. Altogether, 33 spots on the honor roll went to girls and only 10 to boys.

Belmond Financial Statement About Back to "Normal"

Attention is called to the annual financial report of the City of Belmond, which appears on page 7 of this issue. Its publication is required by law and warrants the attention of all taxpayers. The 1953 report is about back to "normal" in comparison with 1952 and 1951, when such large amounts in hospital funds were channeled through the city treasury that the true income and expenditures of the city were submerged beneath the costs of constructing the hospital.

During the year just past, hospital finances under "municipal enterprises" were small enough to alter the general picture relatively little. Whereas expenditures under "municipal enterprises" came to $118,241.65 in 1952, last year the sum involved was only $18,551.13. "Municipal enterprises" also includes the city library and the cemetery.

Back to "Normal"

With the hospital very largely out of the picture now, the grand total of receipts — $92,431.10 — and the total expenditures — $80,974.49 — more or less accurately reflect the true volume of "business" that the city of Belmond is currently carrying on in a year's time.

A few nuggets of clear fact can be picked out of the financial report. For example, the city's apportionment from state liquor profits went up from $2,311.57 in '52 to $2,516.60 last year. There was about a 10 per cent rise in the amount that Belmond received from the road use tax that is divided up by the state — from $7,084.28 to $7,721.40.

Monies-Credits Up

There was seven per cent increase in the valuation of property subject to taxation within Corporation Belmond, almost entirely attributable to a $200,000 increase in monies and credits. Valuation of real property went up by nearly $80,000, to $1,595,256; but personal property valuations were reduced by more than $100,000 — from $572,092 to $470,835, which resulted in total valuation other than monies and credits dropping to $2,208,386. This figure is $13,000 less than the year before.

However, monies and credits advanced from $448,266 as of Jan. 1, 1952, to $649,263 as of the start of last year — boosting the local tax base to $2,857,649, or almost $188,000 more than the preceeding year.

MADE ISTC HONOR ROLL

Frances Chapman of Belmond, a freshman at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, was among the 242 students there who qualified for the academic honor roll during the fall quarter. According to Faculty Dean M. J. Nelson, a grade-point average of 3.25 is required for this scholastic distinction.

Owen Sullivan Came to U. S. in '77; Railroad Career Covered 56 Years

Belmond lost one of its oldest residents, both from the point of age and in the period of years spent in this community, when Owen Sullivan died at Bishop Drumm Home in Des Moines two weeks ago yesterday. The friendly, old gentleman would have reached age 94 on the 11th of February; and he had called Belmond "home" since moving here from Washington state with his family in 1903.

Responsibility attached itself to Owen Sullivan early in life, for his father died before Owen's birth and even as a boy, young Sullivan had to help provide for his widowed mother and only sister. He was born Feb. 11, 1860, in Charleville, County Cork, Ireland, but as a youth, tales of the United States and its wonderful opportunities thrilled him and before he'd reached 18 years he borrowed passage money and came to this country.

56 Years in Railroading

Shortly after his arrival, Owen began a period of railroad employment that was to extend over 56 years. Before his 18th birthday he had advanced to a minor supervisory capacity and in the years to follow he held many positions of responsibility and trust with the Rock Island and the Chicago, Great Western lines. He retired from railroading at the age of 74.

On Jan. 27, 1887, he was wed to Mary J. Coleman, a sweetheart from his homeland whom he had courted before coming to the United States. Three children were born to them: two daughters — Helen F., now Mrs. A. E. Webster of Tacoma, Wash., and Mary M., now Mrs. George G. Barry of Cedar Falls; and one son, Eugene E. of San Bruno, Calif. All three children survive him, and he also leaves nine grand children, 14 great grandchildren and four great, great grandchildren.

Wife Died in 1939

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan spent 52 happy years together before her death on Nov. 11, 1939. Their family was raised and educated here in Belmond and he formed a great many good friendships here during his long period of residence. In his declining years he found great delight in growing flowers at his home in the south part of town and visitors from miles around came to see his roses and dahlias when they were in bloom.

Owen Sullivan was loved and respected by all who knew him, and friend and stranger alike always received a cheerful greeting from him. He was always thoughtful of others and eager to be of help.

His passing came quietly. He was sitting with friends at the Bishop Drumm Home, reading, when death came. His companions did not know his life had departed until a question was asked of him and the discovery was made.

He was an active Catholic and his final rites were in the form of a Requiem Mass conducted by Rev. Vincent Walsh at St. Francis church. Burial was in St. Francis cemetery. Relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. George Barry and Mr. and Mrs. David Barry of Cedar Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Corcoran of Waterloo. Eugene Sullivan and his wife and Mrs. Webster and her husband found it impossible to come for the funeral.

The deceased is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters. He worked as a mechanic for Douglas Aircraft at Camp Carson. He was a former Belmond resident, having moved from here to Colorado about 24 years ago.

Nomination petitions must be returned to the State Soil Conservation committee at least 10 days before the election date.

Carry-over members of the soil commission are Don Frakes of Woolstock and Ray Hagie of Clarion. Nomination papers can be obtained from the county extension office at Clarion. The election will be held in conjunction with the annual dinner meeting of the soil commission, on the same date.

Broncos' Surge in Last Half Beats Indians, 61 to 51

Belmond's Broncos proved Tuesday night that they have the stuff to hold fast under the severest kind of pressure as they defeated the hard-fighting Forest City Indians on the local floor, 61 to 51. The win left them needing only one more North Iowa conference victory to clinch undisputed claim to this season's championship.

On the same evening, Lake Mills moved ahead of Forest City into second place with a 55-47 decision over Buffalo Center on the Bulldog court. Garner and Northwood postponed their game, slated for the Cardinal gym.

After four or five minutes of touch-and-go play in the opening quarter, Belmond went in front 20 to 11. But the Indians pared the first-period margin to 20-14 and continued to nibble away at the Bronco lead until they succeeded in knotting the count at 26-all just before halftime. Ken Loats slipped in a final free throw to leave Belmond on top 27-26 at the buzzer.

The third quarter was less than half gone before the Broncs had pulled ahead by 10 points, 37-27. During the balance of the period, Forest City was never able to reduce its deficit to less than eight, and the Broncs held a 12-point bulge—47-35—as the final stanza got underway.

It was a nip-and-tuck ball game from there on. Just as play entered the last three minutes, Keith Madsen fouled out and Bienert hit two charity tries to cut the count to 54-47. Fielders by LeRoy Smith and Loats and a free throw by the latter reestablished a 12-point advantage for the winners and the game was well iced.

Balanced scoring again turned the trick for the Broncs. Loats, Don Hoppel and Madsen tallied 14, 13 and 12, respectively; Ron Hansen contributed 8, Smith 7, Larry Larson 5 and Gene Mehl 2. The Indians' nifty John Osbrink was the night's top scorer with 18. He was ably assisted by Benny Riekena with 11 and Jerry Armstrong with 10.

Belmond's froshmores set the pattern for the varsity's last-half surge by rallying from a 15-13 intermission deficit to win easily, 49 to 35 (note those 36 points in two-six minute quarters!) Bruce Hall rammed in 15 points, followed by Jerry Chandler with 12.

Favored Franklin Downs Rockettes By Only 1 Point

Meservey's Rockettes demonstrated last week they may be much more of a threat in girls, state cage competition this year than was anticipated at the start of the season. Although they only broke even in a pair of games, they nevertheless acquired new prestige.

On Tuesday night they handed Corwith's girls their second loss in 15 games by a count of 39-31. Marlene Kaduce was, as usual, the big gun for the Rockettes as she rang up 28 points.

Saturday night the Meservey sextet was barely nosed out by the strong Franklin Consolidated team on its home floor, 39-38. The Latimer-Coulter crew has been regarded as a possible state contender again, which indicates the Rockettes may be ready to upset some apple carts when tourney play begins.

Morgan Greer made an earnest effort to bring the Meservey boys a verdict over Corwith, pouring in 20 points to lead all the scorers. His performance wasn't enough, however, to prevent the visitors from wresting a 51-46 verdict from the Rockets. Franklin Consolidated was simply too strong for the MHS five and sent the boys home with the short end of a 64-42 score.

Geneva 5 Shocks Alexander Cagers In Tourney Finals

Alexander's boys suffered an unexpected but very thorough whipping in the finals of the Iowa Westfork conference tournament at Hansell on Friday night at the hands of Geneva, whom they had beaten twice in regular season play. The surprise victors won by a 52-38 margin. Alexander had copped loop laurels during the scheduled season, going undefeated in 10 Westfork starts.

Gaining the finals with a 63-32 defeat of Hansell and then an easy 60-36 win over Popejoy, the Alexander quintet saw its chances of winning the tourney title fade when they fell far behind Geneva in the first half of the championship game. At intermission, the winners were in front by 12 — 23-11 — and they staunchly defended their advantage in the last two stanzas. Eldon Schulte topped the Alexander scorers with 16 points.

Geneva's girls matched the boys' success, winning their crown with a 58-47 decision over Hansell in the finals. Alexander's sextet was beaten by Geneva in an opening-round game, 71 to 50. Sandra Johnson clicked for 25 points to turn in the best scoring performance for the losers.

Goodell Boys Bow To Crystal Lake In Good Contest

Goodell's boys handed Crystal Lake's cagers somewhat of a scare last Tuesday night before bowing the visitors 74 to 63. In view of the fact that the Lakers hold second place in the Tri-County Six standings, they were expected to win without trouble. It was Goodell's best scoring performance of the season. The GHS girls made a scrap of their game, too, before losing 56-48.

On Wednesday night, in the Hancock county boys' tournament at Garner, the host team won about as it pleased in downing the Goodellians 73 to 38. As the Garner coach paraded a string of reserves into the line-up, Goodell obtained a measure of glory in that Tommy Lowenberg's 16 points represented high score for the evening.

Final game of the regular schedule will be Friday, when the Alexander teams appear at Goodell.

Garner, Lake Mills Next for Broncs

This week and next sees the wind-up of the 1953-54 North Iowa conference basketball card, with Belmond needing only two wins to sack up the championship. Since three of the Broncos' last four games against loop competition are to be played on their home court, nothing short of a complete collapse of the Belmond team seems likely to rob them of sole claim to the title.

Since this story was due to be set in type and already run in this week's issue before Tuesday night's game with Forest City, the outcome of that battle (to be found elsewhere in today's paper) has to be disregarded here. With that tilt, plus those against Garner, Lake Mills and Britt still in the offing, though, the joust at Lake Mills seemed likely to be most questionable in outcome. It is not anticipated by Coach Jim Crimmings, however, that there will be a soft touch in the lot — unless it should be the return game with Britt here a week from tomorrow.

Cards After Revenge

This Friday, the Broncs will play host to the Garner Cardinals. It is no secret that the Garner aggregation is grimly determined to prove that Belmond's 43-39 overtime win on the Cards' floor last Dec. 15 was a mistake. The visitors have added incentive based on the recollection that Belmond was the only team to whip Garner during regular season play last year — and then blasted the Cards out of state contention with a sound walloping in the sectional tourney at Garner.

It is a dead cinch that the Broncs will face a no less determined foe at Lake Mills on Tuesday. Garner is the only NI rival that has trimmed the Bulldogs on their home court. They did it in rather sound fashion, winning 51-41, and accomplished the feat by holding down the scoring efforts of big Jon Swenson. That apparently must be the key to a Belmond victory. Against once-beaten Fertile last week, Swenson harvested 33 points — 26 in the last half (!) — to produce the Indians' second loss, 64-54.

Small Floor Complicates Things

When the Broncs downed Lake Mills 50-44 here Dec. 18, Big Jon accumulated 26 points. Only eight of them came in the final half, when Belmond's constant racing began to slow the visitors down. But on the smaller Lake Mills court, there will be smaller chance of wearing out the rangy Bulldogs. It will require an all-out effort for the Broncs to clip the northerners in this second game.

Other loop tilts tomorrow night will find Northwood playing host to Buffalo Center and Lake Mills traveling to Britt. Next Tuesday, Forest City goes to Buffalo Center and Garner will go against Britt on the Cardinal court. The final round of games a week from Friday will pit Northwood against Forest City and Lake Mills against Garner.

Broncos Drub Sheffield Five 63-35 After Leading at Quarter Only 9-8

It took the Belmond basketeers a full quarter to work up a head of steam at Sheffield last Friday night, but once they gained headway the Broncos completely outclassed the Claydiggers to win by a 63-35 margin. Four players hit 10 or more points for the Purple and White, LeRoy Smith leading the way with 17.

Belmond fans watched with some dismay as Sheffield jumped into an early lead in the opening quarter and set the pace throughout most of the period. A fielder by Smith just before the buzzer sounded sent the Broncs ahead for the first time, 9 to 8. Dean Peter, the losers' star, knotted the count as play resumed; but from there on the Claydiggers fell steadily behind until Belmond reserves entered the game in the final minutes.

Halftime Lead, 27-14

Sheffield got only five more points in the second stanza while Belmond was pouring in 18 to make the halftime margin 27-14. Keith Madsen contributed six points to the Bronco splurge, Smith five and Ron Hansen four.

In the third quarter the Claydiggers managed only one basket — Dean Peter getting it midway in the period. Brouwer, Sheffield guard, monopolized a fair share of the spotlight in trying his luck at the foul line. He had 11 gift chances, but managed to convert on only three. He missed 10 in a row, starting with four attempts in the second period, before finally getting one through the net.

20-Point Third Quarter

Despite the interruptions for Brouwer's charity attempts, Belmond found time to rack up 20 points to make the count 47-19 as the final quarter got started. The Broncs then ran their margin to 35 — 61-26 — before the Purple and White substitutes took over in the last three minutes or so and Sheffield took advantage of the situation to take up some of the slack.

While Ken Loats was in the game he kept Dean Peter well under control, allowing the Sheffield ace only three baskets and a similar number of free throws for nine points. Peter added six more in the waning minutes to top the Claydiggers with 15 points.

Colts Win Easily

Loats counted 12 points, himself to follow Smith in the Bronco scoring column. Hansen and Don Hoppel each tallied 10, Madsen 8, Larry son, Gene Mehl and Terry Johnson 2 each.

In the curtain-raiser, Belmond's Colts beat the Sheffield froshmores without any trouble, 49 to 30. Bruce Hall, playing perhaps his best game of the season, was a standout for the winners and poked in 17 points.

GARNER LOSES COUNTY TITLE IN 52-51 UPSET BY WODEN

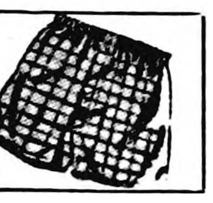
Three North Iowa conference teams pursued county tournament honors last week — all without success — and three others were busy with non-conference foes on Friday.

Biggest surprise of the "week off" from loop rivalry was Garner's defeat by Woden in the finals of the Hancock county meet played at Garner. Although Woden has been enjoying a good season against Class B competition, the small-town boys were conceded little chance of upsetting the Cards on their home floor. Nevertheless they got the job done, 52-51.

Britt beat Hayfield 52-42 for Hancock consolation honors after a double-overtime loss to Woden in the semi-finals, 54 to 51. Northwood was consolation winner in the Worth county meet by trimming Hanlontown 60-26, after dropping a semi-final joust with Fertile, 60-30. Fertile took the title with a 70-52 verdict over Joice.

Besides Belmond's 63-35 victory over Sheffield, other non-loop tilts saw Forest City take the measure of Charles City, 54-49, and Buffalo Center defeated Rake, 64 to 49.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS



May we direct attention to the fact that two out of the four senior members of the BHS varsity basketball squad are reaping scholastic as well as athletic glory these days? Take a look at the story on the second-quarter honor roll elsewhere in today's paper and you'll find both Ken Loats and Larry Larson among the "scholars." . . . Don Hoppel, where were you? . . . Coach Crimmings was remarking to us not long ago that one of the chief virtues of this year's bunch of Bronco basketeers lay in their intelligence They're not only good kids and good athletes, but they're a much smarter-than-average crew, too. Jim will tell you it doesn't hurt a bit if a coach has some brains as well as brawn to work with.

—PSS—

There have been times when mention of a sports achievement in this column has constituted a "kiss of death" to the performer. Promptly a wheel has come off, and the brag leads only to need for a crying towel. Not so, however, with our comment last week regarding the phenominal bowling streak of Don Nielsen. Perhaps we might be given credit with tripping him up a bit when he took to the alleys in league play this week and started out with a smelly 125; but he promptly shook off our whammy and produced a 193 and then a 263 in his next two lines. That 148 league average of his will never stand up under such pummelling. Don't you know that the "good" keglers restrict such cuttin' up to "open" bowling, Don?

—PSS—

Thank goodness the "win at any price" practices that seem to be getting revoltingly common in college athletics don't seem to have penetrated high school sports circles yet. Notre Dame lost prestige in the eyes of many sports fans when its "sucker shift" in football had to be legislated against to stop its spread; then the Fainting Irish drew an unofficial but stern rebuke for the unsportsmanlike collapsing that its players resorted to to to tie the Iowa game, after it had been honestly lost.

Now a maneuver of a similar nature is cropping up in "big time" basketball. In recent Iowa games, both Minnesota and Illinois players have endeavored to "borrow" fouls by holding up their hands to "save" a valued team mate in imminent danger of being ousted from the fray.

Before long, it may be that the qualifications for a big-time athlete will include — besides brawn and a sufficient minimum of brains — enough ingrained dishonesty to react with the proper "cuteness" when skill is proving inadequate to produce a victory. There's enough cheating in this beat-up old world without making that deplorable frailty a basic part of athletic competition. Let's keep our high school sports clean. If the boys gotta learn dishonest tactics, let's leave it as part of their "college education."

—PSS—

We've about decided that one of Don Hoppel's most valuable attributes as a basketball player is the fact that he doesn't LOOK like one His rather scrawny, 5-foot 7-inch physique lulls foes into a false sense of security and even when Don's shots settle through the hoop with deadly regularity, his opponents are inclined to discount his performance as an outbreak of luck.

That's the only way we can explain the surprisingly few fouls that have been committed against the scrappy, Bronco guard.

In Belmond's first, 14 games, Don attracted an average of only TWO fouls per tilt — whereas Keith Madsen, for example, drew more than twice that many. This tolerance of "Hoppy's" relatively unhampered comings and goings on the court cannot be explained away on the basis of his being a minor threat. Up to the Sheffield game, he'd tallied only a point less per night than Ken Loats, the Broncs' No. 1 point-maker.

Broncos Attract Greater Support In Cage Ratings

Belmond remained in third place in the high school ratings for the Iowa northwest division last week, but the Broncos were blowing hot breath down the back of Paullina's neck. LeMars kept the same 69 points that it had the week before to keep the top spot, but Paullina dropped eight points— skidding to a total 51—while Belmond picked up new support to boost its total from 41 to 50.

Forest City's defeat by Lake Mills almost dropped the Indians from the select list altogethe. They'd been tied for 14th with seven points a week earlier, but last week dropped to last place among the rated teams with a single, 10th-place vote for one point. On the other hand, the previously un-ranked Bulldogs accumulated eight points to get No. 13 ranking in the division.

Humboldt advanced from 10th to a tie for 9th on the strength of its win over Algona, while the latter joined with Forest City in getting a single point on one, 10th-place vote.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowa Has the Phones

Fred, who runs our phone company, is a great booster for Iowa — and for telephones.

"Over 90% of Iowa farms now have phones," Ed says. "That's more than TWICE the average for other states. We Iowans can really communicate!"

Yes, and that's another reason why this is such a grand state to live in. Because, telephones bring us all closer together.

And the better we know each other, exchange ideas, and appreciate the other fellow's point of view, the better our community, and our state. It makes us better citizens, more tolerant neighbors.

Cousin Ed owns a clothing store, thinks merchandising 24 hours a day. John operates a farm, worries about the price of corn and hogs. Ed likes his coffee, John his temperate glass of beer. They both recognize the other's preferences and that's the way it should be.

We Iowan's should be proud of our telephones, our newspapers, and anything else that brings us closer together in mutual understanding and tolerance.

Henhouse sick leave

Sorry, boss, I won't be to the nest today. Seems I've caught one of those pesky colds. The "doc" calls it infectious coryza. You had better put some Ar-Sulfa in our drinking water. It helped last year and I was able to lay again in about 2 days. Colds seem to be going around. Several of us chickens are sniffling and sneezing. We're behind with our egg laying. Don't wait too long, boss. Ar-Sulfa is made by...

GET READY FOR THE YOUNG 'UMS

Since you should have your baby chicks ordered, you should also think about getting the brooder house ready. Seems like hatch day creeps up on a guy the same as cheap underwear does. Slow but sure.

One of these days when you have nothing else to do, (does this ever happen?) clean out the brooder house. Take an old broom and a bucket of lye water and give that brooder house heck. Get in the cracks in the wall and floor. Give the ceiling a good swabing too.

After that's all done, put down some clean litter. Ground cobs are good. So is peat. There are a number of others. Incidentally, while we're on baby chick litter, you may may have had chicks that took a liking to it and ate it. To prevent litter eating, put paper over it. The rustle of the paper keeps the chicks alert too.

Don't overcrowd the brooder house. Chicks like room—thrive on it in fact. Don't put more than two chicks in each square foot of floor space. At 8 weeks, they need twice that much room.

They also thrive on feed. Chicks up to three weeks, should have at least 1½ inches of feeder space. For the next three weeks, have 2½ inches per chick. Then go to 3½ inches per chick. Provide enough feeder space for all the birds to eat at once. They like company when they eat—but not too close a company.

One big water fountain (big enough to hold water all day) will take care of 100 chicks. Water is very important to growing chicks. It is also cheap. Give 'em plenty of it.

Don't forget to check your brooder stove. See that it holds the temperature at the right level. Check it for safety's sake. No use burning down the brooder house. Brooding chicks don't make good roasters anyway.

Oh, by the way, better order chicks soon if you haven't already done so. Your hatcheryman probably has a lot of sold out dates already.

IN THIS STORY OF A PIECE OF PIE LIES REASON FOR BRONCOS' SUCCESS

Before matters proceed a speck farther, we'd like to say a word or two about the 1953-54 edition of the Belmond Bronco basketball team and Coach Jim Crimmings. We will readily say, without much fear of contradiction, that BHS has NEVER (that's a long time, but we mean just that) had a team in which it could take more, honest pride than in those boys who are currently representing us on the basketball court. And we'll say with equal readiness that we've never had a finer coach than Jim Crimmings.

It might be regarded that we're speaking this piece a bit prematurely. As it's written, the Broncs have a third of their North Iowa conference schedules still to play — and there's good reason to believe it's the TOUGHEST third. As we make these comments, we don't even know how the team made out against Forest City on Tuesday night. Then there's Garner to tackle tomorrow, and the rough, tough Lake Mills Bulldogs to be faced on their home floor this coming Tuesday. Win or lose, though, we're confident that the boys will perform to the best of their ability — so we don't feel we're getting out on a limb even a little bit.

What inspires this panegyric at this particular time is a very simple query we heard put to Coach Crimmings when the team was returning from its recent, hard-won victory over Buffalo Center. The squad had stopped off at an eating place on the way home when one of the boys sidled up to Jim and asked, "How about getting to eat a piece of pie? Think we earned it?"

Pie and the pink of condition don't go hand-in-hand very well, and it was crystal clear that the Broncs have NOT been putting personal pleasures above loyalty to the team, their coach and their school. That fact has been made doubly apparent as the boys have run one foe after another into the ground as they raced through game after game at top speed. As a reward for their self-restraint (you'd never convince them that it has constituted any sacrifice) they've had the FUN of being a winning team and ALWAYS being fit to DO THEIR BEST.

This is all in decidedly marked contrast to circumstances that prevailed here before the start of the Crimmings regime. Certainly, there WERE among the BHS athletes those who conscientiously observed training regulations. But there were enough who DIDN'T to take the sharp edge off of Bronco teams that COULD have been much better than they were. Only a short time back, there were still some Belmond fans who felt Jim had been just TOO tough in his insistence on COMPLETE observance of training rules. You'll look a long way today to find a critic.

Incidentally—about that pie—Jim cocked an eye at the questioner, deliberated a moment, and then replied, "If you eat it, you know I'll run it off of you the first of the week?" The pie-hungry Bronc nodded . . . "Well," Jim responded, "if you think you earned it — and I guess you did —go ahead."

Some while back we commented on the noteworthy record that Wright county was establishing in the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds during the year 1953. Last week the final figures on the year's sale of bonds was made public and it was made most apparent that this county maintained its position as one of the leaders in the state, right to the end of the year.

We see that the final Wright county figure for the year was $1,272,331 in bonds purchased, representing 113.58 per cent of the assigned quota. Considering that this county is strictly non-industrial and would have few bonds purchased on the payroll-deduction basis, and that it is not one of the more heavily populated counties, our bond record has been an enviable one.

Only 28 of Iowa's 99 counties could boast higher purchase totals last year than Wright's. Thirty-three exceeded their quotas by larger margins, but because of its past performances, Wright is assigned a very sizeable quota.

Probably Hancock and Franklin both would quarrel with any claim that Wright is a better-to-do county than theirs. Yet we were assigned a quota very nearly as large as the sum of both Franklin and Hancock's. More than that, we made ours and the other two both fell short by a narrow margin.

Wright, in fact, came within $17,500 of buying bonds as heavily as its giant neighbor, Kossuth. We must confess its perplexes us a bit that our sales DID run so high. As noted, there is small opportunity for purchases on a payroll-deduction basis. AND, insofar as we've been able to notice, there has been no highly aggressive, organized effort to promote the sale of bonds in this county. But however it came about, the citizens of this county can take pride in that tidy bundle of bonds that Wright countians stowed away in the sock during '53.

EISENHOWER'S BUDGET HAS THE VIRTUE OF PROCLAIMING FAITH IN OURSELVES

While the billions that are involved in a present-day federal budget are beyond the comprehension of the most of us (and we're inclined to wonder sometimes if the gentlemen in Washington have a much better grasp on their significance than we do), there are several, general aspects to the budget President Eisenhower presented to Congress last week that should appeal to the taxpayer.

It's the smallest since pre-war days, it allows for some tax reductions of consequence, and although it would fail to bring the government's accounts into balance for the year, it creates the smallest deficit that a year's federal business has involved in too, too long a time.

It shows signs of getting away from the old, New Deal approach of "After all, it's only money. Let's provide for every, conceivable eventuality." Very plainly, each federal department has had to justify its demands and a determined effort has been made to introduce feasible economies.

Above all, we approve of the air of confidence that the budget reflects. In reduction of military expenditures it implies confidence in the ability of our diplomatic guard to keep the international situation under control, it implies confidence that we can maintain our military superiority by spending more wisely and less extravagantly, and it implies faith in our allies and in the strength of democracy as opposed to autocracy.

On the domestic level, it demonstrates confidence that free enterprise can measure up to its obligation to keep the wheels of industry and commerce from faltering. It does not pessimistically hedge by setting aside pump-priming funds—just in case. It does not reflect a hope-we-can-do-it attitude. It is resolute in the assumption that our economy CAN avoid a depression, or even a recession of any serious proportions; and the main concern is with how best to go about it.

If the budget can be further trimmed with safety, we feel certain THAT will be done, too . . . As we say, the whole business is too big for our actual understanding. But it doesn't suggest, as have budgets of the recent past, that Uncle Sam is deluded into thinking he can indefinitely BUY peace and prosperity. That's a welcome change in tune, and we like the sound of it.

OBITUARY

MRS. IRVING HAUPT

Mrs. Irving (Edith) Haupt, whose sudden, unexpected death occurred on Jan. 8, 1954, was born Nov. 16, 1902, daughter of Fred and Henrietta Priebe Haupt. She attended the Klemme public schools and later was graduated from Garner High school. She furthered her education by attending several summer school sessions at Iowa State Teachers college to prepare for a teaching career.

As an infant she received the sacrament of baptism from Rev. A. Muehlmeier, pastor of the Immanuel Reformed church of Klemme. She received into membership in the same church by the rite of confirmation on Good Friday, April 6, 1917, administered by Rev. William Thiel.

On Aug. 2, 1931, she was wed to Irving Haupt by the Rev. Kriete of Louisville, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Haupt made their home on a farm south of Kanawha for a period of 10 years and more recently had made their home in the Klemme vicinity.

An active and devoted member of the Reformed church at Klemme, Mrs. Haupt served it in a number of capacities. She was a Sunday school teacher, was church organist for about 10 years, held the presidency of the Women's Guild and taught last year in the Daily Vacation Bible school. Her interest in young people was also demonstrated in her service as 4-H club leader, a position she held the last year and a half of her life.

Mrs. Haupt had a variety of interests, Biblical history being one of them. She found much satisfaction in a Biblical history scrapbook she compiled. She also took delight in flowers and poetry. Her sincerity and vigor were an inspiration to all who knew her and she showed an unceasing concern for individuals less fortunate than herself.

Her death came at Mercy hospital in Mason City briefly after she had suffered a stroke. She had attained the age of 51 years, a month and 21 days.

Surviving besides her husband are: a sister, Mrs. Bertha Schlei, and nephew, Dale Schlei, of Klemme; another nephew, Paul Schuldt of New York City; three nieces, Mrs. Ted (nee Mable Schuldt) Dunmire of Titonka, Mary Lou and Karen Kay Loth of Belmond; many, more distant relatives and a host of friends.

Preceding her in death were her parents; a sister, Mrs. Herman (Emile or Mamie) Schuldt; and a brother Frederick, who died as a child.

VOL. 34 NO. 17 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Friend Carl Wenzel, who deserted Belmond for Del Mar, Calif., was called to task last year for sending his subscription renewal check without an accompanying note to the Mainstreeters. He took the reprimand to heart. Last week we got his check for '54—and a note.

He says: "I see by your card my subscription will expire soon so will have to follow your instructions of mailing or bringing in the amount. Seeing as how the bringing it in would take quite some time, why I will just mail it."

Carl bragged that the temperature was 70 as he wrote to us. "Had your coffee yet today, boys?" he inquired in closing. "If not, how about a cup? I'll buy, if you come out to get it." . . . It's a tempting offer, Carl.

—M-S—

Got a renewal check from A. K. Ketchum, the CGW station agent, with what we suspect to be a "crack" printed in the lower lefthand corner. It read, "Twice told tales." Whaddya mean, Kay? You know, as well as we do, that all news in a weekly paper is supposed to be public knowledge before it appears in print. The subscribers read it only for one of two purposes: (1) to see what version of the story the paper got ahold of; (2) already knowing who's done what, they read the paper to see who got caught at it. Anyway, thanks for the $3.50. We'll keep you posted.

—M-S—

To the regret of their many friends — who, at the same time, are happy over the fine promotion that is taking Ray Karinen away from Belmond — Mr. and Mrs. Karinen will leave Feb. 12 to make their home in St Paul. He reports on a new job with General Mills on Feb. 15. The Karinens came to this community on Feb. 16, 1948. They depart with two additions to the family — Karen, age 5, and Bobby, who's 2.

We mention the Karinens' departure in this particular column because Ray wanted us to clarify prominently — once and for all — what his new assignment is. He says it may well save him "hours" by making it unnecessary for him to repeat it to each well-wisher.

He's to be (deep breath): associate engineer in developmental engineering in the Engineering Research and Development Department of the Industrial Marketing and Development Section of the Mechanical Division of General Mills, Inc., The job has its hush-hush aspects, so further details are not permissable. Suffice it to to say that Ray's certain it will prove highly interesting work.

—M-S—

One of our feminine readers, who identifies herself only as "A Belmond Housewife," has sent us a note saying: "If you are going to write anything in your paper this week about the coffee situation, I'd like to get in my two cents worth (or maybe it will amount to more for everyone)."

She offered several suggestions as to how We, the People, can bring the coffee cartel to its knees and reestablish reasonable prices —but we got so engrossed in trying to figure out why she failed to sign her name that we couldn't properly concentrate on the contents of the letter. Too bad, too, because she probably had some pretty good points.

Anyway, we're a bunch of burned children on the coffee proposition. When coffee at a dime per cup was proposed a while back, we made what were intended to be a few facetious remarks on the matter. Subsequently, we were blamed for putting the kibosh on dime coffee in Belmond, all by our little ownselves. Nope, you don't catch us dabbling in the coffee quarrel, lady.

Infection Brought C. Allison's Death

Fred H. Allison returned Wednesday of last week from Colorado Springs, Colo., where he had attended funeral services for his brother, Clarence "Chink" Allison. The former reports that the cause of his brother's death was blood poisoning, not a heart attack, as local relatives were at first informed.

Three weeks before his death, "Chink" had suffered a severe injury to one of his hands. Although he was under treatment at the Army hospital at Camp Carson, the wound became infected and blood poisoning resulted.

Mr. Allison had for the past nine years been employed at Camp Carson and Peterson Air Force base and for some time had been a lead mechanic in the maintenance and mechanical repair of aircraft. Besides his wife, Edith, he is survived by five children: two brothers—Fred of Belmond and Milton of Omaha; and a sister, Mrs. C. (Cornelia) Burrows of Pacoima, Calif.

KLEMME MAN DIES

Frank W. Kluckhon, age 71, of Klemme passed away at the Belmond Community hospital on Sunday. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Klemme Evangelical and Reformed church, Rev. Vernon Jaberg officiating and Fulton Funeral Home in charge. Burial was in the Klemme cemetery.

MR. AND MRS. ADOLPH DORR

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Dorr Will Mark Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday

All the living children of Mr and Mrs. Adolph Dorr, plus their nine grandchildren and one great grandchild, are planning to be on hand when the Dorrs observe their Golden Wedding anniversary this Sunday with an open house at the Veterans' Memorial building. They will greet their relatives and friends between the hours of 2:00 and 5:00 p. m.

Their son Arthur, of Santa Ana, Calif., is coming by plane to be present for the big occasion. The other children are Earl, Armstrong, Otto of Belmond, Mrs. John Chapman of Eagle Grove, Corrine of Des Moines and Helen of Mason City. Another son, Charles, was killed in a railroad accident in 1948 while working as a brakeman for the Rock Island line.

Actual wedding date of Mr. and Mrs. Dorr was this Wednesday and the date was celebrated by saying of High Mass yesterday at 7:15 a. m. at St. Francis Catholic church, Rev. Vincent Walsh officiating.

Adolph Dorr and Anna Sullivan were married at St. Francis church on Feb. 3, 1904, Father McInerny conducting the ceremony. Mrs. Dorr was a school teacher at the time and continued to teach rural school for three years following her marriage. The Dorrs farmed until they retired from that occupation and moved into Belmond something over 20 years ago. Mr. Dorr for a good many years served as Belmond's night marshal, first accepting the post while he was still engaged in farming.

Three of Mr. Dorr's brothers—Benny of St. Benedict, Lawrence of Waterloo and George of Belmond—intend to be present for the couple's anniversary observance. One brother, Frank of Foley, Minn., will not be able to come on account of ill health. Another brother, Albert, died last year; and two sisters passed away a good many years ago.

Acknowledgment of the occasion was received by Mrs. Dorr from her only sister, Mrs. D. E. Quinn of Flandreau, S. D., this week in the form of a telegram of congratulation. Mrs. Quinn, who has not been back to Belmond for 25 years, will not find it possible to return for the anniversary observance.

Rites Held Here For L. Eimbrink

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Louis Eimbrink, 63, Nebraska rancher who was brother of Will Eimbrink and Mrs. A. J. Trager of Belmond. Mr. Eimbrink was born at Sheffield on Nov. 2, 1890 and was a resident of this general vicinity until he moved with a brother, Henry C. Eimbrink, near North Platte, Neb., in 1939.

He died unexpectedly last Friday night at his ranch home 13 miles from North Platte. Rites were held at a funeral home in that community Monday morning and additional services were held here at Fulton Funeral Home on Tuesday, conducted by Rev. Park Miller of Goodell. Burial was in the Belmond cemetery.

Surviving are the brother of North Platte, the brother and sister in Belmond, four nieces and a nephew. Mr. Eimbrink was preceded in death by his parents; a brother Harvey; and a brother Carl, who died three years ago.

TREV WILLIAMS' MOTHER PASSED AWAY THURSDAY

H. T. "Trev" Williams was called to Chicago last week by the death of his mother, Mrs. R. H. Williams, who was about 75 years old.

She died on Thursday morning after having suffered a stroke the preceding Tuesday. Funeral services were held at Chicago on Saturday.

Besides her son here in Belmond, Mrs. Williams is survived by her husband, another son and two daughters.

Basketball Queen Crowned at Game

Susie Halfpap, president of the BHS Pep club and a candidate nominated by the senior class, was crowned as Belmond High school Basketball Queen for 1954 between halves of the Garner-Belmond game last Friday night. The two home rooms of each of the high school classes submitted nominations and the queen selection was by popular vote of the student body.

Co-captains of the Broncos, Don Hoppel and Ken Loats, were assigned to crown Her Highness and present her with a coronation bouquet, respectively.

Sharen Strait was the other senior nominee for the queenship. Candidates of the other classes were: juniors—Marlene Smith and Delores Gealow; sophomores — Monica Jones and Shirley Soma; freshman—Sandra Smith and Karon Bohning.

BELMOND BOWLERS LEADING IN HANDICAP TOURNAMENT

First session of the Bowl-Mor invitation handicap tournament, conducted last Sunday, found local bowlers leading in all divisions. Heading the singles entries are Gary Brothers with 668, A. P. "Dutch" Thompsen with 642 and Fred Gordon with 629, handicap included in all cases.

Ed Albers and Don Nielsen had the best doubles performance with 1,283, followed by Albers and Gary Brothers with 1,264 and Brothers and Merlin Hanson (Webster City) with 1,246.

High score in the singles jackpot competition was Gary Brothers' 221; and in the doubles, Brothers' and Albers' 410. The tournament will be conluded this Sunday.

Kinseth Gets National Notice in Manufacturer's Ad

In the February issue of the national trade publication, "Fueloil & Oil Heat," the face — and the success story — of a Belmond businessman will be given nationwide publicity in a two-page advertisement inserted by Webster Electric of Racine, Wis.

This unusual recognition comes to Kenneth Kinseth of Kinseth Plumbing and Heating, whom Webster Electric deems one of its "good" customers, in spite of the fact the local heating expert does his business out of a relatively small town.

The Webster Electric company chose Kinseth for their "ad" subject on the recommendation of the Green Colonial Furnace company. Green Colonial uses Webster fuel units . . . Kenny is one of the furnace concern's outstanding dealers . . . and there you have the tie-in.

In the advertisement it is noted that Kinseth set up his business here back in 1947, not long after his period of World War II duty. He was in partnership with Glen W. Madole until June of 1950; since then has operated the business by himself. It has grown to the point where he requires the assistance of four or five additional men, the year around, to keep up with the demands of his customers.

KENNETH KINSETH

Comments the advertisement, Kinseth Plumbing and Heating serves "an area within a 25-mile radius (of Belmond), installing burners which run about 30 per cent new home and 70 per cent modernization. In addition, he services more than 400 heating installations in his area. Three-fourths of his business comes from referrals by satisfied customers."

Kenny says that the picture was taken and copy for the advertisement obtained last Nov. 9 by a photographer and copy writer who came here from Racine by car. The visitors spent almost the entire afternoon on their assignment.

The photographer brought 1,500 pounds of equipment along, including camera, lights, backdrops and what not. A "studio" was set up in the basement of the plumbing and heating establishment. The photographer was very plainly a perfectionist. It took him an hour and a half to get the gear set up to his satisfaction, and then he took numerous shots of his subject to be certain of having one that would be exactly "right."

From here, the adman and camerman went on to Mason City, where they were scheduled to take a plane west. A heating equipment dealer on the west coast was due to be the subject of Webster's March advertisement in "Fueloil & Oil Heat."

GOES UP FAST!

After only one week's "miss," the Tuesday afternoon Cash Gift for next week has already reached interesting proportions. Both the $25 prize that was unclaimed at 2:00 p. m. and the $50 that went homeless at 3:00 o'clock this week will be added to the 3:00 p. m. award to bring the total to $125. Another $25 will be at stake at 2:00 o'clock. No. 988 would have been good for the $25 last Tuesday at 2:00 and at 3:00, No. 2,090 was drawn. From the size of the crowd on hand for the drawings, Belmond shoppers made it clear that they're happy over resumption of Cash Gift Days by the local merchants. Your number for next week will be found on the back page.

½ Million Bushel Of Beans Lately Bought by Plant

Belmond's General Mills plant is currently receiving the largest influx of beans since the 1953 crop movement, thanks to heavy purchases made possible by a recent rise in the soybean market price. In a period of about 10 days, up to weekend before last, the local plant bought approximately a half million bushels of beans.

Last fall at harvest time, there was a relatively small movement of beans to market because the price was low in comparison with the $2.64 support price being paid by the government. But when the market price recently reached $3.00 beans became available and the local plant bought enough to fill its bins very nearly to capacity.

Henry Stokke, bean buyer here for General Mills, says the newly purchased beans will be coming in to the plant over a period of the next two or three weeks.

Immediately on the heels of the market price raise, the price support level on soybeans for the 1954 crop was dropped from the current support level of $2.64 on 1953 beans—effective in this particular area—to approximately $2.28. This action was induced by the acreage restrictions going into effect on corn this year, which is expected to result in a considerably larger acreage of beans being planted in 1954.

Supervisors Drop F.B. Fund $1,000

Allotment of county funds to the Wright County Farm Bureau for 1954 was reduced from last year's $6,000 to $5,000 as the annual appropriation was made Monday by the board of supervisors.

Members of the board gave as reason for the $1,000 cut the fact that Wright county's extension office is at present without a home economist. Last year, $1,191.63 out of the county appropriation went to meet the expense of employing Mrs. Lettie Zuber as home economist. She resigned at the end of the year.

No specific indication was given by the board as to whether the additional $1,000 might be entirely or in part restored if the extension office acquires a new home economist in the near future.

State law provides that each county support the Farm Bureau extension activities to the minimum extent of $5,000. A maximum of $7,000 can be appropriated.

FUNERAL HELD THIS WEEK FOR JOE FULTON, AGE 65

Joe Fulton of Fort Dodge, a native of Belmond until 1913, died Wednesday afternoon of last week following a four-year illness. Funeral services were conducted at St. Francis church here on Monday morning by Rev. Vincent Walsh. Burial was in St. Francis cemetery.

For a number of years, before sickness forced him to give up his work, Mr. Fulton was an employee of the Tobin Packing company. He was age 65 at his death.

Mr. Fulton was a brother of Fred Fulton and Mrs. A. J. Hood of this community and also leaves another sister, Mrs. Jim McVey of Omaha. Other survivors include Mr. Fulton's widow, three sons and a daughter. Another son preceded Mr. Fulton in death.

CURRENTLY preparing for entrance into Air Force technical training and assignment to specialized work is Kenneth Eccles (above), 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Eccles. He is undergoing the basic indoctrination course for airmen at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Tex. The course includes scientific evaluation of his aptitudes for following a particular vocation and career.

Gowdy Memorials To 3 Institutions

Belmond Community hospital, the city library and the Methodist church building fund have all benefited by memorial gifts received in the name of the late Dr. H. L. Gowdy.

Friends of Doctor Gowdy presented a sum of $35 to the hospital and, through the medium of the BOOK FRIENDS club, $15 was given to the library for purchase of new books. The library board, on which the veteran dentist served from the time of its establishment, has announced that it will buy several books as a memorial to Doctor Gowdy, too.

Largest gift was one of $85 to the building fund of the Methodist church, of which Doctor Gowdy was a member throughout his nearly 49 years of residence in Belmond.

Glen Eccles and R. G. "Bud" Packard were honored by the Lions club Tuesday as joint recipients of the title of Belmond's "Man of the Year" for 1953. Both were guests at the weekly luncheon of the service organization held at the Blue Bell tea room and each was given a fountain pen desk set properly engraved to identify the occasion of its presentation.

Selection of Mr. Eccles and Mr. Packard was based on the outstanding work they have done as Scoutmasters of Boy Scout Troop 16 and Explorer Scout Post 16, respectively. This was the third year that the Lions have bestowed the Man-of-the-Year title. For 1951 it was awarded to Hospital Administrator Jack Shepard and for 1952, to Editor Pat Gallagher of The Independent.

Both Leaders Since '51

Under the direction of Scoutmasters Eccles and Packard, Belmond has been recognized throughout the nine-county Winnebago Council area as an outstanding community in regard to Scouting activities. Not only has participation in Scout work been unusually extensive, but the success of the Scout program has inspired younger boys to enroll in Cub Scouting in unprecedented numbers.

Both the Men-of-the-Year launched their careers as Scoutmasters in 1951 when Glenn Martin, their predecessor as leader of local Scouting, was given a promotion by General Mills that required his departure from Belmond. Mr. Eccles had previously been a member of the Scout committee since 1947.

Each Holds Star Rank

R. W. Courson, in presenting the awards to the two men, pointed out that they belong to the "do as I do, not just as I say" school of leadership. Both have actively worked for Scouting advancements and at present hold Star Scout rank.

In the fall of 1951, there was competition among the troops in the Franklin-Wright district to see which could earn the most merit badges in a given period of time. Dissatisfied with their boys' rate of progress, the two Scoutmasters decided to inspire a faster pace by going after achievement badges, themselves. It "worked," and the Belmond Scouts easily outstripped those in the other communities of the district. Scoutmasters are automatically consigned First Class rank and are eligible to work toward merit badges.

"Bud" Was Scout as Boy

Mr. Eccles was never a Scout as a youth, but Mr. Packard attained Second Class rating when H. C. Engelbrecht, former high school teacher, was in charge of Scouting here. "Bud" says the vital necessity of good leadership was impressed upon him when Scouting temporarily went into eclipse locally when Mr. Engelbrecht left Belmond. This was the reason the present Scoutmaster gained no higher rating at that time.

Glen has inspired a keen interest in Scouting in his own sons. Two—Edward and Kenneth — have achieved Eagle Scout rank; another, Stanley, became First Class. He has two other sons; Cecil is now active in Scouting and the youngest, Dennis, is a Cub Scout.

"Get" as Well as "Give"

Both "Bud" and Glen say with complete sincerity that they feel they get just as much out of Scouting as the boys they guide and that the long hours devoted to Scout work involves no sacrifice, insofar as they're concerned.

Both take deep pride in the enviable record that the Belmond Scouts have made in recent years. Mr. Packard says he is particularly proud of the hours the boys have contributed to conservation work, planting thousands of multiflora rose plants, black locust and dogwood trees, and assisting the Sportsman's club in construction of several dams. They've also planted 200 Douglas firs at the local camp site.

There are 27 boys in Mr. Eccles' Scout troop, and five more are soon to be added. In the Explorer Post, to which the Scouts advance at the age of 14, Mr. Packard has 17 boys.

BRONCOS, 57-49; BULLDOGS FADE IN 2ND HALF

Tuesday night the Broncos got "the big one," taking the measure of Lake Mills on the Bulldogs' home court, 57 to 49. The victory left Belmond just one game shy of a perfect season in North Iowa conference competition and they'll go after that final win here Friday night, with Britt the opponent.

After a tough first half, which found the winners with only a one-point edge, 24-23, the Broncos came back with a rush after the intermission to win with relative ease. Key to their win was a successful effort to keep Big Jon Swenson under control.

Swenson Gets 16

Ron Hansen and Ken Loats bore the major burden of this assignment. How well they succeeded is apparent when it can be said that in three quarters of the game the Bulldog pivot was held to a single field goal. He managed three in the second stanza; but a total of four is far below his average production. To his eight points on fielders he added an equal number on free throws for a total of 16. That gave him scoring honors for the evening, but was 10 points less than he managed against the Broncos in the earlier game played here.

Belmond's two top point-makers, Ken Loats and Don Hoppel, chalked up 25 points between them to cancel out Swenson's efforts very effectively. Ken hit for 13 and Don for 12.

Score Tied Twice

Keith Madsen and Hoppel hit quick baskets at the outset of the game and Lake Mills never once gained a lead. The Bulldogs knotted the count at 4-all and again, in the second period, at 19 apiece. Several times before the half, Belmond gained a six-point advantage and one time they led 18-10. Lake Mills rallied, however, to all but close the gap before the buzzer sounded the rest period.

When play resumed, Belmond ran its margin to 10 points before Lake Mills could break the ice. Hansen, Mehl, Madsen, Loats hit two-pointers and then the latter added a free throw before Swenson notched a gratis toss for the Bulldogs' first tally. The Broncs maintained their 10-point bulge to the end of the period, which found the count 39-29 with a quarter to go.

Margin Built to 17

A Belmond scoring flurry midway in the final stanza expanded Lake Mills' deficit to 17 points—55-38—with little more than three minutes remaining.

The tilt safely in the bag, to all appearances, the Broncs chose not to resort to an air-tight control style of play such as they'd employed against Garner last Friday and Lake Mills succeeded in taking up some slack in the waning moments. The winners missed on six free throw attempts, also, which helped the Bulldogs' efforts to close the gap. The security of Belmond's victory was never threatened, though.

The Bullodgs battled hard to gain an upset. Forward Neal Nelson fouled out early in the last quarter; and Rich Gangsei and Gene Haugo followed him to the bench before the final whistle. Actually, Nelson wasn't badly missed, however, as his replacement—Dave Gunderson,—whipped in 10 points in the final quarter. No Broncs went out on fouls, but LeRoy Smith, Hansen and Mehl were called on four infractions, Loats and Hoppel on three each.

Colts Win, 37-29

Besides Loats' and Hoppel's scoring contributions, Madsen made 9 points for the victors, Hansen and Mehl 7 each, Smith 6 and Larson 3. After Swenson and Gunderson, Sanford Limesand tallied 9 for Lake Mills, Nelson 7 and Gangsei 6.

The froshmore Colts took their game by a 37-29 spread, after holding a 19-15 halftime lead. Bruce Hall potted 13 points to be top scorer.

In other NI conference action Tuesday, Britt surprised Garner with a 55-54 upset win and Buffalo Center forced Forest City to the limit before bowing to the Indians, 53-52

FAMISHED PUBLIC GETS ITS FILL AT FISH AND FLAPJACK FEEDS

Two public "feeds" last week were resounding successes, leaving their customers convinced that the term "all you can eat" is no empty promise when attached to such functions in the fair city of Belmond.

Wednesday night at the Vets' Memorial hall, the Sportsman's club sent some 200 diners all but staggering home under full loads of deliciously deep-fried walleyed pike. President Wilmer Burk reports that praise was heaped on the sportsmen's efforts as freely as pike was piled on plates at the fish fry.

By the time all bills had been paid, including that for about 185 pounds of fresh walleyes from Canada, the "net" ran not more than $25 to $50. But the club members were well satisfied in that opinion was unanimous that Belmond has never seen a fish-fry to match that one.

On the following evening, the Young Married Couples of the Methodist church promised the public its fill of pancakes for the modest fee of 30 cents (appetizing side dishes were available at a moderate, additional cost). For brief periods of time, the diners succeeded in eating the flapjacks FASTER than the griddle-masters could turn 'em out—but the chefs won out, in the long run.

Mrs. Guy McClenahan reports that more than 2,000 pancakes were consumed by the crowd. More than 300, and possibly close to 400 hungry, flapjack fanciers turned out for the occasion. When all expenses had been paid, close to $100 was left to go into the church building fund.

Over 1½ Million In Bonds Bought In Wright In '53

Charles Kramer of Clarion, Wright county chairman of the U. S. savings bonds division, reported this week that total purchases of series E and H savings bonds in this county during 1953 amounted to $1,272,331, for 113.58 per cent of the annual quota.

Total sales of E and H bonds in the county in 1952 were $898,309, Mr. Kramer said, pointing out that there was an increase during 1953 for every county in Iowa.

Total purchases throughout Iowa in 1953 amounted to $126,965,432 for series E and H bonds, compared with $84,540,702 for 1952, an increase of 50 per cent. Nationally the 1953 sales of series E and H bonds set a seven-year record, and the total of $4,368,000,000 was 22 per cent greater than in 1952. Not since 1946 have individual citizens so heavily invested in E bonds. H bonds were not offered until June, 1952.

County Chairman Kramer also said that he has been advised that of the 10 billion dollars in series E bonds which have matured since May, 1951, only 25 per cent have been redeemed. Owners of the balance are taking advantage of the automatic extension privilege, which lets them earn three per cent compounded interest on the bonds for an extra 10 years.

Sales of E and H bonds, and percentages of quotas attained, for 1953 in adjacent counties are: Hancock county, $673,169, 98.40 per cent; Franklin county, $633,393, 97.75 per cent; Kossuth county, $1,299,852, 108 03 per cent.

N. FLANAGAN GETS REPORT ON FRANKLIN LIFE SALES

Franklin Life Insurance company of Springfield, Ill., produced over $365,000,000 of paid business last year — an average of a million dollars of paid business every 24 hours in the year. The company at year end had over $1,500,000,000 of insurance in force, according to information just received from President Charles E. Becker by Special Agent Neil Flanagan.

Attainment of a billion and a half of insurance in force marks one of the most remarkable growth records in the history of life insurance, Flanagan says, with a half billion dollar gain in less than three years' time. The Franklin reached the billion goal in March of 1951.

HEAT AND VENTILATION IN THE BROODER HOUSE

Heat and ventilation are very important in the brooder house. In fact, they go hand in hand. One without the other is useless. Without heat, you have chilled chicks. Without ventilation you have wet litter, and sick chicks.

The type and amount of ventilation depends on the kind of stove you have in the brooder house. There are stoves that use a chimney and stoves that don't. For the types that have a chimney, you usually don't need much ventilation. That's because the hot gasses go out the chimney—outside fresh air comes in the house replacing the air used by the stove. This is sort of an automatic forced air ventilation in reverse.

But even with stoves that have chimneys, you might find wet litter. Providing the house is at the right temperature, wet litter means you need more ventilation. Not drafty ventilation either.

You can tell if there are drafts around the brooder by watching the chicks. They may stay away from one certain spot. Check that spot for drafts. You can check by holding a match close to the floor at that spot. Be careful with the match though. Flaming litter might overheat the chicks.

And don't trust your brooder thermometer. Look at the chicks instead. If they're crowded under the brooder, it's too cold. If they group up well away from the brooder, it's too hot. Comfortable chicks just look like they're having a good time. Then, the temperature is right.

Belmond's 61-51 Win Over Garner Clinches NI Title

NORTH IOWA CONFERENCE STANDINGS
(Through last Friday)

	W	L	Pts	OP
Belmond	10	0	540	428
Lake Mills	7	3	512	450
Forest City	6	4	498	476
Garner	5	5	516	524
Northwood	4	7	479	490

Buffalo Center	2	9	528	569

Belmond didn't do very much of job of stopping big Daryle Jass of Garner last Friday night—but, on the other hand, the Cardinals found the Broncos too tough to handle as a team. The over-all results: a 28-point scoring spree by lanky Mr. Jass and a 61-51 victory by the Broncs. The latter clinched the North Iowa conference title for Belmond, with a 10-0 loop record against 7-3 for runner-up Lake Mills with only two games to go.

It was much the same story as has described earlier Bronco wins this season. The Belmond boys had the more zip left in the final quarter. For three periods it was pretty much of a ding-dong battle, although the Broncs never trailed after going ahead 12-11 on a hit by Don Hoppel in the waning seconds of the opening stanza.

Garner Leads Early

Garner led throughout most of the first period, though the Broncs held a momentary 5-4 advantage and later tied the count at 10-all. Hoppel kept Belmond in the running with three first-quarter field goals. In the second period, Keith Madsen sparked a Bronco drive that built up a 27-17 lead as the half neared. A minor rally by the visitors shortened the margin to 30-23 at the intermission.

Big Jass really "busted loose" in the third quarter, racking up 14 points all by himself. But Hoppel and Ken Loats kept matters under control by splitting 12 between them. Consequently, the Cardinal pivot's one-man assault succeeded in reducing Belmond's edge by only two points, the Broncs entering the pay-off period in front by 45-40. The rest of the way, Garner was never able to diminish that five-point deficit.

Broncs Go into Stall

To the contrary after exchanging baskets until the count advanced to 49-44, the Cards began to fall off the pace as the quarter neared the midway mark. Just as the clock showed the final three minutes at hand — with the double-shot rule in force on fouls — Ron Hansen hit a fielder that sent Belmond ahead 56-46. At this point, the Broncos launched an effective stalling game and it was curtains for the Cardinals.

With only seconds left, Belmond had padded out the score to 61-49. A final lay-up by Jerry Pringle pared the margin to 10 points. It was a well-played game and the Garner crew owed no apology for their showing. Once again, it was all-around balance that spelled victory for the Broncs. If the winners had a key man, it was Hoppel — who was a ball of fire in all but the second quarter (a fair part of which he sat out.) He and Loats shared scoring honors for Belmond with 15 each. Madsen tallied 11, Hansen and LeRoy Smith 8 each, Larry Larson and Gene Mehl 2 a piece.

Two Cards Foul Out

Daryle Jass was almost solely responsible for keeping Garner in the game during the middle stretch. Twenty of his 26 points came in the second and third quarters. Ron Snater hit 10 for the Cards, all but two of them coming on free throws. Bob Brooks and Duane Jass both fouled out of the Garner line-up in the final quarter, but their departure could hardly be regarded as having had any effect on the outcome.

Belmond's Colts took the froshmore game 49-36, relaxing a bit in the last half after building a 28-9 margin before the intermission. Joe Smith and Jerry Chandler topped the scorers with 13 and 10 points. Bruce Hall turned in a top-rate floor game.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS

My, what a difference point of view can make! After Clarion's recent 55-54 upset win over Algona the Monitor expressed understandable pride over the fact that the Cowboys hit a sensational 64 per cent of their field shots in the first half and 100 per cent of their free throws in establishing a 29-19 halftime lead.

The Algona Upper Des Moines disregarded the hot shooting and explained the Bulldogs' deficit by remarking that Algona's "inferior downfield blocking, tackling and holding" was largely responsible for Clarion's advantage.

Personal fouls for both teams added up to 17. If the game was rough or not, 64 per cent shooting by the opposition could put grease under many a favorite. The Algona sportswriter in his obvious disappointment described the fray as falling into the category of "alley-ball" rather than basketball."

—PSS—

Bless us if we didn't get into it last week by not seeing where we were going! Our observation that Donny Hoppel had missed honor roll listing when his senior team mates Ken Loats and Larry Larson defied athletic precedent by making the select group, really stirred up a hornet's nest.

We intended the remark only in the nature of a little good-natured kidding — which Donny delights in himself. But does that boy have followers! And did they jump down our throat! Rest assured, Don, that you haven't a more ardent fan than this writer. Last time we'll ever "kid" any fellow with so many friends. 'Taint safe.

—PSS—

We'd like to point out that there's been a remarkable shift [illegible] by the BHS basketeers' offense since the new year started — and that Ken Loats and Don Hoppel have played key roles in bringing it about, with plenty of help from their team mates. Before the holiday break the Broncos were averaging 47 points per game, but in their first eight games in January they have averaged 67 points! While their defensive average has slipped a bit — from 38 to 44 — the reserves have been getting in much more floor time, which largely accounts for this. The "regulars" have been as tough defensively as ever.

—PSS—

This scoring upsurge has brought the Broncs' average up to 53-per-game for the season, and their defensive to 41. Whereas before New Year's Day there was not a man on the team with a 10-point average, since that time Loats has hit at a 16.4 clip and "Hoppy" has been swishing 'em in 13 to a tilt. LeRoy Smith, who'd averaged a shade under 6 in the first nine games, has been hitting at 11.3; Ronnie Hansen's improved from 6-plus to 9.3 — and Keith Madsen has lately been averaging 9.3, also — just as he was in the first half of the season.

—PSS—

While the scoring of Gene Mehl and Larry Larson doesn't measure up to that of the "starters," they've been invaluable to the team by enabling it to hit on all cylinders even with one or two of the previously mentioned five sitting on the bench. Loats and Hoppel lead the Broncs in field goal production with 74 apiece, but Ken has had 58 free throw tries and made 46 (for 80%) while Donny has had only 37 charity chances, converting on 29 of 'em (that's 78%). Point totals for the seven first-stringers are: Loats 194, Hopel 177, Madsen 141, Smith 130, Hansen 113, Mehl 84 and Larson 30. These figures pre-date the Garner game.

—PSS—

To forget basketball for a moment (which is tough to do around here these days), mention should be made of a bowling achievement turned in last week by Alice Busick of the Greenhouse team.

She picked up the Big-4 split (the two corner pins on either side of the alley), which is about as easy as scratching your ear with your elbow. Within our recollection, it's the first time the trick has been pulled in local league play — women's OR men's.

Alice skidded the No. 4 pin across the boards so it set No. 10 to wobbling. After several nerve-wracking seconds, the corner pin toppled over on No. 6 — and Alice had won herself a highly-coveted ABC arm patch!

Women's Bowling Tourney All Set

Annual tournament of the Belmond Women's Bowling association is scheduled to get underway with team competition on Tuesday of next week and finish up with singles and doubles play on Feb. 16 and 19.

Chapman's Service is the defending team chamion and will seek a second leg on the Rowat Murray trophy. Two wins gives permanent possession of the trophy.

Deloris Withers will be on hand to defend both the singles and all-events titles which she won last year. Doubles champs last season were Mary Gordon and Darlene Busick.

Conference Card Winds Up Friday; Sectionals Next

Frinday night will end the North Iowa conference basketball season and set the stage for opening of the state tournament campaign next week. The wind-up games will find Britt playing here, Northwood at Forest City and Lake Mills at Garner.

Britt gave notice last weekend that it may prove much tougher than in the meeting Jan. 5th. They pushed Lake Mills all the way before losing to the visiting Bulldogs 55-50. In the other NI game Friday, besides the Belmond-Garner fracas, Northwood bumped Buffalo Center 62 to 51.

Next Monday night the Broncos will get their first taste of tournament competition when they tangle with the Dows Tigers at 7:30 at the Clarion gym. On Wednesday night at the same hour, the other Class A entries in this sectional will take to the boards—Clarion vs. Eagle Grove. The finals will be Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Class B games at Clarion will find Alexander vs. Woolstock, Rowan vs. Popejoy, and Goldfield and Renwick drawing byes.

Other sectional pairings involve North Iowa teams as follows: Lake Mills vs. Forest City at Forest City, Britt vs. Garner at Garner, Northwood vs. Mason City Holy Family at Manly. At Swea City, Buffalo Center draws a first round bye. The Bison will meet the Swea City Bancroft St. John's winner.

Bronco Vote Total Rises in AP Poll

Stock of Belmond High's basketball team went up last week as a fourth poll was taken of Associated Press sports writers to rank the state's strongest cage aggregations. The Broncos remained in 3rd place in the Northwest Iowa ratings, but their point total climbed from 50 the week before clear up to 73.

Heelan of Sioux City, which has lost at least five games, zoomed into 1st place in the northwest area on the strength of their 65-57 conquest of LeMars, the previous leader. The new leaders attracted a total of 82 in vote points. LeMars drew the same 79 total as the week before, but it was good for only 2nd place. Heelan had previously been in 8th place with only 18 points.

Paullina, runner-up a week earlier, suffered a 70-66 defeat at the hands of Sheldon and skidded to 4th place with 50 vote points. Ten points are awarded for a 1st ranking down to a single point for 10th best in the area.

Lake Mills—No. 13 in the third poll with eight points—gathered 11 in the fourth survey, but the total was good for only 15th place. Forest City dropped entirely out of the rankings.

Her bill would probably be higher if it weren't for advertising. Both the store and the manufacturers use advertising as their lowest cost way to get across news about their products.

On the average, the advertising for a package of breakfast food amounts to less than 3/10¢; for bread, less than the wrapper.

Selling more goods helps make mass production possible which means lower production costs, lower selling costs, lower prices.

Visiting around Iowa
by Joe Marsh

Iowans Call It Dubuque

In an old 1846 geography, I ran into an item that should give folks around Dubuque a good laugh.

The author, named Olney, said that Dubuque should really be pronounced "Du-Book!"

Well, in spite of Mr. Olney, folks seemingly chose their own pronunciation. So we call it Dubuque.

Of course, that little story pretty well reflects our whole Iowa tradition. Our people certainly won't stand being dictated to—in pronunciation or anything else.

Take the word creek, for example. Some of us call it "crick," others "creek." Or tomato — some say "tomayto," others "tomahto." It's okay both ways. Our right to freedom of choice is what counts.

That even goes for such simple things as pronunciation, or preferring a temperate bottle of beer with our dinner, or choosing the kind of social club we want to join. Let's remember that the other fellow has a right to his preferences, just as we have to ours. As good Iowans, we all join in saying "No dictators, please."

Cagers Will Seek Tourney Laurels

Monday at 6:00 p. m. at the Clarion High School gymnasium, the Alexander boys' basketball team will launch its tournament campaign, meeting Woolstock in the first round of the sectional. They carry a 16-2 record into tourney play and are regarded as a strong contender for the Class B crown.

Other Class B entries are Goldfield, Renwick, Popejoy and Rowan. On the basis of performance during the regular season, Goldfield appears the likeliest threat to Alexander's advancement to district play. Goldfield won seven and lost seven in the Boone Valley conference, headed by Livermore and LuVerne.

If the boys defeat Woolstock, they are slated to meet the Rowan-Popejoy winner at 8:30 p. m. on Thursday.

Both Alexander teams ended their regular cards with victories at Goodell last weekend. The boys won with ease, 59-31, with Eldon Schulte hitting 25 points. The girls had to go into overtime to gain an exciting 89-84 decision, however. Sandra Johnson won high point honors with a total of 50; but she exceeded the accumulation of Virginia Veldhouse, Goodell star, by only two points.

Missionary Tells John Van Gerpens About [illegible] in Africa Where Their Son Emory Is Serving

[illegible] and Mrs. John Van Gerpen [illegible] Sunday had the pleasure of a [illegible] conversation with a returned missionary whose place at a Nigerian mission in Africa was taken by the Belmond couple's son, Rev. Emory Van Gerpen. They had gone to Sibley on Sunday morning to hear Rev. John Vander Schie speak at the First Presbyterian church and then brought him to Belmond, where he spoke briefly in the evening at the Baptist church. The visitor left from Ames at midnight for Chicago, where he was scheduled to conduct a service.

The Van Gerpens were delighted to get first-hand information regarding their son and his wife, who went to Wagini, Nigeria, just about a year ago. They were told that Emory is the only white man within a radius of some 50 to 75 miles around Wagini. Between 160,000 and 175,000 natives live in the area, residing in "bush villages" about two miles apart. The people live in mud huts and are mainly pagans or of the Moslem faith.

8-9 Wives Per Man

According to the Rev. Mr. Vander Schie, the Moslems live in individual compounds and the men average eight or nine wives apiece — and 40 or 50 children. Most of the girls are married by the age of 12, and thereafter are carefully restricted to their husband's compound to prevent their running away or being stolen. In case of "arguments" — over a stolen wife or other difficulties — the conventional weapon is a bush knife measuring three feet or more in length, supplemented by spears and bows and poisoned arrows.

Mrs. Van Gerpen is in charge of the mission's dispensary and has about 200 patients daily. She has one native assistant. There was also a dispensary at Gara, about 30 miles away, but this had to be closed down temporarily when Emory's predecessor returned home. When a new jeep, at present en route to Africa, arrives the second dispensary will be reopened. The vehicle is expected around Easter.

"Farms" 3 to 4 Acres

Peanuts and wheat are the major crops in the Wagini area and small mountains of peanuts in the shell can be seen from all the compounds. Farms average three to four acres and are cultivated by hoe. Fruits are plentiful. The missionary compound boasts 12, good orange trees. It is also blessed with several good wells. The missionaries are provided by the British government with an area of some eight to 10 acres on which their compound is located. Few vegetables are raised in the mission area; they are mainly shipped in from England or South Africa.

Lizards, chameleons and snakes are present in great profusion and hyenas are very plentiful. Camels are common in the Wagini territory, as are ostriches. The climate is decidedly "tropical," the average temperature ranging from 100 to 120 degrees.

The Rev. Mr. Vander Schie and his wife are to return to Nigeria in August. They have promised to return to Belmond and to make an appearance at the Baptist church here some time before May, if it proves at all possible.

Neary $4 Million Corn Under Seal In Wright County

Between $3,750,000 and $4,000,000 worth of corn is under seal in Wright county, O. J. Hanson of Clarion announced this week. The office manager for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee says that more than 2,000,000 bushels of the corn on which government loans has been obtained is from the 1953 crop and some 450,000 bushels is '52 corn, the loan amounting to $1.54 per bushel in each case.

A good share of the '53 corn was sealed before the end of the year, according to Mr. Hanson, but loans have continued at a brisk gait since the new year started and only lately have applications been slowing down in volume.

Total amount of corn sealed seems unlikely to mount as high on the '53 crop as for '52, Mr. Hanson added, due to the somewhat smaller harvest last fall. He says that corn delivered to the government in settlement of loans came in such large quantities as the crop began to come in last autumn that additional ASC storage facilities were filled in next to no time. A total of 225 round bins, each with 3,300-bushel capacity, and 10 quonsets able to hold 40,000 apiece were erected to provide additional storage space of nearly 1,150,000 bushels.

Last year's corn crop was particularly noteworthy for its high quality, Mr. Hanson states. He describes it as the best he's seen in over 10 years of affiliation with the PMA-ASC. Moisture content was so low that the preservation problem has been reduced to a minimum.

Public Forum

To the sports editor of the Independent:

Where was Don? When the grades were passed out, Don was down in the gym lifting weights to build up his scrawny frame. But he didn't do badly; besides all the time he spends lifting weights to improve his scrawny physique (so he could make a more impressive appearance for the Broncos) he was also improving his "weak" mind by maintaining between a B- and C plus average for the quarters (just missing the honor roll by a few points).

Don is very dilligent and eager and willing to do anything he can to grow bigger and stronger so that maybe he can frighten the opponents when he comes bounding onto the floor. He's tried eating spinach, but it hasn't helped him grow much. So he has resorted to lifting weights in hopes that he can please those fans who are heartbroken with his scrawny appearance. He's willing to do anything to build himself up. Have you any heavy chores around the office that you would like assistance with? Here he could not only indulge in muscle building, but he also does his work intelligently and in this way could convince all of his mental power.

1,522 in Wright County Given Aid By Nursing Service During 1953

Annual report of the Wright County Nursing Service for 1953, which has just been completed by Elizabeth Tracy, county nurse, shows that 1,522 Wright county individuals received direct service during the past year. This does not include those individuals who received service from the three sickroom loan closets in the county.

Thirteen home visits were made to patients with a communicable disease. Immunization clinics were held in four towns and the rural children living in the vicinity of these were given the opportunity to attend.

No Venereal Referrals

No visits or interviews were made for venereal disease control as no referrals were received from the state department of health.

Home visits to individuals for the purpose of tuberculosis control numbered 29; and 10,383 miniature films were taken during the county-wide x-ray program, sponsored by the Wright County Tuberculosis and Health association during the months of May and June. Seventy individuals were recalled for the larger chest x-rays and there were 23 tuberculous findings.

There were 16 home visits and one office call regarding maternity service and 12 home visits plus an office visit with mothers regarding the care of their infants.

Crippled Children Aided

Fourteen pre-school conferences were held, with a total of 112 children attending, accompanied by their mothers. Besides these conferences, 87 visits were made to the homes of pre-school children.

Visits to rural and town schools numbered 132 and school hygiene home visits numbered 104. There were 132 teacher-nurse consultations, 22 classroom talks and 32 parent-nurse consultations at school.

Under the Crippled Children's Service division, 44 visits were made to 33 children for the purpose of securing medical attention or to assist with the home care of those under treatment. Crippled children's clinics were held at Webster City in April and October.

Spoke at 20 Meetings

Of the 73 visits to adults with non-communicable health problems, 32 were to cancer patients.

Talks were given by the nurse at 20 public meetings, 60 interviews were held with individuals to interpret the nursing service and 71 meetings were held with interested persons to discuss health and social problems.

"The cooperation and support of the doctors and dentists, the various organizations and the citizens of Wright county has helped to improve the Wright County Nursing Service," Miss Tracy says in concluding her report, "and this cooperation and support is greatly appreciated."

Soldiers' Relief In Wright Costs $17,339 in '52

Figures recently released by the Iowa Taxpayers association regarding the expense of soldiers' relief during 1952 show that only 16 counties in the state could boast lower administrative cost that Wright in this regard. Frank Champlin of Holmes is the soldiers' relief administrator for this county. He reported expense of his ad-$255 entailed in conduct of his administrative duties

A total of $17,399 was expended for soldiers' relief in Wright during '52. Figures of the Taxpayers association showed that there seems to be relatively little relationship between county population and amounts spent on soldiers' relief.

Wright's population is 19,636, compared to expenditures of $17,339 Kossuth has 26,181 population but needed only $2,839 for soldiers' relief; Hancock 15,079 and $8,671; Franklin 16,287 and $8,432; Cerro Gordo 45,648 and $16,815; Hardin 22,189 and $15,877.

There is an even greater discrepancy between the ratio of relief outlay to administrative expense, from county to county. In Wright, the cost of administration was less than 1.5 per cent of the relief funds expended. In Hardin county, administrative cost was $4,052—or more than 25 per cent as much as spent on actual relief.

Similar comparisons in the other counties named show: Cerro Gordo, $3,534 for administration, 21 per cent; Franklin, $773, or nine per cent; Hancock, $268, or three per cent.

Drainage Has Paid Off Millions in Wright County Since Initial Ditch Was Constructed 50 Years Ago

This year marks the 50th anniversary of completion of the first drainage ditch in Wright county. It was projected in 1903 but was not finished until 1904. This original ditch was the first step towards making thousands of acres of boggy and poorly-drained land in the county productive to the full limit and it and the many others that have since been dug have added many millions of dollars to the wealth of Wright county.

Once the farmers of this area had witnessed what proper drainage would do, they were eager to see the benefits made available to their land. An article in Belmond's Iowa Valley Press of Jan. 14, 1904, reports that in the 10 years following construction of that initial ditch, another 85 were added.

Drainage Termed "Miracle"

Commenting on the importance of improved drainage to Iowa agriculture four decades ago, a writer for the Marshalltown Times-Republican had the following to say after a visit to Wright county:

"What achievement of the last 10 years in this part of the country most nearly deserves the title of 'miracle'? The one best answer, beyond doubt, is 'drainage,' for this has transformed a land of ponds and marshy wastes, with here and there an irregular tract of cultivated country, into one of prosperous farms and attractive homes, valued beyond the imagination of the most ardent enthusiast of the times when muskrat houses dotted great areas like shocks of hay in meadows and reeds and slough grass grew from soil that now produces oats and corn."

217 Districts Today

How extensively that "miracle" was to be expanded was not foreseen by Wright County Engineer Mechem of that day. He predicted, "There will not be many more drainage districts organized in Wright county, for this part of the work is nearly all done."

As mentioned above, 86 districts to finance as many, main ditches had been organized at the time Mr. Mechem misread the crystal ball 40 years ago. Today, there are 217 drainage districts in Wright county; and one would hesitate to predict that the end has yet been reached.

Land values in the county had risen from $50 to $75 per acre in 1902-04 to $150 to $200 by 1914 and at least half that increment was credited to improved drainage.

Helped Towns, Too

"And the effect of all this is not confined to farm land," commented the Belmond newspaper. "Thriving towns with good streets, splendid residences and business blocks containing modern stores, electrict light plants and other city institutions are not possible in agricultural regions where half the farm land must be abandoned in every season of more than normal rainfall. Truly, the coming of the dredge and tiling outfit meant something to Wright county and it hasn't taken long to produce results through their employment."

By 1914, total mileage of main ditches in the county was about 300, with individual ditches varying in length from one to 21 miles. The longest ditch was put in at an expense of $100,000. Almost all the earliest ditches were of the open variety, but even by 1914 there was a preceptible trend towards installation of tile lines, instead.

More Tile Lines, Now

Clean-out of the older ditches has been widely required in late years, and the cost of this operation often runs considerably in excess of the original outlay for construction of the ditch. Today, new installations in the county are preponderantly in the nature of tile lines.

More or less typical of latter-day drainage ditch is the one created a couple of years ago for Drainage District No. 215 in Pleasant township. This one consists of a main tile line and three laterals totaling 4.23 miles. Cost of this system was close to $32,000 — which is in considerable contrast to that one of 21 miles that cost only $100,000 not long after the turn of the century.

Ditch Pays Off Quick

Despite the greatly increased costs, however, new drainage still pays off well in the farm account book. And, considering improved methods and "extras" that go with a modern drainage job, costs are very much in line with those of 40 or 50 years ago.

One farmer who this past fall enjoyed the benefits on a piece of bottom land for the first time reports that his corn yield on the piece averaged better than 100 bushels to the acre. While the land had been cropped in the past, it was always an open question as to whether heavy rains might seriously reduce the yield or wipe out the crop entirely.

Says this satisfied convert to good drainage, "One year took care of the cost of draining THAT land."

TWO "BETTER SCOUTS" COULDN'T HAVE BEEN CHOSEN AS "MEN OF THE YEAR"

Next week the Boy Scouts of America observe the 44th birthday of their organization. Theme of this year's anniversary is "Forward on Liberty's Team," with Scouts, their parents and local institutions paying tribute to the leaders of the nation's 89,000 Scouting units that number more than 3,300,000 boys and men in their membership.

It is particularly fitting that the Belmond Lions club has by coincidence anticipated the purpose and spirit of this year's Boy Scout anniversary week by jointly bestowing the "Man of the Year" title upon Scoutmasters Glen Eccles and "Bud" Packard. They are highly qualified to receive this honor.

Scouting has meant much to this community in helping boys to become men of good character. But fine though the Scouting program is, it achieves its full goal only where competent leadership is provided. Here in Belmond we have been fortunate in having not just competent, but outstanding leadership.

Bud and Glen would, we suspect, both be comfortably well-to-do if they had received a good, union wage scale at time-and-a-half for all the "overtime" they have devoted to Scouting On the other hand, they would unquestionably be the first to admit that they've been repaid many times over as they have watched "their boys" grow into the finest kind of citizens.

We wish to add our hearty congratulations to the many others that Scoutmasters Packard and Eccles will receive over their well-deserved selection as Belmond's "Men of the Year" for '53 And in recognition of Boy Scout Week, we would add a salute to the Belmond Scouts. They do honor to their fine organization, to their leaders and to themselves.

THAT SNOW REMOVAL JOB LAST WEEK WAS "PERFECT" — WITHOUT PRACTICE

For a bunch of fellows shy on practice, the men responsible for getting the streets back into normal use after that first, real snowfall of the season surely did a bang-up job last week.

Some of the credit can go to the mayor and council for their wise purchase of that grader last summer. This piece of equipment no doubt made the street department's job much simpler than it has been in the past without its equivalent to work with.

But the businesslike manner in which Street Commissioner Al Stadtlander and his crew went about the clearance of downtown Main street deserves a lion's share of the praise. It was notable that they got the job done quicker — and better — with the Cat', the shovel-loader and a couple of trucks than it used to take a fair-sized fleet of trucks and a small army of men

Give good men good equipment and a tough job can be made to look easy Let's accord a hearty "well done" to one and all concerned.

IOWA DAIRYMEN PLEDGE FULL SUPPORT TO INDUSTRY'S "SELF HELP" PROGRAM

It was gratifying to note that Iowa dairymen at a recent meeting in Ames voted unanimously to endorse the "self help" program that has been undertaken by the American Dairy association. Here is a good, capsule test of the American system of private enterprise and it is being watched with great interest.

In the first 14 days of January, the government bought 13,500,000 pounds of butter, 25,000,000 pounds of dried milk and 9,000,000 pounds of cheese. The war, principally, brought the government's large scale entry into the dairy market — as well as establishing Uncle Sam as THE biggest customer in other lines of agricultural products. Stepped-up production was a war-time "must," and it obligated the government to provide the farmer with assurance that he would not in the long run break himself by being left with more produce than the post-war market could absorb.

But the war's over, the time for adjustment has come. The taxpayer has been spending so many millions to buy butter for storage in government warehouses — thereby bolstering the price — that he can't afford as much butter as he'd like for his own table. So long as the government was pledged to keep the butter-support price up where it's been, this circumstance was bound to continue.

A year ago, the secretary of agriculture gave the dairy industry notice that on March 31, 1954, it would be necessary to lower the support price. It is to the dairy industry's great credit that it's making a monumental effort to put its own house in order. To ease the industry over this critical adjustment period, the only salvation of the dairy industry rests on increasing consumption of its products to lessen the effect of the reduction in price supports. And the dairymen are resolutely determined to bring about this increase.

Their "self help" program calls for every dairyman, on a voluntary basis, to contribute a half-cent per pound of butterfat or two cents for each 100 pounds of milk that he sells — the money to go into a promotion fund to build up civilian consumption of his products. You've unquestionably seen the mouth-watering, full-color ads the American Dairy association is currently running in leading magazines. Twice a week on CBS-TV Bob Crosby is plugging dairy products; each Friday night Bob Hope gets in his licks over NBC. It seems inevitable that this selling campaign will pay off.

President Eisenhower believes that the time has come to face the problem of artificial price supports realistically, in fairness to American taxpayers as well as to the farmers themselves. He feels that these fixed, high supports result in a one-sided program which gives major benefit to the farmer and little or none to the consumer. It is certainly pleasing to see Iowa's dairymen in the forefront of this test effort to find the solution to a very vital problem.

KNOW... the answers to CANCER

By E. D. PLASS, M. D.

If one has been "cured" of cancer, can he develop another cancer?

Yes. Having a cancer does not confer any degree of immunity, such as is commonly observed after infectious diseases like chicken pox or small pox In fact, the incidence of many cancerous tumors is so large (3 to 5 per cent) as to suggest that possibly one with a cancer is more than ordinarily susceptible to the development of another. Assuming that there is an hereditary factor which predisposes an individual to cancer, it is not difficult to see how this factor might encourage other malignant growths, given the stimulus of chronic irritation or advancing age.

When the second cancer develops at or near the site of the first growth, which was "cured," it may be quite impossible to determine whether this a really a "new" growth or merely the reapperance of activity in some cells from the first cancer which had escaped removal or destruction but had remained quiet for years. In many instances, however the second growth appears at a distance from the first cancer and presents a different microscopic picture so its designation as a new primary growth is not difficult.

The "follow-up" advised for all treated cancer patients is designed primarily to determine the efficacy of the treatment given but should also obviously help in the early detection of new growths. The person who has been treated for cancer should be under medical supervision for at least five years.

Other than behavior, how do cancer cells differ from normal ones?

Chemically, very little is known about the difference, but under a microscope a great variety of physical differences have been observed. More than three hundred different kinds of human cancer are known. Each looks different and has a special form of behavior Cancer cells usually resemble normal ones from the area in which they originate, since they are, basically, normal cells gone wrong.

FASTEST KNOWN PAIN RELIEF FOR ARTHRITIC, RHEUMATIC VICTIMS—NOW AVAILABLE

Seven "Film-Coated" Ingredients Offer Positive Relief

The crippling, torturing, twisting pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism may soon be forgotten, thanks to an exciting new laboratory discovery named Ar-Pan-Ex.

Ar-Pan-Ex was perfected by a noted scientist of a world-famed university, working with all known facts about these crippling ailments. The result is a safe, easy to take tablet that promotes the fastest relief known from that stabbing agony.

Ar-Pan-Ex is compounded of seven active ingredients including a special new medicine to help provide longer lasting relief. Ar-Pan-Ex exclusively perfected to curb chronic, deep-seated pains.

Why AR-PAN-EX Helps

Ar-Pan-Ex does not dissolve uselessly in the stomach . . . avoids stomach distress. Ar-Pan-Ex is scientifically "Film-Coated" so that ALL the powerful, pain-relieving medicine is released only in the small intestine where it can be quickly carried by the blood stream to every pain-wracked muscle joint and nerve. Swelling, stiffness and soreness may seem to be miraculously eased when Ar-Pan-Ex helps the system throw off excess Uric Acid that can also aggravate pains.

Nothing Like AR-PAN-EX

Nothing ever offered before can bring results faster, more effectively or with longer lasting benefits than Ar-Pan-Ex. It may mean a renewed life of usefulness and pleasure to millions.

Ask for genuine Ar-Pan-Ex today at any drug store for the kind of relief no other product can claim to equal. If your druggist is out of it, he will be glad to order it for you.

MOUNTED PLOWS

SNAP-COUPLER

For WD and WD-45: 3-bottom Mounted Plows in 12-, 14- and 16-inch sizes; for CA: 2-bottom Mounted Plows in 12- and 14-inch sizes.

The trend is to mounted plows and Allis-Chalmers "built-on-the-square" design is a symbol of good farming as well as great strength. Free-Swinging from a single hitchpoint the plow follows contours naturally . . . high clearance helps you cover trash . . . natural line of draft assures uniform plowing depth.

Tough, spring steel frame and beams are set at right angles to each other and rigidly braced. No other design gives you as much resistance to twisting, springing or misalignment. Triple-strength shares—⅜ in. thick, with up to 20 percent more metal, give you correspondingly longer wear.

GOODELL NEWS

BY MRS. AMOS HANSON

rie June Reinhart
ed On Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cook entertained at a dinner Sunday in their home in honor of their granddaughter, Merrie June Reinhart, who was 8 years old. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Reinhart, Merrie and Nancy, Mrs. A. C. Carpenter and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. La Favre, Jerry Lee and Margaret.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brede and Delwyn went to Mason City Sunday and were guests in the home of relatives, the Edgar Reeds.

Sunday dinner guests in the Rev. Park E. Miller home were Rev. and and Mrs. Alfred Rau and three children of Ventura, Louise Johnson of Belmond and Glenn Miller of Sheffield.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lein and two children of Thompson and Mrs. Francis Mason and children of Belmond visited Sunday afternoon in the home of their sister, Mrs. Bill Sheriff, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Luverne Christenson and two children of Ventura visited in the Dominy home Sunday evening.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

IRVIN BIER

Irvin Bier and his wife make their home on an 80-acre farm 2½ miles east of Goodell which he bought in 1940. His mother, Mrs. Conrad Bier, lives part of the time in their home, too (the rest she spends with her daughter, Mrs. rFank Guth.) As we visited with him, Irv commented that his mother enjoys exceptional health for her years, and told us how very much she likes to ride; in fact, she'd love a car-drive to the west coast.

The Bier's home was modernized just this year. While "gaining ground" in this respect, Irv says the storm that struck last summer certainly did the place no good. His barn was demolished, the hoghouse badly damaged and the farm grove extensively ripped up by the wind.

Irv has about a dozen whiteface cattle on feed and also raises hogs. His farm produces as many as 85 head of hogs, some years.

Fishing in the Iowa river and nearby, Iowa lakes is Irv's favorite pastime. Although he's been north a couple of times, he usually enjoys such good luck "right at home" that he sees little sense in driving long distances for his fish. He says he'd be satisfied to spend all his time fishing, he likes it that much. He adds that there's lot of science to fishing, and that luck won't make a fisherman.

VOL. 34 NO. 18 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

Vote on New Community School Board Set for March 8

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

This year of 1954 may not have brought us "June in January," but who will deny it has given us a welcome taste of "April in February"? The weather's been so near-balmy that it has inspired the annual mom-and-offspring debate over sufficient outer apparel about two months in advance of the customary date. As for the groundhog—phooey!

—M-S—

A most gracious letter was received in the mail Tuesday that did our hearts good. It was from Alvin R. Edgar, widely known throughout this part of the country as head of the Iowa State college music department. The Ames man was stopped on Highway 69 by a local policeman as he passed through Belmond about 11:00 p. m. last Saturday and his attention called to the fact that he had been traveling at a rate of 35 mph. But he left town FAVORABLY impressed by the officer's handling of the whole incident.

"Throughout, he was so courteous and fair that I want to write this letter of commendation and to say that I believe this approach is just as effective as though he had been rough and perhaps fined me, which he could have done and have been technically correct," wrote Mr. Edgar. "Had I really been speeding or been reckless, then sterner treatment would have been in order. As it was, I think he handled it exactly right."

It has seemed to us, as we've gather our periodical reports on the mayor's docket, that the hand of the local law has been resting more lightly on transient motorists in recent weeks than it did for some period of months. Whether they've simply been watching their P's and Q's closer—or a bit more leniency is being shown—we don't know. But we suspect Belmond will profit more by having made a "booster" of a man like Mr. Edgar than it would have from a $5 "bond." The officer? Harold Smith—again.

—M-S—

Sam Crabtree was particularly interested in the telecast of the popular TV program, "You Were There," over the Ames television station last Sunday. Subject of the historical sketch was the reknowed humanitarian, author (and atheist) of Revolutionary times, Thomas Paine. In reporting this to us, Mrs. Crabtree informed us the famous gentleman was Sam's great, great uncle on his mother's side. We can well understand Sam's pride in the kinship; but we suspect that we got short-changed a great-great or so in regard to the generation involved. Mr. Payne was born in 1737 and died in 1809.

—M-S—

We see by an item in the Britt News-Tribune that our nearby neighbor, Lloyd Pringnitz of Goodell, and his brother Harley of Kanawha have come up with a time-saver for the operators of automatic balers. They have patented the gadget and are hoping that it will go into widespread use as its availability becomes known.

Since power for the baler is provided by a belt from the tractor engine, in order to disengage the baler it's necessary for the operator to stop or idle the engine, dismount from the seat and loosen the belt by hand. It's one of those little, time-consuming acts that leaves the farmer mumbling, "There ought to be a better way!"

Now the Pringnitzes offer that "better way" in the form of a frame attached to the motor in such a fashion that the operator can disengage the baler right from his tractor seat by means of a short, hand-operated lever. If you're interested, undoubtedly either Lloyd or Harley will be glad to tell you more about it.

—M-S—

If someone who lost a bill last weekend can identify the denomination and the approximate time and place the loss occurred, we can arrange for its return—thanks to the honesty of young Dean Pals, son of Fred and Phyllis Pals. He found the greenback and turned it in to a proper authority. Why be so secretive about where, when and the amount found? Just to assure that a "claimant" somewhat less honest than the finder doesn't put a bid in for the bill. This being Boy Scout Week, we'd like to see Dean appropriately rewarded as a GOOD Scout.

—M-S—

It isn't too often that we find ourselves compelled to read livestock pedigree names — which serve a noble purpose but make pretty dull reading. It's always seemed to us that a little more imagination could liven 'em up a bit. On the other hand, we can appreciate the chore faced by a large-scale breeder of blooded stock as each year brings dozens or scores of new progeny that require an endless series of new monikers. It delighted us greatly to discover last week that genuine wit CAN enter into the naming of a pedigreed animal. We learned via the Brown Swiss association of Beloit, Wis., that neighbor Friend C. Bras recently sold a purebred bull to Vernon Swenson. The brute's name? . . . Friend's Best Man!

MEETING TIME CHANGED

Legion Auxiliary meeting will be held at 8:00 o'clock in the evening next Tuesday, instead of in the afternoon. The hostesses will be Nita Behrends, Jeanne Bamford, Veronica Barry and Marie Zook.

HOSPITAL COSTS ALL "PAID"

Last of the obligations left from the construction and original equipping of Belmond Community hospital was retired last week, Administrator Jack Shepard announces, leaving the institution 100 per cent "paid for." Final debt to be cleared was a balance of $611 still outstanding on the fee due Architect William Beuttler of Sioux City.

It was funds from the Luick Memorial Hospital trust, set up in March of 1952 through the generosity of Chester P. and the late Vida Luick, that enabled the board of trustees to meet the final bills. Use of trust proceeds for this purpose was approved by the two trustees of the Luick Memorial, B. C. Hewlett and A. C. Hanson.

Money collected by the hospital building committee slightly exceeded the $250,000 goal that had been estimated as necessary to construct and equip the hospital. Total expenses came to $257,042.41 and of this amount, $6,911.01 was left unpaid when all the committee's funds had been used up.

Besides the balance due the architect, the original hospital fund proved insufficient to pay for a few items of equipment and the original stock of linens. Importance of the Luick trust to the financial security of the hospital was made readily apparent, Mr. Shepard points out, when it stood ready to meet these obligations after it became obvious that contributions to the building fund were proving a bit short.

Sudden Sickness Ends Baby's Life

Merlin Dean Wenzel, two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wenzel, Jr., died of pneumonia on Thursday afternoon of last week only moments before arrival at Belmond Community hospital. His parents had taken him on a trip to Mason City with them in the morning and at the time of their departure he showed no signs of any serious illness.

However, as they were returning home, the infant experienced severe difficulty in breathing and they rushed him to Belmond to obtain medical aid. Before he could be placed in a respirator, the sudden illness proved fatal.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Alexander Reformed church, conducted by Rev. B. T. Vander Woude, Jr. Fulton Funeral Home was in charge. Burial was in the Alexander cemetery.

Besides his parents, the baby is survived by a sister, Caroline, age two. Also surviving are the infant's four grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wenzel, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Firemen Consider New Fire Station

Members of the Belmond Fire department are working out final details on a project which they hope will bring about the construction of a new fire station in the near future. Because the structure would be erected on city property, while the department would own it as a matter of record, there are certain legal complications that must be worked out before their campaign to raise funds can actually be launched. It is proposed by the firemen that the department would be responsible for close to 45 per cent of the building's cost. The rest would be raised by public subscription. Fire Chief A. W. "Doc" Johnson believes the firemen will be in a position to make public full details regarding the building proposal within the next week or two.

Two arc welding machines will be used and instruction will be given by both Mr. Collinson and by Leo Reno of the General Mills plant's maintenance department. Seven meetings will be held on welding, on Monday and Wednesday evenings between Feb. 15 and March 8. All will start at 7:30 o'clock and be conducted at the high school shop room.

Church Gathering Here on Tuesday To Hear Educator

Dr. G. Douglas Young of Minneapolis will be principal speaker at the annual convention of the Iowa State Fellowship of the American Council of Christian Churches, which is to be held at the Fundamental Baptist church on Tuesday of next week. Doctor Young, who is dean of the theological seminary, Northwestern schools, at Minneapolis, will make two platform appearances.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Iowa State Fellowship will open the convention here at 10:00 a. m. Tuesday. The afternoon meeting will begin at 2:00 o'clock and extend to 5:00. The evening meeting is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock. Both will be open to the public. Host pastor at the convention will be Rev. A. T. Rollene, minister of the Baptist church.

Topic of Doctor Young's address at 2:00 p. m. will be "Fundamentalism and Education—Compatible?" At 7:30 p. m. he will speak on, "Fundamentalists, Apostles of Discord. What Needs Changing?"

Rev. Mr. Rollene says that Doctor Young is the son of missionary parents and was born in Korea in 1910. He is a graduate of Acadia university, Nova Scotia, Canada; of Faith Theological seminary and of Dropsie College for Hebrew and Cognate Learning, where he was awarded a Doctor of Philosophy degree.

He served for several years as professor of Semitic languages and as dean and registrar at Shelton college in New Jersey. Rev. Mr. Rollene says the guest speaker has become increasingly prominent in academic circles and is current president of the National Association of Professors of Hebrew. He is the author of a book entitled, "Grammar of the Hebrew Language."

Doctor Young has long been active in the American Council of Christian Churches and for a number of years has been identified with the separatist movement. This movement favors a trend away from modernism in religious faith.

Extra Help Wage Limit Rescinded

After being in force for less than a month, a restriction limiting courthouse pay for extra help to a maximum of $1.00 per hour last week was rescinded by action of the Wright county board of supervisors. This ruling had been put into effect on Jan. 4 and immediately brought forth objections from some quarters.

It was pointed out by critics of the restriction that it allowed officers very little discretion in employing experienced help at a modestly higher hourly wage in preference to inexperienced assistants. Supervisor Carl Kelling moved revocation of the order and the motion was seconded by Harland Hill. It was unanimously passed.

Such complete agreement did not accompany a motion by Kelling that the pay of Lillie Culbertson, secretary in the sheriff's office, be changed from a 75-cent hourly wage to a monthly salary of $150. Hill seconded this motion, also, and George Trowbridge joined the vote in its favor. A. W. Christopher cast his vote in opposition.

At the same meeting, the board recommended approval of the state highway commission on two farm-to-market paving projects for Wright county. One, which would cost an estimated $30,000, would see concrete paving on County K at Clarion extended another half mile to the north.

The other farm-to-market project would effect the road extending south out of Dows. It would involve 1.07 miles of stabilized base and bituminous surfacing starting from the junction of No. 72 in Dows, to cost an estimated $30,000. Paving would then be extended another 2.47 miles to the south in the form of a single-course bituminous surface, the cost for this stretch being estimated at $39,520.

Township to Sell 4 Schoolhouses

Albert Rabe, secretary for the school board of Pleasant township, announces in today's paper that four schoolhouses and their contents are to be sold at public auction on Friday of next week. In no case will the land be sold. Buyers will be required to move the buildings.

The sale will start at 12:30 p.m. at School No. 4, 1½ miles north of the paving's end on Third street NE. The sale will then proceed to the following schools, in order: No. 3, located two miles north of No. 4; No. 2, which is 1½ miles north and two east of No. 4; and No. 1, located two miles east of No. 2.

Next Tuesday will mark the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Sr., who were wed at Utica, Ill., on Feb. 16, 1904. They will observe the occasion two days in advance, with a family dinner Sunday noon at the Blue Bell tea room, followed by open house at their farm home east of town from 2:00 to 5:00 and from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m.

Incidentally, they ask that this announcement of the afternoon and evening receptions be regarded by all their relatives and friends as a personal invitation to participate in the anniversary celebration.

Came Here in 1914

Ira Studebaker and Mary Bray made their home near Utica for 10 years after their marriage. They moved to Belmond in 1914, farming for four years on the place south of town that is now operated by Joe Ziller; and at the end of that time to the Chester Luick farm at the eastern outskirts of Belmond, where they have lived ever since.

With their parents, when they moved from Illinois, came two sons and three daughters: Ira, Jr., Marguerite (now teaching in Waterloo), Charles, Josephine (Mrs. Tom Quigley) and Irene (Mrs. Joe Riland of Clarion). Two more children were born here: Marian (Mrs. Paul Lee) and Irene (at present a nurse's aide at Belmond Community hospital).

Mr. Studebaker is 75 and his wife is four years younger. Ira, Sr., still actively engages in farming. Retirement holds no attraction for him and he firmly intends to continue at his occupation so long as good health permits.

Have 27 Grandchildren

Besides their seven children, the Studebakers are hoping that the observance of their Golden Wedding anniversary will find all their 27 grandchildren and the two great grandchildren able to be present. They are also looking forward to greeting their neighbors and a host of friends.

What brothers and sisters of the couple will find it possible to come for the anniversary celebration, they don't know. Ira has a brother Charles in Chicago; and two sisters—Mrs. William (Vern) Robinson of Ottawa, Ill., and Mrs. Stewart (Bertha) Staggs of Compton, Calif.

All of Mrs. Studebaker's brothers and sisters still live in Illinois; Mrs. Ed (Helen) Engold of Flanagan, Mrs. Al (Julia) Newman and Charles Bray of St. Charles, and Ed and Leo Bray of Utica.

Don Bunnell Awarded First Place As Toastmasters Conduct Contest

Don Bunnell has been chosen to represent the Belmond Toastmasters in an area public speaking contest on the basis of a speech competition just completed by the local club. Seventeen members of the Belmond organization gave talks in the contest, which extended over three Friday evenings and ended last weekend.

Judges who selected the local winner were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson and Mrs. C. N. Hildebrand. At the conclusion of the contest, Mr. Henderson was enthusiastic in his praise of the excellent presentations of everyone in the contest.

He noted that he was familiar with what speech-making ability most of the men had exhibited in the past—or, in some cases, the lack of same—and he found it difficult to believe that such great improvement could have been achieved by every one of them.

Second place in the contest was awarded to Clair Hugh, who automatically becomes alternate for the area competition and will be entered if anything should prevent Mr. Bunnell from taking part. Entrants from a dozen or so Toastmaster clubs in this vicinity will contend at Webster City on March 3 for the right to advance to the district contest later on.

Rev. William Schorman, Congregational church pastor, was third place winner in the club contest here. The judges confessed that it was difficult to pick only three place-winners, because of the generally high quality of the speeches.

Each entrant was given a choice of three topics, two days before he was scheduled to deliver his talk. The contestants were judged on the following factors: opening, voice, platform deportment, organization, mechanics, close and over all effectiveness.

After each year's local contests are completed, winners are selected on an area, district, zone and regional scope. As climax of the competition, regional winners finally compete for the championship of Toastmasters International.

John Deere Day Next Wednesday

Bob Garms reminds all customers and farm friends of the Farmers Implement company that annual John Deere Day will be held here on Wednesday of next week. Farmers who have not yet received tickets are invited by Mr. Garms to stop in at his place of business and get what they need for their family.

Open house will be held at the implement store from 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., during which time free coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Highlight of John Deere Day will be the free movie program at the New Belmond theatre, starting at 1:00 p. m. Major feature of the film program will be a full-length, full-color picture entitled, "Mr. Christmas." Some of Hollywood's outstanding character actors are included in the cast.

Besides this comedy-drama, based on the centennial celebration of a small town, the film program will offer a number of short subjects.

Part of Goodell In Both Belmond, Klemme Districts

Klemme Community School district was voted into being Monday by almost a 10-to-1 margin as 603 electors approved the reorganization move and only 63 opposed it. The 73-square mile area involved six different districts or parts thereof.

Of greatest interest locally was the ballot count in the single half-section in Goodell Independent School district that was in the Klemme plan. It was already a part of the new Belmond Community School district as a result of the election conducted last December.

In this half-section, three votes were cast in favor of the Klemme proposal and two were opposed. Two half-sections in Avery township also now lie in both the Klemme and Belmond reorganized districts, having been included in the plans of each.

Just what must be done to disentagle this unique involvement, County Supt. C. W. Sankey confesses he doesn't know, offhand.

Co-op Creamery's '53 Butter Output Up by 75,500 Lbs.

Members of the Belmond Cooperative Creamery, assembled yesterday for their annual business meeting, were told by Manager Curt Rise that 1953 represented the best year the co-op has had since the war—and it may well have been the best year in the creamery's history. At least, there are no records readily at hand to prove otherwise.

Total income and volume of butter manufactured both reached heights that exceeded by an appreciable margin the equivalent figures for a year ago. The income figure was $388,150.29, which surpassed 1952 income by $23, 015.73.

Butter Output Up

Increase in volume of butter manufactured was particularly noteworthy, Mr. Rise pointed out. The 526,624 pounds produced last year represented an amount 16 to 17 per cent greater than that turned out the year before. Specifically, the boost in volume came to 75,571 pounds.

There were moderate decreases in the amounts of butter sold through local retail outlets and sold to patrons. But butter shipped out came to some 80,000 pounds more than in 1952, increasing income from this source by $25,269. Milk and cream sales came to $38,671—slightly over $1,000 more than a year ago. Sales of buttermilk and skim milk totaled $11,047, or close to $6,500 more than the equivalent figure in 1952.

Addition of new machinery during the year brought the creamery's assets up to $71,361, which is a bit more than $8,000 over the value of total assets at the end of the previous year.

Dividend Biggest Ever

Regular patrons of the creamery received a total of $301,436 for their milk and cream last year, which was $7,778 more than the year before. Besides this sum paid to patrons, they will also—in due time—benefit from the largest patronage dividend that the creamery has ever declared. Where such dividend came to only $614.78 in '52, last year a total dividend of $5,834.58 was declared. Payment of the actual money to the patrons is deferred until such time as distribution is ordered by the board of directors.

Directors to fill vacancies on the board left by completion of terms by Pete Bohning and Jelto Boelman were to be chosen at the meeting, but the outcome of the election was not yet available at press time.

Three Candidates Already Proposed; Benson, Treasurer

Nomination papers were being circulated this week for three men as candidates for membership on the Belmond Community School district's board of education. All will be representatives of territory not included in the present Belmond Independent School district. No formal action has been taken yet toward placing any representatives from this area in nomination for the board.

Papers were obtained from Darlene Thompson, school secretary, for circulation in behalf of Carl Green of Goodell, Gerald McNulty of Pleasant township and Harold Simerson of Belmond township. Mr. Green is being nominated for a one-year term, starting July 1; and both Mr. McNulty and Mr. Simerson are being nominated for two-year terms.

District Informally Divided

At a recent meeting of persons who had been active on the school reorganization committee, it was informally agreed that one of the directors for the new district should be drawn from the area in Hancock county, one from the territory—outside of Belmond Independent School district—lying east of Highway 69 and one from the territory to the west of the highway. The other two board members, by similar informal agreement, will be chosen from the Belmond Independent district.

The candidacies of both Mr. Simerson and Mr. McNulty are being sponsored by directors of the rural school districts that lie in the territories that these men would represent. Mr. Green's candidacy bears the approval of the Hancock county members of the reorganization committee and of the Goodell Independent school board.

Staggered Terms Approved

Candidates for the two Belmond positions on the new board of education will be nominated for three-year terms. Staggering the initial terms of the various members of the new board was agreed upon last week by the reorganization committee when it assembled to name a date for the board election.

The conventional first Monday after the first Tuesday in March—in this case, March 8—was selected because it will coincide with election of two "lame duck" directors to the Belmond board. These two individuals, to all practical purposes, will be elected simply to serve out the period from March 15 to July 1, when the new district comes into being and the Belmond Community board will be officially organized.

Benson New Treasurer

Dr. S. P. Leinbach and Bert Kalkwarf, whose terms on the Belmond board expire this spring, are being nominated as candidates for the short terms. Miss Thompson says that papers for no other candidates had been obtained up to mid-week and it is presumed there will be no other nominations forthcoming, under the circumstances.

At the latest meeting of the Belmond Independent board, C.C. Benson was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of the late Dr. H. L. Gowdy as school treasurer. The latter's term had another year to run, so Mr. Benson's appointment will carry up to July 1. Members of the reorganization committee have expressed themselves in favor of Mr. Benson as a candidate for treasurer of the new district, also, and papers to effect his nomination are being circulated.

Filing Deadline, Feb. 26

Since the local rural representatives on the board of the new district will be inexperienced in their assignments, the reorganization committee has expressed the hope that local candidates for the board will be chosen from among the current Belmond directors. Anyone interested in placing a candidate's name in nomination is free to obtain the necessary papers from Miss Thompson at the school house.

Deadline for filing nominations is noon of Friday, Feb. 26. Nomination petitions, when completed, can be either sent directly to County Supt. C. W. Sankey or left with the local school secretary for forwarding.

CASH GIFT $200

Next Tuesday's 3:00 o'clock Cash Gift will total $200 since neither the 2:00 nor 3:00 p. m. money awards put up a group of Belmond business firms were won this week. The prizes at stake on Tuesday of this week were $25 and $125. Under the new Cash Gift Day rules, this week's $25 award—plus $50 more—will be added to the 3:00 o'clock jackpot next Tuesday. Another $25 will be drawn for at 2:00 p. m. Numbers drawn this week were far apart—No. 3,234 and No. 178; and neither was turned in.

SPORTS

Broncs Take Time Getting Started, But Wallop Dows

After suffering through an apparent case of tournament jitters in the first quarter, Belmond's Broncos hit their stride in the first round of the Clarion sectional Monday night to whip the Dows Tigers, 62 to 39. Keith Madsen had the biggest scoring night of his basketball career to date, whipping in 23 points for the winners.

Although the Broncs led the greater part of the opening period, they were far off form and a brief splurge by the Tigers left Dows in command as the buzzer sounded, 13-10. However, in the next stanza they shut the lid of Dows' scoring efforts and all the Tigers could manage was a pair of free throws. Meanwhile, Madsen was hitting three baskets, Don Hoppel and Ron Hansen a pair apiece and Ken Loats a couple of free throws to put Belmond in front 26-15 at halftime.

Lead Built to 28

Madsen and Loats each hit 13 points in the last half to lead an onslaught that Dows was entirely incapable of handling. Larry Brannick, the Tigers' star forward, netted 12 points after the intermission—but except for his efforts, the entire Dows team gathered only one basket in the last three quarters.

Four minutes were gone in the second period before the Broncs began to look like themselves. At that point they sneaked into a 14-13 lead on a Madsen basket; then Keith added two more in quick succession and Dows rapidly faded from there on.

Belmond held a 28-point lead, 62-34, when Coach Jim Crimmings inserted the reserves in the final minute or so. Dows took advantage of the substitutes' over-eagerness to collect five more points on eight charity tries in the waning moments.

Broncs Off on FT's

Although Madsen was red-hot most of the way on field goal attempts, he had his worst night ever from the free throw line. Out of eight shots, he hit on only one. As a team the Broncs missed .500 on gratis tries for the first time this season, notching only eight points on 18 opportunities. Dows wasn't much better, converting only 15 of 30 chances.

Following Madsen's 23-point scoring effort came Loats with 15, Hoppel with 10, Hansen 8, Mehl 4 and Larson 2. With 20 points, Brannick was by a wide margin the standout player for the losers.

Belmond will endeavor to earn a spot in district play at Webster City week after next when the Broncs tangle with the Clarion-Eagle Grove winner Friday night at 7:30 on the Cowboys' court.

Belmond Bowlers' Prizes Hit $300

Belmond bowlers brought home a total of $300 in prize money from recent pin tournaments held at Eagle Grove and Clarion. Don Nielsen was the big winner, totaling $93.30 in prizes at Eagle Grove and $12 and Clarion.

Nielsen took 4th in the E.G. singles (882) for $35; shared 1st in the doubles (1,730) to split $95 with Ed Albers also too $8.60 for 4th in Ed Albers and divided 8th money of $16 (1,620) with Jack Crosby. He and Albers also too $8.60 for 4th in the doubles jackpot with a 419 game. Nielsen picked up $12 at Clarion for a 19th place tie in the singles.

Jack Lobdell got $26 at Eagle Grove for 5th in the singles. Crosby and Anson Avery shared $25 for 5th in the doubles. Crosby got $14.25 for 15th and Gary Brothers $13.25 for 17th in the Clarion singles. Lobdell and Avery, and Brothers and Dave Robertson, tied for 7th in the Eagle Grove doubles—in each case splitting $24. Albers and Clair Hansen were the 10th-place duo at E.G., dividing $17.

Other Bowl-Mor keglers in the money were: Bob Fanselow, Dows, who picked up $6.50 at Clarion and $8 at Clarion in the singles; Art Sime and Bill Wobbeking of Dows, who won the $34.40 doubles jackpot at Eagle Grove with a 430 game and were 10th in the doubles, good for $13.

Plan Right Now To Fight Insects, Farmers Advised

When you sit down to draft the final plan for crops on your farm this year, you'll be wise to consider insect pests at the same time, Harold Gunderson, exttension entomologist at Iowa State college, tells the Iowa farmer.

The insects to consider, Gunderson points out, are the unseen ones that live and work in the soil. Certain insects are likely to be present under different rotations or cropping histories. Prevalence of certain insects in a field last year offers another clue to possible trouble.

Land that will grow corn this year for the second time since the last clover crop may be bothered by seed corn beetle and seed corn maggot. If wireworms were present last year, you can expect them again. These insects, says Gunderson, can cause from 10 to 50 per cent loss of stand. But that loss can be prevented by seed treatment with lindane. For a cost of about 12 cents per acre you can get insurance against pests in second-year corn.

Where corn goes on land that is coming out of clover, timothy or bromegrass mixture, or alfalfa, you may have trouble from seed corn beetle, seed corn maggot, cutworms, white grubs and billbugs. Seed treatment won't give all-around protection, Gunderson adds. His recommendation is a soil application of aldrin, chlordane or heptachlor at two pounds per acre.

Probable enemies of third-year corn are seed corn beetle, seed corn maggot and corn rootworm. Here, again, soil-applied insecticides offer the best protection. If there is no history of white grub or wireworm trouble, rates of one pound per acre broadcast or a half pound per acre in the row of aldrin, chlordane, delidrin or heptachlor will give the protection. You can buy fertilizer-insecticide mixtures or you can apply the insecticide alone.

Considering possible insect problems at the time you plan the crop, Gunderson points out, will allow you to buy insecticide materials early so you'll be ready to go when spring comes. He thinks such planning pays.

Speaker Chosen For Soil Meeting On February 24

H. J. Gramlich of Chicago, on the staff of the Chicago and North Western Railway as director of agricultural and forestry development, will address the annual meeting of the Wright County Soil Conservation district at its annual meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 24. His topic will be, "The Price of Progress."

Prior to joining the North Western, Mr. Gramlich was head of the animal husbandry department of the University of Nebraska for 22 years. In 1934-35 he was special advisor on feeds for the Triple-A, with headquarters in Washington, D. C. He's been with North Western for the past 12 years.

During his interesting career, he has traveled in Canada, Great Britain, Holland, Belgium, France and Mexico. Mr. Gramlich has earned a reputation as both a witty and forceful speaker and was highly recommended to the county soil commission for a place on their program.

Wright County's Land Value 4th Highest in State

Over half of Iowa's 99 counties' farm land and buildings values, as assessed by the State Tax Commission, rank above the state average value per acre of $58.46, the Iowa Development Commission reports.

Leading the state, during 1953, was Grundy county, with an average value per acre for land & buildings of $81.39, followed by Hamilton county with $80.88, and Calhoun county with $79.23.

Wright county ranked fourth, with an average value per acre of land and buildings of $77.92, and Boone county fifth, with $77.72. Sioux county was listed sixth, with $77.69, and Greene county seventh, wth $77.02.

However, it must be ponted out that counties recording the largest average values per acre for land and buildings were predominantly located in central and northwestern regions of the state, which are in the principal grain belt areas, compared with the lowest averages reported from the three southern tiers of counties.

The all-state low in average values of land and buildings was $23-83, reported from a southern county.

Only four countes among the 31 southern counties of the state were listed with values above the state average. They were Pottawattamie, with $65.73; Washington, with $61-51; Page, with $60.01; and Des Moines county, with $59.04.

The value of real estate closely parallels the general economy of those counties where industrial activity is not great, where there is a low per capita income, and where there is shown a steady loss of population.

The growing interdependence of agriculture and industry in Iowa's balanced economy is consistently reaffirmed by the progress made in the industrial growth of most Iowa counties.

Corn Allotments Slated for Issue Middle of March

Farmers of Wright county will receive notices of their corn acreage allotments for 1954 around the middle of March, it was reported this week by O. J. Hanson, office manager for the ASC county committee. The notices will be sent by mail.

Corn allotments were proclaimed Jan. 20 by Secretary of Agriculture Benson in compliance with a law requiring such action because of the great quantity of corn and other feed grain now on hand in the nation as a whole. The allotments will be in effect in 834 commercial corn growing counties of 22 states. All Iowa counties will have corn allotments.

Township committeemen have checked the previously reported cropping history of each farm in their own township, made needed adjustments to conform to good land use and farming practices and made allowances for unusal conditions affecting the cropping history of individual farms. Their work and the bases they establish will be reviewed and approved by the county committee.

Regulations provide that the committeemen, in determining a base acreage for each farm, shall take into consideration tillable acres type of soil, topography, the crop rotation system for the farm and the base acreages for other farms in the community which are comparable with respect to these factors.

Other Factors Considered

In other words, Mr. Hanson points out, the cropping history of a farm is not the only factor in establishing bases for allotments. In many instances, the flat average corn acreage will be established as the base but allowances or changes will be made in cases where the local committeemen find unusual circumstances as outlined in the official procedure.

Farmers who comply with their allotments in 1954 will be eligible for 90 per cent of parity price support loans and purchase agreements on corn raised this year. Those who plant more than their allotted acreage will not be eligible for price support loans or purchase agreements.

Iowans Strike Back

By E. D. PLASS, M. D.

Why are advertised "cures" for cancer dangerous?

Because they are promoted by quacks who generally use some secret remedy that has not been adequately tested. Most of the quacks have had no medical training and have had no fundamental knowledge of cancer, in fact they make the diagnosis without aid of any of the precision methods available to the legitimate and frequently diagnose simple, harmless leisons as "cancer." In one instance, "barber's itch" on a man's face was called "cancer" and a fantastic sum was demanded for the full treatment.

Because time spent with the quack is wasted and may lead to such delay in proper treatment as to weigh the scales against recovery. Those first weeks and months after the first symptom is noticed are crucial and may well decide the ultimate fate of the patient.

Because the "remedies" used by the quacks have no real value in curing cancer, many of them have been tested by competent physicians and found useless, if not actually harmful.

Because the quack tries to get as much money as possible from his victim and thus may make it difficult for the sufferer to get adequate treatment after the quack remedy has failed. Quackery in any field has financial gain as its ulterior motive no matter how altruistic the advertising material may sound. The quack is not out to help the patient but to get as much cash as possible before the victim learns that the treatments are useless.

How does cancer kill?

Curiously, this is not completely understood. Sometimes the mere size of a cancer can stop normal functioning. Again the rapidly growing and spreading cells can interfere with the normal blood supply of the orderly tissues. In other cases, the cancer cells disorganize the body's very complicated and delicate balance.

[illegible]-Youth Finds Entering Sheep Raising Business Easy—On-the-Shares

Not long ago, Future Farmer Norman Pals—son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pals—made a start in sheep raising with two ewes. Today he finds himself managing a flock of 25 ewes and the prospect appears bright that he will be a sheepraiser on a very considerable scale before many more years have passed.

Norman's flock has not developed so rapidly because of any astounding breeding increase among the sheep—but because his ability has brought him several on-the-share additions. All of which means that he's getting his enviable start in the sheep business with remarkably small outlay of cash from his own pocket.

10 Purebreds Added

His latest acquisition is a group of 10 purebred Corriedale ewes and a ram placed with him by the State Association of the Future aFrmers of America, purchased through a fund set up by the Sears, Roebuck Foundation. Purebred flocks of this nature are being placed with FFA boys throughout Iowa, who qualify through application.

Purpose of the program is to assist FFA members in establishing themselves in sheep raising with a view to demonstrating the importance of improved practices, of assisting in the improvement of farm flocks in Iowa and of encouraging the profitable production of quality sheep, according to FFA Adviser Don Collinson.

Improvement Practices Required

Under his agreement with the foundation, Norman must carry out such improved farm practices as creep feeding (making supplementary feed available to the lambs at a week to 10 days old), using a worm-control program, keeping good breeding records and tagging the ears of breeding stock, recording fleece weights and other data Norman is also required to exhibit his purebreds at the Iowa State Fair.

After two years, the state FFA committee will take five of the original ewes and five yearling ewes, plus the ram, and establish another purebred flock with another FFA boy. All remaining sheep in the flock will then be Norman's personal property; and all wool produced during the two-year period will belong entirely to him. Mr. Collinson estimates the cash value of one of these grants "conservatively at $550 or more."

Good Start at Low Cost

Now a junior in vocational agriculture at Belmond High school, Norman also has sheep on 50-50 shares with the local FFA chapter. Also through the FFA, part of the youth's flock is sponsored by Clark McNeal.

A part of Norman's new Corriedale flock came from the Frank and Lloyd Drury farm south of Belmond. Others came from such widely separated places over the state as Cantril, Victor, West Liberty and Tipton. The purchase of each ewe had to be approved by the state FFA committee before the transaction could be completed.

All-in-all, Norman regards that he's been very fortunate in getting such a good start in sheep raising in the manner that he has. It isn't everyone who can get well established in a new business with someone else footing the major part of the bill.

ATTENTION MOTORISTS OF HANCOCK COUNTY

To the motorists of Hancock county who use Highway 111 in and out of Kanawha, the Public School of Kanawha would like to again remind you of the red flashing signals that are located at the crosswalks leading to the school yard. Since the opening of school, nearly 100 motorists have failed to observe these signals. Some have been repeaters. These red flashing lights mean exactly the same as a stop sign and are so placed for the protection of Kanawha students.

The 100 represent only a sample of the total, as these were recorded during the period from 12:00 noon to 1:00 p. m. The lights are in operation a short time in the morning at the noon hour, and during a short period after dismissal. Mr. Motorist, your compliance with the law will greatly reduce the chance for a accident.

LEO HOEGH (above), who has made a name for himself as successor to Robert Larson in the post of Iowa attorney general, yesterday became the seventh candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. In the viewpoint of local, political prognosticator, Mr. Hoegh will likely prove a vote-getter in the primary—but not to the extent of polling the necessary 35 per cent. How he would fare in convention, our seer regards as problematical.

Ruby Tendall Wed Last Sunday To Cletis Hundertmark of Bode

Miss Ruby Tendall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Tendall of Belmond, became the bride of Cletis F. Hundertmark, son of Mr and Mrs. W. F. Hundertmark of Bode, as Rev. O. M. Severseike performed the double-ring ceremony Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran church

Tall, basket bouquets of white gladiolus and candelbra decorated the altar for the ceremony Nuptial music was played by Malinda Mokelbust of Thor, who also accompanied Gladys Eliason as she sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "Wedding Prayer" as the couple kneeled at the close of the rites. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played at the recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar to the music of the Wedding March from "Lohengrin." She wore a white gown of imported lace, made with a fitted bodice, long sleeves that came to a point over the wrist, and a full skirt with train The crown of her fingertip veil was trimmed with seed pearls She also wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and pink camelias with hyacintha tied on the satin streamers.

Marilyn Tendall, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid wore a lilac gown and carried yellow jonquils. The groom was attended by his brother, Ferris Hundertmark of Bode.

Norval Hundertmark of Humboldt, also a brother of the groom, and Carrol Bakken of Clarion, brother-in-law of the bride, served as ushers. All of the men were attired in business suits and wore white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride and mother of the groom both wore blue dresses and had corsages of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple Also decorating the bride's table were white, crocheted nutcups edged with lilac that were made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Emma Sandeno

Mrs. Leroy Larsen of Bradgate, sister of the groom, served the cake. Paula Shellenberger of Early, a friend of the bride and teacher in the Livermore grade school, was in charge of the guest book. The gifts were opened and arranged by Mrs. Norval Hundertmark and Virginia Joiner, both of Humboldt.

The bride has been teaching third grade in the public school at Livermore She also taught at Thor and in a rural school near Belmond. Farming is the groom's occupation and after their honeymoon trip, the newlyweds will be at home on a farm near Ottosen. The groom was discharged from the U. S. Army in December after two years' duty, including 16 months in Austria.

NEW HOME-TO-BE of the Winnebago Council of the Boy Scouts of America is this large, residential structure which has been given to the Council by Tom Albrecht of Greene, who operates a turkey ranch. Mr. Albrecht, a Scout enthusiast of long-standing, bought the house at 279 East Second street in Mason City especially for presentation to the Scouts. The gift was a sort of anniversary present in reverse, as the gesture was made by Mr. Albrecht to celebrate the 25th anniversary of his marriage. A meeting room 32x24 feet in dimension will be created in the new headquarters to give the Council a private site for executive committee meetings and gathering of similar size. Present occupants of the home will remain there until June 1. On that date, a modest remodeling program will be undertaken and it is believed the Scout offices can be moved to the new headquarters two or three weeks later.

Alexander's Bulldogs ran up against unexpectedly sharp competition in the first round of the sectional basketball tournament at Clarion on Monday night but managed to stand off a rally by Woolstock to win 45-39.

During three quarters of the game, the losers did not provide too much opposition. Alexander led at the half 27-19 and during much of the third quarter the Bulldogs were in front by 1 0or 12 points.

In the concluding quarter, though, the Alex' five lost some of its poise and their scrappy opponents gradually took up slack until their deficit was reduced to 38-34 with only a couple of minutes or so to go.

Denny Scott hit a couple of useful fielders at this stage to help cinch the decision for the Bulldogs. Scott had 14 points for the evening and Eldon Schulte 18. High scorer for the game, however, was Bob Crosby of Woolstock with 19.

Tonight (Thursday) at 8:30 the Bulldogs tangle with Popejoy—winner over Rowan in the first round. The finals at 7:30 Saturday night will pit the winner of this game against the victor between Renwick and Goldfield, who clash tonight at 7:00 o'clock.

Big Pigs Have 6 Times Better Chance to Wean

It's the feeding job you do before pigs are born—through the sow—that gets those big, uniform litters. And you know how important size at farrowing can be to a litter.

By feeding as little as 12 lbs. of Nutrena Sow-30 per unborn pig before farrowing, you supply the vital pig-making ingredients that promote good, healthy litters of big, frisky pigs. Ask us about Sow-30 this week.

CHICK CHATS

Preventing Coccidiosis

For the purposes of this "Chat", let's call it coxy. I don't think I can spell coccidiosis right or even the same way twice in a row. But no matter how I spell it, coxy (coccidiodisiso) is hard on baby chicks.

The bloody kind will kill some of the real young chicks. The kind that doesn't show blood may kill some young ones and ruin quite a few of the rest for laying later on. If you use the cure right away, you will stop excessive losses and keep injury at a minimum.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, as Goldilocks told the Mama Bear. Only in the case of coxy (crocodile osis), it's worth a ton of cure.

Lots of chick starter mashes have what feed makers call "Coccidiostats". That long word means that there's something in the feed to help prevent coxy. Note that I say it "helps" prevent coxy. It won't do the whole job. Sometimes a case will crop up while the chicks are eating it.

If you use the feed with the preventative in it, forget that the stuff is there. Keep a close check on the chicks just like you would with ordinary feed. You'll have a lot less coxy (Corkcity oasis) if you let the preventative help you and if you help it.

If you use the starter with the anti-coxy stuff in it, keep feeding it on range for a week or two. Lots of times, the range might be loaded with coxy bugs and the birds will get in trouble out there the first few weeks. Using the starter on range for awhile will let the birds get used to the coxy bugs and develop immunity.

Like I said, an ounce of coxy prevention is worth a ton of cure. But some chicks will get coxy (coccidiosis) in spite of Helen Highwater. If'n yours do, call the fellow who services chickens. He can supply the "ton" of cure in a small bottle. If you call him in time, he can save you some money.

MESERVEY NEWS

BY MRS. MOODY QUANDT

John Kaldenberg Dies of Injuries After Car Crash

John W. Kaldenberg, 37, of Early was killed Monday of last week when his auto struck the abutment of a bridge near Odebolt, throwing him from the car. He died only a short time afterward.

The deceased was married to the former Arline Schmidt of Meservey. They were the parents of two children — Bruce, age 10, and Claudia, 5. Mr. Kaldenberg was well known in the Belmond and Meservey area as he had spent some time as a salesman in this territory. At the time of his death he was a supervisor for Semi-Solid Feeds.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Early Presbyterian church, of which he was a member. Military rites were conducted in conjunction with interment at Meservey cemetery. Mr. Kaldenberg served with the U. S. Army Engineers corps in Europe during World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pals, Jeffrey and Nancy are now making their home on the Pals farm south of Meservey and their former residence is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pals and baby.

LuVerne Ruiter came home Tuesday for a leave. He just returned from Korea where he was for about a year. LuVerne entered the service July 1952.

MISFORTUNE CATCHES UP WITH THREE MESERVIANS

Misfortune caught up with several Meservey people the past week. The family of Keith Dunton felt that they, particularly, received more than their share.

Mrs. Dunton had the bad luck to take a tumble the first part of the week and suffered a broken ankle. Her daughter Diane had her troubles, too, having to miss school because of a painfully infected throat.

Bobby Fischer, son of Mr., and Mrs. H. C. Fischer, was in a position to commiserate with the Duntons. He sustained a severe ankle sprain at the high school, where he is a junior, and was forced to get around on crutches for several days.

Eva Schluter, who teaches at Hayfield, spent the weekend with her aunt, Mrs. Amelia Zimmerman.

Vern Schluter and Herbert Basener were Des Moines business callers Friday. Mrs. Basener and Velma accompanied them and spent the day with her sister and family, Rev. and Mrs. McFate and son.

Mrs. Mary Thomas spent the weekend at the Ray Peters home at Swaledale. The Peters brought her home Sunday.

Marian Wessels accompanied her grandfather, S. P. Fischer, to Belmond where her mother, Mrs. Marvin Wessels of Clarion, met her and she spent over Sunday at her home, returning to Meservey Sunday afternoon. Her family brought her and visited at the Fischer home.

Mrs. Minnie Ruiter of Mason City spent Saturday at the Fred Ruiter home and was a dinner guest Sunday at the Ray Kessler home and visited Sunday evening at the Jake Pals home.

Mr and Mrs. Carl Hopkey, Mrs. Lizzie Hopkey, Bob Gobeli and Roger, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Koenen, Dixie and Lynn, all of Meservey, and Mr. and Mrs. George Steenhard and children of Swaledale were entertained at dinner at the Ardell Hopkey home at Belmond Sunday.

Wednesday visitors at the Albert Kuhlers, Sr., home were Mrs. Dick Dirksen and baby and Mrs. Louie Dirksen of Alexander and Dena Kuhlers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hemming of Thornton visited Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Raecker.

Local Relatives Attend Kaldenberg Funeral Rites

Relatives near here attending the Kaldenberg funeral at Early Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. John R. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Groen, and Mrs. Dick Blau of Meservey, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Bertelson of Eagle Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Boelman of Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Meinders of Klemme and Rev. and Mrs. Peter Koenen of Aplington.

"OLD HOME WEEK in Korea," the above picture might be entitled. These three Meservey men (left to right), LuVerne Ruiter, Nathan Pals and Alvin Boelman, enjoyed a reunion about the first of the year and posed for this snapshot. By exchanges of letters they learned they were only a few miles apart and then planned the reunion. LuVerne has since that time received his discharge from the Army and the middle of last week arrived home. Nathan and Alvin still have some time to go before they return to civilian life.

Special Offering Nets About $100

A special service of worship in observance of World Service Day was conducted Sunday morning at the Meservey EUB church, Rev. P. W. Pfaltzgraff delivering the message. The congregation generously responded to the offering for world service objectives, the sum coming to approximately $100.

Mrs. Robert Raecker was leader of the service; Mrs. Jesse Althen gave the Scripture reading; Mrs. Lewis Myers told of the offering's purpose; and special music was provided by Mrs. G. E. Raecker and Mrs. H. C. Fischer in the form of a vocal duet.

An intercessory prayer for missionary interests throughout the world was offered jointly by Mrs. M. C. James, Mrs. C. F. W. Paul and Mrs. Pfaltzgraff. At the organ for the special service was Mrs. Richard Halfpap.

Kenneth Blau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blau and husband of Mrs. Nadine Blau returned home this past week from military service in the east in Korea. He will soon receive his discharge.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Schmidt spent the weekend in Early with their daughter, Mrs. Arlene Kaldenberg, Bruce and Claudia. They were accompanied by Mrs. Leo Simpson of Galt, who remained for several days.

Mr. and Mrs Andrew Faaborg and Mr. and Mrs Jack Faaborg were at Mason City Thursday where Andrew was checked by his doctors. They report he is getting along fine.

Rockettes Reach District Tourney On Overtime Win

Meservey's Rockettes advanced to the district level in state tournament play with a stirring, overtime victory over Ventura in the sectional finals at Hanlontown on Saturday night, 38-36.

The Rockettes found the Ventura basketeers tough to handle from start to finish. At halftime the Meservey sextet held a one-point advantage, 23-22, but end of the official playing time found the count knotted at 33-all as both clubs exhibited tight defenses in the final half.

It was the scoring ability of Marlene Kaduce, who tallied 23 points during the game, that finally enabled the Rockettes to come out on top.

Monday night of next week at 8:30 o'clock, the MHS cagers will clash with Orchard's highly regarded team in the first round of district play at Mason City. In the first game of the opening round, at 7:15, Marble Rock plays Plainfield.

A win over Orchard would provide the Rockettes an opportunity to gain revenge for a recent one-point defeat at the hand of Franklin Consolidated. The Latimer-Coulter girls, who were in the state championship field a year ago, meet the Meservey-Orchard winner at 8:30 p. m. on Wednesday. At 7:15 it will be Williams vs. the Marble Rock-Plainfield victor. The final and consolation games will be played at Mason City's Roosevelt fieldhouse on Friday, with the title tilt at 8:30.

Belmond wound up its North Iowa conference card with a perfect record Friday night by grounding the Britt Eagles with a 64-42 [illegible]. This game also [illegible] the lid on the Broncs regular season of play, giving them their [illegible] victory in 16 starts.

Playing a bit more [illegible] on offense than is their usual custom, the Broncs built up only a [illegible] point advantage in the first quarter of their game here with Britt, [illegible]. But the second period saw Belmond lengthen its lead to [illegible] as [illegible] began to [illegible] in the Britt defense.

It was in the third stanza though that the Belmond aggregation really stomped down [illegible] [illegible] Center Jim Nauer got the Eagles only [illegible] of the period and the Broncs poured in [illegible] points while holding Britt [illegible] making the third-quarter count [illegible].

In those games they made 166 out of 276 shots taken, for a solid [illegible] per cent. Their foes hit on only 128 out of [illegible] tosses—46 per cent.

Incidentally, in these games, Belmond missed on the average of a couple of twenty fouls per contest — or 21 in all. The opponents missed [illegible] in a row [illegible]. Any way you look at it, the Broncs have had a decided edge on free throw marksmanship.

[illegible]

Chet Middleton provided us with a pretty good example of the foolishness of counting that meaningless first foul. "Just as well," he remarked, "count an out against a baseball batter when he takes a first or second strike."

We've noticed that it seems to be common practice in big scores to list ALL free throw attempts, but [illegible]

There seems to be utterly no logic in the way the poll results sometimes take wide swings from week to week. Mason, though beaten several times, had zoomed from 8th to 1st on the strength of its victory over LeMars. We note that Lake Mills, in 13th place two weeks ago, dropped clear out of the picture—simply because the Bulldogs bowed to the Broncs. Is all appearances, is that "reasonable?"

THAT NEW FIREHOUSE WILL CONSTITUTE A VALUABLE ASSET TO THE COMMUNITY

Where else will you find the likes of 'em? We refer to those volunteers of the Belmond fire department who this week made known their plan to provide this community with a fine, new, fire hall. As though the services they perform in behalf of public safety — entirely gratis — were not enough, they now come forth with the generous offer of providing from their own treasury nearly half the funds required for the new fire station!

It is certainly up to all of us to give this project generous, whole-hearted support that we may match, in some small measure, the civic-mindedness that has distinguished the volunteer fire company throughout its long and honorable history.

We're confident that this project of the worthy "smoke-eaters" WILL receive the support it deserves. Certainly a community that has benefited so much through its services over the years could not do otherwise but give the fire company complete cooperation in this latest of its many admirable undertakings. This is especially true when we consider that what they ask is not simply for themselves — that its objective will constitute a valuable new asset for Belmond as a whole.

In the weeks to come, The Independent will keep you posted on how YOU can help. Meanwhile, let's deliver a deep bow in the direction of the fire laddies. When the day comes that all of us match their spirit, the sky'll be the limit for Belmond.

POSTAL DEPARTMENT MUST TAKE CARE THAT ECONOMY DOESN'T PROVE COSTLY

We have been watching with interest the determined efforts of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield to make the post office department self-supporting — or at least more nearly so than in the past. There is no question but what some progress has been made in that direction and that a lot more can still be made. We would say, though, that some discrimination should be exercised and that the character of some phases of postal operation as a public service should not be disregarded.

A recent, not too comprehensive survey conducted by the postal department indicated that four out of five of the persons polled were of the opinion that postal rates should be raised sufficiently to enable the department to pay its own way. We can't help but wonder how carefully the true significance of such a step was understood by the answering public.

The postal service represents one of the few government subsidies that benefits ALL the people. By tradition, postal rates have been kept low on informational matter to assure the widest possible dissemination. Newspaper and magazine publishers have long enjoyed preferential mailing rates for this reason. Actually, though, the saving has been the public's rather than the publishers'; and if rates on such reading material are raised enough to fully cover the cost of distribution, the publishers will have no choice but to pass the added expense on to their subscribers. We can't believe that anything like 80 per cent of the public really wants this to happen.

Probably the citizens of no other nation in the world are so well informed as those of the United States. The policy of distributing informational and educational publications at minimum cost has played no small part in bringing this about.

No doubt a reasonably good brief could be drawn for keeping first class postage rates where they are, too; for here again, the benefit of very moderate rates is widely spread. It's a moot question as to whether the average citizen would gain sufficiently in lowered taxes to compensate for the increased expense involved if magazine and newspaper subscription rates had to be raised and if we had to pay more for our normal run of social and business correspondence.

If moderate increases in the various commercial rates of postage would actually be absorbed by the big users of third-class mail privileges, then the general public might literally be better off if these rates were jacked up. But it would behoove the post office officials to make sure that economy measures don't add up to expense to the average taxpayer that will equal or exceed his tax savings. The best time for the post office department to review its rates will be when it has achieved the maximum economy possible through efficient operation.

REHABILITATION "SAVINGS" RUN HIGH IN SELF-RESPECT AS WELL AS MONEY

Utilization of handicapped persons in industry has been one of the most wonderfully heart-warming stories of the past decade or so. Thousands of individuals who in times past would have been callously relagted to a derelict status have in recent years been fitted to perform useful jobs and have become self-respecting, self-supporting members of society through the magic of modern vocational rehabilitation.

In a release recently received from the Iowa State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation we learn that during 1953 a total of 821 handicapped Iowans were placed in gainful occupations as a result of special training. Where the members of this group had weekly earnings averaging $5.83 before benefiting from the services of the ISDVR, that average jumped to $41 after they'd been equipped to perform useful work. On an annual basis, the income of these 821 individuals increased from $248,00 per year up to more than $1.778,000!

Here is another interesting aspect of the public savings made possible through rehabilitation. Seventy-six of those returned to useful employment were previously receiving public assistance payments at the rate of close to $100,000 annually. They are now enjoying a total income of more than $171,000 yearly — AND are no longer dependent upon the public. Howard L. Benshoof, director of the rehabilitation division, adds that the direct cost of rehabilitating these 76 was only $13,735.

These persons now proudly making their own way include 78 disabled by polio, 96 by amputation, 33 by arthritis, 29 spastics, 97 deaf or hard of hearing, 76 handicapped by tuberculosis, 74 by a cardiac condition, 37 by mental disabilities, and the rest by a variety of other defects and disorders.

The saving of millions of dollars in public funds through the rehabilitation program represents a praiseworthy achievement. But far and away more important is the saving in human dignity and self-respect brought about by returning these unfortunate people to a useful place in society.

VOL. 34 NO. 19 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

On the theory that it's never too late to pass along a good story, we'll give you the inside dope on a smelly incident that occurred on Main street a couple of weeks ago. It seems a black kitty with a white stripe down his back was making a tour of the business district, escorted from the rear by Fred Madsen's dog. "Lucky" maintained a respectful distance, but made it clear to the wayfarer that he regards the "main drag" as no place for ambling skunks.

Jerry Preston of the Belmond Hotel got into the act when the wood pussy took a turn of the hostelry's front porch. Jerry induced the visitor to transfer his attentions to Al Mennenga's service station, across the street, but Al inhospitably scurried inside and slammed the door. The perambulating case of B. O., miffed at this treatment, continued on to the front yard of Junior Saunders' residence, east of the Style Shop.

In the meantime, game-hunter Preston had obtained a shooting iron and was watching for an opening. The skunk took brief refuge in the Saunders dog house, causing J. D.'s pooch, "Finnegan," to make a rapid exit from same. By dint of some cautious, herding, Jerry succeding in getting the critter around to the rear of the house. There his prey made the mistake of taking cover in a cellar window "well" and was abruptly dispatched. Surprisingly enough, everyone came out of the ordeal unscathed—except the skunk.

Belmond people weren't the only ones who were a mite disgusted at the long wait for the gym door to be opened prior to the sectional tournament game last Saturday night (some waited as long as an hour in the cold; and quite a few missed a good bit of the first quarter). One prominent Clarionite, whose boy plays on the Cowboy quintet, was—at the same time—chilled and more than a little "burned up." At halftime, he was still mumbling to himself. "By golly," he said, "you'll never find a crowd outside MY place of business having to knock down the doors in order to BUY!"

—M-S—

Gus Ziska, who deserted the sunny south last week to come home and root for the Bronco basketeers, reports he had a most profitable stay at Hialeah, the Florida race track center. He figures the dogs and ponies really went out of their way to make his vacation a pleasant one. Not only did he come home with about $100 more than he took with him, but he says he built up a cozy little sinking fund for his grandson. . . . Hope Gus doesn't forget that among the most famous last words is the forlorn wail, "They said it was a sure thing!"

By now, most Independent subscribers must be familiar with the series of cards that announces the imminent expiration of a subscription. The first of three bears a picture of a pelican and advises the reader, "This Is A Bill." Receipt of this friendly warning brought forth a brief despoaition on "bills" when friend Orick Rhodes, now of St. Louis, recently mailed us four bucks for a renewal.

"The Bill I received today for the Belmond paper isn't exactly a Pelican's Bill, nor neither is it like a Hummingbird's. Sorta in between, I would say," commented the former Belmondite.

"Speaking of Bills," added Orick, "I have always understood it was more corret to say William instead of Bill; but I am wondering how a Duck is going to put his William in the water." . . . Those renewal warnings apparently strike the right note with the readers. One lady, when re-subscribing, told us, "I sort of hate to do it already—I got so interested in watching to see what the next card would say."

—M-S—

Rev. Leo Widdel wandered into the backshop the other day when Mainstreeter Hansen was addressing a few confidential remarks to the linotype machine, which was choosing not to run at the moment. Among other things that had gone wrong, a tiny but essential screw had dropped to the floor and an intensive search had failed to reveal its hiding place. Our minister friend was invited to lend his influence with the powers that be in the losing battle to get the contrary type-setting apparatus going again.

The gentleman of the cloth said the situation reminded him of a story regarding a stranded motorist who was futiley trying to get his car started with a combination of profanity and tinkering. A minister chanced to pass by, listened for a moment and suggested that the car-owner's approach was all wrong. "Try praying," he urged as the autoist's blood pressure climbed higher and higher.

Unhopefully, the amateur mechanic decided anything was worth a try and agreed to join the reverend in a few words of supplication. The appeal concluded, the motorist stepped on the starter and the motor took ahold without hesitation. In awe, the pastor listened to the healthy purr of the engine and then muttered to himself, "Well, I'll be da—!" . . . On this cheering note, our visitor wished George well and went his way. He'd hardly gotten out the door when Hansen leaned over picked up the vagrant screw!?!?

Funeral Held Last Saturday for Sam Mickelson, Age 66

Funeral services for Sam Mickelson, 66-year-old Belmond farmer, were held last Saturday afternoon at Washington Lutheran church, Duncombe, with Rev. O. M. Severseike of the Trinity Lutheran church officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Benjamin Coltvet of Duncombe. Burial was in the Washington church cemetery.

Mr. Mickelson had been in failing health for the past four years. He died on Wednesday of last week at the Methodist hospital, Rochester, Minn.

Moved Here in '39

Samnuel Albert Mickelson, born Nov. 25, 1888, on a farm near Duncombe, was the son of Samuel and Bertha Mickelson. He was reared and educated in the Duncombe community. On April 24, 1911, he wed Nettie Olive Nelson. They farmed in Webster and Hamilton counties until 1939, when they moved to the farm near Belmond that has since been their home.

Mr. Mickelson was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith at Duncombe. He was a member of the Washington church there until transferring to the Trinity Lutheran of Belmond after moving to this community. A neighborly man, always ready to provide help whenever and wherever needed, he formed many good friendships during his years of residence in the Webster City, Duncombe and Belmond vicinities.

Two Sons, Five Daughters

Surviving besides his wife are five daughters and two sons. Mrs. George (Esther) Larson of Webster City, Mrs. Joseph (Marjorie) Norcross, Jr., of LuVerne, Mrs. Lyle (Ruth) Baker, Mrs. Larry (Doris) Greenwood and Mrs. Douglas (Bonnie) Sharp, all of Belmond; Clarence and Richard Mickelson, both of Belmond, and 12 grandchildren.

Other survivors include two brothers and two sisters: Clifford of Duncombe and J. E. Mickelson of Webster City; Mrs. Albert Johnson of Webster City and Mrs. Thomas Ness of Duncombe.

Preceding Mr. Mickelson in death were his parents; a brother and sister, Martin Mickelson and Mrs. Ollie Nelson; and three grandsons, Jerry Norcross, George Larson, Jr., and Larry Larson.

Hoppels to Mark 50th Anniversary

Another respected couple of the Belmond community will reach the 50th anniversary of their marriage this month when Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hoppel attain that milestone on Wednesday of next week. It was on Feb. 24, 1904, that they repeated their wedding vows before Rev. E. C. Schalinske, first resident pastor of St. John American Lutheran church. The rites were performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Geitz.

Following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Hoppel lived on a farm five miles southeast of Belmond. After two years, they moved to the farmstead two miles east of town where they spent the next 47 years of their lives. This was their home until last year, when they retired and moved to Belmond. They now reside at their home at 316 Fifth ave. SE.

The Hoppels' three children will join with them next week in celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary: two sons, George and Clarence of Belmond; and a daughter, Mrs. William (Lorraine) Rabe of Goodell. The occasion will be shared by seven grandchildren, also.

Since Mr. Hoppel is the only remaining charter member of the St. John congregation who is still active in the church, his fellow members will pay him and his wife particular honor on their anniversary. The St. John congregation had been formally organized only five months at the time of the Hoppels' marriage.

Members of the American Lutheran church will take active part in all of the evening observances planned for the occasion: there will be a pot-luck supper at the church at 6:30 p. m.; an anniversary service will be conducted by Rev. Leo Widdel immediately following; and after this service, a social hour will be enjoyed at the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoppel cordially invite all their relatives and friends to join in the functions that have been planned to make the anniversary occasion a memorable one. All are issued a similar invitation to greet them during an open house to be held at their home in the afternoon between the hours of 2:00 and 4:00 o'clock.

WES HUNZINGER
Comes Here from Waverly

Newcomer Takes Over Management For Spahn & Rose

Wes Hunzinger, 24, lately of Waverly, last week assumed managership of the local Spahn and Rose lumberyard. A native of Mt. Pleasant, he has been employed by Spahn and Rose for the past four years. He had been at Waverly for a year as assistant manager of the Spahn and Rose yard there.

The new manager is married but has no children. He is at present staying at the Hill motel, but he hopes to have a house to move into the first of March. At that time his wife, who has been employed by the Lutheran Mutual Insurance company at Waverly, will join him here.

Mr. Hunzinger has been a member of the National Guard for the past six years and tentatively plans to transfer to the company at Eagle Grove. The Hunzingers are members of the Methodist church.

Dennie Hook, departing manager of the Spahn-Rose business here, is looking for a position that will carry responsibilities a bit lighter than those he has had to shoulder as yard manager. He had been with the lumber firm for 17 years, the past six in Belmond. He and Mrs. Hook are hoping he may be able to find satisfactory employment here—a hope that will be shared by a great many Belmond friends.

No More Nominee Papers Taken Out

As of the middle of this week, there were still no candidates from Belmond Independent district in the field of official nominees for Belmond Community School district board of directors. Discussion of candidates has been quite widespread, but the superintendent's office reported Wednesday that papers for no specific nominee have been taken out.

It seemed to be prevailingly understood that two members of the independent district's board, which will disband when the new district comes into being on July 1, will be among the candidates before the filing deadline a week from Friday. But just which two are most willing to continue with their board duties as the reorganization goes into effect apparently was the question to be answered before any Belmond nominations are made.

Whomever the finger finally points at, they will be running with Carl Green of Goodell, Harold Simerson of Belmond township and Gerald McNulty of Pleasant, for whom papers were obtained last week.

Lions Club Plans Fete for Cagers

President Cecil Carstens has announced plans of the Lions club to hold a banquet several weeks from now to honor the coaches and members of the Belmond High school basketball squads. The varsity Broncos are still very much in contention for state honors after winning the North Iowa conference title with a 12-won, 0-lost record. The freshman-sophomore Colts tied for first in the conference froshmore rankings, with only one loss in their dozen NI games.

According to Mr. Carstens, most of the details of the affair have yet to be worked out. A "name speaker" will be obtained to head the banquet program and the Lions plan to hold the fete at whatever location will offer the largest seating capacity.

Some Tickets for Fans

After the ticket requirements for Coach Jim Crimmings' and Coach Elwyn Jacobs players and team managers, and those of the Lions have been met the balance will be made available to the public. It will be a "men only" proposition and it is intended that the Broncos' most ardent fans will have first chance at the extra tickets. Possibly, season ticket holders will be given preference.

Principal Clair Hugh has been named chairman of the banquet committee; he will be assisted by Dr. A. M. Larason and Dr. Paul Rietz. Additional committees will probably be named later.

No Ticket Price Yet

Mr. Carstens says it was at first contemplated that the banquet would be a private arrangement, simply comprising an opportunity for the Lions to pay honor to the Broncos and Colts. However, it soon became apparent that community enthusiasm over the teams is so great that only the biggest function possible would satisfy the teams' backers.

Price of the tickets has not yet been set. It will be governed, Mr. Carstens said, by the expense of providing for the boys and their coaches and of having a speaker appropriate to the occasion. Further details regarding the banquet will be published as they develop.

Cash Day Award Will Go to $275 Next Week, 3 p.m.

Interest in the Cash Gift Day drawing should take another spurt next week. The 3:00 o'clock award goes up to the very useful sum of $275, since neither the 2:00 nor 3:00 o'clock prizes were claimed last Tuesday. No. 2,934 was drawn at the earlier hour and 1,329 at 3:00 p. m. That means both the $25 from this week and another $50 will be added to the $200 that was drawn for at 3:00 o'clock this past Tuesday.

It has been called to the committee's attention that there has been a growing number of telephone calls made to participating stores on Cash Gift Day to learn what number was drawn. This, of course, defeats the purpose of the promotion—which is to increase shopping traffic on Main street and acquaint the public with the merchants' every-day good prices.

To prevent continuation of this practice, the business places have been instructed not to make the numbers known over the phone. To further assure that prize-winners comply with the rule that they must be in a participating store at the time of the drawing, the time limit for claiming a Cash Gift has been reduced to a five minute period. Hereafter, a winning number must be presented between 2:00 and 2:05 or between 3:00 and 3:05 p. m. to qualify its holder for the sum drawn for at those respective hours.

Something over 30 members of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce were taken on an impromtu excursion after last Thursday's meeting — "to tour," as Secretary Luin Cox put it "some of your property." To the surprise of the business and professional people in the entourage, the group ended up at the city library.

There Mr. Cox told them what the library board has done and what it plans to do in an effort to increase use of the library's facilities. He related what has been done in the purchase of new books to build up a larger juvenile clientele, and how well the youngsters have responded. In the past year, he pointed out, circulation of juvenile books was more than double that of the year before.

BOOK FRIENDS Helped

Mr. Cox also told how The Independent's BOOK FRIENDS club gave impetus to the board's expansion and improvement program and how it materially contributed to the stock of new books. He also informed the visitors that the list of adult borrowers has remained disappointingly brief — that since a new card-filing system was installed last year, not more than 160 grown-ups have signed cards entitling them to take books out.

Librarian Faye (Mrs. H. E.) Colby was then introduced and she told her guests about some of the latest volumes that have been added to the shelves and mentioned what periodicals are placed at the public's disposal on the magazine racks. She encouraged the business men and women to avail themselves of the library, and to call on her for any assistance she might be able to offer in her capacity as librarian.

Appropriation Boosted

Mr. Cox concluded with a review of the library board's future plans, which include replacement of many worn-out, standard books and continued acquisition of popular volumes of the day. He added that the city fathers have increased the library appropriation appreciably, to permit needed improvements in the building itself and to keep the library growing.

It came as a distinct surprise to many of the Chamber members that the city has as well-equipped a library as it has. There also seemed to be a commonly shared opinion among many of those present that it might be a good idea for them to make a voluntary visit to the library in the near future—perhaps, even, with a view to reading a good book.

Why Wash Dishes Saturday Noon?

It may have been Lincoln who freed the slaves; but the members of the Congregational church Women's Fellowship invite their sisters of the community to use George Washington as an excuse for freedom from Saturday noon dishes this week.

The Fellowship is anticipating Washington's birthday a bit by having luscious cherry pie as desert at a noon dinner they are serving at the church between 11:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. Saturday.

Other items on the menu, however, will give the meal somewhat of an international air. The main dish will be Italian spaghetti, which will be accompanied by French bread. Good, American-style spring salad will complete the menu.

The ladies are charging only 75 cents a plate and are making preparations to feed a host of hungry people.

Patriotic, Essays To Vie for Prizes

Belmond High school students will again have an opportunity to compete in the annual patriotic essay contest of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The local unit of the VFW Auxiliary will sponsor a local preliminary contest in which students of all high school classes will be allowed to compete.

In recent years, entries have been limited to members of the junior class. Students submitting essays will be given extra class credit, as well as having a chance to win one of the cash prizes.

Mrs. Leroy Green, chairman of the essay committee, says that prizes of $10, $5.00 and $2.50 will be awarded to the first three place winners. Topic of this year's contest will be, "Build Through Citizenship." Deadline for sending the winning essays in to the state contest is March 15, so the committee has required that the local entries be in by March 8.

Three judges have been selected to pick the local winners: Rev. William Schorman, Mrs. Clair Hugh and Pat Gallagher. Essays are limited to a maximum of 1,000 words and are rated on the basis of literary construction, interpretative views and patriotic inspiration.

It will be recalled that several years back, the essay of Odean Severseike that won the local contest also placed first in the state and then earned high ranking in the national competition.

Home Team First Belmond Opponent

Belmond's Broncos will compete in the Iowa Falls district basketball tourney next week in their pursuit of a berth in one of the sub-state tournaments slated for the week of March 8. Their first-round opponent at Iowa Falls will be the host Cadets. In the other opening game in Class A, Franklin Consolidated will tangle with Nevada.

Iowa Falls is holder of third place in the North Central conference with a record of nine wins and four defeats. In late-season games, the Cadets have indicated a tendency toward inconsistency. During a recent single week's play, they managed only a 10-point margin over the mediocre Hampton Bulldogs, 61-51, and then pushed the strong Humboldt team to the limit before losing 59 to 57.

Tough Game Expected

That is regarded by Coach Jim Crimmings as ample warning that the Broncs will have to be prepared for the toughest sort of struggle, especially considering the fact that the Cadets will be enjoying the advantage of playing at home.

Nevada has been having a good season, with a healthy "plus" balance on the win side of the ledger.

GAME SET FOR TUESDAY

Wednesday morning, The Independent was unofficially informed that the Belmond-Iowa Falls district tournament game has been scheduled for Tuesday night of next week at 7:30 o'clock. It is suggested that fans confirm this time when offical announcement of the tournament schedule is made by the daily press.

One of the Nevada's victories ended Roland's string of more than 50 home floor wins when the Story county quintet recorded a five-point decision over the Rockets. This was the only loss the reknowned Class B outfit has suffered since losing in last year's state tournament.

Franklin Consolidated has had a little better than average season, but on its record will enter the game with Nevada as the underdog.

Forest City at Garner

Drawing of district assignments made it certain that the North Iowa conference cannot possibly have more than two teams reach sub-state play. Both Garner and Forest City are in the Garner district field. The Cardinals will be opposed by St. John's of Bancroft—sectional winner over Buffalo Center—in one first round game, while the Indians will face Algona.

Alexander is in the Garner Class B field, along with Joice—its first opponent, St. Cecelia's of Algona and Klemme. Class B entries at Iowa Falls are Roland, Jewell, Owassa and Steamboat Rock.

12 Schoolhouses Put Up for Sale

With closing of all rural schoolhouses in the reorganized Belmond Community School district imminent, a series of auction sales is planned in the next two weeks to dispose of these schools. First of the sales will be tomorrow (Friday), when the Pleasant township directors will sell schools No. 1 through 4.

Pleasant schools No. 6, 8 and 9 will be put up for auction a week from Friday, Feb. 26. On Wednesday, March 3, Belmond township schools No. 1, 3 and 4 will be sold to the highest bidder; and Iowa township directors will sell schools No. 1 and 2 on the following day, March 4.

What's Iowa Got That Florida Wishes It Had? Weather, By Golly

A little insight as to how "the other half" lives was provided last week by Gus Ziska when the white-thatched sports fan returned home from Hialeah, Fla., for the confessed purpose of seeing the Belmond Broncos finish out their basketball season.

That is "news" in itself, when a sports addict will desert the sunny southland just to back his favorite team. Our point, however, is that this change of scenery did not involve the sacrifice in personal comfort that might be imagined. Gus reports that on Monday of last week at the Florida horse-racing center, the temperature hit the treasonable level of 40 degrees above zero.

Phooey to Florida

On that same day, north Iowans were basking in springlike warmth. And up to mid-week, the mercury climbed daily to the 60 mark or higher. The picture that accompanies this essay on, "What's Iowa Got That Florida Wishes It Had," constitutes proof for posterity that poor people who were pocketbook bound to frigid Iowa in the year 1954 A. D. didn't have it so bad.

As Belmondites luxuriated in balmy sunshine, John Van Gerpen whipped out a paint brush and got some unseasonable licks in on the bare boards of his recently remodeled home. Within the memory of the oldest inhabitants, it was the first time any house-painting has been witnessed hereabouts in mid-February.

Peeled to Shirtsleeves

That was on Wednesday. The same day, your reporter saw kids dawdling to school minus sweaters, plainly glorying in shirt-sleeved freedom from winter apparel (although perhaps headed for a case of the sniffles). Why that "first robin" didn't make its appearance we'll never understand.

After a two-day reminder that Old Man Winter's still at the controls, the mercury edged upward again on Saturday and a glance at the thermometer Sunday afternoon showed the mercury up to a May-time 64. Four fellows were seen digging fishworms at the stockyards; and nearly a dozen cars were parked at Clarmond Country club as golf enthusiasts got in some pre-season licks.

Let the oldtimers reminisce over the horrors of the blizzard in '88. We reckon our fondest winter recollection is pretty apt to be concerned with the February "spring" of '54. We know we'll likely get clobbered with a good blizzard or two before March flips to see whether it's to be "lions or lambs"—but wasn't it fun while it lasted?

RESIGNATIONS ACCEPTED

Resignations of two county employees were accepted Monday by the county board of supervisors. Betty Tracy of Belmond, county health nurse, resigned effective April 15. She is planning to marry. Gladys Thompson, who has been serving as a clerk in the auditor's office, resigned effective the last day of this month. Successors have in neither case been named.

District Meet Next For Broncos

Belmond qualified for state district play Friday night by taking the Clarion sectional title with a 68-56 decision over the host Cowboys. It was a rough, rousing game, short on finesse but plenty long on excitement; and it followed the same pattern of other, recent Bronco appearances in that the Purple and White basketeers were distressingly slow in getting started.

Forty-seven fouls were called as the Clarion crew pulled out all stops in their determination to upset the Broncs. In the final analysis, it was the fouls that produced the Belmond victory. The winners made good on 26 out 30 point chances from the free throw line. Clarion out-counted the Broncs on field goals, 22 to 21, but converted only 10 of 22 point opportunities on gratis shots.

Clarion Ahead at Quarter

It was free throws that kept Belmond in the game during the first quarter. Loats made the Broncs' only basket, but eight charity points held the would-be bronco busters from the county seat to a 12-10 advantage at the buzzer. Belmond clicked better during most of the second stanza and at one time led by nine points, 27-18. However, a Clarion surge cut the margin to 27-25 before the Broncs spurted ahead to a 32-25 halftime advantage.

The Cowboys kept hot on the trail of the Broncs for half of the third period. But then Belmond broke loose and padded a meagre 40-35 lead into a 53-37 bulge before the quarter ended. By this time, three Clarion starters had been retired to the bench with a full quota of fouls—Guard Dick Paul (he was done before the half), Center Charles Bunn and Forward Tom Robie.

Broncs Lead by 20

Early in the final frame, Belmond built its lead to 20 points, 57-37. It should be said for the Cowboys, though, that never for a moment did they quit trying. With a little more than three minutes to go, Manuel Rodriguez joined the five-foul club; but the Clarion reserves took right up where the first stringers left off and the Broncs had to battle to the very last ditch to keep the Cowpokes from breaking loose.

It was, without question, one of the raggedest games the Belmond boys have played since the start of the year. Their poise was upset on several occasions as Clarion threw a full-court press at them, although it wasn't nearly so efficient a maneuver as the bothered Broncos made it appear. But the same come-back power that has been a leading virtue of the Purple and White all season was with them in the clutch and they never lost an ounce of their scrap.

Ron Hansen Tallies 22

Coach Jim Crimmings' found a new game-breaker in the person of Ronnie Hansen, who turned in by far his best performance under the hoop. Time and again he tipped in rebounds, and he ended up high scorer for the night with 22 points. Ken Loats donated 13 to the cause, Keith Madsen and LeRoy Smith 10 each. Don Hoppel 9 and Larry Larson 4.

Dean Baker, the lone Clarion starter to complete the game, nailed 16 points, Tom Robie 12 and "Manny" Rodriguez 9. Six other Cowboys contributed to Clarion's total with two to five points.

A crowd of several hundred Bronco backers was on hand for the game, but entered the gym with a rather cool feeling toward the Clarion school officials. Many of the Belmond fans stood in the cold for a full hour before the doors were opened and tickets placed on sale a little after seven. Some who were waiting in line not long after 6:30 didn't get into the gymnasium until the first quarter was almost half over.

Greenhouse Five Takes Pin Title

Keglers representing the Belmond Greenhouse picked off first place in the annual, women's city bowling tournament on Tuesday of last week with a fine 2,224. The champions had a 78-pin edge on the second place Rowat-Murray team.

Their performance was good for $20 in prize money and gave them a leg on the trophy given by Rowat-Murray, Engineers. Both Chapman's and the Greenhouse have now won it once; two times gives permanent possession. The score of the Flower Girls tied the highest league series of the year but was not a local women's record. High series in league play last year was 2,293.

Rowat-Murray's 2,146 gave the Lady Engineers $15 in prize money. Other cash winners were: Mello Maid, 2,144 for $10, Hamm's, 2,10[illegible], $7.50, Infelt's, 2,0[illegible]9, $5; and Chapman's, 2,024, $2.50.

Scores of other entries were: Style Shop, 2,019; Thompson's 2,000; Swede's 1,962; Belmond Auto, 1,944; Courson Agency, 1,935; Bowl-Mor, 1,827.

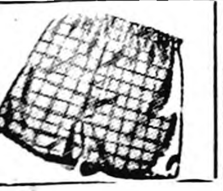
—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS



Can't recall any local bowling season when competition in the leagues has been so sharp. Biggest edge held by any league-leader is in the Kanawha league (which was tied a week ago) and the Women's; in each case there is only a three-game spread. First-place ties exist in the Boardsplitter and Tri-City leagues, a half-game separates the first two in Inter-City and there's just a game and a half between 1st and 2nd in the Mainstreeter league. In most cases, the 3rd and 4th place teams are still strong contenders, too.

—PSS—

Bowling scores, in general, were rather disappointingly low at the Bowl-Mor up to mid-season; but they've really been picking up lately. It's also noteworthy how the recent handicap tournament conducted at the local alleys put last year's, similar invitation meet to shame. Especially in the doubles. The top duo last year won on a 1,280. This year the leaders hit 1,319—and 1,280 would have been good for only 5th place. In last season's singles, two kelgers tied for first at 694. The same score picked off 2nd this time; 1st money went to a big, fat 737!

—PSS—

It appears that North Iowa conference basketball fans will have their choice of a couple of all-conference teams this year. Four years ago, the sportswriters in the seven NI towns got together to pick the loop all-stars since the conference officials had lately been neglecting the responsibility. Each season since, the sports scribes have met to distribute the honors—on recommendations given them by their home players and coaches.

Last week, the NI school administrators and newspapers in the seven communities were informed by William H. Young, conference secretary and Lake Mills superintendent, that, "It is the feeling of the conference that the boys are in the best position to make the selection;" and that the NI team members have been polled for their opinions.

Since the sportswriters already had their selection get-together planned, they will go ahead and make their choices in the usual way. It will be interesting to see how the boys' and the scribes' teams compare. If there's much difference in the make-up of the two sets of teams, it seems to us it would be sensible to survey the coaches as to which method of selection they prefer. It's been a labor of love for the writers, and they're not jealous of their self-accepted chore.

—PSS—

Did you notice that a member of the Crimmings family played a major role in assuring that Iowa will have a new state high school basketball champion this year? Jim's brother, John, is coach of the Lyons High school bunch from Clinton that eliminated St. Mary's of Clinton last Friday, 54-49. This tournament campaign is a "swan song" for the Lyons cagers, as next year that school will be consolidated with Clinton High school. It was the Lyons that chopped off St. Mary's streak of 26 consecutive wins a few weeks back. No fluke the first time, very obviously.

—PSS—

While we didn't manage to confirm the remark, a Clarionite told "Danny" Dannewitz that the Cowboys had lost only one game on their home floor this season, prior to the battle (and we mean battle) with Belmond. The other winner in the Cowboys' home corral was Humboldt, 84-64.

—PSS—

Clarion was easily the foulingest team the Broncos ran up against during the current cage campaign. When the Cowpokes played here, they had the whistle blown at 'em 30 times—but Coach Max Carter used so many players—15 altogether—that most of them weren't in long enough to get their maximum quota.

Only one man was benched with five. Last Friday, the Clarion gang was called for 29 fouls. Twenty of that number were committed by four first-stringers, retiring them for the evening.

Belmond fans felt the Broncs were fortunate to emerge from the fray with no serious casualties. LeRoy Smith suffered a couple of broken teeth from a well-placed elbow, which approaches the "serious" category. Belmond players were called for 18 fouls—none of them committed while flying through the air.

—PSS—

Looks as if Forest City might turn out to be a "tournament team" again this year. At any rate, they really put it on Lake Mills last Friday. The Bulldogs whipped the Indians both times the two teams met during the regular season, taking a 46-36 decision at home and winning 55-51 at Forest City. But in the third meeting, the Indians muzzled the Bullldogs 50-36. Those Indians just might cause some other teams bad trouble before they're sidelined.

Indians, Cardinals Take Sectionals

Two other North Iowa conference teams besides Belmond marched into district basketball play by clinching sectional championships last week. Both Forest City and Garner were Class A victors in meets held on their home courts.

Lake Mills' faltering Bulldogs proved no match for the Indians in the Forest finals, bowing 50 to 34. Garner had a tougher time of it; the Cards trailed 21-32 at the half against Clear Lake but came out on top 49-47 on a hooker by Daryle Jass in the final 30 seconds.

Garner ousted an NI foe, Britt, in the semi-final by a 72-61 count. Buffalo Center, after gaining the title round on a bye, was beaten at Swea City by St. John's of Bancroft by the surprisingly decisive margin of 54-37.

Northwood was trounced by Holy Family of Mason City in the Class A semi-finals at Manly, 79-57. The Vikings had led 32-31 nearly midway through the third quarter, only to see the Maroons turn the game into a run-away by combining a full-court press with a fast break.

OUT-OF-TOWNERS PICK OFF TOP PRIZES IN BOWL-MOR HANDICAP

Out-of-towners carried off the top prizes in the invitation, handicap bowling tournament conducted recently at the Bowl-Mor, but local keglers pulled down a very fair share of the prize money. Biggest "take" of all was that going to Gary "Jake" Brothers, whose total cash return ran a bit over $125.

Russell Peterson of Gowrie was champion in the singles with a gross of 737, produced by game scores of 266-185-215 and a handicap of 71. His first place was good for $60 and that 266 won the singles jackpot, adding $24.80 to his winnings.

Sime-Oler Take Doubles

Art Sime and Lyle Oler of Dows chalked up a 1,319 in the doubles and were rewarded with $70. Oddly enough, they didn't have one game that ranked among the four jackpot winners. Thirty-two teams, in all, competed in doubles and there were 76 singles entries.

Following are listed the other singles winners (from Belmond unless otherwise noted), their scores and their winnings: 2nd Jack Lobdell 694, $45; 3rd Art Wagner (Eagle Grove) 669, $34; 4th Gary Brothers 668, $28; 5th Howard Tuttle (Clarion) 665, $22; 6th Bob Miller (EG) 648, $17; 7th A. STEELE MEMORIAL CLINIC CONSTITUTES A COMMUNITY ASSET OF GREAT VALUE

This week marks a milestone for Belmond. Sunday's open house at Steele Memorial clinic will formally acknowledge completion of one of finest, "small town" medical centers in this part of the country. Knowing the genuine humility with which the clinic partners regard their endeavors to provide this community with the finest of medical facilities, we hope we won't make them cringe by frankly appraising the clinic's value to Belmond.

In Steele Memorial clinic and its capable staff we possess a civic asset that very few, comparable communities can match. We wonder if its wide clientele truly appreciates how fortunate we are to possess a medical center of the Steele clinic's excellence?

We are blessed with a group of physicians whose skill would easily make it possible for them to enjoy a high degree of professional success anywhere they might have chosen to practice. But regardless of skill, tools are a vital part of any profession or trade; and in the expansion program just completed at the clinic, they have provided themselves with unsurpassed "tools" with which to carry on their work.

With no perceptible exceptions, they have equipped their hometown with facilities that would do credit to the most up-to-date metropolitan clinic. It should be borne in mind that they were doing a remarkably fine job of looking after the comfort and health of their patients in the original clinic. It was certainly not necessity that dictated that they launch on a program of such scope as produced the Steele Memorial clinic of today. It was simply their wish to do "the best" for their clients that motivated this ambitious undertaking.

It is very typical of the doctors and their loyalty to Belmond that contracts for all work on remodeling and expanding the clinic were awarded directly to local firms; and that materials, equipment and supplies were bought locally to the fullest, possible extent. But being a financial asset to the community is nothing new to the clinic. Main Street merchants are fully aware of the appreciable amount of trade that is attracted to Belmond by the presence of this medical center. While only a by-product of the clinic's importance to the health of the wide area it serves, its commercial value certainly can't be overlooked.

In view of these multiple considerations which justify this community's deep gratitude for being the fortunate site of Steele Memorial clinic, we take the liberty of speaking for one and all on this occasion. To Doctors Leinbach, Hruska and Pitcher: We of Belmond are thankfully glad that you chose US to be the benefactors of your professional skills and your determination to provide the ultimate in health facilities and services to those whom you serve.

NATIONAL PARLEY ON HIGHWAY SAFETY HAS EARMARKS OF A SENSIBLE VENTURE

Leaders in the field of public safety will no doubt view with gratification and with complete approval the White House conference on highway safety which President Eisenhower has called for Wednesday through Friday of this week in Washington. A steadily increasing highway toll in loss of life, disabilities and property damage has made it all too apparent that the traffic accident problem has acquired the proportions of a national tragedy.

Iowa's ill-fated Safety Congress, which to all practical purposes passed out of exsitence the first of this year, demonstrated that safety-consciousness cannot be produced by multiple warnings from a central headquarters. Its critics should find much more to their liking the approach being taken by the White House conference, which considers its purpose "to develop nationwide, public support, AT THE COMMUNITY LEVEL, for PROVEN methods of improving street and highway safety."

Traffic fatalities in 1952 reached 38,000 in the United States — more than the death toll among our armed forces in Korea. Approximately 1,3500,000 persons were injured, including more than 100,000 permanently maimed. Money loss, while a secondary consideration, came to a staggering $3.75 BILLION. Deaths thus far in 1953 are running about one per cent ahead of last year's, nationally; and in Iowa the increase far exceeds that.

H. B. Miller, retired Naval Admiral who is director of the conference, points out that, "Safety organizations and public officials have long since learned HOW to reduce accidents. The purpose of the conference is to translate this knowledge into results of vigorous, CONTINUING public suport."

Calling a conference of this nature seems such a logical step that one can only wonder why it wasn't done long ago. If it achieves a fair part of its purpose, it will certainly stand as an achievement of which President Eisenhower can take rightful pride.

Organization work of the conference is being staffed by the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Commerce. Secretary Sinclair Weeks of that department says the conference has as its objective a 40 per cent reduction in traffic accidents during the coming 12 months. That would mean 15,000 lives saved, 600,000 personal injury accidents avoided, and the prevention of some $1.5 billion of property damage. Who would question that is a goal well worth the effort involved?

Thoughts
about a 102-year-old Railroad and its Service to You

RUNNING a railroad is a big job. For the past 102 years we've devoted all of our time to it.

OVER this century-long period we've grown from a railroad of a few miles to an 8,000-mile system serving 14 states.

COMPETENT personnel has enabled us to attain this growth—a growth that parallels that of the communities we serve.

KEEPING these communities supplied with the things they need and taking to market the things they produce have always been our chief concern.

IMPROVEMENTS have been made constantly. Faster, more powerful locomotives, finer passenger equipment, more efficient freight cars—all adding up to a more satisfying service.

SOMETIMES a single improvement has cost millions of dollars. The Atlantic (Iowa) Cut-off, for example, which reduces grades, straightens curves, shortens distances.

LEAVING no stone unturned in our desire to provide the finest in rail transportation, we eventually became recognized as The Road of Planned Progress.

AND we derive no small satisfaction from the thought that today planned progress is as much a part of this railroad as heavy duty, diesel-powered locomotives.

NOTABLE among our trains are the ROCKET FREIGHTS (for shippers) and the streamlined ROCKET Fleet, including the GOLDEN STATE (for travelers). Nothing finer . . . anywhere.

DOESN'T all this suggest that this century-old railroad is as alert as ever to the needs of its patrons—that now, as always, ours is "A Service that Never Ceases—a Story that Never Ends"?

E.G Woman Asks $20,000 Judgment

Two damage suits, involving a total of more than $21,500, were filed in district court at Clarion last week as the outgrowth of an auto collision at a country road intersection near Eagle Grove on Feb. 4. Principals in the accidents were Mrs. Thomas Arthur and Richard Nelson. Mrs. Arthur and her husband, who farm near Eagle Grove, are plaintiffs in the two cases and the defendant in each is Nelson. The latter is also a farmer of the Eagle Grove vicinity.

Mrs. Arthur, according to her petition, suffered a fractured skull, broken bones in her left wrist and arm and in her right knee and lower leg; also a crushed chest and numerous lacerations and contusions. She was driving her husband's car, unaccompanied, at the time of the mishap. Nelson suffered a fractured spine, which has left him paralyzed from the waist down. Both the injured persons are in a Fort Dodge hospital in serious condition.

In her petition, Mrs. Arthur asks $20,000 damages for the pain and suffering incurred by the accident, plus all medical, surgical, nursing and hospital costs entailed by her injuries. Her husband asks judgment of $1,450 in payment for damage to his car, which he claims to possess only salvage value of $50 since it was smashed in the collision.

Mrs. Arthur was driving south and Nelson was going west at the time the collision took place on a county road intersection a mile and a half northeast of Eagle Grove. The Arthurs contend that negligence on the part of the defendant and excessive speed at which his car was traveling was instrumental in causing the accident.

Eliason Painting Bought for $100 At Iowa Art Show

Further art honors came last week to Shirley Eliason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Eliason, when she received one of the major purchase awards given in conjunction with the Sixth Annual Iowa Artists Show at the Des Moines Art Center.

A still life oil painting of fruit by Miss Eliason was selected by the exhibition jurors as one of three entries in this class to be bought for the Art Center. It brought the young Belmond artist a price of $100.

Mr. Eliason attended a reception at the Art Center on Sunday afternoon, at which awards were presented to the winners. A bad cold prevented Shirley's mother from being present.

Shirley has been serving as an assistant to one of her professors at the State University of Iowa, where she is currently completing requirements for a Master of Arts degree in fine arts. She has earned a steadily widening reputation as an artist with her success in art competitions she has entered during the past year.

Meeting Feb. 24 Set by County's Soil Commission

Wright County Soil Conservation district will hold its annual meeting at the Clarion Methodist church on Wednesday of next week at 12:15 p. m. This meeting will mark the retirement of Chairman Oscar Holmes of Dows as a member of the Soil Conservation commission.

He has been on the commission since it was established in 1946. Boyd Patterson of Dows and Hubert Heimstra of Clarion have been nominated for the commissioner's post being vacated by Mr. Holmes, who wished not to be a candidate again.

H. J. Gramlich of Chicago, agricultural agent for the North Western railroad, will be the dinner speaker. Mr. Holmes describes him as one of the present day's best qualified speakers on agricultural topics.

Besides having an extensive knowledge of agricultural problems, Mr. Gramlich also has a sharp sense of humor and his talk should be entertaining as well as educational, Mr. Holmes promises.

Anyone interested in soil conservation is invited to attend the dinner meeting. Tickets can be obtained at the Soil Conservation office at Clarion.

NAOMI DOWNS, HAMPTON, GRANTED DIVORCE DECREE

Naomi M. Downs of Hampton, who until the first of the year was a resident of Belmond, last Saturday was granted a divorce from Grover H. Downs of St. Paul, Minn., on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The decree was granted by Judge Harvey H. Uhlenhopp in Franklin county district court at Hampton.

The plaintiff was awarded absolute care and custody of the couple's four minor children and $100 monthly for their support, effective in March. She was also awarded the household goods and furniture that the couple jointly owned. The Downs were married in June, 1935, and separated the first of this year.

COURTHOUSE CLOSING

Personnel of all the business offices in the courthouse at Clarion will take Monday off in observance of Washington's Birthday—with the exception of the auditor's office. Ross Henry says that someone will be on duty at his office to deal with any assessment matters that need attention.

BENEFIT CARD PARTY

A benefit card party will be conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary on Wednesday of next week at Veterans' Memorial hall starting at 7:30 p. m. There will be tables for canasta, pinochle and bridge. Prizes will be awarded and lunch will be served at the conclusion of the evening.

Rockettes Take District Opener

Meservey's Rockettes boosted their season's record to 20 wins against five losses by taking their first game in the Mason City district tournament Monday night. They chalked up a 55-49 decision over Orchard, which had lost only three games in 22 starts up to that time.

This victory provided the Rockettes with an opportunity to avenge one of their defeats of the season, for they were to tangle with Franklin Consolidated in one of the semifinal contests slated for Wednesday night. The Latimer-Coulter sextet nipped Meservey on the Franklin court, 39-38, several weeks ago.

Marble Rock—only once defeated in 23 games played prior to its Mason City appearance—registered a 37 29 win over Plainfield to join the Rockettes in the tourney semi-finals Marble Rock's only loss this year was to Garnavillo, the defending state champs. The Floyd county girls were to be opposed by Williams last night in the semi's.

Led by Marlene Kaduce, the Rockettes held only a 24-22 edge over over Orchard at halftime in their Monday night game. Meservey added four more points to its margin to lead 41-35 at the three-quarter mark and than held the opposition even in the concluding period. Kaduce tallied 33 points and was ably supported by Blau with 15

Depending on the outcome of their game with Franklin, the Rockettes on Friday night will either be clashing with the Marble Rock-Williams winner for the district championship or with the loser for consolation honors The games start at 7.15 and 8 30 o'clock at Roosevelt fieldhouse.

Meservey's boys were downed in the finals of sectional play at Garner last Friday night, bowing to Klemme 62-47 despite a 22-point scoring effort by Morgan Greer The MHS quintet had won its opening game with Goodell 54-45, with Greer accounting for 34 of his team's total

WALTER C. KOEHLER

So many of the farmer friends of the State Savings Bank, that we have visited during this series, are not only farmers, but are mechanics and carpenters as well.

Walt Koehler, who farms 5½ miles northeast of Goodell is no exception as we soon discovered on our visit to his 160 acre farm several weeks ago. Walt has been a busy man since he bought the farm in 1947.

He has built a 6 room and bath home that is completely modern, a new barn, remodeled the chicken house and is in the process of building a new tool house and work shop.

If Walt has a hobby, it is carpentering. In fact that was his trade when we knew him 20 years ago.

Walt and his brother Gilbert who operates an adjoining farm help each other out which is always an advantage. This winter Walt was feeding 17 head of cross shorthorn and hereford cattle and had 120 spotted Poland hogs on feed.

He said that even though he took some of his hog money to buy feed for his wife's chickens, she used some of the cash from the eggs to buy groceries so that it is about 6 of one and ½ dozen of the other as to which pocket the money comes from.

Iowa Farmers Show Up Russia

Iowa farmers have made Russia's "dictator" farming system look pretty bad on still another score.

Figures now show that on Iowa farms we have SIX times more tractors per square mile than in Russia.

I think the reason why is pretty plain. Over there, a farmer has to take what the dictators decide. Over here, a farmer uses his own good judgment. He's an individual who stands on his own two feet, and thinks for himself.

If an Iowa operator prefers two tractors, or three, it's his right to back his own preferences. That freedom to choose for ourselves is part of our Iowa way of life.

It goes for choosing between Benton oats and Clinton oats, or between a temperate glass of beer or pop, or the question of which ticket we'll vote.

We've never had much use for dictators, professional or amateur, and that, too, has made this a better state to live in.

We Offer Three Profitable Hy-Line SERIES for 1954

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

100 SERIES HY-LINES:

800 SERIES HY-LINES:

These great cream-egg layers are the favorites of about 50,000 farmers throughout the country. Divided Flock Tests show the reason why. In 1,182 tests conducted for an average of 11 months, 100 Hy-Line hens averaged $130 more income than 100 other chickens. Yes, the 100 Series Hy-Line is a real money-maker.

This is the new white-egg Hy-Line layer. This layer is fast becoming a favorite in white egg markets. Not only will the 900 Hy-Line produce lots of white eggs, but she'll stay in there laying and living better than Leghorns under commercial flock conditions. The 900 Series Hy-Line is the real layer for the large flock-owner.

Here's the rugged, dual-purpose birds many farmers want. The Hy-Line 800 will outlay heavy-breed chickens by about the same margin that Hy-Line 100 and 900 series outlay Leghorns. And the "800" usually lives well even under the toughest conditions. The Hy-Line 800 series hen is a reddish brown egg producer. Her brother is white, with black markings — and he makes a tasty broiler chicken. For eggs and meat, it's hard to beat the Hy-Line 800 series.

FEET

Barring unfortunate accidents, you will find on the end of each of your legs a foot. Add them up carefully and there wil be a total of two feet. If you have more, you can clean up in a sideshow.

Feet are dandy things to stand on. They are also good for walking. Feet are just the thing to wear in your shoes. Feet are also good for putting up against a hot stove in winter.

Feet are not supposed to be used to walk into other folks chicken houses. Other folks' feet shouldn't walk into yours either. For when you go into a chicken house, feet become unhandy. They get in the litter unless you've found a way on the ceiling.

Litter is where you find disease germs and bugs. You also find other things but we're not interested in that at the moment. These bugs and germs get on your feet. When you walk into other chicken houses, germs from the first house trade places with the germs in the second house. They can do this pretty darn quick.

Now you may think that if the chickens aren't sick, it doesn't make any difference. If you think that way, you are wrong. One bunch of birds may be immune to the germs in the litter. But another flock may get sicker than all get out from those same germs.

So, watch your feet. See that they don't go around in strange chicken houses. Poultry service men have to go into other folk's houses to take care of their chickens. But they disinfect their feet before they go into any other chicken house.

You should too. Use your feet correctly. Walk on them, stand on them, put shoes on them and put them up against the hot stove. But keep them out of strange chicker houses.

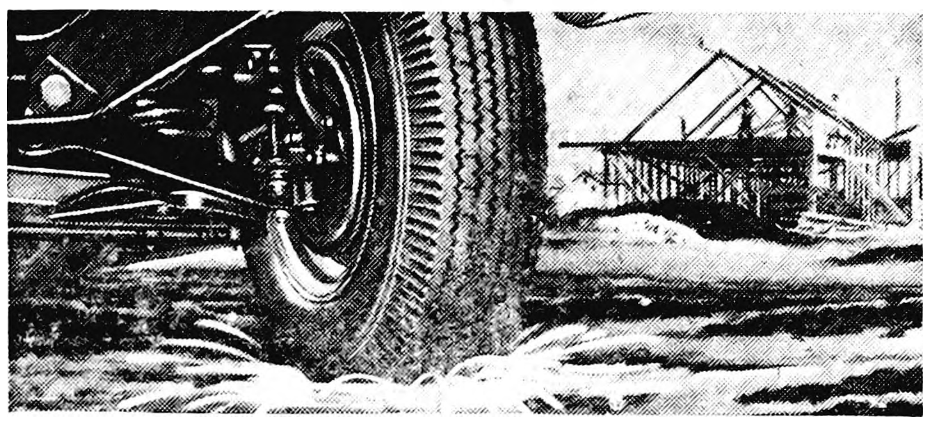
Newest Ride on the Road!

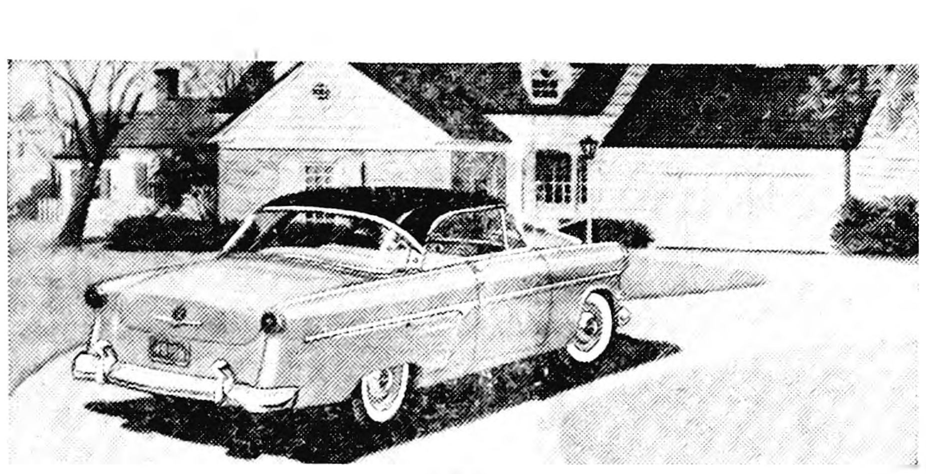
This revolutionary new Ford front suspension soaks up road shock before it reaches you! Makes all riding and handling easier!

The "old" roads won't seem the same with Ford's new Ball-Joint Suspension "paving" the way for you. You'll enjoy a softer, more level ride because Ford's new system allows greater shock absorbing movement of the front wheels. Handling is far better, too, not only on turns but on the straightaways as well. That's because conventional kingpins have been replaced by simple, sealed ball joints that won't stick or bind. No other car in Ford's field can equal this modern ride—because no other has Ball-Joint Suspension.

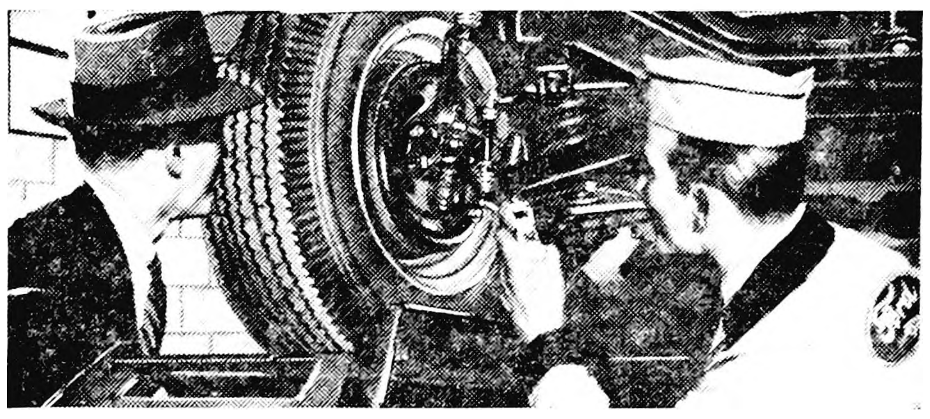
Agile new performance, too, is yours in a '54 Ford. Whether you choose Ford's new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or 115-h.p. I-block Six you get the quick response and smooth, quiet operation of a modern overhead valve, low-friction deep-block engine. And no matter which of Ford's 28 new models you choose you enjoy recognized style leadership—with clean, modern lines . . . sparkling new colors . . . and harmonizing upholstery fabrics and trim.



Seals out dirt. You can forget road splash because dirt and water can't get into the ball joints in Ford's new front suspension. Each of the four joints is effectively sealed by a unique rubber-and-metal shield. This means that contact surfaces of each ball and socket remain clean—wear is kept to a minimum.



Keeps that new-car feel. You'll enjoy Ford's new-car feel much longer because ball joints are spring-loaded to compensate automatically for any wear. Front wheels hold alignment far longer than with conventional systems. Ball joints can't stick or bind. Steering remains consistently easy.



Eliminates 12 wear points. Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension eliminates 12 of 16 points of wear found in conventional systems. Rubber-bushed supports at inner ends of suspension control arms not only reduce the number of wear points but also insulate chassis from road noises.

Wing, 29x52 Ft., Almost Doubles Over-All Space

Completion of the new wing of Steele Memorial clinic virtually doubles the amount of working space that was provided by the initial unit of the medical center that was erected in 1937-38 and put into use in the spring of the latter year. The new wing has been so skillfully combined with original building that one would suspect that the entire present structure already existed in imagination when the first clinic was built.

Light buff brick sheaths the entire front of the enlarged medical center and it is literally impossible to tell where the old leaves off and the new begins. The 75-foot facade is made especially attractive by the generous use of Indiana Bedford stone for the decorative copings, door and window trim and the large, commemorative panel which identifies the structure as "Steele Memorial Clinic."

Zook's Proud of Clinic

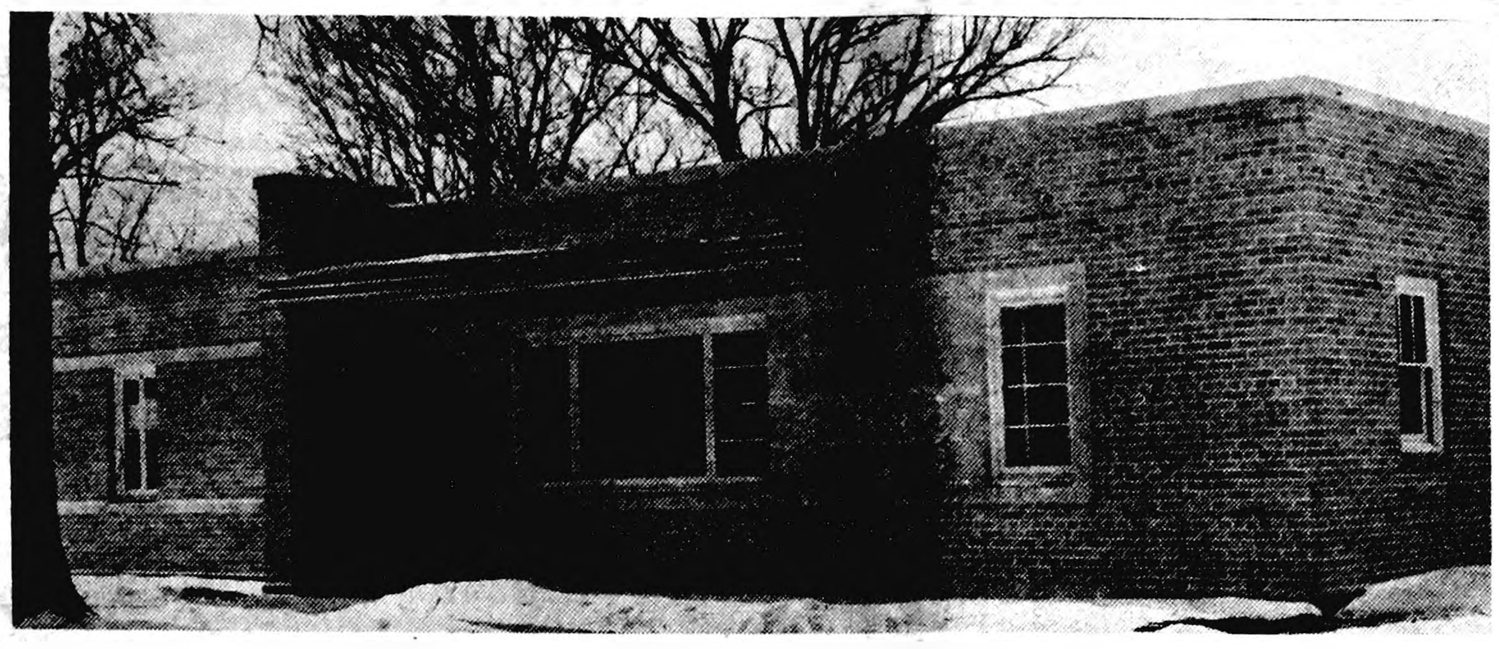
Asking General Contractor Ted Zook to point out features of the clinic brings a gleam to his eye not unlike that which brightens the face of a young father when asked about his first-born. Ted is frankly proud of this fine edifice. Not just the part he played in its creation but in every aspect of the finished result.

He points out what an attractive appearance is provided by the beautiful, plate glass door that gives entry to the waiting room, and how pleasant that waiting room is made by the ample, natural light admitted by the large, picture window and the side, ventilating windows that adjoin it.

New Wing 29x52 Feet

The initial clinic unit was approximately 60x27 feet in dimension, not including the double garage attached to the rear. The new wing extending to the south from the front portion of the earlier structure measures slightly over 29 feet in width and 52 feet in length. Additional space is provided by a 20½x5-foot extension built onto the x-ray room in the older building.

* * *



STEELE MEMORIAL CLINIC, WHERE OPEN HOUSE WILL BE HELD SUNDAY

Natural light is admitted throughout the new wing by casement windows. Interior finishing has been made uniform throughout the enlarged building by installation of sheetrock walls, new, asphalt tile floors and rubber wallbase, and ceiling tile in the original unit. Corridors, waiting room, the business office and both the rooms for infant patients have been soundproofed by making the ceilings of acoustical tile.

Custom-built Cabinets

All interior trim is of birch, the slab doors are of the same wood and bronze hardware was used throughout. The cabinets in both the laboratory and drug room were "cooperatively" designed. Technician Helen McNulty had her own, well defined ideas for the "lab"—which is her special sanctum; while the doctors—and particularly Dr. G. J. Hruska—knew very specifically just how that drug room should be fitted to provide the best storage for the stock of pharmaceuticals.

These cabinets were custom-built by the Zook crew, and Ted will modestly admit he's pretty proud of their handiwork. It might be well at this point to mention that Mr. Zook's chief carpenters were Henry Steenblock, Bernold Kinseth and Luther Proeger, who were ably assisted by S. S. Sarber and Harry Larson. Needless to say, "Boss" Zook was working side-by-side with them throughout the job.

Office Desk "To Order"

Office Manager Shirley Nelson is possibly the only member of the clinic staff who might quarrel over those cabinets being the "carpentry masterpieces" of the clinic. She, perhaps, would submit that the king-size desk built in her business office should not be overlooked when honors are being passed out.

This showpiece of the carpentry art is eight feet long and more than two feet in width. It is equipped with a knee-hole aperture beneath the office window for the comfort of the receptionist. The ample surface space it provides for clerical work is protected by formica covering. Drawers and cabinets to Shirley's specification cascade along the front of the desk to make room for supplies and any other office incidentals that need "putting away."

Formica tops, incidentally, have been placed on the work tables in both the laboratory and drug room, too, making them practically impervious to wear and easy to keep clean. Floor tile in both of these rooms is of special composition that is not affected by acids or other liquids that might mar conventional flooring materials.

X-Ray Room Enlarged

Numerous changes were made in the older clinic building to better adapt its space to efficient use. The drug room was enlarged, the old office was converted into a record room for filing purposes. Unquestionably the biggest improvement, though, was in the x-ray room. Before, its quarter had been cramped and in its dark room the proverbial cat would have met certain death if swung by the tail.

The enlargement of the x-ray room has already been mentioned. Extension of its outside wall some five feet to the south now gives the room both width and length of about 14 feet. This still allows for

LADIES' TASTE PROVES PLEASING

Many complimentary remarks have been evoked by the tasteful interior decorating that contributes so much to the appearance of Steele Memorial clinic. On this point, the doctors bowed to feminine judgment and turned the planning over to the distaff side of the clinic's medical partnership. Furniture for the waiting room was ordered through Jacobson's — in compliance with the physicians' mutual agreement that all work, furnishings and equipment should be provided through hometown sources, where at all possible. Drapes in the waiting room and the paint combinations throughout the clinic also represented the composite taste of Mrs. Leinbach, Mrs. Hruska and Mrs. Pitcher. They don't deny that some compromises had to be effected here and there; but the clinic's clientele seems to be in unanimous agreement that the end result is most pleasing to the eye. Paul Rogalla was sub-contractor for the wallpapering and painting.

DR. GEO. H. STEELE SERVED THIS COMMUNITY WELL FOR 30 YEARS

DR. G. H. STEELE

Steel Memorial clinic, as it stands today, exceeds even the dream of the man whose name it commemorates. Dr. George H. Steele had been a leading medical practitioner of this vicinity for almost 30 years when he died suddenly of heart failure on Nov. 15, 1944. He provided Belmond with its first, real hospital facilities; and with his partner, Dr. S. P. Leinbach, he established the first, genuine hospital in the community and built the original unit in what is now Steele clinic.

A native of Greenfield, Ind., Doctor Steele received his medical education at Rush Medical college in Chicago after graduating from the University of Indiana in 1908. He came to Belmond in 1915, after he had interned at Presbyterian hospital at Chicago and taken graduate work in several European clinics.

Served in World War I

He established his office and a small hospital on the second floor of the Martin building and conducted a private medical and surgical practice until 1937. In that year he formed the partnership with Doctor Leinbach. Both shared the same ambition to give Belmond the finest medical services possible. This ambition prompted them to erect the original clinic building and to purchase the large, frame building next door for conversion into a hospital.

Doctor Steele's only period of absence from Belmond came during World War I, when he enlisted in the U. S. Army and was commissioned as a captain in the Medical Corps. He returned to his practice here in the spring of 1919. He assisted in the organization of Eimbrink Post No. 35 of the American Legion and was a charter member of this unit and its first commander.

Helped Found Clarmond

He served as president of the Wright County Medical society, was a member of the Iowa State Medical association, the Masonic lodge and the Congregational church. He was active in the business and civic life of the community as a stockholder in the First State bank of Belmond and as member of numerous civic and professional organizations.

An ardent lover of sports, Doctor Steele was one of the founders of Clarmond Country club when it was established in 1920, served as its president and was one of its most enthusiastic members and supporters.

At the time of his passing, The Independent had the following to say of Doctor Steele: "Through his death, this community has lost an honorable, faithful and progressive citizen; and energetic, active and skilled physician and surgeon; and a true friend. Words cannot express the loss to this community which will become ever more apparent as time goes by."

CAR DUNKED

An automobile broke through the ice of Storm Lake recently, but driver Harold Walton and Dale Hemmingsen managed to jump out as the machine crashed through. About 72 hours later, the automobile was back on shore. Workmen sawed a channel through the ice and the car was dragged back to the bank.

Staff of Nine Assists 3 Physicians In Making Clinic Operate Smoothly

Besides the three physicians — Dr. S. P. Leinbach, Dr. G. J. Hruska and Dr. Arlo L. Pitcher — the staff of Steele Memorial clinic includes nine other persons who help keep the medical center operating efficiently.

They are: Mrs. Don (Helen) McNulty, chief technician; Mrs. John Carlin, nurse; Lucille Dickinson, office nurse and assistant technician; Shirley Nelson, business manager; Mrs. William Shirer, receptionist and office secretary; Mrs. Glen Eccles and daughters Betty and Margaret, who are responsible for building maintenance; and Malcom O'Connor, office boy.

McNulty Highly Regarded

The clinic doctors consider that they are most fortunate to have Mrs. McNulty in'their employ. She is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where she received a Bachelor's degree in medical technology. She served in several large, western hospitals before returning to Belmond and taking up her work at the clinic.

She left Minnesota with the highest possible recommendations and has qualifications that would enable her to practice her profession in practically any hospital of her choice. Her decision to cast her lot with the Steele clinic has contributed in no small degree to the high reputation it has acquired in north Iowa medical circles.

Mrs. Carlin Head Nurse

Head nurse at the clinic is Mrs. John Carlin, R. N., who is a graduate of the Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing at Amarillo, Tex. She also holds a Bachelor of Science degree in public health nursing from St Louis university. She is a former U. S. Navy nurse and spent a year and a half in uniform.

Shirley Nelson is business manager of the clinic and shoulders responsibility for the accounts and records. Like Mrs. McNulty, she is a native of Belmond. After graduating from high school she worked a time in the old State Bank of Belmond. She obtained a standard teaching certificate after study at Coe college, Cedar Rapids, and taught for a time in the local schools. Except for Doctor Leinbach, she has been on the clinic staff longer than any other present member, having gone to work for Doctors Steele and Leinbach in 1940.

Two Relative Newcomers

Relative newcomers to the clinic staff are Lucille Dickinson, who serves in the dual capacity of office nurse and assistant technician; and Mrs. William Shirer, who is receptionist and office secretary.

Mrs. Eccles and her daughters take greater pride than ever in keeping the clinic gleamingly clean, now that the older portion of the establishment has been refurbished to match the attractive interior of the new wing. Malcom O'Connor is the man-of-all-work around the clinic, looking after any and all odd jobs that assigned to him.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Clinic Installing Air-Conditioner For Warmer Days

Equipment of the "new" Steele Memorial clinic will include an air-conditioner unit to assure the comfort of patients and staff members during the warm months. Kinseth Plumbing and Heating has been in the process of installing the air-conditioner during the past week.

Since the unit will require 600 gallons of water an hour when in operation, the clinic will use a private water supply in its operation. The water will be drawn from an underground river which was reached at a depth of 20 feet by driving down a "sand point"—a pipe with filter attached to prevent sand clogging the pumping apparatus.

New Heating Plant

Under the present drouth conditions, the sand point has been bringing up only 350 gallons per hour, but under normal conditions it will provide an ample amount, Mr. Kinseth is confident.

Kinseth's also installed a large new Green Colonial heating plant rated to produced three times the units of heat from a good-sized, home furnace. New, overhead conduits were installed above the corridors throughout the enlarged clinic building to carry the warm air. The old conduit under the corridor floor in the original unit of the clinic was reversed to serve as a cold air duct.

Besides the furnace and Trane air-conditioner, Kinseth's provided and installed in the clinic nine lavatories and three additional sinks.

Packard Did Wiring

Packard Electric rewired the entire, old unit of the clinic, installing conduits where none had been before. All wiring in the new wing is "piped," too. "Bud" Packard says that extra-heaving wiring was required for the x-ray room because of the sudden surge of current used when an x-ray picture is taken. There he installed heavy cable in a two-inch conduit.

All incandescent light fixtures in the old part of the building were replaced with new fluorescent fixtures that match those installed throughout the new wing, assuring excellent illumination in every part of the clinic. Packard Electric also put in conduits to carry the double-trunk telephone line that permits the clinic to handle two calls at a time.

"Bud," as an electrician, found particularly interesting the room-to-room telephone system that enables the phones to serve as an inter-communication system as well as serving their usual purpose. The novel arrangement allows persons at any two phones in the building to converse with one another, saving many steps and at the same time making a conventional "inter-com" system unnecessary.

● NEW WING—

New Safety Features

Mr. Zook was particularly interested in the improvements made in the x-ray room with a view to safeguarding the machine operator from its dangerous rays—dangerous, that is, if absorbed by a body too frequently over too long a period of time.

The partition walls around this room are lined with sheet-lead to a height of seven feet. And a protective plywood panel with a sheet-lead insert has been permanently installed adjacent to the patients' table. Even the small window in the panel, which allows the x-ray technician to keep an eye on the patient while a picture is being taken, is fitted with special "lead glass" which blocks off the rays.

Library Included

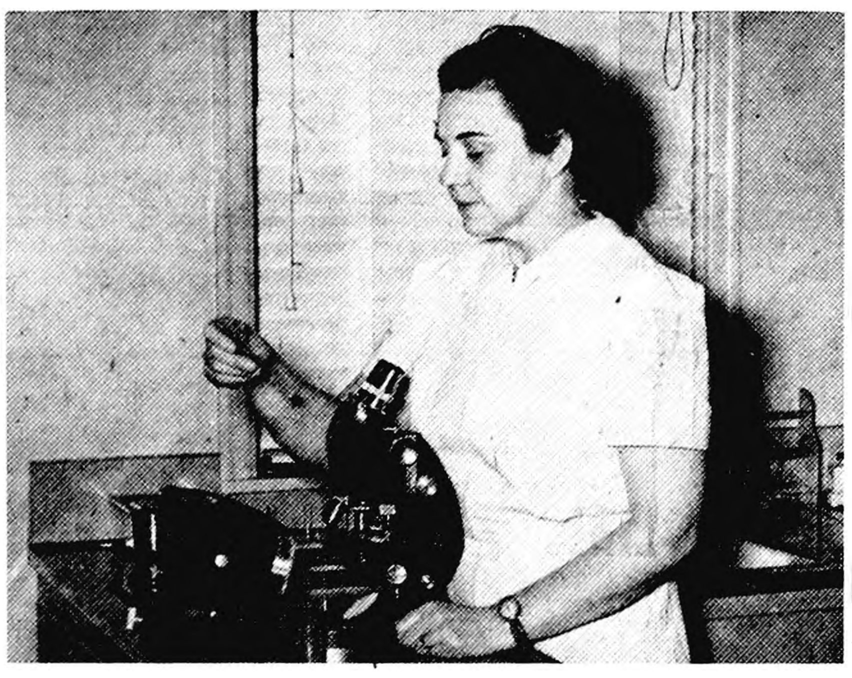
Controls of the machine are located on the panel away from the cated on the side of the panel away from the table—so the technician can expose herself to the machine's rays only by going to considerable and deliberate effort to avoid the panel's protection .

In the new wing, each of the doctors has a private consultation room AND a private treatment room. Another feature that the physicians view as a welcome improvement is a separate library in which to shelve their medical books and journals, and at the same time have them systematically arranged and readily accessible.

To anyone who has read this far, it must be apparent that the virtues of the Steele Memorial clinic seem to approach an endless number.

No mention's been made of the rest room close-by the waiting room that has been included for the special convenience of patients; nor of the clever clown design on the floor in the consltation room for "well babies" to distract them from the possible ordeal of being gently poked, prodded — or just handled a bit; or many other features that are noteworthy.

Ted Zook puts it something like this. Suffice it to say that if ever a hardworked doctor, unhappy over his office facilities, has muttered about some inconvenience and promised himself, "Someday I'll have it THIS way" . . . Well, Steele Memorial clinic has it — THAT way.



CHIEF ASSISTANT to the medical staff of Steele Memorial clinic is Technician Helen McNulty (above). Her exceptional ability enables the clinic to conduct many, highly specialized tests that few medical centers in towns of Belmond's size can perform. The excellent laboratory in the clinic's new wing is her pride and joy and permits her to carry on her valuable work with the finest equipment available.

Clinic Architect Has High Praise For Contractors

When the public visits "new" Steele Memorial clinic next Sunday, it will see a medical center that is doubtless unsurpassed in any community of anywhere near Belmond's comparable size in the state of Iowa. Probably the entire middle west could be included in that statement without risk of exaggeration.

No one was more satisfied with the completed job, than Architect William Beuttler of Sioux City—who is well known to Belmond as the designer of both Belmond Community hospital and Ramsay Elementary school.

Beuttler Deals With "Best"

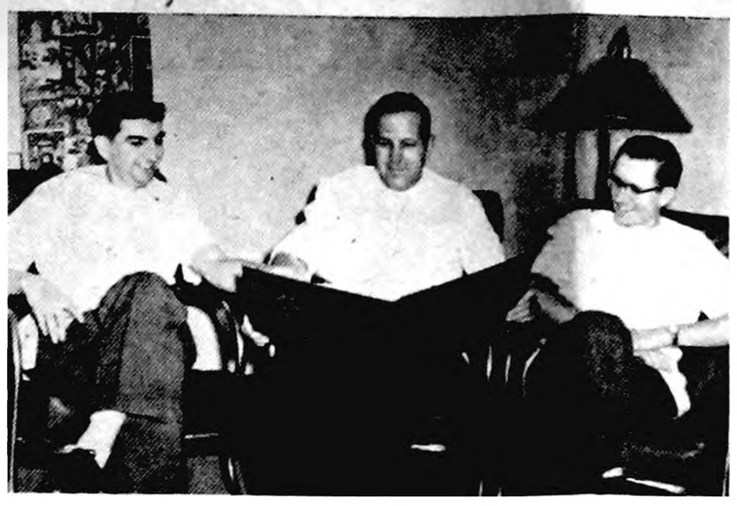
Whether or not Mr. Beuttler was equally pleased when first informed by the clinic doctors that all the work on the project was to be in the hands of local contractors is not a matter of record. The Sioux City man is accustomed to dealing with the finest and some of the biggest contractors in the midwest, most of them boasting professional skill of a calibre not always to be found in a "small town."

But the doctors made it clear from the outset that their plans definitely included the employment of local artisans as a "must." The general contractor was awarded to Ted Zook, the plumbing and heating installations were assigned to Kinseth Plumbing and Heating, responsibility for all electrical work fell to Packard Electric and interior decorating was turned over to Paul Rogalla.

Complete assurance as to the unusual competence of all these men and their helpers could have been given the architect by any of the many, many scores of home-owners and business concerns in Belmond and vicinity who have been pleased by their work. It is not to be questioned but what the doctors "sold" Mr. Beuttler on them, too. Certainly if he suffered any fleeting qualms, they promptly disappeared as the earliest stages of the project got underway.

When the finishing touches had been put on the job, Mr. Beuttler was not only extremely satisfied with the result; he was extravagant in his praise of the excellent manner in which his plans had been carried out. The final result is a building in which all Belmond can take pride, as well as those who had a direct part in its construction.

It represents an unusual combination of ideas and planning — and skillful implementation of those ideas and plans. The doctors knew in very considerable detail just what sort of finished product would best suit their specific needs; Mr Beuttler put onto blueprint paper the architectural adaptation of his clients' "dream" clinic; and the local contractors created the handsome, efficient reality.



DOCTORS HRUSKA, LEINBACH AND PITCHER

3-Way Medical Partnership Holds Reins at Steele Memorial Clinic

Steele clinic is known throughout this part of Iowa for offering unique medical service for a town the size of Belmond. At the clinic's helm is a three-way partnership, of which Dr. S. P. Leinbach is the senior member. Dr. Glenn J. Hruska joined with Doctor Leinbach in 1947 and the newest member of the staff, Dr. Arlo L. Pitcher, became affiliated with the clinic in 1949.

Founders of the clinic were Dr. George H. Steele and Doctor Leinbach, back in 1937. Doctor Steele had been practicing here as a physician and surgeon for 22 years when he and Doctor Leinbach formed their partnership; and the latter had been conducting a private practice in Belmond since 1935.

Leinbach Saw Navy Service

They had offices in the Martin building until the first unit of the present clinic was erected in 1938. Doctor Leinbach entered service in the U. S. Navy Medical corps in November of 1942 and was absent from Belmond until December of 1945. During the interim, Dr. Robert Hanson took his place in the clinic, carrying on alone from the time of Doctor Steele's death in November of 1944 until Doctor Leinbach returned to civilian life. Doctor Hanson departed from Belmond at that time and Doctor Leinbach was an independent operator until Dr. E. A. Watson came to the clinic in 1946.

For the first time, the clinic became a three-way partnership when Doctor Hruska joined the staff in '47. Two years later, the clinic medical personnel acquired its present status when Doctor Watson left the community and his place was taken by Doctor Pitcher. The latter contributes an important asset to the partnership in the form of his surgical skill.

Has Held State Posts

Doctor Leinbach attended the University of Iowa and was awarded his medical degree in 1934. After interning at Anker hospital in St. Paul, Minn., he "hung out his shingle" here the following year. Besides being unusually active in community affairs, Doctor Leinbach has found time to hold important positions with the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society and with the Iowa State Medical society.

From 1948 until last year, he served on the board of directors of the Iowa Division of ACS and during the years 1951 and '52 he was chairman of the state lay education committee. This involved, among other things, numerous speaking engagements in behalf of the Cancer Crusade.

Hruska, Too, SUI Alumnus

At present, Doctor Leinbach is on the grievance committee of the state medical society. This group meets periodically to deal with complaints that have been registered with the society, involving patient-doctor relationships and also grievances between practicing physicians. The senior clinic member also serves on the state medical society's rural health committee, which helps to locate doctors in rural areas where they are badly needed.

Doctor Hruska also is a graduate of the state university. He received his degree in February of 1943 and was an interne at St. Luke's hospital at Duluth for nine months before entering the U. S. Army Medical corps in December of '43. He was released from service early in 1946 and that fall was employed on the clinic staff. He acquired a partnership in the clinic a year later.

Pitcher Born in Canada

A native of Canada, Doctor Pitcher obtained his initial medical training at Queen's university, Toronto, graduating in 1943. He then interned at the New York Polyclinic hospital. A physical disability of a relatively minor nature blocked repeated efforts on his part to get into military service during World War II. He did manage to get by the Navy examiners and was in uniform briefly, but re-examination led to his release after only a couple of months of duty.

His medical experience includes two years of surgical residency at the hospital of the Long Island College of Medicine at Brooklyn, N. Y., and three years in a similar capacity at Garfield Memorial hospital, Washington, D. C. His last two years at Washington, he was chief surgical resident of the hospital.

One other doctor is serving on the clinic staff on a consultant basis. He is Dr. Dean C. Cooper of Fort Dodge, a practicing radiologist. He makes regular visits here to read x-ray plates and lend his assistance in any regard that falls within the sphere of his specialty. He is an Iowa university medical graduate and obtained special training as a roentgenologist in two New York hospitals.

Wright Countians Have Set Up 23 Cancer Memorials

Through interest evoked in the crusade against cancer by the many volunteers who further the work of the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society, "Living Memorials" have been set up by friends or relatives of 1,300 deceased Iowans.

An important factor in the interest that inspired these gifts to combat America's No. 2 killer has been the work of the Lay Education committee of the Iowa Division of ACS, which Dr. S. P. Leinbach headed during the years 1951-52.

Wright county has, year after year, rated among the leaders in the state in its support of the Cancer Crusade. It is not surprising, then, to learn that in relation to total population it also is near the top in the number of "Living Memorials" that its residents have established.

In the latest issue of "New Horizons," the Iowa Cancer magazine, are listed the names of 23 deceased Wright countians that have been memorialized in this manner. They are:

Fred Loeffler, Jr., Sadie Agard, Mrs. Pearl Holt, G. D. Sawser, Grant Trask, Mrs. William Moellering, Mrs. J E. Kerstein, Mrs. Ed Wood, Jeannette Strom, Mrs. A. J. Arndorfer, Mr. Jacobsen, Mrs. Stella Matson, R. Dwight Ketchum, A. B. Richardson, Mrs. John Schnell, S. HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED

When Jr. came home from college, he told his father (who did a very nice business) that bad times were coming. And so his father took down his signs, stopped ordering as much merchandise, stopped telling people what he had to sell and, sure enough—people slowly stopped coming to him for things to buy. After a few months, the father turned to his son and said, "You were right son—things are bad."

VOL. 34 NO.20 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

"Bud" Packard erected the two recently-ordered, amber warning lights on Highway 69 the latter part of last week. It now remains to be seen whether transient motorists will heed their flashing and save five bucks or so while passing through; or whether they'll flaunt the warning and continue to contribute money to the school fund.

"Bud" says that he suspects there'll still be enough speeders to keep the law on its toes, although while he was testing the light at north Third street, he could hear many oncomers braking their speed as they crossed the Great Western tracks.

On the other hand, "too many" completely ignored the signal and sailed blithely along at their cross-country pace. Both lights are visible a considerable distance from the city limits and constitute a very adequate warning to slow down. So we'd say that any drivers who get tapped for the till hereafter must be forced to admit they "brung it on themselves."

—M-S—

IT'S ABOUT TIME DEPT.: We are now in a position to state that that first robin HAS arrived. Apparently he has brought along the Mrs. — or a friend. At any rate, Mrs. Ernest Johnson called us Friday afternoon that a pair of redbreasts were happily hopping around her yard. About this time of year, waiting for a report on the first robin's arrival carries with it almost the same suspense as waiting for a shoe to drop.

—M-S—

You won't often find a newspaper writing a "fan letter" to one of its own columnists—but that's what this item amounts to. To make the matter even more unusual, we don't even know whose praises we sing! Anyway, we'd like to put in a good word for the anonymous writer of "Chick Chats," the weekly poultry feature that is sponsored by Hensel Brothers Produce.

We never raised a chicken in our life, and see little likelihood that we ever will. But we LOVE that column. If you haven't been reading it, for the very insufficient reason that you buy your poultry over a meat counter, permit us to recommend it to your regular perusal.

"Chick Chats" is provided to the Hensels through an advertising syndicate, with no suggestion as to who its author is. But the guy's as clever as they come. He has a knack with words that Ye Ed sincerely envies. Just try sampling his column over the next few weeks. We'd just about guarantee, you'll become a "constant reader," too.

9 BHS Speakers Get Top Ratings

Belmond High school entries in the preliminary speech contest held last Thursday at Dows came through with flying colors, nine out of the 12 being awarded "I" ratings and the others getting "II's" Dean Hughes, who as speech instructor was responsible for training the boys and girls for the speech competition, says that steps are being taken to make Belmond the site of the pre-district contest, if this meets with the approval of the Iowa High School Speech association.

It has been a number of years since Belmond has been host to a speech contest. Last week Principal Clair Hugh issued an invitation to the IHSSA to hold the next contest for this area at the local high school. Both he and Mr. Hughes are hopeful that the invitation will be accepted, so Belmond school patrons can hear the BHS entrants go through their paces. The pre-district contests are to be held in about two weeks.

Belmond recipients of "I" ratings at Dows were: Marlys Mowell and Elna Jenison, interpretive reading; Connie Hill, Sharon Thompsen and Maryellen Johnson, dramatic declamation; Margo Gowdy and Pat Smith, humorous division; Beverly Sheriff and Sandra Swenson, oratorical.

Bible Conference At Baptist Church

Members of the Omaha Bible Institute faculty will be speakers at a three-day Bible conference to be held at the Belmond Baptist church this weekend, Friday through Sunday. They are Rev. J. L. Patten, president of the school; Rev. John L. Paton, dean of men; Mrs. Paton, music director; and H. Nell Malen, dean of women.

Special music will be provided at two of the meetings by the institute's girls' trio and male quartet. The girls will sing Friday evening and the quartet will provide music for the Sunday morning service.

Miss Malen will be the speaker at the Friday evening meeting, which starts at 7:30 o'clock. At a meeting beginning at the same hour on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Paton will be on the program. The Rev. Mr. Patten will speak at both the regular morning and evening services on Sunday.

Rev. A. T. Rollene, pastor of the Baptist church, cordially invites the public to attend any or all of the services.

Belmond's Oldest Native Resident, Mrs. Ida Morse, Dies at Age of 90

Death came Sunday to Belmond's oldest, native resident, Mrs. Ida Luick Morse. She passed away at the Good Samaritan Home at Mason City, where she had been a patient since breaking a hip about 18 months ago. Mrs. Morse would have been 91 years old on June 4.

She was born in the frontier settlement of Belmond on that date in 1863, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Luick. Her father had first come to the community in 1853, before it bore its present name. He lived for several years at Spirit Lake, but returned to Belmond after the infamous Indian massacre at the lakeside settlement.

Mrs. Morse was preceded in death by her husband by exactly 11 years, to the day. He died on Feb. 21, 1943. She was also preceded by two sons and a daughter, Bert, Perry and Muriel, all of whom died in early youth; and by an infant daughter, Rhoda.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Harry (Amelia) Bohning of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mrs. Orphie (Susan) Anderson of Belmond; and a son, David Morse, an attorney at Blue Earth, Minn. She also leaves six grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Final rites for Mrs. Morse were held yesterday afternoon at Trinity Lutheran church, Rev. O. M. Severseike officiating and Boone Funeral Home in charge. Burial was in the Belmond cemetery. Pallbearers were Mike Luick, Albert Luick, Curt Luick, Ed Kennedy, George Baxter and Harley Thompson.

A complete obituary will be published next week.

Band Concert Set For This Sunday

Approximately 100 musicians, comprising the Belmond High school concert band and the junior high school band will be presented by Director Roland Brom in a concert this Sunday afternoon at the high school gymnasium, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

An opening group of numbers will be played by the junior band, comprised largely of junior high students plus a handful of fifth and sixth-graders. The complete program for the concert by the high school band will be found in an advertisement in this issue.

Three specialty numbers will highlight the program of the senior musicians. Margo Gowdy, Faye Janssen and Margaret Mussell will be presented as a clarinet trio in a rendition of the first movement from James Waterson's "Trio Concertante."

Kenneth Halfpap, Bob McLaughlin and Roger Lathrop, trombonists, will play "The Cavaliers" by Clair Johnson. Accompanied by Eldoris Bunnell on the piano, Carolyn Classick will play as a marimba solo Fritz Kreisler's popular "Caprice Viennois."

Mr. Brom has been working his proteges hard in preparation for the concert and believes that patrons of the school will be pleased to hear how nicely the two bands perform. Season tickets will admit to the concert, or single admissions may be purchased at 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for high school students and 10 cents for those in the grades.

COMMUNITY AUCTION

Lloyd Stevens will conduct another of his community auction sales next Wednesday at the Martin building, formerly occupied by Jensen's grocery. Offerings will include four living room suites, two dinning room suites, and a wide variety of other furniture, appliances and household goods. The sale will start at 7:30 p. m.

SALE DATE CLAIMED

Anton Benson, who has been farming two miles north, one west and three-quarters north of Belmond, is quitting that occupation and claims the date of March 8 for conducting a closing out sale.

Prayer Service Plans Completed For March 5th

On Friday of next week, Belmond will join with some 19,000 communities in this country and with others in 118 nations throughout the globe in observing the annual World Day of Prayer. The local observance will be directly sponsored by the Methodist, Congregational and Bethany Reformed churches, but all residents of Belmond are cordially invited to attend the program to be held at the Congregational church a week from Friday, March 5.

Theme of the program will be, "That They May Have Life" (John 10:10). Purpose of the universal day of prayer is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer and to make an offering for Christian missions at home and abroad. The observance here is scheduled for 7:30 in the evening.

Three Co-chairmen

Heading the Belmond committee as co-chairmen are Mrs. J. H. Miller of the Methodist church, Mrs. J. R. Gallagher of the Congregational and Mrs. Ralph Meyer of the Bethany Reformed.

Each year, a different country is responsible for preparing a common program intended for use throughout the world. This year it was India. Besides the customary prayer service, the observances will feature a dramatization entitled, "These Others." The prayer service was written by Sara Chakko, president of Isabella Thoburn college, Lucknow, India, who died not long after completing the assignment. The dramatization will have a cast of 21 characters, drawn from among members of the sponsoring churches.

Offering Divided

"Never has it been so important for Christians to understand world problems," observe the leaders of the local World Day of Prayer program. "In their solution lies the path of world peace. The work of missions — providing hospitals, schools, leadership, and the Christian message—is an important part of their solution."

Equal division of the special offerings is made by the National Council of Churches, which allocates it for interdenominational work as follows: at home—among American Indians, low-income farm communities and migrants; abroad—to provide literary material for women and children in India, Burma, Japan, Egypt, Africa and Latin America, for service among approximately 30,000 foreign students in the United States and for education of Christian leaders in interdenominational Christian colleges in the Orient.

'54 FORAGE SHOW-CLINIC SLATED AT CLARION IOOF HALL MARCH 5

Two, top specialists from Iowa State college will be featured speakers at the annual Wright County Forage Clinic and Show to be held on Friday of next week at the Clarion IOOF hall. They are Ralph Krenzin and Dale Hall.

One of the foremost forage authorities in the midwest, Mr. Krenzin will discuss various phases of forage production, including varieties and seed-bed preparation. He will show slides to illustrate common types of insects that attack forage crops, dwell at some length on the damage these insects do and on how to control them.

Mr. Hull will deal with the harvesting and storing of forage crops. He will discuss different methods that can be employed and go into the types of machinery needed and compare the costs of harvesting by various methods.

There will be four competitive classes in the forage show and first place winners in each will receive a prize valued at $5.00 Ribbons will be awarded to three place-winners in each division. Show entries should be in place by 10:00 a. m. The show will be conducted from 10:00 o'clock to noon. The speakers will be heard in the afternoon, starting at 1:30 o'clock.

All show samples must have been produced in Wright county during 1953. They will be judged on the basis of the farmer's ability to produce quality roughage from the grass or legume available.

Various classes, and their winners a year ago, are: loose or baled hay, Harry Poundstone; chopped hay, Hubert Heimstra; grass silage, Lynn Thompson; corn silage, John Jacobson The two ISC experts will do the judging.

There will be another class for forage of inferior quality. The judges will examine these samples and try to determine where the fault lay and suggest what could have been done to correct it.

Bronco Rally Whips Cadets 69-55

Belmond to Play Franklin Friday

Tomorrow night at 7:30 Belmond and Franklin Consolidated will play for the Iowa Falls district Class A basketball championship—and the right to advance to the sub-state rounds of play week after next. But there was a time Tuesday evening when an estimated 600 Belmond fans, watching the battling Broncos in an apparently futile struggle against much a taller and heavier foe, deeply despaired of those final pairings ever coming out as they did.

It was an uphill battle against the most discouraging odds that brought the Broncos out on top. Never did a Belmond team win a more sensational victory than that 69-55 decision over the rugged Iowa Falls Cadets. There wasn't a chest that didn't bulge with pride (or, for that matter, gasp for breath) as the horde of Purple and White followers filed out of the IFHS gymnasium at the end of the game.

34-30 at Halftime

Belmond kept in the thick of it throughout the first quarter, which found the Broncs trailing at the buzzer by only a point—14 to 13. Ken Loats was largely responsible for the stand-off as he racked up six points. As the second stanza started, Belmond grabbed a 15-14 lead when Loats hit again; but then the tide turned decidedly in the Cadets' favor.

In the next four minutes, Iowa Falls poured in 14 points while the Broncs added only four. With the rangy Cadets virtually monopolizing rebounds, their 28-19 advantage suggested the beginning of the end for the Belmond scrappers. But scrap they did, and by halftime they had narrowed the gap to 34-30.

Broncos Trail by 10

When Iowa Falls came back in the third quarter with three, consecutive baskets to run its margin to 10 points, 40-30, the outlook once more looked mighty dim. But the Broncos refused to believe they were whipped and dug in all the harder. More than that, they began to dominate play under the boards—and when that came to pass, the complexion of the game gradually turned. However, with little than a minute, left in the third period, the Cadets still led by eight, 48-36.

At this point, Belmond began the drive that brought it victory. Five quick points made the three-quarter score 46-43; and about three minutes of the final frame sufficed to put the Broncos out in front for the first time since the opening seconds of the second stanza. After nudging ahead 51-50, the winners never again fell behind.

Loats Tallies 20

With two minutes of playing time left, Belmond had expanded its edge to 59-51; and to clinch matters, the Broncs added 10 more points to the Cadets' four during the rough and tumble finish. The final count of 69-55 certainly gave no indication of the terrific effort that was required to bring it about.

Ken Loats was a key figure in the victory as he scored 20 points and did a magnificant job of rebounding when it counted the most. LeRoy Smith's work under the boards was also vital to the Broncos' winning surge; and he counted 12 points—eight of them in the last quarter. Larry Larson also turned in a whale of a game. He, too, tallied a dozen points, with eight coming during that final rally.

Schalk Tops Cadets

Keith Madsen was a "steady Eddy" from start to finish— and matched Larson's and Smith's totals. Ron Hansen hit only one fielder, but he notched seven free throws. He played his heart out and was an important cog in the Belmond machine. Donny Hoppel, with four points, was having an off night; but there isn't a Bronco backer but who is confident that his time will come.

Iowa Falls' three tallest men—Dick Schalk, Jim Thorpe and Rich Bourne— gave the Broncos fits until the trio tired in the pay-off stretch. They collected 14, 13 and 12 points, respectively.

On Monday night, Franklin Consolidated pulled a shocker by upsetting highly favored Nevada, 63-55. The Latimer-Coulter boys trailed throughout most of the game and at halftime were behind 34-25. It was not until the final three minutes that Franklin edged in front, but from there on the winners took the play entirely away from their smaller rivals. Gary and Milo Muhlenbruck, who are cousins, were the big guns in the Franklin offense. Each of them barreled in 22 points.

FUNERAL HELD SATURDAY FOR HARRY TRAFFORD, 67

Funeral services were held Saturday at Joliet, Ill., for Harry Trafford, 67, brother of W. H. Trafford of Belmond. The former died at Joliet, his home, on Tuesday of last week He had been in declining health for about three years and seriously ill during the past year.

Surviving Mr Trafford are his wife and a daughter, Mrs. Harvey Fant, both of Joliet; a sister, Mrs. Charles Rogers of Sycamore, Ill.; and the brother living here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trafford and Mr and Mrs L. T. Trafford went to Joliet to attend the funeral.

$275 CLAIMED

Mrs. Minnie Galloway stopped at the Mello Maid Ice Cream shop to partake of refreshment Tuesday afternoon—and walked away $275 richer than when she went in. As the 3:00 p. m. Cash Gift number (1,749) was announced, she idly jotted it down on her copy of The Independent. Then she "came alive" in a hurry as she noted that selfsame number printed on her paper. It was the first Cash Gift that's been won since the new 10-week series of drawings was initiated the first of this month. No. 2,563 was not presented at 2:00 o'clock, so the $25 it would have won will be added to $50 to make up next week's 3:00 o'clock prize. At 2:00, the amount will again be $25.

"LITTLE STORE" SOLD

In today's paper, Mr. and Mrs. Bernold Kinseth announce sale of the "Little Store," just north of the high school gymnasium, to Mr. and Mrs William Gifford. Mr Gifford had farmed until retiring from that occupation this winter. The Giffords say they will maintain the same store hours that have been observed by the Kinseths, including 4:00 to 6:30 p. m. on Sundays.

CARD PARTY POSTPONED

A conflict over dates made it necessary to postpone the Legion Auxiliary card party that had been planned for last night at Veterans' Memorial hall and it has been rescheduled for next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. As previously announced, there will be tables for canasta, pinochle and bridge, with prizes being awarded and luncheon served at the end of the evening.

Yanney Soybean Yield Ranks 2nd In State Contest; 3rd Best Ever

Harold Yanney of Renwick, winner of the 1953 soybean yield contest sponsored by the Belmond Chamber of Commerce, missed winning first place in the state yield contest by only 86-hundredths of a bushel. This news, which was at the same time gratifying and disappointing to the local champion, was learned at the annual banquet of the Iowa Crop Improvement association held last week in Des Moines.

With an average yield of 53.16 bushels per acre, Mr. Yanney took second in the state competition behind Revialo Rex of Boone, whose winning average was 54.02. Third, well behind the leaders, was Martin Huseman of Schaller with a yield of 45.76. Only the 1952 championship yield of 60.78 bushels has surpassed those of Mr. Yanney and Mr. Rex in the 15 years that the state contest has been conducted.

A planting of Hawkeye beans won for last year's champion, while both the second and third place winners planted the Adams variety. To the top winner went the John Sand Trophy donated by John Sand, prominent farmer from Marcus. Mr. Yanney was presented with a plaque put up by the Iowa Soya company of Redfield. Huseman received a trophy contributed by the Iowa Cooperative Soybean Processors association.

It is tentatively planned that the Wright county contest winners will be given their local awards at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce scheduled for two weeks from today. Mr. Yanney will receive a handsome medal and a certificate as an Iowa Master Soybean Grower from the Iowa Crop Improvement association in addition to the $30 cash award for first place. Second money of $20 in the C-of-C contest will go to John Halfpap and the $10 third prize to Eugene McLaughlin.

McNeal Says He'll Seek Third Term

Clark McNeal announces this week that he will be a candidate for nomination to a third term as state representative from Wright county on the Republican ticket in the June primary.

It is understood that a number of his constituents encouraged him to become a candidate for the state senatorship from the 37th district, in view of the decision of R. R. Bateson of Eldora not to seek re-election. But it was the feeling of the Belmond legislator that he could not spare time from his business obligations to do the campaigning that pursuit of the senatorial post would require.

In his two terms in the house of representatives, Mr. McNeal has established himself as an outstanding legislator and has played key roles in the passage of a number of major bills.

During the 55th General Assembly, he was one of the leaders in the successful effort to rescind the state tax on margarine and to permit the sale of pre-colored margarine in Iowa. He was also co-sponsor of the bill to increase the state gasoline tax by a cent, to provide additional funds for surfacing of secondary roads in Iowa.

Mr. McNeal has gained a reputation as one of the Republican party's more influential spokesmen at the statehouse and has earned high regard in the political sphere as well as in his role as a capable lawmaker.

Area Camp Fire Executive Paying Visit Here Today

Belmond Camp Fire Girls and the local committee of the organization are being honored today by a visit from Ruth Elizabeth Fouke, regional supervisor for Camp Fire Girls, Inc. Miss Fouke is in charge of a six-state area — Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming. She is spending the present week in the Heart of the Hawkeye Council territory, and Belmond is one of the few, smaller cities her limited time will permit her to visit.

A native of Ft. Collins, Colo., Miss Fouke is now a resident of Duluth, Minn. She is a graduate of Oklahoma City university and taught for a time before becoming a Camp Fire executive.

At 2:00 o'clock this afternoon, the supervisor will meet with the local Camp Fire group leaders and afterward will attend a regular meeting of one of the groups. Mrs. Dwight Tyrrell, local council president, says that Miss Fouke will meet with that body at 5:00 p. m.

On the council, besides Mrs. Tyrrell are: Dick Gowdy, vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Stevens, secretary; Charles Studebaker, treasurer; C. C. Carstens, civic chairman; Don Nolan and Dwight Tyrrell, camp committee; Mrs. Robert Garms and Mrs. Dick Gowdy, committee on awards; and Rev. J. Heber Miller, extension and training chairman; Gladys Darrah and Mrs. Don McNulty. New council officers for the current year will be elected at this afternoon's meeting.

Historical Society To Launch County Centennial Plans

Wright County Historical Society will hold its annual meeting Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the court room at Clarion.

This meeting is especially important since plans will be launched for a Wright county centennial celebration to be held in either 1954 or 1955, says President Raynard Richardson of Goldfield.

Commerical and social clubs that would like to participate in this movement, either locally or on a countywide basis, are asked to have representatives present.

Officers for the organization will be elected and an outline of how Wright county should proceed with the centennial celebration will be formulated, if possible.

Nielsen Youth, 16, Fatally Injured In Tragic Mishap

David B. Nielsen, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Nielsen of Rowan, lost his life early Saturday morning when struck by a car on Highway 18 at the north edge of Garner. He had been to the Surf ball room at Clear Lake with his cousin, Donald Waddington, and Harvey Hosick, both of Belmond. Waddington's car, which young Nielsen was driving, had gone in the ditch and a wrecker was summoned to pull it out. It was while David was flagging traffic as the tow-car extricated the auto that a passing vehicle struck the Rowan youth.

On Aug. 2 of last year, Nielsen barely escaped death when a car in which he, Waddington and two other boys were riding went into the swampy ditch just southwest of Tyrrell bridge on Highway 69. At that time, he was pinned beneath the auto but was saved from drowning by quick action on the part of a truck driver.

Poor Visibility Blamed

Saturday morning about 1:30 o'clock the three young men had planned to make a stop in Garner on their way home, but due to fog and rain they had missed the corner leading downtown. Nielsen pulled the car onto the shoulder with the intention of turning around, but the soft dirt gave way and the auto skidded into the north ditch. The wrecker had been obtained from a nearby service station and was going about its rescue job when the tragic mishap took place.

John Finch of Crystal Lake, driving from the east accompanied by two companions, said he did not see Nielsen or the tow-car due to the poor visibility. His auto crashed first into the Rowan youth and then into the tow-line connecting the wrecker and Waddington's car. Nielsen suffered a broken neck and was proounced dead by Dr. C. V. Hamilton of Garner when he examined the victim at the accident site.

Rites Held Monday

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Rowan Methodist church, conducted by Rev. R. H. Lingard. Burial was in the Rowan cemetery. Pallbearers were young friends of the deceased: Jack McGrath and David Soma of Belmond, Roger Rietz, Roger Johnson, Herbert Hackbarth and Steve Heathershaw, all of Rowan. Honorary pallbearers were Ivan Lyke of Rowan and Donald Nelson of Waterloo, two especially close friends of young Nielsen.

David was not currently attending school, but was helping his father on the farm. Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers—Robert, age 11, and Dale, 8. Also surviving are his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Waddington, who live with the Nielsens. David would have reached his 17th birthday on April 21.

Board Candidates Now 5 in Number

A full slate of candidates for the first board election of the Belmond Community School District was in the making this week as papers were circulated for two director nominees from the present Belmond Independent School district.

Representing Belmond on the ballot will be the names Robert Garms and Mrs. Lee Mussell. The plan to have two present members of the Blemond Independent District school board as candidates failed to materialize. It is expected, though, that both Mr. Garms and Mrs. Mussell will prove popular choices among the voters of the new district.

Both of the Belmond nominees have been active in civic and social affairs of the community and are highly regarded. Mr. Garms is at present head of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce.

Deadline for filing nomination papers is noon tomorrow. As of presstime, there was no indication that there would be more than the five candidates on the ballot when voting is conducted on March 8. Papers were filed some time ago for Carl Green of Goodell, Harold Simerson of Belmond township and Gerald McNulty of Pleasant.

Randall Klemme Pays Brief Visit

Dr. Randall Klemme, representative of the Ford Foundation in India, was a weekend visitor in the home of his parents, Mr and Mrs. Ray Klemme. He had made a flying trip back to the States from his headquarters at Karachi to line up more assistants to help him carry on the Foundation's program.

Doctor Klemme was invited to be guest speaker at the regular, Sunday morning service at the Methodist church. He took as his subject, "A Christian in Islam," drawing comparisons between the Christian and Mohammedan beliefs and telling of the problems that these disparities create.

Hy-Line CHICKS
Average $1.30 MORE income per hen

A fat egg check can be your weekly reward for buying Hy-Lines. In over 1,000 Divided Flock Tests, Hy-Lines brought in $1.30 more income per hen than other chickens, using average egg prices for the test years. And that's $1.30 more in only 11 months of lay!

Because Hy-Lines don't take as much feed per dozen eggs produced, not such a big chunk of your egg check goes for feed. That fat Hy-Line egg check leaves lots of room for groceries and clothes.

Rockettes Beaten In District Finals By Williams Team

Meservey's Rockettes, after avenging two previous defeats by taking a thrilling, one-point decision over Franklin Consolidated in the Mason City district basketball tournament last week, faltered in the finals to miss a trip to the state meet at Des Moines. The tourney crown went to Williams, 40-31.

Williams came back from an early 8-1 deficit to lead 24-14 at the half and the Rockettes were unable to take up the slack. JoAnn Walker, the winners' star guard, provided the key to victory when she held Marlene Kaduce to just two baskets. Esther Blau tallied 16 points for the Meservey sextet, while Marlene's total was held to 11.

Two of the Rockettes were awarded berths on the all-tournament team selected by the Mason City Globe-Gazette. Kaduce was placed at a forward post and Norene Vierkant at guard. Vierkant's play drew special praise.

Loats, Hoppel Make NI All-Conference First Team

Two members of the championship Belmond team were awarded first team berths as North Iowa all-conference selections were made last week by sportswriters from the seven towns in the conference. Forward Ken Loats and Guard Don Hoppel were the Broncos honored. Lake Mills, Forest City, Garner and Britt placed a man each on the first team, which included one utility player in addition to the regulation five men.

Keith Madsen was chosen at guard on the second team. BHS performers who were accorded honorable mention were LeRoy Smith, Ronnie Hansen and Larry Larson.

Osbrink Repeats

There was only one repeater from last season's all-conference first team—John Osbrink of Forest City, at forward. Jon Swenson of Lake Mills, center, and Merle Garman of Britt, who played both forward and guard, advanced from the second team to the first. Forward "Chub" Winter of Buffalo Center and Guard Bennie Riekena of Forest City were second team choices for a second time.

Center Daryle Jass of Garner was promoted from third team to the first, and Forward Ron Snater of Garner from third to the second team. No third team was named by the sports scribes this time.

Loats' 35 A Record?

Loats and Hoppel, along with Madsen, were key players in the well-balanced Bronco team that took the NI title without suffering a defeat. None of them were spectacular scorers, although Loats' 35-point performance at Britt is regarded as a possible all-time loop "high." Since no conference statistics are kept from year to year, it is not readily possibly to substantiate the suspicion as a fact.

Among rival coaches, Loats was the most highly regarded of all the Broncos. He had better than a 16-point scoring average for the season and about 14 points in league play. His value to the team lay not in the scoring alone, however. He was probably the best front-line defensive man in the conference and was an excellent rebounder.

Top-Scoring Guard

Hoppel was the shortest man in the top six, at only 5-7. His size constituted a very minor handicap, however. He was recognized as among the loop's best on defense, was a fine play-maker and was the highest scorer in the conference among the players that regularly filled a guard position. He had a 13-point average in NI competition.

Osbrink scored an average of 16.5 points during Forest City's 22-game card. No scoring figures were provided on him, pertaining to league play alone. His defensive work was consistently good and he gathered in an average of 12 rebounds per game.

Swenson Averages 20

Garman, although assigned to guard, played a good share of the time at forward, too. His scoring was on a par with Osbrink's. Though he had relatively bad nights in his games with Belmond and Northwood, he was one of the most dangerous marksmen in the loop and led the Eagles to several major upsets and near-upsets.

There was little to choose between Swenson and Daryle Jass when it came to selecting the loop's No. 1 center. Big Jon led the conference scorers with an average of 20 points, but Jass was close behind with 18.6. Both men were excellent rebounders and generally good on defense. Swenson's 225-pound bulk was an asset when he was fresh, but now and then turned into a handicap towards the end of a fast game.

Three All-Stars Returning

Both Winter and Snater on occasions were right on a par with the first-team forwards, but lacked Osbrink's and Loats' game-to-game consistency. "Chub" was considered one of the finest shots in the conference and, at his peak, was a tough defensive man. He averaged 15 points per game. Snater's average was two points less, but he was perhaps a shade more dependable under the hoop than the Bison star.

"Norrie" Julson was the tallest man in the conference and used his height to good advantage. He averaged 16.3 points in NI play and was largely responsible for making the Vikings at all times a tough opponent. Like Daryle Jass and Madsen—among the first and second team selectees—he'll be back next year.

Madsen Good Defender

Madsen rated right behind Hoppel as a scorer, among the NI basketeers who played exclusively at guard. He averaged 10.7 against loop foes. As a defensive threat, opponents found him as pesky as a bluebottle fly at milking time. He broke up numerous plays and invariably kept his assigned man down to a minimum of points.

Riekena, at the other second team guard post, was one of the league's best ball-handlers and, like Hoppel, a fine play-maker. Although he averaged just 10 points per game, he was a constant offensive threat. His team mate, Armstrong, gave Forest City a backcourt combination second only to Belmond's. Jerry averaged nine points, besides doing an outstandingly competent job on defense.

Larson an Ace Replacement

Larry Larson was an obvious choice for honorable mention at guard in that he could step into the breech with either Madsen or Hoppel sidelined and keep the Bronco machine clicking on all cylinders. That was a genuine achievement, regarding the exceptional abilities of the two, regular starters.

LeRoy Smith was one of the big surprises in the conference this year. He fit into the Belmond quintet as an important cog. Though rarely brilliant in his play, was highly competent. It might be observed that there was very little to choose between him and Gene Mehl, and that Coach Jim Crimmings counts heavily on the latter filling a key role on next year's Bronco team.

Ronnie Hansen was unquestionably one of the most improved players in the loop and played an important part in bringing the championship to Belmond. Among the men on the honor roll, only he, Smith, Schmidt of Forest City and Glime of Garner will be back for more action next season.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS

Last week the North Iowa conference secretary released the all-conference team chosen on the basis of a poll conducted among the varsity players. Since the sportswriters have always been guided very largely by recommedations of their home players and coaches, it is hardly a coincidence that the cagers' all-opponent team agrees 100 per cent with the scribes' selections.

Only difference between the two "first teams" was a switch on the positioning of Belmond's Ken Loats and Britt's Merle Garman. The players put Loats at guard, and Garman at forward — the writers, vice versa. John Osbrink (FC) was the other forward, Jon Swenson (LM) center, and Don Hoppel of the Broncos the second guard.

Garner's Daryle Jass, who was sixth best vote-getter in the players' poll, was named at the utility spot on the newsmen's first team. The loop survey gave Keith Madsen of Belmond, Bennie Riekena of Forest City and "Chub" Winter of Buffalo Center honorable mention. Each was a second team choice of the writers. The latter, incidentally, made their selections without reference to the player survey.

—PSS—

It was unanimously reported by the sportswriters who gathered at Forest City last Thursday night for their annual all-star confab that the coaches at their home schools seemed to prefer that the newspapers continue to take responsibility for making the all-conference selections. In deference to the coaches' sentiments, the scribes will stick by their practice of the past four years of picking the NI all-stars at the conclusion of each football and basketball season.

What's this old gag, "With age comes experience"? Darlene Busick sure showed the gals in the city bowling meet that neither age NOR experience is essential to be a pin-buster. That winning singles series of hers (585) was 48 pins better than the score that copped top money for Deloris Withers last year. And her all-events! Who-o-e-e-e! Deloris took that one a year ago with 1,489. Darlene beat THAT total by 139! Not bad for a kid who's been bowling only a couple of years or so. . . . Incidentally, take note that the 1953 score that won the all-events would have been good for no better than 6th in the tourney just concluded.

—PSS—

Last week we mentioned how close most of the men's bowling league races are this year. Take a look at the Tri-City as it stood at the end of last week. Three teams tied for first with 40-32 records and the 4th place outfit with 39-33. That's what we mean—CLOSE!

—PSS—

Coach Crimmings added another "graduate" of the freshman-sophomore cage squad to the varsity roster last week as the Broncos prepared for their appearance in the district meet at Iowa Falls. Bruce Hall was the boy promoted. Roger "Joe" Smith, another ex-Colt, donned a varsity uniform the latter part of the regular season. A tournament squad of 12 men is permitted. It includes, of course, the seven "regulars:" Ken Loats, LeRoy Smith, Ronnie Hansen, Don Hoppel, Keith Madsen, Larry Larson and Gene Mehl. Completing the group—Ron Steenblock, Bob Barry and Jerry Dorr.

Darlene Busick, 15, And Her Mother Monopolize Honors in Pin Tourney

Busicks pretty well ran away with top honors as the annual women's city bowling tournament was completed last week. Darlene Busick, who is only 15 years old, smashed a couple tournament records while taking first place in both the singles and all-events; and her mother, Alice (Mrs. Dale) Busick, shared the doubles championship with Jo Mariga. Mother and daughter were members of the title-winning Greenhouse team, also.

Darlene turned in a "scratch" 518 on games of 167-148-203 in the singles for a gross score of 585, a total never before matched in city tournament play. Her gross scores in the team and doubles competition were 520 and 523, giving her 1,628 in the all-events another new mark. For her nine tournament lines, Darlene averaged 158.5 without handicap.

Alice Shares Doubles

Mrs. Busick added to the family glory by joining efforts with Mrs. Mariga for a first-place 1,047 in the doubles and taking second in the all-events with a nine-game total of 1,530. Mrs. Busick missed the prize list in the singles. Otherwise, she and Darlene figured in the money in every one of the tournament events.

Other singles winners, following the champion, were: Alberta Middleton 527, Olga Rogalla 517, Lois Hafermann 515, Nita Williams 498, Shirley Nelson 495, Jo Mariga 492, Lillian Nelson 491, Irene McMannus 489 and Emma Thompsen 488. Prize money was paid for the first 10 places, as follows: $9, $7, $6, $5, $4.50, $4, $3.50, $3, $2 and $1.

Other Winning Duos

Following the Busick-Mariga combine in the doubles were: Phyllis Pals-Donna Robertson 1,039, Janyce Kinseth-Marjorie Gruis 983, Shirley Nelson-Mary Lu Dorr 980, Opal Cuppet Emma Thompsen 964, Irene McMannus-Nadine Smith 957, Loretta Smith-Marion Kinseth 953, Arlene Johnson-Darlene Busick and Catherine Chapman-Lillian Campbell, each 949. Prizes in this event ran: $12, $10, $8, $6, $4, $3.50, $2.50 and $2.00.

Other all-events scores making the money were those of: Alice Busick 1,530, Donna Robertson 1,517, Lois Hafermann 1,500, Alberta Middleton 1,498, Nita Williams 1,475, Mary Gordon 1,457, Irene McMannus 1,452, Opal Cuppet and Emma Thompsen, each 1,451. The prize money was split: $4.50, $3.50, $3, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50, $1.25, $1 and $1.

CHICK CHATS

No Fraternizing Between Hens and Chicks

Usually parents raise their children so that they come in contact with older folks. This is necessary so that the child knows how to conduct himself properly. He slowly learns how to act like an adult.

Baby chicks need no such learning. They can learn by themselves. They'll act like hens when they get old enough and with no meddling from their elders.

So, keep the chicks away from the hens. Those hens generally carry a lot of diseases with them even though they aren't sick. And these diseases can be awfully tough on baby chicks.

Then there's worms. Worms are nice for fishing but the kind that get inside a chicken aren't good for anything except the guy that sells feed. The worms eat the feed the chick swallows and doesn't leave much for the chick. So the chick has to eat more to live. And the chick with worms doesn't grow fast if at all—if it lives, yet too. Hens carry worms to chicks.

Probably the worst killer the hen is suspected of carrying is the leucosis bug. Chicks exposed to hens won't get sick right away. If they catch the bug, they come down with leucosis about the time they start heavy production. That's kind of a shame, too, after you've fed them for 6 months.

Leucosis is responsible for about 50 percent of the nation's laying house losses. I'll bet a buck to a cruller that the main reason for this heavy leucosis loss is because the folks don't brood their chicks far enough away from the hens.

The hen house and the brooder house should be at least 50 yards apart. The brooder should be up hill and up-wind from the hens. If this can't be done, the distance between houses should be much greater.

And always take care of the baby chicks first. That way you won't track disease from the hens to the chicks.

Keep 'em apart. Start off this flock with a clean slate. They'll pay you back for every extra foot you have to walk.

BS-6 ILLINGDALE MATADOR B. M.

ABANDONMENT OF THE REPORT CARD WILL PASS UNMOURNED BY MANY

Shades of McGuffey! The American Association of School Administrators now predicts the day is not far distant when the report card, that venerable barometer of childhood intelligence and obedience, will soon join the buggy whip and horsehair sofa in the limbo of bygone days.

Of course, grading "by the numbers" has been passe for some years now. In Ye Ed's day, the "smart ones" groaned over a 90 where a 95 was expected, and the duller scholars strained mightily for that mystical 75 that would permit them to accompany their classmates to [illegible] of higher learning represented by the next grade.

Having a younger sister in school acquainted us with the transition to alphabetical grade designations. It must have been an innovation much regretted by those stalwart few who likewise sought the [illegible] 100 and completed their school careers with an improbable 97 or 98 recorded to their infinite credit. There was something rather impersonal about A's, B's and C's. Even the possessor of a D could take some satisfaction in that it was only the fourth letter from the top. The spread between an A and a D certainly wasn't so degrading as the contrast between a proud 99 and demoralizing 75.

Then our own kids grew up and we were introduced to the SUI system (satisfactory, unsatisfactory and improvement shown). So long as one of the youngsters doesn't prove an utter flop in a scholastic subject, we are kept in benign ignorance as to whether the chip off the old block is progressing with flying colors or just skinning by.

Teachers seem to deliberate seriously before recording an uncomplimentary "U" against one of their charges in a regular class subject. It's been our experience that they exercise much less restraint when it comes to evaluating childish achievements in the social graces. The parents of at least one lower grader felt all the gratification of producing a valedictorian when a lingering "U" in the art of speaking-only-when-spoken-to was hopefully transformed into an "I".

So far as we're concerned, if a report card is to serve no further purpose than to inform us that our offspring apparently stands an even chance of ultimately being able to earn his own bread and butter — or is developing social presence enough to save him from ostracism — well, they can just as well skip it. A personal note from the teacher four times a year, it seems to us, would suffice just as well.

In all fairness though, your writer should confess that his thinking in regard to report cards is somewhat warped by personal experience. He's never quite gotten over the fact that "the dumbest kid in class" grade records will bear out right to the [illegible] from his own school days could at the present time buy and sell any dozen of the brighter lights. You can't eat 99's and 98's, no more can you keep yourself warm with A's or A-pluses. And the fact remains that not infrequently those grade book dullards turned out to be dumb like a fox.

Yep, we'd say the educators have the right idea. The conventional report card has outlived its usefulness [illegible].

THAT McNEAL HAT IS A GOOD CHAPEAU TO HAVE BACK IN THE POLITICAL RING

Announcement this week [illegible] has [illegible] the [illegible] state representative [illegible] Wright county should be pleased [illegible] whom he has served so well [illegible].

He's a good "party man," but at the same time we feel confident that he would not let party interests lead him toward goals which he could not personally approve. We've said before, and we say again, Wright county is fortunate to have a man of [illegible] calibre willing to be its representative in the statehouse. If he's willing to serve another term [illegible] and it's apparent [illegible] the people of Wright county should see that he gets it.

Be it resolved, that in view of the various reports of the 1953 Grand Jury of Wright County, and in view of letter dated May 12, 1953, from Zack T. Cook, Iowa State Fire Marshal, all concerning the condition and state of repair of the Wright County Jail, and in consideration of the fact that the said repairs said to be necessary to effectively improve and correct the alleged hazardous condition of the present jail structure involve an almost prohibitive expense, and in consideration of the fact that the present jail is an older type structure, with very litle present worth,

And whereas, it appears to this Board that it would not be practicable to repair the present structure in view of the foregoing, as required by the letter from the State Fire Marshal.

Now, therefore, the Board hereby directs the County Attorney to investigate the necessary legal procedures incident to the submission of the question of building a new jail, preferably on the present jail site, to the voters of Wright County, Iowa, at the next general election, and incident to the matter of authorizing County of Public Bonds therefore and levying proper and necessary taxes for payment thereof.

Be it further resolved, that the members of the Board proceed to investigate the advisability of proceeding with a plan to build, or a plan to repair, taking into consideration not only the foregoing, but also the present condition and facilities in the courthouse and the condition, location and facilities in other county owned and/or operated buildings, and in connection therewith that the Board determine what facilities are necessary in and to a new or improved jail and the approximate cost thereof.

Motion was carried and resolution duly adopted.

Seven "Film-Coated" Ingredients Offer Positive Relief

The crippling, torturing, twisting pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism may soon be forgotten, thanks to an exciting new laboratory discovery named Ar-Pan-Ex.

Ar-Pan-Ex was perfected by a noted scientist of a world-famed university, working with all known facts about these crippling ailments. The result is a safe, easy to take tablet that promotes the fastest relief known from that stabbing agony.

Ar-Pan-Ex is compounded of seven active ingredients including a special new medicine to help provide longer lasting relief. Ar-Pan-Ex exclusively perfected to curb chronic, deep-seated pains.

Why AR-PAN-EX Helps

Ar-Pan-Ex does not dissolve uselessly in the stomach—avoids stomach distress. Ar-Pan-Ex is scientifically "Film-Coated" so that ALL the powerful, pain-relieving medicine is released only in the small intestine where it can be quickly carried by the blood stream to every pain-wracked muscle joint and nerve. Swelling, stiffness and soreness may seem to be miraculously eased when Ar-Pan-Ex helps the system throw off excess Uric Acid that can also aggravate pains.

Nothing Like AR-PAN-EX

Nothing ever offered before can bring results faster, more effectively or with longer lasting benefits than Ar-Pan-Ex. It may mean a renewed life of usefulness and pleasure to millions.

Ask for genuine Ar-Pan-Ex today at any drug store for the kind of relief no other product can claim to equal. If your druggist is out of it, he will be glad to order it for you.

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

While sheep triplets are not the rarity that human triplets are, nevertheless they're unusual enough to bring a happy gleam to the eye of a sheep raiser. With yearling ewes, a single lamb is the rule; with older ewes, a farmer always has the right to hope for twins. But hoping for triplets is pretty much on a par with asking for gilt on your lily.

Consequently, the fact that three Belmond FFA boys have reported triplet births in their flocks — and two other, local Future Farmers have been TWICE thrice-blessed in this manner — has Advisor Don Collinson wondering just what to expect next.

Larry Mennenga, Ervin Johnson and Everett Toft are the boys who each increased their flocks by three at a single lambing. Bob McLaughlin and Vernon McLaughlin have both hit the triplet jackpot twice. Twenty-one lambs, where seven were expected! Is there no limit to what these modern farming methods can achieve, Mr. Collinson?

Having followed with great interest the remarkable career of Randall Klemme as an economist and administrative expert (he's now parleying his talents in behalf of the Ford Foundation), Ye Ed was no little chagrined to discover that in last week's paper he'd put Randall to work in India.

We know very well that he's assigned to Pakistan — but Ye Ed was uncertain about the spelling of Karachi, where Randall has his headquarters. That's where we came acropper. We looked it up.

In our 1944 dictionary, the pronouncing gazetteer identifies the city as "Karachi, India;" and while his mental wheels spun, Gallagher let that "India" infiltrate into the story. That's something we'll watch, hereafter. There are a lot geographical "facts" in that '44 dictionary that just "ain't no more."

Subsequent to the annual meeting of the Belmond Co-operative Creamery, we inquired of our "staff historian," Thera Fitts, if she could shed any light on the age of this enterprise. We know that the present building was erected in 1911, but were sure that a creamery business must have been in operation here for some time before that. The direct predecessor of the co-op was the Farmer's Co-operative Creamery, organized in [illegible].

But before that was a creamery operated by one S. E. Allen, which in its later days, at least, was association with the Northern Iowa Creamery Co. of Forest City. In an 1895 issue of the Iowa Valley Press, an article had the following to say:

"Step within the creamery west of the river and you will see one of the neatest of butter-houses. Active cream-gatherers are employed, who deal in a businesslike manner with the farmers of the adjoining country. The people of Belmond are supplied with the best of butter, and great quantities of it are shipped. The proprietor, S. E. Allen, has been engaged in the creamery business in our city for a number of years, and has always given entire satisfaction."

BENSON SALE MONDAY

Anton Benson, who is quitting farming, will hold a closing out sale next Monday at the farm he has been operating. It is located two miles north, a mile west and three-quarters of a mile north of Belmond. Offerings at the sale, which starts at 1:00 p. m., will include a full line of machinery and farm equipment, four cows, 85 laying hens and a variety of other items. An advertisement of the sale will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Make Reservation For Bronco Fete, Cage Fans Urged

President Cecil Carstens reports that the Lions club's plans for a banquet to honor Belmond High school's varsity and freshman-sophomore basketball squads are progressing steadily. Setting of a definite date has been delayed, however, until arrangements have been made to obtain a major speaker for the occasion.

It has been decided to hold the affair at Veterans' Memorial hall, since that site is capable of seating the largest crowd. Mr. Carstens says that about 350 tickets can be made available to the public, after adequate provision has been made for coaches, players and managers.

A charge of $2.00 will be made for the banquet to cover cost of the meal and expense of obtaining a "name" speaker. Any surplus left from ticket sales will be applied on the purchase of a trophy, or similar memento, to be presented to the school by the Lions to commemorate the fine season that the Bronco and Colt cagers have had this year.

Tickets will be sold strictly on a first-come, first-served basis and Mr. Carstens anticipates that the demand will far outstrip the supply. Men wishing to make certain that they will be able to obtain tickets are asked to make reservations with Mr. Carstens, Dr. A. M. Larson, Russ Dougherty, Dr. P. A. [illegible] or Clair Hugh.

Firemen Ready to Go on Station Project

Plan Immediate Drive for Funds

Chief A. W. "Doc" Johnson announced this week that the Belmond fire department is ready to get underway on its announced plans for construction of a new fire station on the city property just east of the city hall. It will cost an estimated $9,000, with $2,000 of that amount to be provided from funds at present in the fire department's treasury. The other $7,000 will be raised by public subscription in the course of a campaign that will be conducted at once.

Ever since the fire department bought a third truck back in 1948, the space in the present firehouse has been inadequate to house the fire-fighting equipment in a satisfactory manner. One of the major handicaps involved has been lack of space in which to dry the hoses after a bad fire during damp or snowy weather, according to Chief Johnson.

Will Avoid Traffic Blocks

Perhaps an even more important drawback to the present truck quarters that will be overcome by the new station is the risk of traffic congestion blocking departure of the trucks when answering a call. Now and then, serious difficulty has been experienced in trying to get the trucks past vehicles parked in the alley south of the city hall — occasionally meaning minutes lost before a fire could be reached.

Another advantage adhering to construction of the new station lies in the fact that space previously occupied by the fire trucks can be used to house city road equipment that up to now has had to be left out in the weather. The city council feels that it will add up to a considerable saving in cheaper maintenance and longer wear that the equipment of the street department can be properly protected when not in use.

Clay Block Construction

Plans have been drafted for the new fire station to take the form of a building 45x62 feet in dimension with clay block sides and brick front. It will face north, on First street NE, and the length of the building will extend north and south. It will handily house all three trucks — the one purchased by the city back in the '20's and the two bought in '36 and '48 by the fire company through sale of farm shares.

In addition, the structure will provide a meeting hall for members of the fire department, also a kitchenette and a wash room. Heretofore the firemen have had no pri-

ALVAR NELSON
Bible Conference Speaker

Series of Lenten Meetings Planned

Alvar L. Nelson of the Lutheran Bible Institute, Minneapolis, Minn., will be guest speaker and teacher at a Bible conference to be conducted at the Trinity Lutheran church over a five-day period beginning this Sunday. It will be under sponsorship of the Trinity-St. Olaf parish.

According to Rev. O. M. Severseike, pastor of the parish, Mr. Nelson will use as his general theme a subject appropriate to the Lenten season, "Behold Your Suffering Savior." His first appearance on Sunday morning will be at the St. Olaf church, but the rest of his sermons will be at the Trinity. Other than one Sunday morning, the conference sessions will start at 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

Sub-topics of Mr. Nelson's series of talk will be: "By Moonlight and Torchlight," Sunday, 9:30 a. m. at St. Olaf and 11:00 a. m. at Trinity; "By Lamplight and Firelight," Sunday evening; "In the Gray Dawn," Monday night; "In the Morning Light," Tuesday night; "In Sunlit Streets," Wednesday night; "In Noonday Darkness," Thursday night.

The public is cordially invited to attend the conference sessions and hear the messages brought by Mr. Nelson, the Rev. Mr. Severseike says.

BRONCS VS. INDIANS IN SUB-STATE TUESDAY

Only one thing was settled by announcement of the sub-state basketball pairings this week. The North Iowa conference, with two teams still in the running at the sub-state level for the first time in NIC history, will at best have not more than one representative at Iowa City for the final tournament. That much was made certain when first round pairings for the sub-state to be held at Ames pitted Belmond against Forest City.

Whether or not the NI loop will have that one, possible flag-bearer among the "sweet 16" will depend upon how the Belmond-Forest City winner fares against the lower-bracket survivor at Ames. Valley High of West Des Moines and Carroll will contend for the right to oppose the North Iowa survivor in the title round.

Both first round tilts are scheduled for next Tuesday night, Belmond and Forest City clashing at 7:00 p. m. and the other two teams at 8:30.

Since tournament play began, the Forest City Indians have been showing the best brand of ball they have exhibited all season. In the Garner district they slaughtered Algona, 70-54, in the opening round. Then, with three starters benched during a good share of the game, they rallied in the fourth quarter to dash the host Cardinals' hopes, 65-57. This win gave the FC entry a 19-5 mark for the season.

In view of the number of teams that have been tripped up in a third game after administering two previous lickings to a tourney foe, it is locally regarded as questionable taste to mention that two of the Indian's defeats were at the hands of the Broncos. On the other hand, the players are keenly aware that several top teams HAVE pulled the three-in-a-row trick.

At Adel, West Des Moines took the measure of Indianola 54-49 to make it 26 wins in 28 starts for Valley this season. Carroll, champions of the Midwest league, won the Class A title at Jefferson with a 65-50 decision over Glidden, where Jim Crimmings coached before coming to Belmond.

Now tutored by Paul Bruns, coach at Fertile last year, the Carroll team's record includes a loss to Manning — lone conqueror of Belmond this season — and a later top-heavy victory over the Bulldogs. Carroll also suffered a four-point upset loss at the hands of Fertile over the Christmas holidays.

Artie Baker Dies; Taught In School Here for 6 Years

Artie Baker, for six years a grade teacher here, died Tuesday at her home in Promise City. She had taken over her customary classroom duties at the start of the current school year, but had to take leave of absence a week later to undergo major surgery. The operation was unsuccessful in improving a gall bladder condition and Mrs. Baker was a patient at the Iowa Methodist hospital in Des Moines most of the remaining months of her life.

This would have been Mrs. Baker's seventh year as a member of the local school staff. She was reading teacher in the 5th and 6th grades. A widow when she accepted the teaching position here, Artie Haines was married in 1951 to Leo Baker of Promise City.

Funeral services were to be held at 2:00 p. m. today (Thursday) at the Methodist church in Promise City.

Survivors, besides Mr. Baker, include two sons and a daughter by the deceased's previous marriage — Robert and Richard Haines, living in Rapid City, S. D., and a married daughter living in Alaska.

M. F. MADIGAN DIES

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Benson, accompanied by Mrs. F. O. Fitts, attended funeral services at Mason City held Monday for M. F. Madigan, a former Belmond resident.

Just One School Election Now Set For Next Monday

Because of a minor, legal complication, the election of directors for the Belmond Community School district has been postponed for one week and will not be conducted until the Monday of March 15. This automatically extends the deadline by which nominations may be filed until noon tomorrow. However, since no papers have been obtained for additional candidates, it appears that the field will remain limited to just five contenders for the five board positions.

Those five, as previously announced, are Carl Green of Goodell, Harold Simerson of Belmond township, Gerald McNulty of Pleasant township, Mrs Lee Mussell and Robert Garms of Belmond. C. C. Benson will be candidate for treasurer

Supt. Don Faris says that Hancock county voters will cast their ballots as the Goodell Community hall and those living in Wright county will vote at the Belmond City hall.

As matters now stand, the only directors to be elected on Monday of next week will be two to fill out the interim period of March 15 to June 30 that the Belmond Independent board will continue to function. Bert Kalkwarf and Dr. S. P. Leinbach have been nominated for these short terms. Both are running to succeed themselves on the board. The elections both this coming Monday and on March 15 will be conducted from noon to 7:00 p. m.

Hiemstra Elected To Soil Position

Hubert Hiemstra of Clarion was elected as commissioner of the Wright County Soil Conservation District at the annual meeting of the district held Wednesday of last week at the Clarion Methodist church. He succeeds Oscar Holmes of Dows, who had been on the commission since its formation in 1946.

Some 150 persons from all parts of the county were in attendance and greatly enjoyed an entertaining address by H. G. Gramlich, agricultural agent for the North Western railroad.

CASH UNCLAIMED

Those Belmond business firms bent on giving away money looked high (No. 2,874 at 2:00 p. m.) and low (No. 184 at 3:00) last Tuesday without finding a claimant for either of this week's Cash Gift Day awards. As a consequence the respective prizes of $25 and $75 remained "in the till"—so next Tuesday's awards will be $25 and $150.

4-Year-Old Hurt In Fall from Car

Neal Rabe, 4½-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. William Rabe, narrowly escaped critical injury Monday morning when he fell through a car door onto a gravel road. He was rushed to Belmond Community hospital, where he was treated for severe facial and scalp abrasions, a bad laceration on his upper lip and possible brain concussion. At mid-week he was still under observation at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Rabe were in the process of moving from their home northwest of Belmond to Alexander on Monday. Herman Heginger was driving Mrs. Rabe, Neal and his older sister to their new home when the mishap occured 2½ miles east on the farm-to-market road extending from north Third street.

Mr. Heginger and his wife were in the front seat and the three members of the Rabe family were in the rear when the door suddenly flew open and Neal tumbled from the car. He was sent sprawling on the gravel, but promptly gained his feet and raced after the auto — a very badly frightened little boy. Mr. Heginger hurried him to the hospital. The youngster will remain a patient there until all danger from the possible concussion is past.

DEATH TAKES MRS. KING

Word was received here this week of the death last Sunday of Mrs Ida King at the Methodist hospital at Peoria, Ill. Burial rites were held Tuesday at Wellman. Mrs. King was the mother of Mrs. Leo Veeder and an aunt of Ben and Albert Fetrow.

Mrs. Henry Stokke entertained Century club at her home Tuesday evening. Mrs. M. C. Jensen reviewed the book "The Silent World" by Capt. J. Y. Cousteau.

Hike in Municipal Water Rates Will Help Finance Job

Specific steps towards making Belmond's long-needed municipal sewage disposal plant a reality were taken at the regular session of the city council Monday night when two resolutions providing ways and means for financing the project were duly adopted. As a result, the proposed plant may go up before the end of this year if no unforseen obstacles are encountered.

Action in this matter became a "must" three years ago when the state department of health informed the local administration that no further additions to the municipal sanitary sewer system would be permitted until a proper disposal plant was erected. This meant, in effect, that growth of the community would be seriously hampered until the city complied with the state order

Estimated Cost, $140,000

A tentative survey of the problem was conducted by Rowat-Murray, Engineers, some time ago. This indicated that a plant costing approximately $140,000 would be required to meet the city's needs. Establishment of a sewer rental fee by the council in 1951 represented an initial step to acquire funds toward the construction of the needed disposal plant.

At a recent special meeting, the council conferred with E. C. Carpenter of Des Moines on the subject of financing the plant. The Des Moines attorney, a specialist in the municipal bonding field, recommended that funds be raised through a combination of revenue and general obligation bonds so the heaviest share of the cost will be met by residents directly benefiting from the sanitary sewer system.

Two Types of Bonds

As a consequence, the council has under consideration a proposal by Mr. Carpenter that $60,000 of the expense be met by issuance of revenue bonds that will be paid off by users of city water. The other $80,000 would be raised by issuance of general obligation bonds, to be retired from funds raised by taxation.

The two resolutions passed by the council during its Monday meeting are designed to increase income of the water department. Water rates, across the board, were boosted approximately one-third. The funds resulting from the higher charges will be needed in the relatively near future for repair, improvement and expansion of the water plant. The corresponding increase in the sewer rental fee, which calls for quarterly payment of an amount equal to 50 per cent of each water bill, will produce funds in part earmarked for retirement of the proposed revenue bonds.

Minimum Raised

Besides the increase in water rates, one of the new resolutions raises the minimum water charge from $2.25 per quarter to $3.00. This action, too, will produce some added revenue to be applied on the cost of the disposal plant.

As a further step towards making this important civic improvement an actuality, the council instructed City Attorney Roy Henderson to obtain a site and proper easements for location of the new plant and for sewer lines running from it. A motion was also adopted by the council that the city purchase from George Hake and C. C. Christie two parcels of land—totaling 4.77 acres—upon which to erect the plant. Payment was approved at the rate $300 per acre.

Plans Being Prepared

This land lies on high ground some distance southeast of the Belmond Sales Pavilion, at the south edge of the city limits. The plant site has been inspected and approved by the engineering department of the state department of health.

Final act towards expediting the disposal plant project came in the form of a council motion that Rowat-Murray be instructed to proceed at once to prepare plans and specifications for the plant; also for construction of trunk lines to serve as relief lines in the sewer system. L. W. Murray has informed the council that an estimated two to three months will be required for that phase of the work.

ENLISTS AS WAAF

Verda Mennenga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mennenga, is a recent enlistee in the Women's Auxiliary of the Air Force and has been assigned to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. Miss Mennenga was graduated from Belmond High school in 1952 and then took business training at the American Institute of Business at Des Moines. She held a secretarial position at Des Moines at the time of her enlistment

ATTEND GOP MEETING

Mrs. Russell Schaal, Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser, Mrs. Clark McNeal and Mrs. D. L. Rankins attended the Iowa conference of Republican Women at Des Moines on Monday. Major speaker was Mrs. Carroll D. Kearn, president of the National Federation of Republican Women.

Annual Red Cross Drive Gets Underway Today

Today the fund-raising campaign of the Belmond chapter of the American Red Cross is being launched, with a goal of $1,405 to be met. Mrs. Robert Garms, who successfully headed the 1953 drive of the chapter, is again serving as campaign chairman. In the chapter area are Belmond, Pleasant and Norway townships, as well as the city of Belmond, and simultaneous canvasses are to be conducted in all four areas.

Mrs. Arlo Pitcher, recently elected chairman of the Belmond chapter, reports that the national quota this year is $85,000,000. Approximately half of this amount will go to the local chapters to carry on their various Red Cross activities. The remainder goes into the national fund to finance its wide range of humanitarian services.

Swim Classes Cost Most

Heaviest outlay of national funds is expected to go toward services performed for the armed forces and veterans. Next in importance is the Red Cross blood program and after that the sponsorship of health, nursing and safety services. Disaster preparedness and relief will also require a sizable slice out of the national budget.

Locally, Red Cross funds are applied mainly to financing of the annual Red Cross swimming classes, to support the school hot lunch program and to carrying on of home service work in behalf of men in uniform, ex-servicemen and their families. By far the greatest share of the chapter budget goes into the swimming program.

$1,560 for Swimming

Last year, more than $1,560 was spent by the chapter to provide swimming instruction to boys and girls in its area. This represented something in excess of two-thirds of the total cost.

In recent years it has been regularly necessary to dip into chapter reserves to keep the local program going. In view of this fact, both Mrs. Garms and Mrs. Pitcher urge generous support of the current drive so the deficit in 1954 can be kept to a minimum. If the local quota is no more than met, approximately $700 will go into the chapter treasury.

Assistant campaign chairmen have been appointed by Mrs. Garms as follows: Belmond township, Mrs. Arthur Homervold; Pleasant, Mrs. Lester Gabrielson; Norway, Mrs. Don Baker. City of Belmond — Ward 1, Mrs. R. E. Misner, Mrs. C. C. Benson; Ward 2, Matilda Skovlin; Ward 3, Mrs. R. G. Packard; Main Street, Ethel Brunes and Mrs. Gordon Kessler; River avenue, John Van Gerpen, Mrs. Ray White, Fred Gellett, Mrs. Bud Barkema; The Hill, Mrs. Gerald Nelson, Mrs. Ray Ainger.

Audrey Long Gets Fine Advancement

Audrey J. Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Long and sister of L. C. (Lem) Long, was recently promoted to a highly responsible position in the office of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company at Des Moines. She has been employed by the telephone company for the past nine years.

Until two years ago, Miss Long had a traveling position which entailed selling of classified advertising space in phone directories. The past two years she has been attached to the Des Moines office, doing sales work.

She now holds the newly created position of telephone sales supervisor and will be in charge of the office's staff of telephone sales representatives and clerical workers in the sales department.

Free Photographs Offered Saturday

This Saturday, the Tip Top Grocery is holding its annual Gift Photograph event and has arranged with a top-flight professional portrait service to take free photos of children at the store. Any child from the age of one month to seven years is eligible to be photographed. The parents of each will receive, without charge or obligation, a 5x7 inch vignette portrait of their youngster.

No appointment will be necessary. The photographer will take pictures between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. He will employ a Strobolite camera attachment, which is regarded as providing the best light ever perfected for photographing children and babies.

Methodists Plan Mission Program

Rev. Robert Parris of Menlo will present a series of six, nightly sermons on the theme, "The Holy Habits of the Spiritual Life," as the Belmond Methodist church joins next week in a statewide Spiritual Life Mission being observed by the Methodist churches of Iowa.

Purpose of the Spiritual Life Mission is to deepen the spiritual life of Iowans and to reactivate Methodist church membership.

First of the special services here will be held at the regular church hour on Sunday morning. Subsequently, the Rev. Mr. Parris will be heard each evening at 7:30 o'clock, Sunday through Friday.

Ministers of the 55 churches in the Algona district will attend a spiritual life school at Algona on Saturday, which will include four meeting sessions. A lay visitation program also plays a part in the mission plans.

Families Invited to Attend Friday's Observance of World Day of Prayer

Whereas in most years past, attendance at the local observance of the World Day of Prayer has been confined largely to church women of the community, the program at the Congregational church tomorrow (Friday) at 7:30 p. m. has been expressly planned as a family occasion.

It is believed by the joint chairmen of the event, Mrs. J. Heber Miller, Mrs. Ralph Meyer and Mrs. J. R. Gallagher, that the program will be of genuine interest to young and old alike. Consequently they and the participating churches, the Methodist, Bethany Reformed and Congregational, issue a cordial invitation to the entire Belmond community to take part in the annual event.

One highlight of the observance will be a dramatization entitled, "These Others." M. E. (Gus) Taylor has served as director and will be narrator, also. Taking part in the playlet will be, Dr and Mrs. G. J. Hruska and children, Mr. and Mrs. Don Collinson and children, Andy Conner, Steve Hinman, Lloyd Fuller, Marlyn Cunningham, Norman Pals, Mr. and Mrs. George Keleher, Kaye Harty, Susie Halfpap, Mrs. Duan Thompson, Mrs. R. H. Gowdy and Mrs. Lois Hammond. They will take parts representing various nationalities.

Joining in conduct of the special World Day of Prayer worship service will be: Mrs Ella Luick, Mrs George Keleher, Henrietta Pals, Mrs William Boelman, Mrs W. H. Trafford, Mrs. Jerry Stoffer, Mrs S. P. Leinbach, Mrs Jack Shepard and Mrs. Lester Stoffer. Others appearing on the program will be Mrs. George Infelt, Mrs. L. M. Helland and Rev. William Schorman.

Special music will be provided on the marimba and organ, respectively, by Carolyn Classick and Mrs. Cato Griesy. Another feature of the evening service will be the showing of a film strip entitled, "World Day of Prayer Around the World." A graphic portrayal of the 1952 observance throughout the globe, it is being shown again this year because it proved so popular as a part of last year's worldwide service.

One-Time, Pioneer Belmond Resident Now Age 99

A direct descendant of one of Belmond's earliest families, Mrs. Rhoda Hubbard of Santa Fe., N. M., on Feb. 6 began the 100th year of her life — remarkably hale and hearty for her age, but viewing the up-coming century mark with misgivings not unlike those of a girl seeing her 'teens left behind.

When asked by a newspaper reporter if she is looking forward to her 100th birthday, Mrs. Hubbard replied, "Well, I don't know. Sometimes I think that is a little bit TOO old."

She added, "I've always had implicit faith in my God. Death has no terrors for me. I don't know why I've been left in this world all this time."

Mrs. Hubbard was born Rhoda Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morse, in Ionia county, Mich., on Feb. 6, 1855. She was about 10 years old when the family moved to the new, frontier town of Belmond — which had been platted by William E. Rogers, James M. Elder and Archer Dumond on Oct. 20th of the year following her birth.

The Morse family lived for some years in "the old brick house" which still stands on "the hill" and which was built in the late 'fifties by Mr. Dumond. Mr. Morse was prominent in civic affairs of the community and was Wright county's first county judge, the chief administrator of those eary days. He also served as Belmond's postmaster for a time.

Only member of the Morse clan still living in Belmond is Mrs. Hubbard's niece, Mrs. Orphie Anderson, who passed on to The Independent a clipping from the Santa Fe daily newspaper containing a birthday interview with the surprisingly spry old lady.

Only one member of Mrs. Hubbard's immediate family at hand to help her celebrate the notable occasion was the daughter with whom she is living, Mrs. A. E. Carr. Ticking off the number of her present descendants, Mrs. Hubbard told the reporter she boasts three children, nine grandchildren, 21 great grandchildren and six great great-grandchildren.

At this point she corrected herself, "No, it's seven great-greats. We just got word that another was born in Dallas."

Seven Great-Greats

It was some 45 years ago that Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard moved from Belmond to Colorado. She and her late husband moved from Durango, Colo., to Santa Fe in 1929. She told her interviewer, "I just love Santa Fe. It's got every other place beat!" . . . But, of course, she doesn't know how early spring arrives in Belmond nowadays.

The piece in the Santa Fe paper relates: "The white-haired old lady, whose only physical frailty appears to be a slight deafness, keeps herself occupied by cleaning house. 'Yesterday I made up the beds and then baked a few loaves of bread.'

Has Seen Six Wars

"She has seen a half dozen wars come and go. Two brothers were in the Civil War, and so was her husband, although she didn't know him at the time. 'I was only six years old when it started.' A son was in World War I, a grandson was in World War II, and a great grandson was in the Korean War.

"Her greatest happiness has been children. 'When my own were grown up and gone away, I had my grandchildren. Or the neighbor's children. It didn't matter too much. I love children.'

"Mrs. Hubbard had five brothers and three sisters, and even though she wasn't the youngest, she is the only one of that family still living. 'All of them had something the matter,' she recalls. 'They never got up past their 80s.'"

CLOTHES FOR KOREA

Between now and March 15, the Belmond unit of the American Legilon Auxiliary is collecting clothing to make up a shipment for dispatch to Korea. While new articles will be welcomed, used apparel will be received just as gratefully. Items should be clean, though, and in condition that makes them wearable. Clothing for either adults or children—particularly the latter—can be put to good use. Contributed garments may be left at the office of Dr. A. M. Nelson.

War Invention Saves Iowa Grain

Even out of war come tools and devices which are useful in peace.

For example, the air force has an instrument that automatically records temperatures. A couple of Iowans have developed that into a device that prevents grain spoilage.

They make a cable that's lowered into grain bins . . . with thermostats every 6 feet. If the grain starts to heat up, the thermostats detect it, indicate the bad spots, and spoilage can be prevented.

And, on that point, wouldn't it be a boon if we could have some kind of warning system like that for our neighborhoods and communities, too. When an agitator or trouble-maker crept in and started to work, it could sound a warning, so we could all be on our guard.

We Iowans are pretty broadminded, with lots of give-and-take for the other fellow, but it would be a help to have a danger signal, to point out trouble-makers who would deny their neighbors freedom of choice.

OBITUARY

HERMAN LAUEN, SR.

Herman Lauen, Sr., was born Feb 23 1866 at Bunderhammerich, Ostfriesland Germany, the youngest son of Mr and Mrs. Behrend Lauen. In 1884, when 17 years old, he left with his parents and two brothers for the United States, one brother dying en route to this country. The family settled near Belmond.

On Dec 2, 1903 he was wed to Mrs. Ida Pals nee Stadtlander, at Klemme. Seven children were born to them, all of whom are still living. The couple moved to a farm northwest of Meservey where Mr Lauen successfully engaged in farming for 43 years. He retired in 1948 and moved with his wife into a new home they had built for them in Meservey. Mr. and Mrs. Lauen had the privilege of celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary this past winter.

Originally a member of the Immanuel Reformed church near Belmond, Mr. Lauen transferred to the Meservey Reformed church when it was organized in 1907 and was among its charter members. March 22 Slated As Starting Date Of Mens Pin Meet

Entries will close on Thursday of next week for the annual men's city bowling tournament, which is scheduled to get underway at the Bowl-Mor on Monday, March 22. As usual, there will be competition in singles, doubles and five-man teams, with those contending in all three divisions eligible to try for all-events honors, also.

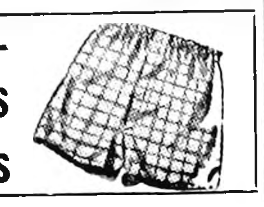
Secretary R. B. Thompson of the Belmond Bowling association says that handicaps will be arrived at on a composite basis, in the case of men who are rolling with more than one league. Entry fee will be $1.00 for each event, plus $1.00 bowling charge except in all-events.

Permanent trophies will be awarded the winners in all but the team competition. The team trophy has to be won twice to obtain permanent possession. There will be four money places in team, doubles and all-events and eight cash prizes in singles play.

A new team champion is certain, as the quintet that won the '53 crown—Latimer Legion—is not bowling at Belmond this year. R. B. Thompson is the defending champion in the singles, Roger Kinseth and George Sharp were last year's doubles winners and Jerry Quigley took the all-events. The top scores were: team 2,806, singles 653, doubles 1,194 and all-events 1,709.

There will be no men's league bowling during tournament week, Mr. Thompson says, as tourney contenders will have the alleys every night except Tuesday, when the women's league bowls. Entries should be made with and fees paid to Jack Crosby, tournament manager.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS



SOME HIGHLIGHTS of that 69-55 thriller over Iowa Falls, for which there wasn't room in last week's paper, should be recorded for posterity. Such as—after trailing 46-38 late in the third quarter, the Broncs proceeded to cash in 31 POINTS while the startled Cadets were managing only 7 . . . A couple of quick fielders by LeRoy Smith put Belmond within striking distance at 49-50; whereupon Loats, Larson and Smith gave Iowa Falls the 1-2-3 to make it 55-50 (that was curtains for the Cadets) . . . The losers out-fouled us only 17 (plus a technical) to 15; but the Broncs converted at an 80% clip to make 23 out of a possible 27 gift points while Iowa Falls counted on only 7 of a potential 18 . . . WOTTA GAME!

—PSS—

How a team can beat itself with mistakes was quite effectively demonstrated in the Iowa Falls thriller. From the Cadets' statistician we learned that the losers lost the ball eight times on traveling violations in that vital, second half. Also, they threw the ball away or had it intercepted 22 times —15 after the intermission. Incidentally, with the "chips down" those blazin' Broncos hit eight out of 13 field goal attempts in the final quarter for an amazing 61.5 per cent!

—PSS—

It will be a bit perplexing for coaches of future Belmond adversaries along the tournament trail to plot a defense against the Bronco scoring hot-shots. Too many hot-shots. In the four tourney games to date, high scoring honors have been held by Keith Madsen (23), Ronnie Hansen (22), Ken Loats (20), and LeRoy Smith (26). And Don Hoppel had one 15-point night. Loats has a four-game average of nearly 13, Smith 12¼, Madsen 12, Hansen 11, Hoppel better than 9—and Larry Larsen 6. There, good friends, is what you call BALANCED scoring!

—PSS—

In gathering 'way-back-when items for this week, we noted that the 1933-34 BHS basketball team averaged 29 points per game on offense and 21 on defense. Quite a contrast to the way the current Broncos operate. Without question, this season's team is the highest scoring aggregation that has ever worn the Purple and White. Particularly since they switched from control to fire-wagon style of play, around the first of the year. Since launching their post-holiday campaign, the Broncos have averaged 66 points over a 14-game stretch! Their foes have been held to a moderate 46 points per tilt.

—PSS—

BOWLING PICK-UPS — Gals of the women's bowling league decided last week there's a time for everything; and when the Bronco's are playing tournament ball is no time to be pin-busting. Consequently they cancelled their bowling and got their recreation on Tuesday of last week at Iowa Falls. . . . Roy Hirsch of the Tri-City keglers completely obliterated the previous individual high series for the league last week with a robust 646 on 220-221-205 — which was 64 pins over the previous mark posted by Melvin Hill.

Smith's 26 Points Help Broncs to District Title

Belmond's Broncos earned their way into sub-state basketball play with a decisive 66-42 win over a stubborn Franklin Consolidated team at Iowa Falls last Friday night, thus becoming the first BHS aggregation ever to advance that far in state competition.

It was LeRoy Smith who made it a relatively easy victory. "Smitty" poured in 26 points to almost match the combined output of Franklin's Muhlenbruck cousins, Gary and Milo, who notched 15 apiece. With the Muhlenbrucks' efforts thus counteracted, the Latimer-Coulter crew never made a bid of serious proportions.

Hoppel Hitting Again

Donny Hoppel was back in scoring stride after a cold night against Iowa Falls, and his 15 points—with Smith's 26—came close to enough to handle the entire Franklin scoring effort.

From the outset, the Broncos made it clear that they held their foe in considerable respect. They went about their chore in very businesslike fashion and never once permitted the losers to take over the lead. After Keith Madsen and Milo Muhlenbruck had matched baskets as the game got underway, Belmond went in front. It was simply a matter of padding out the margin, as the contest progressed.

At Halftime, 32-24

At the quarter, the Broncos held a 17-11 advantage. Hoppel made up nine points of the BHS total on four fielders and a free throw. Franklin got only three baskets, the rest of their total coming on gift tosses. "Smitty" came through with 10 points in the second stanza as the Broncs expanded their halftime edge to 32-24.

The Franklin county quintet remained in contention to the end of the third period, holding the count to 43-34. Then came the fourth-quarter deluge, which the Broncos have been uncorking with considerable regularity throughout the season.

4th Quarter Does It

With Smith providing most of the fireworks, though ably assisted by Hoppel and Loats, Belmond added 15 more points while Franklin was getting just one, making the spread 58-35. During the rather wild and wooly final three minutes, play was about even — but that suited the Broncs' purposes very well. The game was in the bag and all they needed to do was keep it tied shut.

All but two of the losers' 13 baskets were chalked up by the Muhlenbrucks. But for Belmond, although Smith and Hoppel carried the heavy part of the scoring load, it was nevertheless distinctly a team victory. Ken Loats pitched in 8 points, Larry Larson 7, Ron Hansen 6, Madsen 3 and Mehl 1. The Purple and White defense did a fine job of keeping the opponents' good shot opportunities down to a minimum.

Good Rebounding

Hansen did one of his best jobs to date on rebounds. Both Loats and Smith were spectacular under the boards, too. The Belmond boys fouled quite a bit more than average, in keeping their taller adversaries under constant control; but Madsen was the only man benched because his full quota was used up.

The Broncs were charged with 22 infractions, altogether. That didn't hurt to speak of, though, as the Franklin cagers converted on only 16 out of 27 point chances.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

Gilbert Koehler

We visited with Walter Koehler las week and this week it is Gilbert, his brother, who farms the home place of 160 acres just across the fence to the east that he purchased from his father in 1947.

Gilbert said his father bought the land in 1897, but it wasn't until 1938 that the brothers started farming it, their dad moving into Meservey in 1941.

The brothers find it convenient living across the fence from each other when it comes to the times of the year when farm work is heaviest. That is when they work back and forth.

The Gilbert Koehlers have a large modern home. They have two children, a daughter marlene, age 5, and a son Wayne born last December first. The children have the same birthday.

Gilbert said he feeds out from 30 to 50 head of Hereford cattle each year, about 135 head of mixed breeds of hogs and cares for around 300 laying hens.

When he has time for them, he enjoys fishing, hunting and just a good visit with friends.

CHICK CHATS

Don't Forget the Hens

We've been talking quite a bit about baby chicks recently and you might think I forgot about those layers. As matter of fact I did. And I apologize to all old hens who I offended by such neglect.

Let's hope you haven't been neglecting hens the way I have. It's the hens that make you the money. The chicks aren't much good for that until they start laying. So keep those hens in gear and they'll keep you in grocery money at least until fall.

Here's how: Keep feeding them right. Give them good balanced feed. Keep plenty of water around. The biggest part of the egg is water—give 'em plenty of it.

Keep those hens in the house—for two reasons. One, they'll do better. They get the right feed and they lay the eggs where you can find them. Two, they won't contaminate the baby chicks. And brother, or sisters as the case may be, a bunch of old hens can just contaminate the liver out of a flock of chicks.

Keep watching your hens for signs of disease. Sick hens just eat the feed—they don't make eggs out of it. Keep the litter dry in the hen house—use lime if you have to. Keep lice off the birds and roosts too. Check them every once in awhile for those nasty external parasites. They can cut egg production quite a bit for no bigger than they are.

Keep culling them too. Some hens might quit laying and get thin. You can tell the non-layers by shriveled combs, yellow shanks and beaks (instead of white) and loss of body weight. Occasionally, hens will get to fat to lay. Either sell them, or eat them. Too many over-weight hens means your feeding program needs overhauling.

Above all, remember that the hens pay the bills. Don't forget them like I did.

NEARLY 100 FRIENDS AND KIN PAY HONOR TO CONRAD HOPPELS

Nearly 100 relatives and friends joined with Mr and Mrs. Conrad Hoppel in the celebration of their Golden Wedding anniversary on Wednesday of last week. During the afternoon open house at the Hoppels' home and during the evening functions held at St John American Lutheran church 92 different well-wishers signed the guest register.

Present from out-of-town were Betty Ann Hoppel and Janis Rolffs of Marshalltown. Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Langholtz and Carolyn of Altamount, Ill., Mr and Mrs. Emil Zellmer and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Immel of Granville, Ill., Mrs. Anna Fanselow, Mrs Herman Braun and Mrs Ulrich Braun of Dows, Mr and Mrs. John Grabbe of Hampton.

Many lovely gifts were received by the honored couple, including a handsome, 400-day clock from their children — George and Clarence of Belmond and Mrs. William (Lorraine) Rabe of Goodell. They also received several purses of money and a number of beautiful bouquets. They were remembered with cards by a good many friends and relatives who found it impossible to be present for the occasion

R. B. Thompson and Chief Johnson are co-chairmen of the committee which will direct the public campaign for funds. Wallace Cramer, regular secretary for the department, and George Hansen, treasurer, will serve in similar capacities for the building committee. All members of the fire department will lend their aid in behalf of the project

In addition to the four men named above, the building committee will include Paul Dorr, Merle Bonte, Cecil Carstens, Lem Long, Glen Crapser and "Bud" Packard. All members of the fire department will, of course, be lending their full support to the project

Several local business firms have already volunteered to contribute services, building supplies or fixtures at reduced cost to hold expense of the undertaking to a minimum. Plans for the new building are being drafted by Rowat-Murray, Engineers, who will will also serve as inspector of construction, construction will be placed in the hands of A. R. Dorr Sons; Bonte & Meinders will handle installation of the heating equipment, Packard Electric will be in charge of the electrical work; and both Spahn & Rose and Fullerton's lumberyards are making special prices on construction materials

Much of the labor, particularly for finishing the interior of the building will be donated by members of the fire company. Chief Johnson estimates that by the time the new fire hall has been completed, it will have an actual value much closer to $12,500 than to $9,000 actual outlay of cash that will be required to erect it

YOU NEED THE RED CROSS, AND IT NEEDS YOU — SO GIVE YOUR SHARE

No arm-twisting should be necessary to meet the 1954 quota of $1,405 that has been assigned to the Belmond chapter of the American Red Cross. The good that this respected organization does, both here in this community and in the national and international fields, is too well known to require repetition. All we have to do is ask ourselves "Would the services of the Red Cross be missed if they were suddenly withdrawn?" You can bet your bottom dollar that they WOULD!

In the past five years, more than a thousand youngsters have benefited from the swimming program sponsored annually by the local Red Cross chapter. Tens of thousands of disaster victims have found new hope through assistance received from this humanitarian organization. The Red Cross blood program has been instrumental in saving an untold number of lives that would inevitably have been lost without the ready supply of plasma and whole blood that this project has made available to fighting man and civilian, alike. Services of the Red Cross to the Armed Forces, to veterans and to the families of both men in uniform and ex-servicemen have been of incalculable value. Its health, nursing and safety services have also contributed importantly to lives saved and heartaches avoided.

To make sure the financial needs of the Red Cross are met, the share of each of us is very modest. When the Red Cross canvasser knocks on your door, respond graciously and give readily. Don't leave it to someone else to do YOUR part.

BELMOND'S SCHOOL SYSTEM COMPARES VERY FAVORABLY ON OPERATION COST

Belmond's school system compares very favorably with those of neighboring communities in regard to economical operation, we note in a recent release from the Iowa Taxpayers association. The "rule of thumb" for evaluating a school district's efficiency involves dividing the average daily attendance into the total operating cost to arrive at the average cost per pupil. Of course, there are a number of variables that can enter into the picture; but the method described is commonly accepted.

For the 1952-53 school year, Belmond's per pupil cost was $212.68 — less by $1.63 than the year before. The Taxpayers report listed similar sumaries for 118 "city school districts." Average per pupil cost for the entire group was $249.30 — an INCREASE of $14.55 over 1951-52. That general increase over the state suggests that the local school administrators have been doing a fine job of maintaining (in fact, improving) educational standards in our schools and at the same time keeping good control over expenses.

Comparative figures for other, near-by schools (1952-53 and 1951-52 per pupil costs in that order) were: Hampton $222.79 and $221.00, Eagle Grove $264.47 and $258.70 (schools with junior colleges run high, in general), Clarion $258.05 and $273.23, Humboldt $205.94 and $216.12, Forest City $208.07 and $222.44, Garner $242.19 and $227.37. Northwood $257.91 and $217.16.

This very clear indication that Supt. Don Faris is just as good a "business man" as he is a "school man" should be gratifying to those school patrons who are joining with us of the Belmond Independent district to form the new Belmond Community School district.

It was interesting to note in the Taxpayers general summary, that between 1943-44 and 1952-53, the average daily attendance in the 118 schools jumped from 382,663 to 448,903 — and increase of 17.31 per cent. During the same period, the number of teaching positions in those schools advanced only from 23,401 to 23,951 — a meagre change of 2.35 per cent. Here at Belmond the per pupil cost has been kept at a reasonable level and AT THE SAME TIME, the size of the faculty has kept pace with the expanding size of the student body. No false economy has been resorted to in this regard.

WHY IS THAT TRAFFIC TOLL SOARING? JUST PLAIN, DURN FOOL CARELESSNESS

Traffic fatalities in Iowa have thus far this year been soaring to record heights. In the first eight weeks of 1954, the toll was 84 deaths compared to 55 over the same period in 1953 — an increase of almost 55 per cent!

Think these facts over. In the 526 accidents that claimed 600 lives last year: 454 involved no obscurement of vision; 412 were in the open country; 286 occurred in clear daylight; only one driver in 14 had any kind of physical defect to which the crash could be attributed to any degree; in seven out of eight instances, liquor was no factor; in less than one out of every 20 accidents was any sort of mechanical defect a contributing factor; four out of five of the tragedies took place on a straight roadway; and the road surface was perfectly dry when 80 per cent of the accidents took place.

What does that all add up to? Just this — simple human carelessness was THE major cause of those 600 deaths last year. And if carelessness continues to produce fatalities at the present rate, the 1954 harvest of lives on Iowa's highways will be close to 1,000! Think about that as you follow the basketball team to the tournaments — whenever you take a weekend trip — WHENEVER YOU DRIVE THAT CAR AWAY FROM THE CURB. Once you become a statistic, it's a permanent state of affairs!

CAPONS

A sideline Enterprise that fits in well with the setup on many egg farms is CAPON RAISING. Frequently a flock of capons can be worked into the brooding schedule, using housing and equipment which would otherwise be idle.

The Capon market has been fairly good the past several years. However, it is a seasonal market with best prices coming at the holidays — Christmas, Thanksgiving and Easter.

The best weight at which to market capons is between 7 and 8 pounds, live weight. Flock averages over 8 pounds are usually not economical. You should figure on about a 30-week growing period to reach this desired weight. Average cost of producing a capon, last year, exclusive of labor cost, was about 30 cents per pound.

During March, April and May we will have large numbers of heavy breed cockrels suitable for capons. We are quoting an attractive price on these to anyone interested in raising capons.

Passing of Mrs. Morse Erased One Of Last Links With Pioneer Days

When death came on Feb. 21, 1954, to Ida Luick Morse, her passing erased one of the few remaining, direct links between the thriving community that is Belmond today and the early settlement that was its beginning. Her father, David Luick, was one of the original settlers here. He came to the present townsite with his brother Fred and family on Sept. 6, 1853.

Ida L. was the third of seven children born to David and Sarah Overacker Luick, her birthdate being June 4, 1863. Until her marriage at the age of 18 she lived in the home where she was born, which was located just south of the present residence of Ray Klemme. On Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24, 1881, she was wed to Willard J. Morse.

Lived Near Morse Lake

Their first home was on a farm adjacent to the lake four miles west of Belmond that now bears the family name. Their seven children were born there and they made it their home until Mr. Morse in 1907 purchased the David Luick farm at the east edge of Belmond. One of their children, a daughter, Rhoda, died in infancy. In 1911 death took three other children — Bert, Perry and Muriel — within the space of a few months, all just emerging from childhood.

In 1914, Mr. and Mrs. Morse moved to the new home they had built for them at 515 Second street SE. Here Mr. Morse died in 1943 — on the same date of the same month as his wife's passing occurred just 11 years later. Mrs. Morse resided in the family home until she suffered a broken hip in a fall a year ago last July. Left bedfast by the mishap, she lived out the rest of her days at the Good Samaritan Home at Mason City.

"Mrs. Morse was a kindly, generous and compassionate mother and friend," noted Rev. O. M. Severseike as he conducted final rites for the deceased on Wednesday, Feb. 24, at the Trinity Lutheran church. "Those who were so fortunate as to have been exposed to her philosophy and attitude toward life have been enriched by their experience. These are the monuments she leaves to mark her passing."

Surviving are three children — David L. Morse of Blue Earth, Minn., Mrs. H. J. (Amelia) Bohning of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mrs. Orphie (Susan) Anderson of Belmond. She also leaves a sister and brother, Mrs. William (Mabel) Montgomery of Lynnville and Albert Lee Luick of Minneapolis, Minn. Other survivors include six grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Cub Scouts Get Promotion Pins

Close to 150 adults and youngsters attended a pot-luck supper at the school hot lunch room Wednesday night of last week that took the place of the regular pack meeting of Belmond's Cub Scouts. The Cubs' parents and other members of their families were guests for the occasion, which was highlighted by the award of promotions to boys who earned them and by a program of skits presented by the individual dens.

The supper took the form of a birthday party, taking note of the 44th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts. Walt Hotvet, as Cubmaster, was in charge of the affair.

Bobcat pins were presented to the following newcomers to the Cub Scout ranks: Joseph Marchese, Harold Dorr, John Carlin, Richard Boone and Timmy Courson. Pins denoting advancement to Wolf rank went to: Harold Dorr, Gary Luick, Dennis Eccles, John Shepard, Roger Henn, Larry Hawley and Chuck Strait.

Next higher rank, which earns a Bear badge, was received by Jeff Hruska and Ronnie Heykants. Lion badges, representing the highest, regular Cub rank, were awarded to: Robbie Courson, Kirk Cunningham, Conrad Krass, Jay Mennenga and Frank Mussell.

Boys who perform achievements in excess of the requirements for a specific rank are rewarded with Gold and Silver Arrows. Winners of Gold Arrows were: Harold Dorr, Dennis Eccles, Robbie Courson, Conrad Krass and Larry Hawley; and Silver Arrows went to Conrad Krass and Larry Hawley.

Mr. Hotvet described the "Birthday Party" as by far the most successful Cub Scout gathering he's seen in Belmond during the four years that he has been Cubmaster.

VOL. 34 NO. 22 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, MARCH 11, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

And Next: Belmond vs. Carroll 8:30 This Evening at Ames

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Sheriff Bob Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod "cracked" a couple of cases last Sunday and Monday—but found very little satisfaction in their achievements. On Sunday afternoon they were called to a farm home west of Eagle Grove, where they were told that two head of feeder cattle had mysteriously disappeared. The farmer said he'd counted 50 on Sunday morning, but in the evening he could account for only 48.

Blecker and Walrod, scouting the premises, found tracks by a farm gate leading to the "cow pasture." These indicated that a truck had recently backed up to the gate. Recognizing a "clue," the officers started trailing the tire imprints in the soft gravel.

With an Eagle Grove policeman driving the car, Bob and "Pinky" took turns trailing the tracks afoot mile after mile (about 12 miles, in fact)—finally ending up at a gravel pit. Further investigation showed right where the truck had dumped its gravel at a nearby rail crossing before turning around. The officers' frame of mind wasn't helped particularly when they revealed their discovery to the farmer about 3:00 a. m. and were informed that a re-count had disclosed that NO cattle were missing!

—M-S—

Monday morning, the sheriff and deputy were called to Belmond by a homeowner who reported his house had been broken into the previous afternoon. While the family was absent, the rear door had been unlocked. Nothing had been taken, so near as could be discovered, but the indignant victim nevertheless wished the culprit hunted down, if possible.

Two hours of sleuthing sufficed to break the case.

A neighbor helpfully informed the officers that his three-year-old had been playing on Sunday afternoon with a key which he had found. Third-degree measures were unnecessary to extract from the "break-in artist" that he had found the key—that he'd been curious whether it would work in the neighbor's back door—and that it DID!

—M-S—

A word of explanation is in order regarding last week's ad on the FFA-sponsored Town and Country Quiz. It had been scheduled some time ago for this Friday—but when time of playing the sub-state finals at Ames was left up in the air for so long, it seemed advisable to change the date to be certain no conflict arose. Since more than 1,000 Bronco partisans were at Ames for the Forest City game it seemed unwise (to say the least) to risk having the event fall on a game night. The panel experts would have been mighty lonesome there in that auditorium all by themselves.

—M-S—

That "tournament fever" which has been gripping Belmond and environs the past few weeks is of such a virulent type that it has even afflicted former residents, many miles away. Last weekend we received from Rev. Luther Meyer of Akron (Ia.) a letter asking for copies of the Independent that tell of the Broncos' advance along the tourney trail.

Wrote Pastor Meyer: "My brothers, parents and I used to live in Belmond; my younger brother and I went thru high school there. So it is our 'home town.' We have been amazed at the progress there since we've left; but are glad to see it. My younger brother, Dave, is in Korea with the Air Force —just went over; so it will be of interest to him to have the stories of the BHS victories. Hope they can go to State! Wouldn't that really be something?"

Luther added: "I am pastor of two churches 'way out here on the western end of Iowa. But I keep up some Belmond affairs." In a church greeting he sent along we noted that youth instruction was scheduled at 3:00 p. m. on Thursdays. The pastor added hopefully, "Now with basketball over, more of our young people can come out." Besides Akron, he has a church at Chatsworth.

—M-S—

A couple of weeks ago we had one of those misfit situations — too much news for 12 pages and not enough advertising for 14. While the bottle of red ink on the bookkeeper's desk glowered at us, we held 'er down to 12, figuring we'd go a couple of extra pages the next week and get in a lot of that type that we had left over.

But last week found Advertising Manager Dick Gowdy at home the first three days, interestedly watching his thermometer readings vary all the way from 104-plus down to a notch over 96. And George Hansen, major domo of the backshop, had to make an important business trip that kept him off the job for more than a day and a half.

So what happened? We once more ended up with plenty of news for 14 pages but sufficient advertising for only 12 — and a whole raft of news matter had to be left out. We didn't like it, one little bit. But it was quite a job just to get out those dozen pages. And durned if it hasn't happened again this week.

Fireman Campaign For Station Fund Going Over Well

Fire Chief A. W. "Doc" Johnson reported Wednesday that the public response to the volunteer fire department's fund drve for a new fire station has been most generous. By Tuesday evening the pledges already in came close to totaling $5,000, he said.

"If those yet to be contacted respond as readily as those already seen, there is no question but what the $9,000 goal will be reached," Chief Johnson stated. "The proposal has been well received throughout Belmond, and the firemen are deeply appreciative of the readiness with which pledges have been made."

"Response of the public certainly suggests that the firemen rate high as good friends of this community," the fire chief added, "and that the citizens of Belmond feel the department should have a home of its own adequate to meet its needs."

It is intended that the fund campaign shall be completed by the end of this week. An effort will be made to give every one who wants to an opportunity to make a donation.

"Some will inevitably be overlooked by accident or missed when solicitors call on them," Chief Johnson admitted, "but we want everyone to have a chance to participate in this project. If you are missed, your contribution may be left at the office of the Belmond Independent—and will be very gratefully received."

BROADCAST OF GAME SET

Arrangements were completed Wednesday afternoon for broadcast of this evening's sub-state final game between Belmond and Carroll at the Ames armory, under the sponsorship of several local business firms. KGLO, Mason City, will air the contest, starting at 8:30 p. m.

Community School Vote Next Monday

Last Friday saw the final deadline for filing nominations for the Belmond Community School district board of directors come and go, with just five candidates still in the field. Consequently, the five candidates previously named will be unopposed when voters of the new district go to the polls next Monday.

It was found necessary at the last moment to re-file petitions for three of the candidates to abide by a technicality in the new school reorganization law. As a consequence, Carl Green of Goodell will run for the three year term instead of the one extending only until the next regular election; and Harold Simerson and Gerald McNulty will seek one-year terms rather than three-year.

As originally planned, Robert Garms and Mrs. Lee Mussell will be the candidates for two-year terms. C. C. Benson, who is up for treasurer, will be running for a term of one year.

Polls at the Goodell Community hall—for residents of the district living in Hancock county—and at the Belmond city hall for voters residing in Wright county will be open this coming Monday from noon to 7:00 p. m.

GOODWILL TRUCK COMING

Mrs. Clyde Jennings reports that the Goodwill Industries' truck will call in Belmond on Thursday of next week. Appropriate items to be donated to the Goodwill enterprises should be left at the Methodist church, preferably on Wednesday.

DEATH OF DAVID NIELSEN REFERRED TO GRAND JURY

It was the verdict of a coroner's jury last week at Garner that David Nielsen of Rowan on Feb. 20 died as the result of being struck by a moving vehicle driven by John Finch, Jf., of Crystal Lake.

No charges of felonious negligence were lodged against the driver of the car which fatally injured the Rowan youth, who was in the company of Don Waddington and Harvey Hosick of Belmond at the time the accident happened

Further investigation of the tragic mishap by the grand jury of Hancock county district court was recommended by the coroner's jury.

Bucky O'Connor Will Speak at Basketball Banquet Here on April 5th

Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, head coach of the phenominal University of Iowa basketball team, last weekend agreed to appear as speaker at the banquet planned by the Lions club to honor the Belmond High school teams. President Cecil Carstens regards that the club was highly fortunate in being able to engage O'Connor. The Lions lined him up for Monday, April 5 — the only open date he had on his speaking schedule until mid-May.

Under O'Connor's mentorship, the Hawkeyes have gained unprecedented prestige in basketball. His sophomore-laden squad of the season just concluded tied for runner-up honors in the Big Ten conference, after being rated as no better than a 50-50 prospect at the outset of the title campaign. Bucky has firmly established the Hawks as one of the leading cage powers in the nation's toughest basketball league, which clearly stamps him as one of the outstanding coaches in the nation.

A former Newton High school and Drake university star in the cage sport, Bucky was a successful high school coach before stepping up to the college ranks as freshman coach at Iowa. His record at Boone, where he developed such outstanding prep stars as "Pinky" Clifton — later a Hawkeye standout — led to the contract offer from the university. After a couple of years in charge of the freshmen, he was elevated to the varsity post three years ago upon dismissal of "Popsy" Harrison from that assignment.

Without question, the high point of the Hawkeyes' 1953-54 season was their decisive win over Indiana at Bloomington. It was the Hoosiers' first home-floor loss in a couple of seasons and attracted nationwide attention to Iowa's basketball rejuvination under O'Connor's leadership. Bucky has promised to bring the movies of this game along with him to be shown as an added highlight of the banquet program.

Making his appearance here just a week after the state high school tournament, O'Connor has promised to give his estimate of the various teams and individual stars who gained the spotlight at the annual classic. He'll also have some special comments for the local players regarding the major weaknesses he's found that top prep performers have to eliminate before they can make the grade as collegiate cagers.

Mr. Carstens predicts that tickets for the banquet will go in a hurry. Men who have already made reservations will be first to receive tickets. Only 350 will be sold to the public, and considering the way the fans have been supporting the Broncos at tournament games, the Lions' president figures the demand will well exceed that number.

Those who have made reservations can get their tickets, at $2.00 apiece, from one of the following: Mr. Carstens, Dr. A. M. Larson, Russ Dougherty, Dr. P. A. Rietz or Clair Hugh. Non-reserved tickets can also be obtained from these men, so long as the supply lasts.

KELLING TO RUN AGAIN

Carl P. Kelling of Renwick, who is serving his first term on the Wright county board of supervisors, announced last week that he will be a candidate on the Republican ticket for renomination in the June primary. He represents the Second district, consisting of Boone, Norway and Liberty townships.

Dows Man Enters Race for Auditor

Carroll K. Paulson of Dows this week threw his hat in the ring as a candidate in the June primaries for Wright county auditor subject to the will of the Republican voters. Mr. Paulson became the second candidate to file for this office on the GOP ticket and will be opposed by Myron Price of Clarion.

Mr. Paulson received his elementary and high school education at the Garner and Ventura public schools and moved to Dows with his parents in 1941, just prior to his entry into military training. He is a veteran of World World II having served with the Air Force for nearly four years. Following his discharge, Mr. Paulson completed a course of training at the Chillicothe Business college at Chillicothe, Mo.

Since that time Mr. Paulson has been employed with the Rock Island railroad and later at the Farmers Grain & Lumber Co. in Dows.

Mr. Paulson is married and is a member of the Lutheran church and also of the American Legion. He states that he feels his experience and business training well qualifies him for nomination to the office of auditor and he asks the support of the Republican voters at the June primaries.

Future Farmers' Annual Banquet Held Saturday

Annual banquet of the Friendly Service chapter of the Future Farmers of America was held last Saturday evening at the school lunch room, starting at 6:00 o'clock. Fathers and friends of the FFA boys and honorary members of the BHS chapter were guests.

An interesting after-dinner program was arranged, highlighted by the showing of a movie film entitled, "Future Farmers of America, Silver Anniversary." It was taken at last fall's national FFA convention at Kansas City and shows various activities and events associated with that meeting. Colored slides were shown, also, that pictured local FFA projects the boys' test plots and individual projects.

Medals were presented to the Future Farmers having the highest per-acre corn yield, the heaviest lamb at 30 days and the heaviest pig at 56 days. The senior members who earned letters by the FFA point system received emblems bearing four bars.

Winners of the corn, lamb and pig awards, respectively, were Larry Wessels, Jack Spitler and Harold Tendall. The senior letter winners were Spitler, Herbert Pals and Richard Christiansen. Advisor Don Collinson and Principal Clair Hugh were made honorary members of the FFA.

Bob McLaughlin, who will be Belmond's entry in this year's FFA speech competition, gave the talk he has prepared for the contest. It is entitled, "Our War on Waste."

Only 53 Ballots Cast in Election

Fifty-three ballots were cast in the election Monday to select two directors to sit on the board of the Belmond Independent School district during the final 3½ months of its existence.

Incumbents Dr. S. P. Leinbach and Bert Kalkwarf, who were unopposed for reelection, were returned to the board. Fifty-two votes were cast for Doctor Leinbach and 51 for Mr. Kalkwarf.

A couple of voters were apparently a bit confused as to what directors were being elected to what board. Mrs. Lee Mussell received one vote and a 'McNulty', not further identified, also got one. Mrs. Mussell and Gerald McNulty will be candidates in the election next Monday to name directors of the new Belmond Community School district.

Could YOU Use $225?

There'll be $225 lying in the till for somebody again next Tuesday when the Cash Gift Day drawing is conducted at 3:00 o'clock. No. 2,129, which would have been good for $150, was not presented this week. Neither was No. 366 —the 2:00 o'clock number that had $25 riding on its nose. The prize will, of course, again be $25 at 2:00 next Tuesday. Coming just three days after the final accounting with Uncle Sam on income tax, next week's drawings are expected to attract a bumper crop of interested onlookers.

Miller Joins Staff Of Belmond Auto

Belmond Auto company this week announces the addition of a newcomer to the concern's sales staff in the person of Joe Miller of Des Moines. Mr. Miller will hold the position of sales manager in the new and used car department. He began his work here on Monday of this week.

Mr. Miller is married and has a daughter three years old and a son who is age seven. Mrs. Miller and the children will join Mr. Miller here after the close of the school year.

An experienced hand at sales work, Miller has lived at Des Moines the past seven years. He was born at Montezuma but later lived at Oskaloosa, where he was graduated from high school in 1933. He attended Drake university for two years.

During World War II he was a flyer in the U. S. Army, piloting a liason plane in the European theatre during part of his three years of duty.

While in Des Moines he held a variety of sales jobs. For one year he was in the insurance business and for two was on the sales staff of Hoxie Fruit company. In 1950-51 he sold Studebakers in the capital city and for the past three years was sales manager of Manbeck Motor company's Chrysler-Plymouth agency.

CLUB ENJOYS TRIP

Fifteen members of the Home Study club and 16 guests went to Des Moines by bus on Wednesday of last week, where they enjoyed luncheon and the Betty Baker broadcast at the Hotel Savery.

Courson, Hanson Give Joint Recital; Nina Soon to Get "Biggest Break"

An unusual musical treat was enjoyed last Saturday night by a near-capacity audience at the Methodist church when a joint recital was presented by two of the finest singers that Belmond has produced, Nina Courson and Jerry Hanson.

Miss Courson has been visiting the past week and a half at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lucia Courson, taking time off from pursuit of her professional career in Europe. She left by plane from Paris on Saturday before last and arrived at the Des Moines airport at 7:30 p. m., just 23 hours after departing on her overseas flight.

Abroad 7½ Years Ago

It had been nearly 7½ years since Miss Courson was last home. During that period she has been studying and singing in Europe. She planned to leave today on her return trip, since she is to begin rehearsals early next week for what she regards as "the biggest break" of her career.

In several weeks she is scheduled to sing the title role in "Thais" with the Belgian Royal Opera company at Brussells. Although she has sung roles with a number of smaller companies, none of her professional appearances to date have represented an opportunity equalling that of the Brussels engagement, she says.

Jerry Plans to Teach

Jerry Hanson's musical aspirations lie in the field of teaching. During the past three weeks he has been serving as a practice teacher in the local schools. This assignment came as a phase of his musical studies at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., where he is a senior. He has gained unusual prominence in campus musical activities and has sung for four years with the famous St. Olaf Lutheran choir.

Last year Jerry had the distinction of having a solo part in the program the choir sang on its annual tour and this year he sang with the male quartet, several solo passages again falling his lot. Very few solo parts are featured in the appearances of the noted choir.

Late Bronco Rally Beats FC Indians In Sub-State Tilt

Belmond's Bronco basketeers were left with just one more river to cross, in order to gain the state tournament "promised land," when they outlasted the determined Indians of Forest City to notch a 52-46 sub-state victory Tuesday night at Ames. The win set the stage for a clash between Belmond and Carroll this evening at 8:30 for the right to advance to Iowa City. The Class B finals will precede the Class A fracas.

Very much in the spirit of the never-say-die reputation they've established for themselves this season was the Broncos' spine-tingling decision over their North Iowa conference arch-rival. There's no question but what the Indians were resolved to avenge their two earlier losses to Belmond by lassoing the Broncs in this third set-to. Let it be frankly stated that there were times during Tuesday's battle that many a BHS fan suspected the Redskins might get the job done.

Indians in Early Lead

No sooner had the game gotten underway than the Broncos found themselves temporarily in a hole. Forest City raced into a five-point lead before LeRoy Smith broke the ice for Belmond. Ben Riekena promptly retaliated for the Indians, but the Purple and White then picked up nine, consecutive points to go in front 11-7. The quarter's end, however, found the count knotted at 11-all.

Forest City largely dominated play in the second quarter. The Indians went ahead 15-11 as action resumed and only three times were the Broncos able to achieve so much as a tie—at 16-all, 19-all and then 22-all as Keith Madsen hit a fielder just as the halftime buzzer sounded.

Broncs 38-36, End of 3rd

Until well into the third quarter, neither team was able to gain any appreciable advantage; but as the end of the period neared, Belmond shot in front 35-31 and entering the final stanza the winners still had two points to go on, 38-36. When the Broncs promptly built up a 41-36 edge as the fourth period got underway, their backers had hopes that the pressure might be off for good.

This wasn't to be, however. With a little less than six minutes remaining, the Indians caught up, 41-41, and a few moments later Forest City took command as Riekena sifted one through the net. More than four minutes of playing time was left, but the Indians chose to go into a stall. It was working very effectively, too, until Layne Haugen fouled Ken Loats under the FC basket and Kenny shortened the deficit to one point by sinking his free throw.

Loats Puts BHS Ahead

Soon the shoe was on the other foot, as Loats hooked in a two-pointer and moments afterward Hoppell stole the ball from Forest City, scored on a lay-up and the Broncs had a three-point spread, 46-43. John Osbrink immediately made it 46-45 by caging a pair of free throws, only to see LeRoy Smith restablish the three-point margin with a timely jump-shot.

In the final, hectic minute and a half Loats shook loose for a pair of semi-sleepers and the best Forest City could do was add one gift shot. It wasn't one of the Broncs' better games—but considering the "tournament tension" that shrouded the contest, it was a notable performance, nevertheless.

Osbrink High Scorer

Loats led the winners in scoring with 13 points—10 of them coming in the crucial, final quarter. Hoppel lofted in six beauties for 12 points. Madsen contributed 10, LeRoy Smith chalked up eight (and played an excellent floor game). Ron Hansen made six, Gene Mehl two and Larry Larsen, one. Top scorer of the battle was Osbrink, 11 of whose 16 points were tallied in the third stanza. He was followed by Riekena with 13, Doug Glime with seven and Doug Schmidt with six.

The second game on the double-bill was almost a counterpart of the first. Carroll trimmed Valley of West Des Moines 55-51 with a splurge in the final minute and a half. The win was the Midwest conference champions' 21st in 26 starts. Belmond's win made the Broncs' mark 23-1 to date.

BACK THE BRONCOS

Coach Jim Crimmings asks Belmond fans to "back the Broncs" literally at the sub-state finals tonight. He'd like to see the local partisans take the bleachers BEHIND the boys, instead of across the floor. It might fend off a lot of time-out heckling and help put more "go" in the players, Jim believes. Tickets are again available at Thompsen's Clothing and at Goodell Grocery. Nine hundred were sold to Belmond fans in advance of the Forest City battle!

No County Board Vote This Year

No election to name a director to the Wright county board of education was necessary this year, since the terms of none of the board members expire in 1954. Directors are elected for a term of six years.

In 1955 the term of Mrs. George F. Paine of Eagle Grove will end. She represents the southwest quarter of the county, or Area 3.

Terms of Dr B. L. Basinger of Goldfield, from Area 2, and Dr. H. J. Classick of Belmond, Area 1, expire in 1957; and those of B. A. Samson, Area 4, and H. B. Vanderlip of Dows, director-at-large, expire in 1959.

Watchers Sought To Thwart Thefts From CCC's Bins

Volunteer watchers to join in a drive against government corn thefts were being sought this week by the Wright County ASC committee, according to Office Manager Oscar J. Hanson. Persons living near or regularly driving by CCC grain storage binsites in the county are particularly urged to take part in the campaign.

According to Mr Hanson, thefts of government-owned corn in Iowa have become altogether too widespread and the watcher plan is being devised to combat them. Organization of volunteer watchers in every county in the state is expected to assist greatly in reducing theft losses to insignificant proportions.

Services of these volunteers will be limited strictly to reporting any suspicious or night-time activity at binsites to proper authorities, Mr. Hanson emphasizes. The watchers will be warned against personally investigating any such activity and advised to leave investigation and apprehension of trespassers entirely to law officers.

Watchers must be willing to donate their services, Mr. Hanson says. However, any who are not connected with the ASC in an official capacity will be eligible for the $500 reward the government offers for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any persons responsible for theft of commodities from CCC binsites.

Residents of Wright county who are interested in volunteering for this kind of public service should get in touch with the ASC office at Clarion, Mr. Hanson suggests.

For McNeal Grain Opening March 16

Clark McNeal announces that he plans the formal, grand opening of the recently established McNeal Grain company at Clarion on Tuesday of next week. He has planned an event which he hopes will be of interest to all his farm friends and in an advertisement in this issue extends to them a cordial invitation to enjoy his hospitality.

As a major highlight of the day, Mr McNeal has engaged Dr. Damon Catron, noted swine nutritionist on the staff of Iowa State college, to speak at 1:30.

There will be free coffee and doughnuts for all visitors who attend the opening and Mr. McNeal has lined up a long list of attractive door prizes. He says there will be drawings "every hour, on the hour" to determine who will receive the gifts.

Poundstones Rank As County's Best Forage Producers

Forty samples of forage were exhibited in conjunction with the annual Wright county forage show and clinic that was held Friday of last week at the Clarion IOOF hall. Results of the contest made it quite clear that the Poundstones of Clarion are this county's outstanding experts in the field of forage production.

Last year, Harry Poundstone was winner of the class open to loose or baled hay. This year his son Dick took second in that category — and placed first in the class for chopped hay. There were no repeat winners, but Hubert Hiemstra took second in the chopped hay class after placing first last year.

Floyd Robie won Class I (loose or baled hay) and Ray Stevens was third, after Poundstone. Following Poundstone and Hiemstra in Class II (chopped hay) was Adolph Meinders. Top three place winners in Class III (grass or legume silage) were Kenneth Tillman, Gifford Holm and L. D. Groves, in that order; and in Class IV (corn or sorghum), Clarence Gordon, Morris Miller and Charles Holmes.

Ralph Krenzin, Iowa State college agronomist who addressed the clinic, urged the use of new grass and legume mixtures for pasture. He suggested mixing alfalfa and clover and red clover, rather than any one alone, particularly since the seed prices are nearly the same. He also recommended orchard grass and ladino clover for some pasture needs and said that birdsfoot trefoil is especially useful in renovating old blue grass permanent pastures.

Dale Hull, ISC agricultural engineer, showed the clinic audience pictures illustrating many types of horizontal silos. He strongly recommended use of this type of silo for conserving excess quantities of forage produced in early spring to tide the farmer over the dry pasture period later in the season.

DON'T TAKE IT OUT ON THE COUNCIL FOR LOOKING AFTER A "MUST" MATTER

Quite a few murmurs of dismay — some of them pretty loud murmurs — have followed on the heels of last week's announcement regarding the necessary boost in city water rates. Since none of us like to see any additional burdens placed on the family budget, it's only natural that the increases in water costs should be greeted with something less than enthusiasm; but before any criticism is leveled at the city council on this score, it behooves us all to do a little straight thinking on the matter.

Actually, a pat on the back is due the council and mayor, rather than a slap in the face. They didn't like to raise the rates any more than we like to see them raised. But the administration was left absolutely no choice but to do what it did. If a fault lies anywhere, it rests with preceding administrations that lacked either the foresight or the gumption to face the inevitable need of a modern, adequate sewage disposal plant to serve the city of Belmond.

It has been evident for a good many years that the time was coming when Belmond would outgrow its present sanitary sewer system. It has been equally apparent that the outmoded settling tank has been the only means of preventing pollution of the Iowa river with our sewage needed to be replaced with something better. Over the years that these growing problems have been ignored, we've saved the money that should advisedly have been spent to solve them. Now, time has caught up with us and there's no choice left but to do the job that has so long needed doing.

When the latest sanitary sewer extensions were laid — about three years ago, if memory serves us right — the state department of health declared that was the last sewer addition it would permit here until Belmond equipped itself with a plant for proper treatment of its sewage Very obviously, Belmond is not through growing. It is equally obvious that new links to its sewage system will be required to permit further growth. All of which makes it clear that the council had no alternative but to take the action it has.

It is only fair that those residents who enjoy the benefits of the municipal water and sewage system should pay a heavier part of the disposal plant cost than those whose homes are not linked with the water and sewer lines. This prompted the council's decision to meet the construction expense through a combination of revenue and general obligation bonds. The revenue bonds will be retired by funds derived from sewer rental — based on water consumption — that the city administration established in 1951

Part of the proceeds from the increase in water rates will save the city from having its back against the wall when improvement and expansion of the city water works become necessary in the near future. Give the city fathers credit for not getting us out of one hole, only to let us slip into another Also, where the whole matter is concerned, give them credit for forthrightly facing a problem that HAD to be solved.

Take fewer baths, if you will. Economize on water however you wish. But don't be peeved at the councilmen and mayor They're only doing their job — and doing it well.

MEETING COMMUNITY CHEST GOALS CAN BE HARD—OR EXTREMELY EASY

Last week a meeting was held in Clarion for the joint purpose of laying groundwork for a Community Chest at the county seat and to view the possibilities of establishing a countywide Community Chest organization From Belmond's experience, we don't have any question but what Clarion would find a Chest to be an important community asset. We aren't certain as to the feasibility of the countywide Chest set-up — but very possibly organization of the rural areas to such an end would have its merits.

Growth of the Community Chest idea in Iowa since World War II has been steady. In 1948, only 48 towns and cities were conducting some sort of united fund drive. This year the figure was up to 78 It is to the credit of the local Chest Council, campaign chairman and workers that Belmond was one of 35 communities whose drives went "over the top." A recent survey conducted by the Iowa Chain Store Council, Inc., indicates that 43 fell short Some missed by such a narrow margin, however, that it is entirely possible that more goals were subsequently reached through follow-up canvasses.

Because the number and nature of the agencies included in various Chest campaigns differ considerably, the per capita giving required to meet the goals also vary quite widely. In the state as a whole, per capita donations came to $3 60. In the 33 communities of less than 4,000 population, giving averaged $2 14 per person In meeting the local campaign objective of $4,000 — with a little to spare — the per capita average of Belmond donations figured $1.94.

Data released by the Chain Store Council makes it clear that the job of meeting a Chest quota is only as hard as a community makes it. Belle Plaine, with a population of 3,056, gave at a rate of only 65 cents per person and missed its $2,440 goal by $440 Rolfe, population 997, gave at the rate of $6 52 per capita and OVERSUBSCRIBED by $350 its ambitious goal of $6,500! That achievement suggests that if the Red Cross ever sees fit to join with the local Chest for fund-raising purposes, the higher total required could and should be met without undue difficulty.

Swine Producers Will Hold Dinner

This year. for the first time the annual meeting of the Wright County Swine Producers association will take the form of a dinner. It will be held at the Clarion IOOF hall this (Thursday) evening at 6:45 o'clock, and President Bernard Collins says that an especially interesting program has been planned.

One of the main speakers will be Al Heller of Sun Prairie, Wis., one of the nation's largest producers of feeder pigs. Also on the program will be Carroll Plager of Hormel & Co., Austin Minn He will conduct-a contest on grading hogs in accordance with the new market grade for swine. using colored slides. Several prizes will be awarded to the winners. He will also exhibit a motion picture showing the carbon monoxide method of killing hogs.

During the brief business meeting, new directors will be elected to succeed Richard Eckhoff of Pleasant township and Leo woodley of Lincoln as board representatives of the northeast and southeast quarters of the county, respectively. Under rules of the association, directors cannot succeed themselves. Continuing directors, besides Mr Collins, are Don Spangler of Eagle Grove and Jim Kleen of Renwick.

A new feature of the annual meeting will be a guessing contest regarding the market trend for hog prices. The swine producers will be invited to estimate the date of the year on which the market price for top butchers at Chicago will be the lowest, and what the price will be

Roast loin of pork, to be prepared and served for the occasion by Hormel chefs, will be the main banquet dish. Women of the Clarion Rebekah lodge will prepare the rest of the meal.

F. B. Membership Nearing '54 Goal

According to the March 6 issue of the Iowa Farm Bureau Spokesman, Wright county had 145 to go in reaching its 1954 quota of Farm Bureau members. The "Membership Scoreboard" indicated that quota to be 1.339 At the time of the latest report, 101 members had been signed up who did not belong last year

Only one township had reached its quota—Liberty, with 91 paid, one over the total assigned to it. Wall Lake was only a member short of its goal of 60

Townships in the immediate Belmond vicinity were lagging behind. Pleasant, with 48 memberships paid, had about that many to go. Belmond, with a quota of 77, was still short of that number by 18. Grant—which with Lincoln has the top, individual quota of 107—needed only nine more to make the grade.

Harve Petersen and Wife Doing OK Fishing for "Big Ones" in Florida

(The following article was received just recently regarding Mr. and Mrs. Harve Petersen, who are wintering in Florida. It was written by Clarence N. Perkins, Fishing Tournament director for the Fort Pierce Chamber of Commerce.)

Exceptional catches of some big denizens of the deep have been the lot recently of lucky sport fishermen off Fort Pierce, on the east coast of Florida. Charter boats taking parties some 15 to 18 miles off shore near the edge of the Gulf stream, have literally come back to port "with sails flying".

Two well-known Belmond residents, Mr. and Mrs. H F. Petersen, have been having fun in the sun at Fort Pierce. They decided to try their hand at deep sea fishing out in the ocean.

Recently they sailed on Captain George Archer's "Victory Too" out of the Marine Yacht Basin at Fort Perce. Accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hadaway of Elyria, Ohio Lady Luck certainly sailed along with the party.

Mrs. P. "Connects"

Running almost due east from Fort Pierce, the party got their first workout when Mrs. Petersen and Mrs Hadaway, respectively, landed a beautiful 15 and 13-pound red snapper.

Captain Archer then headed for the deep reefs, sometimes called "amberjack holes". Arriving there, he ran the boat slowly, and the bait on Mr. Petersen's line soon attracted an amberjack; he hit it—and the battle, and fun, began.

Amberjacks are very stubborn, deep boring fighters, and never quit battling until boated — and usually not even then. About three to four feet long, they are chunky, powerful swimmers, and with a lot of weight they make any angler work hard to hold and boat them.

Harve Gets Big One

Petersen's amberjack was no exception to the rule. He quickly made Petersen realize he had a rugged fish on the other end of his line, that was putting up a real fight, using every trick in the bag to free himself from the hook.

Once, after a sharp tussle, the fish quickly changed tactics and started toward the "Victory Too." As the line slackened, Petersen thought he had lost his fish. Suddenly, however, the fish took off on a swift angle run, for which these fish are famous, which made the line taut and the reel squeal and whine, despite the drag.

Top Prize Contenders

When the fish finally slowed down, the work began all over again of bringing it to the boat. After about half an hour of fun — and sport—and effort, the fish was boated.

When weighed later, Petersen's amberjack tipped the scales at 47 pounds. It was entered, along fith Mrs Petersen's red snapper, in the Fort Pierce Chamber of Commerce Winter Fishing Tournament. As they are both in the top brackets for February entries, each will receive a Master Fisherman's Certificate award shortly after March first.

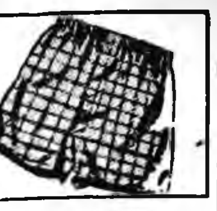
Belmond Locals

Mr and Mrs. Al Huinker and family were Sunday guests in the Ed S. Huinker home at Calmar a week ago.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS



Gary "Jake" Brothers became the first Belmond bowler ever to mark up a perfect game when he chalked up 12X's in a row just before suppertime on Wednesday of last week. He had ample witnesses, too. Five men were bowling with him. Fred Gordon produced a very respectable 222 for the line, only to get beat by the neat total of 78 pins.

As is always the case when a 300 game is "working," tension began to run high as Jake got one solid hit after another into the pocket. According to the onlookers, only his first strike in the 10th frame was the least bit "scratchy." It was a shade thin, but with the eggbeater action that Brothers' curve produces there was little question about all the pins falling. He followed up with two perfect strikes to clinch his 300.

Besides Gordon, the witnesses were Bowl-Mor Manager Jack Crosby (he had a 170), Dave Robertson (165), Anson Avery (156) and Hugh McMcMannus (143). Jake had preceded the "big one" with a 235 and 182, giving him a 717 series—third best ever rolled at the Bowl-Mor. Crosby has had a 761 and Don Nielsen recently cut loose with a 743.

—PSS—

That man Brothers is a tough one to beat on the bowling alley ANYTIME. If you question it, ask Jim Mariga's opinion. Rolling as one of Jake's Spahn & Rose team mates Wednesday night in a Boardsplitters league match, Jim uncorked a 183-245-202—630. But Brothers beat him with 202-222-217—641! Gary added another to his ever-lengthening string of 600 series on Thursday night by matching Jim's previous night's total (though he'd again have clipped Mariga a couple of bucks on side bets)—this time it was 223-191-216—630.

—PSS—

Iowa Fall's Cadets got only one look at Ken Loats during the basketball season — when the Broncos beat 'em 69-55 in the district tourney — but that was enough to convince them that Ken is "one of the best." The Iowa Falls cagers named the BHS star to their all-opponent team for this season. He was the only player outside the North Central conference (in which the Cadets placed 2nd) to be thus honored.

Belmond basketball fans will undoubtedly be looking forward to the all-state basketball selections of the Des Moines Register and the Iowa Daily Press association with greater interest this year than ever before. The best the Broncs have ever managed in the past was an honorable mention.

But this time there's chance —just a chance—that we might get representation on one of the all-state teams. Loats would probably be the Broncos' best prospect.

Besides being one of the highest scorers in BHS history (very possible THE highest), the lanky blond developed into one of the finest defensive players the North Iowa conference has ever produced and a demon on rebounds. If he doesn't make one of the all-states (they'll be out the last week in this month), we'll always think he should have.

How Mercury's New 161-Horsepower Engine gives you a new measure of safety

If you'll get behind the wheel of a new 1954 Mercury and take it out on the open road, we think you'll find this new engine gives you the most instantly responsive power you've ever known. Even when you're cruising at normal highway speeds, you have instant acceleration that lets you pass another car and get back in the right-hand lane in a few safe seconds.

It's not just a matter of high horsepower. It's power that's instantly available because of a new Mercury development—a 4-barrel carburetor, with the two rear barrels vacuum-operated to cut in automatically when reserve power is needed for an extra margin of safety.

Mercury's new engine combines with new ball-joint front wheel suspension to give you a new kind of power. And you'll find this new 1954 Mercury easier than ever on the eyes. Easier on the pocketbook, too. You can get more miles per gallon than even Mercury offered before. Come in and try it!

Sale of Bonds Up Over Rate of '53

Purchases of series E and H savings bonds in Iowa during January were almost five million dollars greater than in January, 1953, an increase of approximately 30 per cent.

Charles Kramer of Clarion, Wright county chairman of the savings bonds division, announced that E and H bond purchases in the state for January were $21,208,297, while January 1953 purchases amounted to $16,234,986.

He added that purchases in Wright county for January of this year totalled $239,318, compared with January, 1953, purchases of $221,396. Fifteen counties in Iowa did not show increases for last month, but in some instances that could be accounted for by an unusually high sales in the first month of last year.

"January sales give the state a good start toward the 1954 quota," Mr. Kramer said. "Iowa's quota is aproximately 25 million dollars higher this year than the 1953 quota was."

Sales of series E and H savings bonds in adjacent counties, for January of 1953 and 1954, were: Hancock county, 1954 $108,250, 1953 $96,732; Franklin county, 1954 $133,687. 1953 $90,114; Humboldt county, 1954 $170,517, 1953 $72,972.

CEM HAROLD SORENSON

AIR CADET DONALD BOHNING

Belmond Has Made Contribution To Both "Old" and "New" Navy

Above are pictured "the old and the new of it," insofar as Belmond and the U. S. Navy are concerned. Sheif Electrician Mate Harold R. Sorenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sorenson, has perhaps spent more years in this service than any other native of Belmond. Air Cadet Donald Bohning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bohning—on the other hand—is one of the community's latest enlistees in the Navy.

Their jobs illustrate how the changing times have quite radically altered the character of the Navy. Chief Sorenson is a real "salt water sailor" of the old school. He is serving aboard the USS Kittiwake, a submarine repair vessel which is stationed at Norfolk, Va., with Submarine Squadron 6.

Included in the squadron in addition to the Kittiwake is a submarine tender and its "family" of 15 "subs." While the submarine marks back to pre-World War I Navy days as an important component of the naval service, it has not lost its key role as a vital sinew in the Navy's "fighting arm"—as have, for instance, the battleship and cruiser.

Chief Sorenson has been in the Navy since the mid-thirties and is looking forward to being eligible for retirement within the period of a year or so. He's gone up through the non-commissioned ranks to the highest rating attainable by an NCO (non-commissioned officer).

Representative of the "new Navy," which looks on the fleet air wing as the service's most important element, is Air Cadet Bohning. On Feb. 5, after only 14 weeks in uniform, he completed his basic training course in the U. S. Naval Pre-Flight school at Pensacola, Fla. He has now been transferred to Whiting Field, Milton, Fla., where he is continuing his flight training.

Wrote Capt. A. N. Perkins, Commanding Officers of Pensacola Pre-Flight, to Donald's parents when the Belmond boy had completed his initial training: "During his 14-week pre-flight course, he has demonstrated by his attitude and diligence that he possesses the high qualifications necessary to become a Navy officer and pilot."

Mrs. Clair Nelson and Shirley and Sharon Bingham, all of Clarion, were Sunday dinner guests in the Francis Ainger home.

Average Support On '54 Soybeans Figures at $2.22

Prices for the 1954 crop of soybeans will be supported at a national average of $2 22 a bushel, which is 80 per cent of parity as of last Dec. 15, according to an announcement by the U. S Department of Agriculture received this week by the Wright County ASC committee.

Price support level for the 1953 crop was 90 per cent of parity, but this was reduced to 80 per cent for the 1954 crop as a step toward keeping this year's soybean acreage in balance as nearly as possible with production needs without the use of acreage allotment for this commodity.

It is also hoped, according to the committeemen, that the lower support level for soybeans will discourage a wholesale switch of diverted corn land to soybeans this year.

Price support for 1953-crop soybeans was at a national average of $2 56 a bushel. The rate in Wright county was $2 58 and 234,123 bushels had been placed under loan and purchase agreement in this county when the time for support applications on soybeans expired Feb. 1.

Dows Legion Post Has Already Met Its Quota for '55

While many American Legion posts in Iowa will be using the week of the veteran organization's 35th birthday (It was established March 15, 1919) as a lever to meet 1954 membership quotas, members of Watson-Beach Post No. 523 at Dows are smugly sitting back with their paid-membership quota for 1955 already met!

According to the March issue of the Iowa Legionnaire, this makes Dows not only the first Iowa community—but very likely the first in the nation—to be "over the top" for 1955. The Watson-Beach vets had their drive for '55 all completed and the dues mailed in to headquarters by Feb. 17.

Rowan Whipped This Time

For the past several years, Dows and Rowan have been conducting a friendly battle to see which post could be first in the Third District to go over its annual quota. It's rumored that a considerable number of ham dinners have been enjoyed "for free" in the course of settling these arguments.

Taking their membership average for the past four years—upon which the annual quotas are based—the Dows Legionnaires figured 118 members would do the trick for them, and proceeded to sign 'em up.

Belmond "In" for '54

For the past three years, the Iowa Legionnaire reports, two "end of the alphabet" towns—Zearing and Wallingford—have been making it a two-way tussle in the race to meet quota first. But for '55, Watson-Beach Post has turned it into "no contest."

Belmond's Pierce-Zieger Post, incidentally, is one of 46 (out of 81) in the Third District to be on-quota for the current year. Under Commander Bill Dempsey, the local post has signed up 102 members—one more than its quota.

CHICK CHATS

On Keeping Hens

Every year at this time, farmers or their wives start cleaning out the brooder house. And every year, a certain percentage of these folks get discouraged and say, "Let's not raise chicks. We'll keep the hens over."

I'm not going to sit here and say that keeping hens is wrong or right. I'll tell you the advantages and disadvantages of doing it and let you make up your own mind. And this is pretty hard for me to to do because I sell baby chicks — every year, too.

If you keep the hens, you'll find bigger eggs than if you have pullets. These big eggs bring more money per egg. But you find less of them. And besides, hens lay eggs with weaker shells than pullets and are more apt to develop the bad habit of egg eating.

After about 10 to 15 months of production (depending upon the breeding of your birds) the hens give themselves a rest. There're feathers all over the floor and few eggs in the nests. This is nice if you want chicken feather pillows. But it isn't too profitable. Pullets won't molt, or shouldn't if they get the proper care.

But there's one way to get the advantages of hens with none of the disadvantages. Keep the hens until they molt. Then sell 'em or eat 'em and put the pullets in the house.

Where do you get the pullets? You raise 'em of course. Start a late flock — in June or even later. It's not much work at that time of year. Since the weather is warm, you can let them out of doors sooner than with earlier hatches.

In 5 or 5½ months, the pullets will be ready for the laying house. The hens will be ready for the stew-pot. You'll have eggs in the fall next year — and late hatched pullets usually average larger eggs over a year's lay than early hatched birds.

And besides, hens are worth more late in the fall or early winter. You'll be money ahead not to sell your hens when most people do.

Some folks follow a middle course program of carrying some hens over and replacing around 2/3 rds of their flock. This is apt to be the least profitable of all programs because the pullets so often contract diseases from the hens after housing (even if they are in separate houses). It is seldom profitable to carry over hens of even the best breeding.

TWELVE PAGES
VOL. 34 NO. 23 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

It's not the way they'd hoped, but 16 members of the Bronco basketball squad—plus Coaches Jim Crimmings and "Jake" Jacobs—were at Iowa City for the state tournament Tuesday. Unquestionably, the spectator role was not to their liking; and we'll bet our bottom dollar that as the boys returning next season viewed the proceedings, they were unanimously resolved to be "same place, same time" next spring—but in uniform. And the Mainstreeters, for three, wouldn't wager a plugged nickel that they won't make it.

—M-S—

That sizeable ad in last week's Independent, inserted by the basketball fans of Forest City to wish the Broncos good luck and to congratulate them on their win over the Indians, was a mighty nice gesture. Incidentally, when we hear the blue-noses carping about over-emphasis on sports and the terrible price the players and fans pay in frayed nerves during tense tournament battles, it makes us a bit peeved. No community ever suffered because the entire population got "steamed up" at once with all-consuming loyalty toward a good team. Honest competition to become "the best there is" stands high among American traditions. Life's laurels go to the "winners;" and to those who, in losing, can do so gracefully — and at the same time promise themselves to be on top the next time. What's wrong with learning the lesson young?

—M-S—

Mrs. Junior Barkema informs us that her six-month old son David has a date with the shears this week. Young David didn't lose the hair he was born with, as is customary. Not only did he have quite a thatch when he arrived, but it's been growing at a rapid gait. As a consequence, the youngun stands in definite need of a haircut despite his tender age. Mama says she's stood it as long as she can and the scissors are due to take their harvest before David makes his next public appearance. Butch, Mrs. B.?

When Peter Hemmen, 42, of Aplington was nabbed last week in Charles City, his arrest and subsequent confession provided the solution to an extensive string of forgeries. Among the firms gratified to see the careless check-writer brought to time was the Western Auto store at Eagle Grove.

Raymond Shurson, young clerk for Western Auto, paid Hemmen a visit to determine if he was the gent who had left the store an n. g. check for $66 some time back. He was. When Hemmen was questioned as to what he did with the money from his forgeries he replied carelessly, "Gave it to my friends. They needed it worse than I did." . . . Shurson, who is not the talkative sort, eyed the forger speculatively and then was heard to mutter, "Hm-m-m! Robin Hood!"

Merchants will not have to keep an eye out for the Aplington check artist for some little time to come. He was heard in Floyd county district court on Saturday, and the judge looked upon Hemmen's operations with stern disapproval. As a consequence, the "pen" at Fort Madison has a new guest for a period not to exceed 10 years.

—M-S—

Talk about doing your Christmas shopping early. An advertising firm that caters to weekly newspapers hit the trade journals this week with a full-page ad encouraging its customers to profit by a five per cent discount through ordering their Christmas and New Year's greetings by July 1. Now if that isn't a ghastly thought!

—M-S—

As Ben Heginger passed around a musical basket giving forth the inspiring tones of "Here Comes Peter Cottontail," Kessler's Koffee Krowd dug deep in their pockets for the firemen's station fund a week ago last Sunday morning.

When the "take" was counted, it came to 32 cents — enough to buy the screws to hold the front door handle in place.

For the benefit of the donors, we wish to report that their names have been made a matter of record; so it will avail them nothing to answer to later solicitation with that old stand-by, "I've already given."

Top Ratings Won By 2 in Speech

Two Belmond entrants won top ratings at the sub-district speech contest held last Thursday at Clarion and will compete in district competition next week for the right to advance to the state contest. Winners of I ratings were Margo Gowdy in the humorous division and Marlys Howell in interpretive reading.

Seven Belmond High school contestants were awarded II ratings: Connie Hill, Maryellen Johnson, Sharon Thompsen, Pat Smith, Elna Jenison, Beverly Sheriff and Sandra Simerson. The BHS one-act play received the same rating. In the cast were Dwight Beavers, Elna Jenison and Kyle Mennenga.

Season's Worst Storm Disrupts Phone and Power Service

Robert Garms Will Head Community School Board

Ballots were cast by 191 voters in the election Monday to choose initial members of the Belmond Community School district's board of education. Hancock county electors, though much in the minority, turned out in relatively larger number than those in the Wright county area who exercised their franchise. A total of 76 ballots were cast at the Goodell Community hall and 115 at the Belmond city hall.

Totals for the various candidates were: Carl Green, Goodell, for three-year term — 176; Mrs. Lee Mussell and Robert Garms of Belmond for two-year-terms — each 165; Harold Simerson of Belmond township and Gerald McNulty of Pleasant, for one-year terms, 174 and 176, respectively. Two write-in votes were cast for Dr. S. P. Leinbach and one for Bert Kalkwarf.

Both the Belmond Independent and Belmond Community boards met at the school Monday night to organize. Mr. Garms was elected president of the reorganized district's board and Mr. Kalkwarf was re-named president of the Independent board. C. C. Benson sits as treasurer of both boards. He received 173 votes for that post in the community school election and was recently appointed to serve as successor to the late Dr. H. L. Gowdy as the Independent school treasurer.

Until the independent district passes out of existence, and the community district comes into formal being, on July 1 the two boards will meet jointly. Their big job between now and then will be apportioning the the assets and liabilities of the seven township districts that were in part incorporated in the reorganized district. Similar apportionment is not required in connection with the Goodell and Belmond Independent districts, which lie wholly within the new district.

Wright Accident Toll Up In 1953

The state safety department reported last week that Wright county drivers were involved in 297 traffic accidents at a total cost of $202,420 in damages in 1953.

The figures compare with a county record of 279 accidents and a loss of $200,680 in 1952, according to Milo Chalfant, director of the state safety responsibility division.

The county's traffic accident loss last year was accounted for by a cost of $100,320 for property damage and $102,100 personal injury in accidents.

Wright county's traffic accident record was part of last year's all-state total 53,158 accidents and a total economic loss of $26,545,009. Tragic and costly as this record was, it still marked a general reduction compared to 1952 when there were 57,625 accidents at a cost of $27,092,253, Chalfant said.

Judge Suspends Lamb's Sentence

Andy Lamb was given a six-month county jail sentence Monday by Judge H. C. Nichol in Wright county district court at Clarion when the elderly Belmondite pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily injury.

The charge grew out of a shotgun attack by Lamb on two Belmond teen-age boys last fall, whom the defendant suspected of having torn down some "no trespassing" signs posted on his riverside property. The boys denied the accusation.

BOCK REELECTED

Emil Bock was reelected vice president of the Cornbelt National Farm Loan association when that group held its annual meeting last week at Clarion. M. L. Thompson of Kanawha was continued in the presidency. Hubert Heimstra of Norway township was added to the board of directors, succeeding Nick Christians of Kanawha.

SMORGASBORD NEXT WEEK

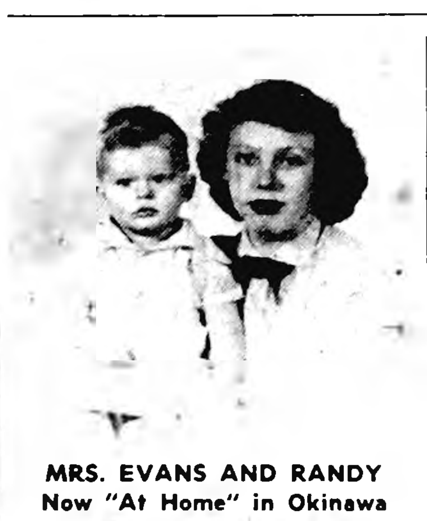
Tuesday of next week, starting at 5:30 p. m., the women of Trinity Lutheran church will hold a smorgasbord at the church parlors. Meat dishes will include Norwegian meat balls, baked ham, roast beef and scalloped chicken. A number of Norwegian dishes will be featured also, along with homemade breads and a choice of deserts.

BERKEY RITES SET

Funeral services will be held at the Goodell EUB church tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 2:00 o'clock for Mrs. E. W. Berkey of Cedar Rapids, former Goodell resident and a sister of Robert McNutt and Mrs. Elmer Kienenberger of Goodell. Mrs. Berkey died Tuesday night at a Vinton hospital.

SUPERVISOR CANDIDATE

Roland Trotter of Goldfield has announced that he will contest the candidacy of Carl P. Kelling of Renwick for the position of county supervisor from District 2.



MRS. EVANS AND RANDY
Now "At Home" in Okinawa

• • •

Mrs. Gerald Evans Now "Army Wife" And Likes It Fine

According to a letter received last week by Mrs. Ivan Evans, her daughter — Mrs. Gerald Evans — is finding the life of an "Army wife" in Okinawa very much to her liking. Mrs. Evans, the younger, just recently joined her husband, Sgt. 1/c Gerald Evans, on the island that was a famous World War II battleground.

The Evans family lives in an Army-built home, one of a number erected just three years ago; and the young housewife says it is really fitted-out to a queen's taste. She went into raptures in describing the kitchen, which she assures her mother has "everything."

Mrs. Evans and son Randy Lynn, a year old, sailed to Okinawa aboard the USS William Mitchell on Feb. 12th. Sergeant Evans expects he'll be assigned to the island bastion for two years.

Mrs. Ivan Evans says the fact that she and her daughter have the same name is not just a coincidence. Actually, the relationships in the family are a bit complicated. Ivan is Gerald's father, and Mrs. Ivan is Mrs. Gerald's mother.

Goal Not Reached But Fire Station Already Assured

Fire Chief A. W. Johnson announced today that enough funds have now been pledged that building of the new fire station is definitely assured. Actual subscriptions are still about $1,500 short of the goal at which the firemen are aiming. It is hoped that announcement in regard to actual groundbreaking for the building can be made next week.

A number of voluntary subscriptions are coming in without solicitation, Chief Johnson says. He urges that any other persons who wish to have a part in the project should give their contribution to one of the firemen or leave with George Hansen, company treasurer, at The Independent.

Some misinterpretation was attached to the original story on the station, Chief Johnson says. Business firms that were mentioned are operated by members of the fire department who offered some of the materials and equipment at reduced price and volunteered to donate installation labor. However, no contracts have been let and the firemen have voted to consider bids from all firms that are interested.

KOENEN ONLY BELMONDITE TO REGISTER LAST MONTH

Byron Koenen was the only youth with a Belmond address among nine 18-year-olds who in February registered for the first time with the Wright county local Selective Service board.

Others were Gerhart Lee Bremer, Richard Voss and Marvin Babcock of Eagle Grove; Sidney H. Ketchum and Jackie Freese of Rowan; Lyle E. Anderson, Clarion; Larry Brannick, Dows; and Kenneth Dean Letts, Woolstock.

5 Cash Day Gifts Rather Than Two

More persons will have a chance to pick up some money when Cash Gift Day is held in Belmond next Tuesday afternoon. The committee in charge has decided to leave the 3:00 o'clock prize at $225 — the amount which was at stake this week — and then add three more $25 awards to the 2:00 p. m. drawing. No. 3,032 and No. 339 failed to show up this week, so the prize fund was left intact.

Under the new Cash Gift Day arrangement, there will be separate drawings for four $25 prizes at 2:00 p. m. next Tuesday. At 3:00 o'clock, $225 will again be at stake. Although the "big" prize won't be quite so big, the merchants expect the larger number of cash gifts to draw a good turn-out of shoppers.

Burlington Bank Job to Christie

Stanton E. Christie, 39, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Christie, on Monday of this week became an employee of the National Bank of Burlington as its farm representative. Before accepting the position he had been a sales representative for Northrup-King Seed company working out of Minneapolis.

A 1934 graduate of Belmond High school, Mr. Christie is a '38 alumnus of Iowa State college, where he majored in general agriculture. While at ISC he held memberships in the American Society of Agronomy and in the Block and Bridle and Saddle and Sirloin clubs, the latter two both national honorary societies. He was also president of his social fraternity, Alpha Chi Rho.

From 1938 to 1945 he was farm supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in Taylor county and for the next three years served as soil conservationist in Henry county for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In 1948 he bought a seed and farm supply store in Mount Pleasant, which he sold at the time he joined Northrup-King last year. While residing at Mount Pleasant he served a year as president of the Kiwanis club there.

Nine New Volumes Added to Library By 'Book Friends'

That the BOOK FRIENDS club is still a "live" project was made apparent this week when Librarian Faye Colby made a report that the city library has lately acquired nine volumes through this medium. It will be recalled that The Independent established the BOOK FRIENDS last year to foster the donation of needed, new books to the library. During 1953 the club was responsible for adding more than 200 volumes to the library stacks.

Funds to buy two new books were received from Mr. and Mrs. Jim Adams. Mr. Adams was an original member of the library board and served as a trustee over a long period of time, retiring only two years ago. He and Mrs. Adams were responsible for adding to the library shelves: "Five Minute Biographies," Carnegie; and "Theodore Roosevelt," Charnwood.

Also, seven historical books in the Landmark series for young readers were bought with a BOOK FRIENDS contribution received as a memorial to the sister of Mrs. L. C. Long, the late Mary Ann Palmer. Added through this gift were: "The Panama Canal," Considine; "The Vikings," Janeway; "Santa Fe Trail," Adams; "The Lewis and Clark Expedition," Neuberger; "Custer's Last Stand," Reynolds; "The Pirate Lafitte," Tallant; and "Explorations of Pere Marquette," Kjelgaard.

COMMUNITY SALE

Lloyd Stevens will conduct another of his community auction sales on Wednesday of next week at the Martin building (former Jensen Grocery), starting at 7:30 p. m.

WEED CONTROL will be discussed by Dr. E. P. "Dutch" Sylwester (above) at a county-wide meeting on that problem which is being held this evening at the Clarion IOOF hall, starting at 8:00 o'clock. A member of the Iowa State college staff, Mr. Sylwester is the state's foremost authority on cultural and chemical control of weeds. All interested in the subject are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Wright County Corn Allotment Set At 27,387 Acres Less Than '51-53

Wright county's 1954 corn acreage allotment is 124,443 acres, according to Oscar J. Hanson, county ASC office manager. Farmers of the county previously reported average corn plantings of 151,830 in this county in 1951 through 1953.

This means that a reduction of 27,387 acres below the three-year average is sought under the '54 allotment program, requiring a cut of 18.1 per cent. As soon as the official notice of the county's allotment was received, the county ASC office began computing individual allotments. They were mailed to operators and landlords last Friday.

State Cut, 20%

Only those farmers who comply with their acreage allotments will be eligible for government price support loans and purchase agreements on corn raised this year, Mr. Hanson reminds.

Iowa's allotment of 9,063,929 acres was apportioned among the 99 counties on the basis of average plantings the past 10 years, with adjustments for planting trends and abnormal weather conditions. On the whole, the county allotments represent an average statewide reduction of 20 per cent from the '51-53 acreages.

Reductions Will Vary

Reduction percentage will vary between individual farms, Mr. Hanson notes, as a result of adjustments made by township and county ASC committees to abide by government regulations. The government sees corn allotments as the only method provided by existing law to reduce production in line with present, abnormal supplies.

Mr. Hanson says the ASC committee believes a large per cent of the farmers will comply with their allotments, realizing that market value of corn could be considerably lower next year and that corn price indirectly affects prices of other grain products, including livestock.

Last Rites Today For Mrs. Parker

Funeral services were to be held this (Thursday) morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Francis Catholic church for Mrs. Tuck Parker. She died at her home eary Tuesday morning. Burial will take place in the Forest City cemetery.

Born Aug. 12, 1893, Mrs. Parker had reached the age of 60 years. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Otto Dorr of Belmond; a sister, Mrs. Sarah Breen of Fairmont, Minn.; and a brother, E. H. Turner of Franklin, Nebr. Mr. Parker preceeded her in death in October of last year.

Well, It Could Have Happened Thursday Night

Many a driver caught in the parade of cars that filed home from Ames last Tuesday and Thursday nights wondered just what would happen if an auto ahead came to a sudden and unexpected stop. Four carloads of fans, on Tuesday, found out in very short order a little after 11:00 p. m. about 3½ miles south of the Greyhound junction.

Kyle Mennenga had to bring his car to an abrupt halt when a tire blew out. Three vehicles immediately behind him managed to swerve around. But the next three in line were not so fortunate.

Cort Luick was unable to avoid crashing into the rear of Mennenga's car — Estel Thompson, Kanawha coach, banged into Luick — and Clark McNeal collided with the back end of Thompson's auto. Damage to the three cars was estimated, in order, at $50, $200 and $150.

It was, at least, fortunate that the chain reaction wasn't set off on Thursday night. At the same hour on Thursday, the highway was slippery with sleet and a similar mishap could easily have reaped a harvest of 20 cars.

RED CROSS OFFICERS

At the recent annual meeting of the Belmond chapter of the Red Cross, in addition to election of Mrs. Pitcher to succeed M. C. Jensen as chairman, two new directors were named. Rev. Leo Widdel was chosen to replace Mr. Jensen, who has departed from Belmond; and Mrs. Lester Gabrielson was picked as Pleasant township representative to fill a vacancy left by resignation of Mrs. James Barry, who no longer lives in that township.

Final Rites Held Monday Afternoon For Ralph C. Bras

Funeral services were held Monday at the Congregational church for R. C. Bras, 88, who died at his home on Saturday of last week. He spent most of his life in railroad work, excepting several years devoted to farming and three terms as Wright county clerk of court.

Final rites were conducted by Rev. William Schorman and burial was in Belmond cemetery. Boone Funeral Home was in charge. Pallbearers were Glenn Thompson, Emory Thompson, Wilmer Burk, George Braun, Gunnar Ahlstrom and Harley Thompson.

Born at Toolsboro in eastern Iowa on Oct. 10, 1865, Ralph Chester Bras was the son of Charles Henry and Hannah Mary McDermott Bras. He took up telegraphy at an early age and in early manhood did relief work for the Great Western railroad at Clarion and Belmond.

On Oct. 7, 1891, he wed Jessie Pearl Luick. Two children were born to them—a son, Friend, and daughter, Leona. In his early years in this vicinity he farmed for six years on the place that's been the family home the past 13 years. In 1892 he was elected county clerk of court and served in that position six years.

After an interim of farming in Minnesota, he returned to railroad employment as depot agent for the Great Western for seven years and then with the Canadian Pacific for 19, until his retirement in 1931. The family at that time returned to their Minnesota farm for 10 years, later coming back to their present home west of Belmond in 1941 to care for an ailing sister of Mrs. Bras'.

Surviving are Mrs. Bras and the two children, living at home.

Collier Estimates Telephone Damage Close to $10,000

North Iowa got its annual "tournament season" storm last Thursday and Friday. It seems to have become a yearly occurrence for the weatherman to kick up his heels right at the time the basketball tourneys are reaching their climax and a throng of local fans found it necessary to go slow and easy as sleet and wind made the trip home from Ames a difficult journey.

Telephone service was drastically affected by the "lionish" March blow and not until 10:00 a. m. Monday were all links with the outside world re-established. Len Collier, local manager for Central States Telephone company, estimates that damage done by the storm will run somewhere between $7,000 and $10,000.

All Clarion Lines "Out"

There are 18 trunk lines to Clarion, and every one of them was broken as wires and poles snapped from the heavy ice coatings, plus Friday's near-hurricane winds. Wires were encased in ice up to three-quarters of an inch thick. The strain that this added weight produced was responsible for some 150 poles collapsing or breaking off. All outside lines were out of commission before Thursday night had passed and it wasn't until 5:00 p.m. Sunday that the first three were repaired.

Phone crews continued their trouble-shooting over the weekend and the final four trunk lines were in use again Monday morning. Mr. Collier says that nearly half the farm lines in the Rowan-Belmond-Goodell area were out of order by Friday night. These, too, were largely back in normal use by Monday morning. It is expected that most repairs will have been completed by the end of the week.

Emergency Line Rigged

A temporary line was rigged to Garner, via Goodell, while the Clarion trunk lines were out of use and provided an emergency link with long distance points from Friday morning until the first connection was re-established with Clarion on Sunday. In using this circuit, patrons had to place their calls directly from the telephone office.

Damage to the power lines was quite light, according to Pete Pazour, district operating manager for Iowa Electric Light and Power, but repair crews were kept on the run as innumerable outages interrupted service. Most of the trouble was caused by the heavy-laden wires swinging back and forth in the wind, resulting in short circuits as pairs of wires touched.

Two Poles Burned

Mr. Pazour says that oil switches break a shorted circut four times, and automatically reopen it three times. However, the fourth time the circuit goes out, it is necessary to throw the switch manually. This explains why it repeatedly ocurred that there were periodic short breaks in service, not infrequently followed by an interruption of longer duration.

Two of the relatively few line breaks caused poles to burn off to a distance of seven or eight feet from the top. One of the burned poles was located about four miles north of Belmond. Mr. Pazour says that the IEL&P's troubles would have been minor ones, had it not been for the ice.

Radio Expedites Repairs

The shortwave radio hook-up that the power company put into use a year ago next month greatly expedited the repair work. With no phones to fall back on, the radio was used extensively in locating breaks and directing repair crews to trouble points. There is a base station at Garner and others at Armstrong and Rolfe. All the repair trucks carry transmitter-receiver units that permit them to keep in contact with one of the base stations.

Thanks to the radio system, repairs were pretty well completed by Saturday morning, at least to the extent of getting service back to normal. Mr. Pazour says that damage loss due to the storm was minor, but that the repair expense due to overtime labor would run to a fairly large figure.

Anyway, Dust Was Settled

Housewives regarded the sleet and snow that accompanied the high winds as a blessing in one regard. To a considerable degree, the precipitation prevented thick clouds of Kansas and Missouri dust from filtering into homes. As it was, heavy coats of dust were left on cars, porches and the sides of houses as the sleet melted, but relatively little of the dirt blew through window and door cracks.

Dust gave the sky and eerie yellow-orange cast during a good share of the day on Friday and made it necessary for many homekeepers and merchants to burn candles to produce adequate visibility during periods that the electric power was off.

PAUL GRIESY, SOLOIST

Among student vocalists and instrumental musicians who were presented in a public recital las Thursday at Skinner chapel o Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., was Paul Griesy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cato Griesy.

Mar-Don Gets Four Minutes on TV-and My! How the Orders Roll In!

Backers of the Mar-Don Manufacturing company—fabricators of the soon-to-be famous (they hope) fish-mouth spreader—were happily rubbing their palms this week as a flood of inquiries and ORDERS followed on the heels of a telecast last Thursday night that publicized their product. Not only does the firm have sufficient orders "on the hook" to entirely deplete its present supply of assembled units, but there is a nice backlog of requests to be filled.

Clark McNeal and L. T. "Bud" Trafford were given a four-minute "spot" on Rollie Johnson's sportcast over WCCO-TV, Minneapolis, at 10:30 p. m. to demonstrate the Mar-Don gadget. Another Belmond figure also was featured on the show—a walleyed pike from P&G grocery. It and a brother walleye purchased from a Minneapolis fish market "opened wide" at the urging of the spreader.

"Bud" and Clark were not too dismayed that Thursday night's snow storm prevented their return home until Saturday afternoon, for the delay enabled them to make some highly successful follow-up calls on major sporting goods outlets in the Twin Cities. They brought with them very nice orders from Dayton's, Corrie's and Warner Hardware. The latter operates a chain of six stores.

On the show, McNeal gave the "spiel" while Trafford and the fish put on the demonstration. Apparently Belmond's own "silver-tongued" orator made a convincing appeal, for mail began to roll in even before the hucksters were able to get home. Besides orders, the letters brought in a goodly number of requests for distributorships.

Marv and Don Sjoberg and Don Thompson—the former and latter being inventors of the device—have been assembling the spreaders in the "factory" beneath Dr. A. M. Larson's dental office. They've been devoting only spare time to the job, but it's foreseen that some of the Mar-Don backers may have to pitch in to get order deliveries on a current bases.

That the fish-mouth spreader is definitely a "salable" article was further indicated recently when all dentists in the state were approached by direct mail with a sales blurb. Ten per cent responded with cash orders—an amazingly high return for a direct mail selling job. It is presumed that the molar mechanics plan to use the spreader recreationally and not professionally.

Who knows? Maybe one day those welcome signs at the outskirts of town will introduce Belmond to the transient public as, "Home of Mar-Don Manufacturing Company: Makers of the World's Most Famous Fish-Mouth Spreader."

FFA Will Sponsor Town and Country Quiz on March 31

Wednesday evening, March 31st, the BHS chapter of Future Farmers of America will endeavor to get to the bottom of a friendly topic of debate—to-wit, "who's the smarter, country folks or town dwellers?" As the means to this end, they have invited radio station WHO's popular quizmaster, Clay Rusk, to conduct a Town and Country Quiz at the high school auditorium. It will start at 8:00 p. m. and will be just one part of a two-hour program of fun.

In addition to the quiz, a game of "Twenty Questions" will also be conducted by the Des Moines announcer-quizmaster, with a panel of well known public figures from the Belmond vicinity testing their wits. A home talent show, with performers drawn from here and neighboring communities, will complete the program.

"Best Brains" Selected

There can be no alibi on the part of either the rural partisans or the town people that they failed to have capable representation in the feature attraction— the Town and Country Quiz. A careful and successful effort was made to draw from the intelligentsia of each group. In fact, there will probably be more brain-power on hand than will even be used. (Ed's Note: the reader is entitled to put whatever interpretation on that remark that he chooses, in the light of hearing previous quiz programs.

On the Town team will be Mrs. R. H. Gowdy, Mrs. Lois Hammond, Lem Long and Walt Hotvet. Representing the Country will be Mrs. S. P. Leinbach, Mrs. James Barry, Dwight Tyrrell and Vernon McLaughlin. It is understood that Mr. Tyrrell has been warned to leave his electrically-lighted bow tie and other familiar accoutrements at home and to "play it straight."

Later Broadcast Planned

Brief remarks regarding Belmond's commercial, industrial and historical backgrounds are to be presented by State Representative Clark McNeal and Editor Pat Gallagher of The Independent. These talks and the entire quiz portion of the program will be wire recorded and broadcast over station WHO on a date to be made public later.

FFA Boys In 1st Trials This Week

Belmond's Future Farmers were to launch their '54 pursuit of Gold Medal ratings in statewide FFA competition when a sub-district contest was held on Wednesday of this week at Humboldt. Friendly Service chapter has met with considerable success in state competition during the past several years and Advisor Don Collinson is hopeful that the boys may again come up with several top rankings.

On the parliamentary procedure team are Larry Wolters, Tim Trees, Vernon McLaughlin, Gary Gabrielson and Tommy Stadtlander, with Kenneth Halfpap and Richard Christiansen also on the contest quad as alternates.

"Fun Nite" Plans Nearly Complete

Final preparations were being made this week for the annual Wright county 4-H Fun Nite, to be held a week from Friday at the grade school auditorium at Clarion.

Highlight of the annual fun fest is election of a King and Queen, with each of the 4-H clubs in the county making a nomination from their membership. Boys' voting delegates elect the Queen and the girls will choose the King.

Other entertainment will include presentation of 13 skits. In most cases, the boys and girls clubs from a township are going together in joint preparation of a skit. Locally, the Belmond Busy Bees and Pleasant Pioneers are joining forces.

This year's Fun Nite rulers will be crowned by the 1953 King and Queen, Jerry and Judy Woodin of the Grant Growers and Go-Getters, respectively.

Kanawhan Proves Ace Swine Judge

Harlan Espe of Kanawha proved himself the best hog judge among members of the Wright County Swine Producers association as that group held its annual meeting last Thursday at the Clarion IOOF hall. In fact, he did even better than that.

Judging was done by slides shown by Carroll Plager of the Hormel company, Austin, Minn., and the winner ticked off the first perfect score among some 5,000 persons who have tried their hand at grading the hogs pictured in the slides.

Other winners in the contest were: 2nd, Oliver Huntley, Goldfield; tied for 3rd, 4th and 5th—Herbert Hill and Loren Bamford of Belmond and Bernard Meier of Eagle Grove; 6th, Don Burt, Rowan. Hundred-pound sacks of pig starter went to each of the first two and 50-lb. sacks to the next four place winners.

Nearly 200 swine producers, buyers and bankers attended the roast pork loin dinner. Featured speakers were Mr. Plager and Al Haller, prominent Wisconsin hog-raiser.

In a contest to name the date between April 1, 1954 and Feb. 1, 1955 that the hog market will reach its lowest price, guesses varied quite widely. Of the 158 entering the contest, though, 79 picked Dec. 20. Dates in November were chosen by 39; January, 23; October, 11; and the rest, July, August, September or February dates.

Estimates as to how low the market will drop on the fateful day ranged from $12.15 to $26.35 per hundredweight. A 10-pound ham will be awarded to the man whose guess as to date and price comes closest to being correct.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fleener took their grandson, Ricky Green, back home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Green of Clarion, after spending the weekend with them.

Richardson Again County Historical Society President

Raynard Richardson of Goldfield was reelected president of the Wright County Historical society at his recent meeting held at Clarion. Ed Kirstein of Woolstock was named vice president and Richard Bowan of Clarion was chosen to succeed C. W. Sankey as secretary-treasurer.

Directors present, besides Mr Richardson and Mrs. Kirstein, were Mrs. Bessie Knox of Dows, Mrs. Albert Moellering of Woolstock, Bert Samson of Clarion, Clarence Johnson of Norway township and Harold Simerson of Belmond.

Discussion of plans for the proposed Wright county centennial in 1955 occupied the evening. It is suggested by the society that the various towns and cities of the county form centennial committees, made up of representatives from various business, service and social organizations.

It is suggested that these committees be appointed at least a year in advance, so a general plan for the celebration can be drawn up and plenty of time allowed for cataloging of antiques and other items of interest.

Countywide Test Of Cows Planned and some producers in adjoining counties will be invited to cooperate in a united testing program for brucellosis (Bangs disease), starting next week. This is the disease that causes undulant or malta fever in humans.

Herds in Kossuth. Hancock and Franklin counties have already participated in the ring test that is part of a coordinated educational campaign being conducted by state and county extension services in cooperation with veterinarians, dairy processors and producers.

Herd Test, Only

Although not a test for individual cows, the ring test is accurate in revealing if brucellosis is present in a herd. A small composite sample of milk or cream is taken from each herd and tested by state and federal technicians. The test is voluntary. but most farmers with dairy herds are expected to take advantage of the free testing service.

Outcome of all tests is confidential and it is left to owners of infected herds to work out an eradication program with their personal veterinarians. Dairies in Belmond. Dows. Goldfield. Renwick. Clarion and Eagle Grove will cooperate by taking the required samples next Monday through Wednesday.

Law Tightening Up

Small-herd owners whose families consume the entire supply can take samples to any of the participating dairy plants for free testing. They will receive notification of the results from the county extension service.

Laws governing sale of milk and cream are becoming more strict. State laws going into effect next year will require grade A milk to be from brucellosis-free herds and laws governing transfer of female cattle will require brucellosis blood tests after July 4 of this year.

"ALL" WASN'T LOST WHEN THE BRONCS WERE DEFEATED — NOT BY A LONG SHOT

That "all gone" feeling covered Belmond like a blanket Friday as the Broncos' sad supporters mourned over the team's defeat by Carroll's classy basketeers. Solace could be taken from the fact that the boys went down fighting, if ever a team did. But the nearness by which the Broncs came to making it to the state tournament made the pill all the more bitter to swallow.

Pollyanna-isms have never been our dish — but we WOULD like to point out that Coach Jim Crimmings and his crew have no reason to feel that "all" was lost when that final whistle found them on the wrong end of the score. Never (it's a long time, but we mean it) has Belmond had an athletic team in which it could take more pride than the 1953-54 Broncos.

They confounded the experts the whole season through. Literally every "expert" — opposing coaches, sportcasters and sports scribes — who viewed our gang in action was left wagging his head in disbelief. With physical stature inferior to practically every team they met, they proved again and again the Coaching, Condition and Cooperation are a combination that's close to invincible.

Coaching? Ask the boys what they think of Coach Crimmings. They know, better than anyone else, that they had the privilege of working under a coach who hasn't a superior in the state — and not a handful of equals. They give Jim a lion's share of the credit for moulding them into the "winningest" team in BHS history.

Condition? Credit Coach Crimmings again, along with the boys' willingness to sacrifice such personal pleasures and liberties as the circumstances required. Gone are the days when the BHS star athlete (in too many cases) felt that part of the game was to flout training rules to the greatest possible degree and still "get by." The sports idol at BHS today is the boy who can give his all for four hard quarters of play and still be raring to go.

Cooperation? Never have we seen a one-for-all, all-for-one bunch of battlers to match our Broncs. Never once during the season did we hear a whisper or see a sign of dissension in the ranks. Let Jim tell you how the boys decided THEMSELVES, as the tournament season approached, that their training rules should be made MORE rigid. They, themselves, drafted a new and stricter set — and they abided by them.

We hate that the boys didn't realize their heart's desire of inclusion among the "Sweet Sixteen" at Iowa City. But we couldn't be prouder of them if they'd gone on to the championship. And we sincerely feel that the entire community owes Coach Jim Crimmings a debt of gratitude that is beyond repayment. He's brought to Belmond a spirit that can't be priced. . . . There's A MAN! Eh, Broncs?

NORTH IOWA'S GRAVEL WILL NOT LAST FOREVER, NEIGHBORING EDITOR WARNS

Editor's Note: Having several times editorialized in the vein of the following remarks from the Iowa Falls Citizen and invited comment from County Engineer Pete Struck (with no result), your editor was beginning to suspect he must be alone in this line of thinking. We've wondered "out loud" why it wouldn't be to the point for Wright county to at least investigate the feasibility of including some black-topping in its heavily financed road program. In reprinting below Carl Hamilton's editorial from the Citizen, we re-submit our question to Mr. Struck.

North Iowa has many things for which it should be grateful. First and foremost, of course, is its high per centage of rich black farm land that year in and year out produces crops which are the envy of farmers almost everywhere else in the world.

But North Iowa has one other asset it still hasn't come to appreciate. That is not rich black loam but rather an abundant supply of good grade gravel. Most northern Iowa counties have within their boundaries or in adjacent counties access to good gravel pits. Much of our superior secondary road system in North Iowa traces directly to the availability of this gravel.

Southern Iowa is not so blessed. Much of its road building materials must be imported from considerable distances and at far greater costs. As a result we have Southern Iowa with its scantier resources having to pay far more for its roads than we do here in Northern Iowa.

But our time is coming. Our gravel resources are limited. At the rate which gravel is being taken out of our Northern Iowa pits and spread on our secondary roads these days, it is quite apparent that many northern counties will be in real trouble within the next few years. With the Iowa River going through Hardin County we are more fortunate than some. But in every county pits are being "worked out" each year.

Many County Engineers and Boards of Supervisors, seeing that situation, urge that we think more seriously of hard surfacing our secondary roads. They feel that over the long pull, particularly in view of our gravel situation, black top or even paving may be cheaper than continual resurfacing with an ever dwindling gravel supply. The typical heavily traveled secondary road in North Iowa requires a new coat of gravel almost every year. It blows away and it washes away. The time will come when that annual process will be very costly indeed.

Planting Time In Iowa

And, six months from now, millions more dollars will be added to our wealth, from Iowa's fertile soil.

Many folks don't know it, but one of the best customers for these farm products is our brewing industry. Last year over 3 million acres of farm products were required by this country's brewers . . . something like 300 million dollars a year added to our farm income.

Several of America's best-known early patriots helped establish this great industry which means so much to our farm income. Thomas Jefferson, for example, regarded beer so highly that he brought experts from Bohemia to teach Americans the art of brewing.

Samuel Adams, "father of the revolution," was himself the son of a brewer. And he operated one of our first breweries, helping start the industry in New England.

So Iowa profits from the foresight of America's pioneer leaders. They brought us an industry that means more to our agricultural income, year by year.

Late Rally Barely Fails as Broncos Miss Trip to State Tournament

Defeat finally came last Thursday night to the team that refused to be beaten. In the sub-state finals at Ames, the ever-fighting Broncos bowed to Carroll in a 60-57 heartbreaker after they'd stormed back from a 10-point deficit to make a battle of it to the bitter end. It was a deep disappointment to players and fans alike that the dreamed-of trip to Iowa City failed to materialize, but every last one of the throng of Bronco backers who witnessed the game must have been supremely proud of the scrap the boys put up.

With only nine minutes to play, Belmond trailed 47-37 and the Bronco cause looked dismal indeed. But showing the same spirit they had displayed all season, the BHS crew buckled down to the task of catching up—and a little more than five minutes later they were in front, 50 to 49. Four times in the remainder of the game the lead changed hands.

Fast Breaks Hurt

Belmond's hopes rose with approximately a minute to go when Keith Madsen calmly speared two free throws to get the Broncs back in contention by reducing a three-point Carroll margin to a single point, 58-57. Moments later, Keith was called on one of those borderline decisions that must make referees wish they'd taken up checkers instead of officiating. Floyd Wilkens, the Tigers' star center, converted both gift opportunities. Carroll shortly afterward got the ball and managed to stall out the final half-minute.

As in any contest of this sort, breaks played a big part in the final outcome. Probably the thing that hurt the losers more than anything else was three defensive lapses during Carroll's 23-point third quarter that gave the Tigers six easy counters on fast breaks. But the Broncos made such a brave attempt to compensate for these let-downs that their determined comeback will be remembered long after these momentary slips have been fogotten.

Broncs Dominate 1st Half

Carroll led only once in the first half—when Steve Huffman tallied the first basket of the game. The Tigers tied the count twice in the opening quarter, but in the second stanza the Broncs at one time raced to a seven-point advantage, 26-19. They suffered a scoring drought the rest of the period, though, and at halftime were in front by only two, 26-24.

It was all Carroll in the third quarter, during which the Tigers outscored Belmond 23 to 14. Anyone not familiar with the Broncos might well have expected the game to turn into a rout when Carroll twice built its margin to 10 points. But to the everlasting credit of the Purple and White defenders, they scared the living daylights out of their bigger foes before the final die was cast.

Wilkens, the winners' ace center, was the boy who broke the Broncos. He amassed 25 points, seven of them coming during the fatal four minutes at the end of the game. Forwards Larry Sabus and Bob Short each came through with 10 points, nine by the latter being counted in the last half. Guards Steve Huffman and Don Schenkelberg hit nine and four, respectively; and Floyd Wernmont, a backcourt reserve, made one basket.

Ken Loats was the Broncos' big scoring gun with 19 points, evenly distributed by quarters except for only four in the second. LeRoy Smith, a scrapper to the end, got six of his 11 points in the last quarter. Madsen played one of his finest floor games and also pitched in eight points. Gene Mehl gave his best performance of the year while scoring seven, the same number as Don Hoppel. Ron Hansen completed the Belmond total with five.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS

Well, the Broncs finally went down. It was tough that they failed to make the grade, despite one of their finest rallies of the season. Any one of a half dozen breaks in the deciding moments of that Carroll game could have reversed the outcome. Naturally, the boys find little consolation in what might have been; but they certainly handed their fans a typical, Bronco-sized thrill when they rampaged back to outscore the Tigers 10 to 2 and grab that 50-49 lead in the middle of the last quarter and then made it a battle right to the final buzzer. They're a great bunch — coached by a great coach.

—PSS—

Until we're given proof to the contrary, we've got them in our book as the record-breakingest bunch that ever wore basketball uniforms for BHS. That final, 23-2 mark in wins and losses is Belmond's best-ever. And their offensive average of slightly over 58 points per game must surely be a new high. Having held their foes to an average of slightly under 44, we suspect that their plus-margin — 14 points, on the average — must also represent a Bronco "best."

We've heard no one challenge that the 94-53 victory over Britt set up a new scoring high for Belmond — and the largest point margin by which the Purple and White has ever won. In more than half of their games, the Broncs racked up 60 points or over.

While we've heard much about the high-scoring achievements of some of the BHS stars in other seasons, no one has been able to point out specifically when any Belmond cager matched Ken Loats' 35 points at Britt — or his 16-point average for the season. We'd further guess that no Bronco team ever boasted such scoring balance as the 1953-54 crew. Loats, Keith Madsen, LeRoy Smith and Ronnie Hansen all exceeded 20 points in a game at least once; Don Hoppel hit 19 once, and 18 another time.

—PSS—

Loats, Hoppel and Larry Larson finished up their BHS cage careers last week, and their absence will be deeply felt when next season rolls around. But Coach Jim Crimmings nevertheless gets a gleam in his eye when he turns his thoughts to the 1954-55 campaign. With such seasoned competitors as Madsen, Smith, Hansen and Mehl back for further action, supplemented by "Joe" Smith, Bruce Hall, Ron Steenblock, Dale Caquelin, Arlo Stoltenberg, Gary Meyer and others coming up from the froshmore squad, Jim faces the future with confidence — and determination.

—PSS—

There probably hasn't been a bowling alley in the state as "hot" as Bowl-Mor Lanes in the past few weeks. And it would be our further surmise that no individual kegler in all Iowa has been spilling the pins at a gait to match that of Gary "Jake" Brothers during the same span of time. Last Sunday he came up with the first 700 series ever rolled in ABC-sanctioned competition at the local alleys.

Rolling in the current Bowl-Mor invitation tournament, Jake uncorked a 265-212-245—722 (you'll recall that he produced Belmond's first 300 game, just a week earlier). A measly 176 got mixed in at the end of the four-game series, someway or other; but his 898 actual pins, plus 8-pin handicap, put him in 1st place in the handicap singles with a 906!

Right on the heels of Brothers' performance, Jack Lobdell chalked up Belmond's second, "official" 700 on Wednesday of last week in a Boardsplitters league game. Rolling with the Texaco team, Jack battered the maples for a 265-205-245—715. This obliterated by 38 pins the former high mark for play in the local men's leagues — 677, which had been hit by both Eddie Albers and Fred Gordon. In this same match, Brothers had a "shameful" 593. It's a wonder Gary didn't go cut his throat.

Scores Run High In Bowling Meet

Excellent scores hold the top places in the Bowl-Mor Lanes four-week invitational bowling classic that reached the midway point last weekend. Belmond keglers held most of the top-money spots, but several out-of-town pinmen were also among the leaders.

There is competition in three divisions, with special jackpot prizes in each. Both doubles and singles handicaps are being conducted—each over a four-game route; and there is also a three-line, single division on a scratch basis.

Gary Brothers leads in the handicap singles with a gross of 906, followed by Bruce Osmundson of Forest City with 832. The latter leads the jackpot race with a scratch 272; Brothers is second with a 265.

Chan Dailey and Gayle Towne of Algona lead in the handicap doubles with a four-game gross of 1,624. Jack Lobdell and Anson Avery are next with 1,603. The latter pair top the jackpot contest, having a 444 without handicap. Dailey and Towne follow with a 407 joint effort.

Lobdell heads the scratch singles list with 619. Brothers is close behind with 614 and has the best two-game jackpot total, 457. Eddie Albers holds second in the jackpot battle with 442.

CHICK CHATS

Save the Labor

Ever since I was a little bitty kid, people have told me that the easiest way is seldom the best way. And ever since I was a little bitty kid, I've been saying "Phooie on that noise."

I don't believe in exerting any more effort than necessary to get the job done right. Course, it's got to be done right. We talk about soil conservation, conservation of timber, iron ore, oil and everything else. I'm talking for people conservation.

I'm against unnecessary work. And there's plenty of unnecessary work going on in chicken houses. Take watering for instance. I hate to carry buckets of water. Fill 'em full, and they're heavy. And you spill water all over your legs. This is uncomfortable in the winter. If you fill the buckets not-so-full, you have to make more trips.

I wouldn't carry very much water for the price of piping or a big water tank. Make it easy to water the chickens.

Watering the chickens on range can be easy too. Just run some plastic hose out to the waterers. Sun won't hurt 'em and you can use them year after year.

Feed is another thing than can get heavy. Why not put the bags where they're handy—right close to the hen house. Better yet, build a feed hopper right in the hen house.

There's only one thing I can think of to make it easier to haul eggs. And that's to quit feeding the layers. They'll oblige by making fewer eggs for you to carry. This doesn't seem too practical. Carrying full egg baskets has never seemed like hard work to me anyway.

Make Poultry raising as easy as possible. But do the job right. Doing the job right may make your billfold heavier but that's a cross we'll all bear willingly.

Seven "Film-Coated" Ingredients Offer Positive Relief

The crippling, torturing, twisting pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism may soon be forgotten, thanks to an exciting new labratory discovery named Ar-Pan-Ex.

Ar-Pan-Ex was perfected by a noted scientist of a world-famed university, working with all known facts about these crippling ailments. The result is a safe, easy to take tablet that promotes the fastest relief known from that stabbing agony.

Ar-Pan-Ex is compounded of seven active ingredients including a special new medicine to help provide longer lasting relief. Ar-Pan-Ex exclusively perfected to curb chronic, deep-seated pains.

Why AR-PAN-EX Helps

Ar-Pan-Ex does not dissolve uselessly in the stomach—avoids stomach distress. Ar Pan-Ex is scientifically "Film-Coated" so that ALL the powerful, pain-relieving medicine is released only in the small intestine where it can be quickly carried by the blood stream to every pain-wracked muscle joint and nerve. Swelling, stiffness and soreness may seem to be miraculously eased when Ar-Pan-Ex helps the system throw off excess Uric Acid that can also aggravate pains.

Nothing Like AR-PAN-EX

Nothing ever offered before can bring results faster, more effectively or with longer lasting benefits than Ar-Pan-Ex. It may mean a renewed life of usefulness and pleasure to millions.

Ask for genuine Ar-Pan-Ex today at any drug store for the kind of relief no other product can claim to equal. If your druggist is out of it, he will be glad to order it for you.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

EDGAR MAYHEW

It has been several weeks since we visited with Edgar Mayhew at his farm 2¼ miles southeast of Goodell since he was the last of the group of 4 farmer friends of the State Savings Bank that we called on that morning.

Since that time the Mayhews have celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary and Edgar has probably played several dozen games of pinochle with his pinochle playing friends at their meeting place in Goodell.

Mr. Mayhew says he came to this vicinity 33 years ago from Illinois at the age of 19. He has lived on the 120 acre farm he bought in 1945 since 1943 and has been assisted in its operation by his son. They have carried on the usual farming operations and this winter were feeding out 15 head of whiteface cattle and 122 head of hogs.

The corn production last fall was the best he had ever had, going 80 bushels to the acre.

Mr. Mayhew also enjoys fishing and goes to Leech and Cutfoot in Minnesota each year and though he didn't say so, presumably brings home his limit as all fishermen do.

32 BHS Musicians, Director Brom Attend Band Clinic at Forest City

Thirty-two members of the Belmond High school concert band participated in a band clinic held at Forest City this Monday under sponorship of the North Iowa conference schools. Director Roland Brom says that his instrumental musicians were among 222 from the seven participating schools who attended the clinic

Throughout the day the band members practiced in preparation for a mass concert scheduled at the Forest City civic auditorium for 8 00 p m Guest conductor for the concert was Frank A Piersol, Iowa State college director of bands

Twelve selections were presented by the combined bands, with the director from each school conducting one of the numbers Mr Brom directed the group in a rendition of MacDowell's "To A Wild Rose"

Just Seven Schools

Last year the Forest City clinic was open to musicians from 40 schools but it was decided this year to invite only the conference schools — Northwood Britt Buffalo Center Garner and Lake Mills in addition to Belmond and Forest City

Mr Brom explains that this decision was made because in previous years only a few of the outstanding musicians from each school could be selected for the mass band performance This year more musicians from each school were able to participate and the clinic was consequently of more value to the individual students the Belmond director points out

Belmond Musicians

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Got a nice note from Father Ormsby, acknowledging receipt of The Independent during his long stay down south seeking relief from a throat condition that has been bothering him for a long period of time.

He says the dust storms down yonder (he's been at San Antonio, Tex., the past six weeks, after first spending about an equal period of time in Florida) have been something less than helpful in abetting the cure of his ailment. We're inclined to think he'd have been better off, weather-wise, if he'd stayed home. He wrote that on March 14 the temperature was down to 30 degrees. Three days earlier the mercury had been up to 94—and the prediction for the day on which he wrote was a high of 76.

Father Ormsby has a great host of friends, in addition to those in his flock, who join in wishing him a speedy and complete recovery—and an early return to his familiar haunts.

According to Rose Ormsby, the latest word from her brother indicates that his throat condition has shown very marked improvement in the past week or so. She says it is Father Ormsby's present plan to return to his parish duties soon after the first of next month.

Ernest Palmer, Jr., of Fort Madison—probably the traveling-est of the GOP's seven governorship aspirants—paid the Independent office a visit last Thursday. He's a pleasant, young fellow and has established himself as one of the party's real "comers," though he's only Jack Benny's age (39, that is).

Palmer has personally campaigned in over three-fourths of the counties in Iowa and has driven more than 17,000 miles during his hand-shaking tour.

There seems, at this point, little question but what the Republican nomination will be made in convention; but the visit left us with the impression that the "powers" could do worse than settle on the hard-working Fort Madisonian.

We shoulda known better! You simply can't win, trying to write a story like the one on that compound accident that occurred on No. 69 following the Tuesday tournament game at Ames. We checked and double checked with the authorities, resolved to get it all straight.

Right now, all we're certain about is that a minor pile-up involving three cars DID occur. Sifting down all the "corrections" that have come our way, it turns out that everybody got stopped without mishap except Clark McNeal, whose brakes had chosen that very inopportune moment to fail!

Consequently, when Clark slammed on his brakes, nothing happened—except that his car rammed the one in front, which then rammed into the car in front. The car with the blow-out escaped unscathed. Now you understand? We're sorry the whole thing came up. So's Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. George Keleher and daughter Georgia went to Webster City last Friday to say goodbye to Mrs. Keleher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Olson, as they departed for New York City. From there, the Olsons were to leave via ship for a three-month stay in Oslo, Norway. Mrs. Olson is looking forward to a reunion with her mother, whom she has not seen in 39 years, and with other relatives. When the trip was being planned, Mrs. Olson's father was still living, also; but he passed away the first of this year.

One expects to see some strange looking knees when March winds blow — but Ralph Thayer was in the Independent office the other day showing us some, the likes of which no March wind ever exposed. He identified the gnarled specimens as "cypress knees," which he'd brought home on his recent return from a Florida sojourn.

These "cypress knees" are in the nature of a water sprout and pop up around the base of cypress trees in a wide variety of unusual shapes. One that he showed us looked for all the world like an alligator chewing its cud. (Well, THIS one had a cud.)

Ralph says the bark can be boiled off the queer-looking formations, exposing a natural wood surface that is a thing of true beauty. The "knees" sell at quite a fancy price, in some instances, and convert into handsome lamp bases — or make beautiful decorative pieces, just as they are.

Mrs. Junior Barkema says we "stepped on" her story that was run in last week's Main Street column. That young son of hers, facing his first haircut, at the time boasted the tender age of only six weeks. We somewhat blunted the point of the yarn by making him six months old.

POEM PUBLISHED

A poem by Neva Kyser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kyser, appears in the Fall and Winter Edition of the Midwest Chaparral poetry magazine that just lately came off the presses. It is entitled "Mountains," and is the third poem that Miss Kyser has had published. The other two won honors in contests conducted by the Iowa Poetry association. Miss Kyser is a Belmond High school sophomore.

Township Trustees Approve 1954-56 Road Plan to Improve 36.25 Miles

Grading and graveling of 36.25 miles of county road in the next three years was approved at a meeting of township trustees held Thursday of last week at the courthouse in Clarion. In former years it was the practice to draw up an annual road plan for the county, but there has been a recent trend to extend planning over a period of two or three years.

Two years ago, a road plan was set up for 1952-53. Of the work proposed at that time, 12.5 miles has not been completed and is being carried over. Since practically all roads in Wright that are under county jurisdiction have by this time been graded and graveled, plans hereafter will mainly involve reworking of roads that are in the poorest condition.

Three miles of road in Pleasant township are now listed for attention. One mile runs east and west on the south side of the Chloe Jenison farm. The other two miles starts a mile and a quarter east of the Third street paving in Belmond and extends on to the east. Half of this stretch is carried over from the 1952-53 program.

In Belmond township, re-grading and graveling is scheduled for the mile running directly east from the Simerson corner; and for the north-south mile that adjoins the Harry Stockseth and Elmer Gabrielson farms on the west. Initial grading is planned for the half mile of road that leads to the Stockseth farmstead. This has been graveled but not graded. Similar work will be done on the quarter mile leading to the farmstead of Mrs. Charles Mikesh.

Plans in Iowa township called for improvement of the mile of road running from Highway 69 to Aldrich school—a project carried over from '52-53—and continuing the grading and graveling work for another two miles to the east. Regrading and graveling is also planned for a north-south mile that begins two miles east and a mile north of Rowan.
